DNR looks to close 590 miles of trails in Beltrami Forest

Warroad - The Minnesota Department of Resources (DNR) is threatening to reduce trails in Beltrami Island State Forest on a large scale and will hold a public review hearing on Thursday, Jan. 13 at Warroad Middle School from 6 to 9 p.m.

The question weighing on the minds of many sportsmen and nature enthusiasts is what reason does the DNR have for potentially closing over 1,000 miles of trails to all-terrain vehicles (ATVs) and other vehicles?

The Minnesota DNR director for Region 1, Paul Swenson, said, "The concept is not to eliminate ATVs and OHVs from trails, but to manage them better." - Roseau Times-Region, Dec. 25, 2004, by Tristan Sjaaheim

KC juniors score high on PSAT

Hallock - Twenty-two Kittson Central juniors took the Preliminary SAT (PSAT) recently with over half of them scoring the 90th percentile and above nationally. Deb Gatheridge, Kittson Central academic dean, reported those numbers of the class of 2006 to the Kittson Central School Board at the monthly meeting last Monday night.

"Five students placed in this area in reading, four in math and five in writing, with over 50 percent of the students taking the test scoring at or above 50 percent on all three tests," commented Gatheridge. "I have never seen test scores like this in all my years here."

School board member John Webster told Gatheridge that he was surprised that the students were only passing at 50 percent. Gatheridge explained that meant at the 50 percent level, or higher, on all three areas combined, not just in one of the three subject areas. - Kittson County Enterprise, Dec. 29, 2004, by Louise Money

Sen. Skoe and Reps. Eken and Sailer plan town meetings

Clearbrook - State Sen. Rod Skoe (DFL - Clearbrook) and State Reps. Kent Eken (DFL - Twin Valley) and Brita Sailer (DFL - Park Rapids) have scheduled a series of town meetings in the upcoming weeks.

Local town meetings are scheduled for Friday, Jan. 7 – 10:30 a.m. to 12 p.m. at the Red Lake Community Center; and Friday, Jan. 14 – 4:45 to 6:15 p.m. at the Fosston Civic Center. - The Leader-Record of Clearbrook, Dec. 29, 2004

An early Christmas present – A life saved

Roseau - Everett Norman, 69, was just moments from being dead Friday, Dec. 17, when the alarm was sounded at Polaris Industries in Roseau at 7 a.m.

He was walking near the tool crib on the way out the door when his heart stopped.

He couldn't have picked a better place to have a heart attack. Minutes later, he would have been in his vehicle and, most certainly, would have died of a heart attack.

Nothing could have been more heaven-sent than the Medtronic Lifepak Defibrillator that Polaris had on hand last Friday. - Roseau Times-Region, Dec. 25, 2004, by Jeff Olsen

Clearly in focus

World's media focus on the games and community

by David Hill
Editor

Reporters know that objectivity is always in question when you become part of the story. But this is the World Junior Hockey Championship - an event that is being watched by the world - so the media is part of the story, at least in Thief River Falls.

In a news release from the Ralph Engelstad Arena, Chris Semrau, director of events and media relations said, "The extensive coverage this tournament is receiving is extraordinary for a World Junior Hockey Championship in the United States."

Media from throughout the world are attending this event. It is being covered by ESPN2, TSN, Russian speaking Nova TV, French speaking RDS Network, newspaper, magazine and radio journalists from all over the world, even Roseau and Thief River Falls.

Getting ready for the hundreds of reporters has been "a real challenge," said Dick Sjoberg, media coordinator for the WJHC. Sjoberg is the president of Sjoberg's Cable TV so he's not unaccustomed to the tools media need and use. At the Ralph Engelstad Arena – Thief River Falls (REA-TRF), 10 additional phone lines were installed, the band width was raised to T1 both ways, 40 Internet connections were activated, firewalls installed, and a fiber optic cable connection to Grand Forks was enabled by interconnecting to ~~PBS in~~ Grand Forks and then to the REA – Grand Forks. Sjoberg explained that when the games were video-tapped in Thief River Falls, the fiber optic cable connection would allow the media and teams at the Ralph Engelstad Arena - Grand Forks (REA-GF) to watch the games on a screen in Grand Forks in real time - with a one or two second delay, maybe. And then, Sjoberg said, there were other requests - such as equipment that would allow teams to download games from digital video cameras to laptops.

As Sjoberg discovered, there were a lot of last minute problems, too. As soon as the arena in Thief River Falls was opened on Saturday and media started filing in, two laptops that had been brought in by reporters got behind the firewall and when they were connected to the system, a virus infected the entire system. The virus shut the entire system down, said Sjoberg. Sjoberg and the other volunteers quickly scrambled and had the system back up before the game started.

Fans include hockey's leaders

Quality international hockey attracts important fans

by David Hill
Editor

Art Berglund and Lou Vairo were two fans among the many fans on Tuesday, Dec. 28, but you'd be hard pressed to find two more knowledgeable fans in the crowd attending the Russia vs. Belarus game at the Ralph Engelstad Arena - Thief River Falls.

Berglund is currently the senior director in international administration for USA Hockey, but his credentials include managing or serving on the administrative staff of more than 30 U.S. teams, and a lifetime of involvement with hockey.

Some of the highlights from Vairo's career include being head coach of the 1984 U.S. Olympic Hockey Team, and assistant coach for the 2002 U.S. team in Salt Lake City, Utah. Vairo would be speaking at a symposium at the Ralph Engelstad Arena - Grand Forks, N.D., on Wednesday, which would be for coaches and team staff, but Tuesday night he was in Thief River Falls to watch hockey.

"This is quality international hockey," he said.

This is excellent hockey, agreed Berglund. "It's a real treat for hockey fans in northwest Minnesota and North Dakota."

At this point in the game being played, Belarus scored a goal. It was the second period, and the underdog Belarus team appeared to be keeping the Russian powerhouse in check. This didn't surprise Berglund.

"You have to earn your victories. No one at this level ever rolls over," he said. "Everyone of these teams has talented players and you always have to respect your opponents."

There had been quite a bit of discussion about empty seats in the arena in Thief River Falls.

Berglund and Vairo both said they had hoped more people would have attended the games, especially in view of the number of talented hockey players this event has brought to this community.

But, it's a lot of hockey, and there are lots of opportunities - opportunities Berglund hopes young players take advantage of. Berglund said he hopes young players see these games and are inspired.

Vairo said he wished more youngsters were in the crowd. "They should let kids in for a buck apiece," he said.

Berglund said he realizes that there are a lot of factors to take into consideration, and that this arena had nothing to do with setting the prices of the games, but at $21 per ticket, it's a lot to ask of from a small community, he said.

When asked about the venue, Vairo and Berglund were very complimentary. "This building," said

Art Berglund and Lou Vairo were among the fans watching the Russia vs. Belarus World Junior Hockey Championship game at the Ralph Engelstad Arena - Thief River Falls on Tuesday, Dec. 28. Berglund and Vairo were instrumental in the start up of the World Junior Hockey Championship and remain fans and influential enthusiasts.

German coach Uwe Krupp, standing left, is in the midst of his first World Junior Hockey Championship as a German assistant coach. Krupp, no stranger to international hockey, participated in two Under-20 World Junior Hockey Championship events as a player, and participated in the 1998 Nagano Olympics as a player.

Olympian and Stanley Cup winner stands behind German bench

The first German born NHL player is giving something back to his home country. Uwe Krupp, a veteran of 16 NHL seasons is an assistant coach for Team Germany during the 2005 World Junior Hockey Championships.

Krupp retired from the NHL following the 2002-03 season after his second back surgery. This year's tournament is his first as a German assistant coach.

"I enjoy working with them," Krupp said of his under-20 team. "It's an important thing to do," he added, citing that he would like to share his knowledge with the younger players.

Uwe Krupp was born June 23, 1965 in Cologne, West Germany. Krupp was drafted by the Buffalo Sabres of the NHL in 1983. One year prior he began playing for Koln Haie in Germany. He would play four years for Koln Haie, during which he also participated in two Under 20 World Junior Hockey Championships.

Krupp said at that time West Germany stayed in the A pool and was more competitive then, than in recent years. He feels starting with this team, that Germany is "back on the upswing." Youth hockey in Germany is beginning to flourish and he see's the under-20 teams of the next two years as being more competitive.

Krupp also feels that the German team has a similar talent level compared to other teams, just less of an opportunity to compete with similar age groups.

"It's a group of players who on their respective teams in Germany are fourth liners, because it's a professional league," Krupp said. "They don't play on any power plays or any of the top lines. They were good players on their junior teams in Germany."

Krupp said that German players in the under-20 age group don't really have a place to compete inside from semi professional and professional leagues. He added that the German players are in good shape, but they don't have enough game experience to compete with some of the tournament's elite teams.

The lack of big game experience has showed up in this year's tournament with regularity. On Tuesday night, Germany was victimized by a superior Canadian team 9-0.

"That's a different level," Krupp said of Team Canada. "Physically I don't see anyone matching up with them."

Krupp is no stranger to international competition. He played on two German World Junior Hockey Championship teams in 1983 and 84. Each team finished seventh. He was also chosen to play for Team Germany in the 1998 Nagano Olympic Games, during which Germany posted a 3-1 record and a win over Slovakia in the relegation round.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere – contributing columnist

Today's recipes are from a friend of mine in New Jersey, Marge. She died of breast cancer a few years ago. She was such a good cook and a good homemaker. She loved to grow her own vegetables and herbs in her little garden. I think of her often.

Marge said she had been making this soup for over 20 years.

SHCHI
(Russian Sauerkraut Soup)

1 pound sauerkraut, fresh or canned
1 large firm cabbage
3 tablespoons butter or bacon fat
1 large onion, peeled and sliced
1 rib celery, finely chopped
2 cloves garlic, finely minced
2 cups canned Italian style plum tomatoes
2 pounds beef shank or short-ribs
2 quarts beef stock
Salt and pepper to taste
Juice of one lemon
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 tablespoon finely minced dill
1 cup sour cream

Drain sauerkraut and place in basin of cold water. Rinse well and squeeze dry. Pull apart to remove any lumps. Remove and discard cabbage core, then shred with sharp knife. Place sauerkraut and cabbage in large kettle.

Heat 2 tablespoons of fat and cook onion, celery and garlic until onion is translucent. Add to kettle. Add tomatoes, beef, stock, salt and pepper and bring to boil. Simmer about 2 hours or until beef is tender, skimming surface as needed to remove foam. Add lemon juice and sugar and cook 10 minutes more. Cook flour in remaining fat until golden. Stir into soup and cook about 20 minutes.

To serve, slice meat and discard bones. Place meat in bottom of soup tureen. Add soup, then garnish with parsley and dill. Serve sour cream as a side dish.

This soup is quick and easy to make for when you need a hurried meal:

ALPHABET SOUP

1/2 pound ground beef
3 cups beef broth
3 cups V-8 juice
3/4 cup water
1/4 teaspoon thyme
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 1/2 cups mixed frozen vegetables
2/3 cup alphabet macaroni

Brown beef in large pot. Drain. Add broth, juice, water, thyme and Worcestershire. Bring to a boil and add vegetables and macaroni. Simmer for 8-10 minutes until pasta is tender.

This recipe makes a big batch - good for freezing for the cold winter days:

FRESH HERB, POTATO AND LEEK SOUP

3 pounds russet potatoes, peeled and cut in 1 inch pieces
5 cups canned, low salt chicken broth
3 cups water
3 large leeks, white and pale green parts only, chopped
1/2 cup whipping cream
1/4 cup minced fresh chives or green onion tops
2 tablespoons minced fresh basil or 2 teaspoons dried, crumbled
1 tablespoon minced fresh dill or 1 teaspoon dried dillweed
Hot pepper sauce
Chopped fresh chives or green onion tops for garnish

Bring first 8 ingredients to boil in heavy soup pot or Dutch oven over high heat. Reduce heat to medium low and simmer until potatoes are very tender and soup thickens slightly, about 1 hour.

Transfer 2 cups of soup to blender and puree. Return to pot. Season with salt and pepper and hot pepper sauce.

(Good prepared a day ahead and refrigerated.) To serve, ladle soup into bowls and garnish with chopped chives and serve.

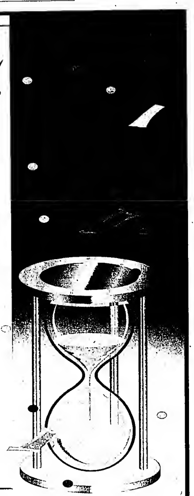
Here is an easy soup that you can make with the turkey broth you made from your Christmas feast:

CREAMY VEGETABLE SOUP

3 cups thinly sliced carrots
1 cup chopped onion
2/3 cup chopped celery
1 1/2 cups diced peeled potatoes
1 garlic clove, minced
1/2 teaspoon sugar
2 teaspoon cooking oil
4 cups chicken broth
Dash of ground nutmeg
Pepper to taste

In Dutch oven or soup pot, over medium low heat, sauté carrots, onion, celery, potatoes, garlic and sugar in oil for 5 minutes. Add broth, nutmeg and pepper and bring to a boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer for 30 to 40 minutes, until vegetables are tender.

Remove from heat and cool to room temperature. Puree in batches in blender or food processor. Return to kettle and heat through.



Recipe serves 4. Each serving has 136 calories, 116 mg sodium, 0 chol, 23 gm carb, 5 gm protein and 3 gm fat. Diabetic Exchange, using low sodium chicken broth, is 2 vegetables, 1 starch, 1/2 fat.

Happy New Year!

Whether you view the new year as a beginning or an end, we know that we had fun serving you all the days in-between, and look forward to being a part of your life again in the year ahead.

For your patronage we are deeply grateful, and hope that 2005 brings much health, happiness and prosperity to you and your family.

Spectators watch a game between Finland and Sweden. At 1,393 paid tickets, it was the largest crowd yet to watch a World Junior Hockey Championship Game at the Ralph Engelstad Arena - Thief River Falls.

Images and Hockey Canada. He arrived in Grand Forks, N.D., on Friday night and traveled to Thief River Falls for the first games at the REA - TRF and will be staying at the Best Western in Thief River Falls for the week. The cold didn't bother him. Vinnick is originally from Saskatoon so coming to Thief River Falls is, according to Vinnick, like home. Home, however is where his wife and children are and being away from them on Christmas was, admittedly, a little difficult. It was pleasing then to discover a friendly staff and a turkey dinner awaiting the media when he arrived at the arena.

Vinnick said everyone at the REA – TRF has been real kind and made this visit great. This was not an idle comment designed to placate a nosy reporter. Vinnick is interested in observing how volunteers and organizers handle this event because Vancouver has been selected to host the next World Junior Hockey Championship next year.

Mary Lizakowski works for Aerospace Network at the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks, N.D., but for the World Juniors, she's operating the video camera in the media booth at the REA – TRF. It's not like Lizakowski hasn't operated a camera or covered events on holidays before. She's covered games for UND before. She's usually the technical director, but she definitely knows how to operate a camera.

Lizakowski described her first visit to the "Mini Ralph" as "great" and "very intimate." The staff, she said, was very helpful. She explained that she had some trouble with her credentials, but staff quickly corrected the problem.

Vraspir Roman of TV Nova is the camera operator for the TV Nova team. Roman admits that he was surprised that such a small town was hosting the World Juniors, but when he came inside the REA – TRF he was amazed. "It's a very beautiful arena, even better than some arenas in the Czech Republic." He was also pleased that the staff and arena were able meet all of their needs. Hockey is important back in Czech Republic, he said.

Volunteers at the arena were curious about the media, too, and were pleased to discover that they were ordinary people, too, and even more pleased that they were able to strike up conversations with them. Kermit Genereux of Thief River Falls was curious about the large cameras some of the reporters were using. One of the reporters allowed Genereux to look through the lens of his camera.

Looking at the game through such a camera can be amazing. You can see the sweat drip from a player's face, see him cry out in frustration, anger or exultation.

Genereux noted that in looking at people on the other side of the arena, he was able to tell who needed to brush his or her teeth, specifically, his kids.

Media from throughout the world have filled the press booth at the Ralph Engelstad Arena - Thief River Falls.

IIHF 2005 WORLD JUNIOR CHAMPIONSHIP GRAND FORKS, N.D. THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINN. USA

Krupp treasures his Olympic experience, but said that nothing can compare to winning the Stanley Cup.

"When you come over here, to play hockey in the U.S., you have to reset your focus," Krupp said. "As a European layer, I cherish my Stanley Cups. There is nothing wrong with winning a medal in the Olympics, but if I had to pick I would choose the Stanley Cup."

Krupp was a defenseman for two Stanley Cup winning teams, the 1995-96 Colorado Avalanche and 2001-02 Detroit Red Wings. During the 1996 Stanley Cup, Krupp scored the Cup-clinching goal in game four against that seasons Cinderella team, the Florida Panthers.

Fans include hockey's leaders

Vairo, "is really nice - professional."

"This is a pure hockey building," said Berglund.

Both can remember playing and coaching teams in different venues all across the globe. Most wouldn't even come close to being as nice as the Ralph Engelstad Arena - Thief River Falls. And the discussion about those times turned the direction of the interview to a discussion about games in the past and how far hockey has come during those years.

Berglund is widely known for his ability to fire off names, dates and places faster than a forward will take a shot on an empty net, and the two quickly began reminiscing.

To the outside observer lucky enough to hear this conversation, one thing would became obvious - World Junior Hockey has come a long way. When it began in 1976, Vairo was the assistant coach, and Berglund, the team manager. "No one knew what it was back then," said Berglund.

Resolutions For a Lifetime

It's New Year's and the annual time for resolutions. You know, that nearly random calendar date when we muster the most basic levels of self-esteem and convince ourselves that we can, indeed, be improved through sheer personal will. Most often, the impetus is directed at fairly simple and obvious, though far too dramatic and unreachable shortcomings. I, for instance, swear to lose weight every January. A predictable pattern is achieved. "I will not eat that cookie, ever. I will not eat that cookie, until next New Year's. I will not eat that cookie for at least 37 minutes. I should not have eaten that cookie." Unfortunately, my New Year's resolutions seem to last about as long as the time it takes to digest this paragraph. This brings us to the self-abuse of February when I realize just how pathetic and spineless a human I am when it comes to personal improvement, having abandoned every promise I made a month earlier. If New Year's resolution is the proper term, then so must be February desolation.

So, this New Year's, instead of setting myself up for inevitable failure, I'm taking a different tack. Resolutions that are realistic and achievable, vows that are less objective than before and judge-able only through my eyes. Goals push me to feel better by achieving, not threatened by a lack of success. I spend enough time during the rest of the year being labeled a loser by my friends and family, why should I offer them more canon fodder for an already easy target?

I resolve, for instance, to actually get out and try some predator hunting this winter, rather than just talk about doing it. What have I got going on during the midnight hours that's so precious, anyway? A little less sleep won't seriously impact the already crabby demeanor I cart around with me every day anyway, and how many 'Three's Company' reruns can one middle-aged man find entertaining? I grow weary with winter by February so it only makes sense that I finally do something about it.

And as long as we're on the subject of hunting, I resolve to actually wait for a bigger buck next season. How big, you might ask? Well, just bigger than the one I always seem to settle for in order to maintain my status on the local hunting hierarchy. Just big enough to keep me out in the woods and attentive late into the waning season. Just a little bigger than that.

And I pledge to experiment more when it comes to my fishing time. No longer will I be content to measure my angling success in simply numbers or size, but also in the hurdles I place between the walleyes and me. More artificials, more slipbobbers, more new and untried spots. And I promise to exaggerate those catches less when the time comes to relate the tales of personal glory to any gathered listeners. No, no we're not talking total accuracy here. I said earlier that I wanted to establish realistic vows, not personal impossibilities. Less exaggeration, not no exaggeration.

I resolve to curse and cry less when fishing is not good and the weather is worse. I resolve to treat my dogs with a higher level of respect, despite the fact that the brainpower of both of them, combined, would struggle to open a box of corn flakes. I resolve to listen more to my children, even though I know their opinions are wrong.

I promise to be more patient with ice-fishermen. I pledge to make more fun of Wisconsinites and less fun of Iowans. I vow to stop giggling every time I mention something about the Canadian bureaucracy. I am going to finally admit in public that I have no working knowledge of a fuel injected engine.

Hey, this is easy. I resolve to shave more often. I resolve to fill the gas tank on my truck before it goes empty. I resolve not to fall asleep at the wheel in heavy traffic. I resolve to sing the national anthem more loudly at sporting events. I resolve to not eat that cookie until....

Did I say that? Ahh. Some New Year's habits die hard. Don't worry. I'll eat it. How long has it been now?

Volunteers deserve our praise

Every time I asked someone their opinion about the Ralph Engelstad Arena - Thief River Falls and how the World Junior Hockey Championship was being conducted here, I heard praise.

As is always the case where plans have been meticulously crafted, plans can go awry, and at the World Juniors, there were plenty of opportunities for things to go bad in a hurry. And, as expected, there were problems. Visitors' stories ranged from problems with credentials and tickets to computer systems, and dirty clothes. Despite what happened, or how trying the circumstances for our guests, they consistently reported that they were made to feel welcome, their requests honored wherever possible, and no matter what, they were always comforted by a smile, and a friendly "hi."

I expected to hear good things about the arena, and I wasn't disappointed. When I think about it, I guess I don't know why I even asked the question because I know that the arena is one of the best in the nation. One foreign journalist said he was disappointed when he saw how small our community was, but admitted that there were few if any hockey arenas in his country that could compare to our arena. On Sunday, at the powwow, when Al Pearson, team host, heard the question, he scoffed, "If East Coast teams had this high school arena, they'd be very excited."

But, I did hear something different, and it came from people who had attended games in other countries and at the Ralph Engelstad Arena in Grand Forks, N.D., which I supposed is indisputably among the very best. "Intimate" is not a word I would choose to describe our arena because I'm not used to the wide-open expanse of the arena. It seems huge to me, but "intimate" is the word visitors and guests used. In pressing them for an explanation, they often concluded the arena had everything they could possibly demand of it, but their feelings had more to do with the volunteers and staff at the arena. One visitor said, "They make you feel welcome and like you belong there, and it gives the arena a homey feel." Perhaps that's what Art Berglund meant when he said, "This is a pure hockey building."

Volunteers and organizers of the 2005 World Junior games in Thief River Falls are to be commended. No one deserves more praise for the impression it created for our guests.

College won't be affordable soon

by Stacy Kleinwachter
NCTC student

The Minnesota State College Student Association (MSCSA) and the Minnesota State University Student Association (MSUSA) have teamed up for a tuition freeze campaign that was kicked off on Oct. 6, 2004. The hope of the tuition freeze campaign is to keep tuition at the current rates at each campus around the state for the next biennium (2006-07). In order to freeze tuition for the next biennium, we are asking the state to invest $62.9 million beyond the Minnesota State Colleges and University's (MnSCU) request.

In each of the last four years, MnSCU universities have faced double-digit tuition increases. With cuts of $191 million over just the past two years, students have taken on their fair share of the burden to aid the efforts of balancing the state budget. Even though Gov. Tim Pawlenty has stayed true to his pledge not to increase taxes, the students sure have had a tremendous user fee increase due to the lack of higher education funding. In fact, Minnesota students at two-year colleges are now paying the fourth highest tuition and fees in the nation. It's just as shocking to consider that in 1995 students took out loans totaling $154 million compared to $317 million in 2003 for their college education. That's over a 100 percent increase and roughly 50 percent of that occurred between 2001 and 2003.

Now, add to the tuition increases the fact that a bonding bill was not passed last year. The bonding bill provides money for colleges to improve and expand, and it also includes Higher Education Asset Preservation and Renewal money (HEAPR). HEAPR money is what the colleges use to keep the facilities from falling apart. One of the many examples of the importance of the bonding bill can be seen at the Minnesota West Community and Technical College in Jackson. Walk through the halls at that campus and you will be stunned by the number of trash cans, recycling bins, and buckets sitting in the hallways and classrooms catching water as it leaks from above. Without the money from the bonding bill, the Jackson campus has been unable to fix the structural problems with its roof.

So, not only is tuition skyrocketing, but colleges can't fix anything that goes wrong or improves its facilities.

How can you help? One of the many ways to help is to fill out the attached card (make copies if you need more). Where it says school, please write if you are a parent, soon-to-be college student, teacher/instructor, business or community leader, or a supporter of higher education and mail it to the Student Senate in care of Stacy Kleinwachter at NCTC, 1101 Hwy. 1 E., Thief River Falls, MN 56701, by Jan. 14. The cards will be added to the thousands already signed and given to our lawmakers at the State Capitol to prove it is not just students who believe higher education is worth the investment. And if you want to take it a step further, feel free to call or write your legislators to urge them to fully fund higher education.

MSCSA and MSUSA want to prevent the steep, upward climb tuition has become accustomed to in the past four years. But, we need your help. Show your support for higher education. Show your support for fully funding higher education. The state of Minnesota needs to put a stop to the enormous tuition increases.

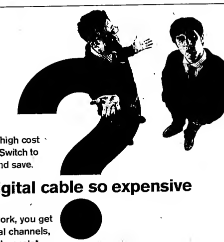
TUITION FREEZE



To Members of the Minnesota House,
Senate and Gov. Tim Pawlenty:

I am endorsing a two-year tuition freeze for the coming biennial budget. For the past two years, colleges and universities have dealt with significant cuts during our state's budget crisis. Students are encountering skyrocketing tuition that is pricing them out of higher education. It's time for the state to think forward and reinvest in the public higher education that has given us our high quality of life and delivers the necessary training for the jobs that provide the backbone of our economy.

Sincerely,

Russian forward Enver Lisin was stonewalled by Belarus goalie Stepan Goryachevskikh, who made a point-blank pad save on this play during World Junior Hockey Championship action Tuesday in Thief River Falls.

Third period goals clinch Russian win

■ World Junior Hockey

Russia answered a third period Belarus challenge by scoring three goals in a 1-minute, 46-second span to turn a 4-2 game into a 7-2 World Junior Hockey Championship win Tuesday at the Ralph Engelstad Arena in Thief River Falls, Minn.

Viachaslau Shypila pulled Belarus to within two goals of the heavily favored Russians by scoring just 43 seconds into the third period. But with sights firmly set on medal round qualification, Team Russia put the game away when Roman Voloshenko scored his second goal of the night at 48:04; Alexander Radoulov made it 6-2 at 49:29 and Alexander Nikulin completed the offensive outburst at 49:50.

Just as they did the day before in a 4-1 win over the Czech Republic, Russia gained an early edge by scoring two first period power play goals. Sergei Shirokov got the first one just 1:38 into the contest and Alexander Ovechkin made it 2-0 at 10:12 - during a 6-on-4 situation after goalie Andrei Kuznetsov was pulled in favor of an extra attacker during a delayed penalty call.

Voloshenko scored his first goal at 13:01 for a 3-0 cushion.

Belarus used a Siarhei Kolasau goal at 29:05 and spectacular goaltending by Stepan Goryachevskikh to make a game of it in the second period.

However, Ovechkin notched his second goal of the game at 33:54 to take the steam out of the Belarus comeback.

Players of the Game were Shirokov and Alexei Efimenko of Belarus.

Scoring

First period - Russia, Sergei Shirokov (Georgi Mishann, Ynkov Rylov), 1:38; Russia, Alexander Ovechkin (Evgeni Malkin, Shirokov), 10:12; Russia, Roman Voloshenko (Denis Parshin), 13:01.

Second period - Belarus, Siarhei Kolasau (Vadzim Karaha, Andrei Kastsitsyn), 29:05; Russia, Ovechkin (un.), 33:54.

Third period - Belarus, Viachaslau Shypila (Siarhei Giro), 40:43; Russia, Voloshenko (Mikhail Yunkov, Dmitri Mogalinski), 48:04; Russia, Alexander Radoulov (Malkin), 49:29; Russia, Alexander Nikulin (Grigori Shafigulin, Alexander Golimov), 49:50.

Goalie saves - Russia, Andrei Kuznetsov 26; Belarus, Stepan Goryachevskikh 30/Dzmitry Milchakou 0.

Prowlers win Russ Smith Classic...

TRF defends its tournament title

Winner of just one game coming into the event, Thief River Falls reached .500 and won a championship with three victories in the 22nd annual Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic boys high school basketball tournament that wrapped up its three-day 2004 run Wednesday.

The host Prowlers leveled their record at 4-4 with a 52-46 title game win over Marshall County Central after beating Red Lake Falls 63-29 and Tri-County 49-48 earlier.

It was a come-from-behind final-game effort for the Prowlers, who were down 21-14 in the first quarter and trailed 31-30 at halftime. The two teams were even at 41-41 heading into the final quarter.

Jeremy Sich scored 18 points and Alex Yaggie had 11 for the champions, with Paul Sjoberg and Matt Stuckey both contributing 8.

The Nordics, who reached the finals by beating Waubun 88-85 and Red Lake 63-58, were led by Dustin Monsebroten with 19 points and Jay Maurstad 10.

"It was a great game," said Marshall County Central coach Jake Rantanen. "They wore us down with their defense down the stretch."

Rantanen was more than happy with his team's performance. "I was very pleased with the effort," he said. "It was a great tournament for us. I think we'll learn from it. I think it will make us a better team."

It was the Prowlers' third straight Russ Smith title.

Elsewhere on trophy day, Red Lake edged Tri-County 63-60 in the third place game, Kittson Central took the consolation title by beating East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 62-46 and Waubun was a 63-35 winner over Red Lake Falls in the seventh place game.

Red Lake trailed Tri-County 21-19 at the end of the first quarter, pulled even at halftime, 29-29, fell behind again in the third quarter 48-43, then won it down the stretch. Darrell Crowe led the winners with 26 points. Cole Porter had an 18-point game for the Wildcats.

Quarter leads of 22-15, 41-21 and 48-31 led to the Kittson Central win over Sacred Heart. The Wolfpack got a 21-point game from Joel Schwenzfeier. Tom Fontaine led the Eagles with 16 points.

Steve Haverkamp scored 16 points as Waubun handled Red Lake Falls with quarter leads of 25-5, 37-23 and 51-28.

TRF hockey teams split with Pirates

It was a Thief River Falls-Crookston high school hockey split Tuesday during first-day match-ups at the KROX Radio Holiday Tournament.

Host Crookston beat Thief River Falls 5-2 in girls play. The Prowlers defeated the Pirates 5-1 in the boys game later that night.

By combining first period goals by Brooke Rundell and OD Rambeck with stellar goaltending by Trudy Erickson, the Thief River Falls girls carried a 2-1 lead into the final period. But as the Pirates' shot count continued to climb over the final 17 minutes, so did their goal production.

Erickson stopped 40 shots. Crookston goalie Amy Burke had to make only seven saves for the win.

Thief River Falls spotted Crookston a 1-0 head start before claiming the win in the boys game.

Alec Holen tied it before the first period was done. Goals by Michael Forney and Holen gave the Prowlers a 3-1 second period edge. Tyler Holen and Robby Philipp tacked on third period goals for the winners.

Cole Hunt had 17 saves in the Prowlers' nets. Justin Brule had a 25-save game for the Pirates.

World Junior Hockey Championship comeback...

Finland rally stuns Sweden

A scoring chance for Finland forward Petteri Nokelainen (9) was turned back by Sweden goalie Christopher Heino-Lindberg, with help from defensemen Nicklas Grossmann, during the second period of Wednesday's World Junior Hockey Championship game in Thief River Falls.

Finland stunned Sweden by overcoming a pair of three-goal deficits Wednesday en route to a 5-4 World Junior Hockey Championship Group B win at the Ralph Engelstad Arena in Thief River Falls, Minn.

Trailing 4-1 to start the third period, Team Finland took advantage of a five-minute major penalty assessed Nicklas Grossmann to ignite the game-winning rally.

Power play goals by Lauri Korpikoski and Jesse Joensuu scored just 10 seconds apart made it a sudden 4-3 game just 2:36 into the final period.

Twelve minutes later Livo Hokkanen tied the game when given two chances on the backhand in front of Sweden goalie Christopher Heino-Lindberg, who made a great first save, but couldn't cover the rebound.

The game winner came just 37 seconds later on an unassisted goal by Lauri Tukonen at 54:47.

Heino-Lindberg was pulled in favor of an extra attacker with 48 seconds remaining. There were 20 seconds to play when Team Finland goalie Joonas Hallikainen, who replaced starting goalie Tuukka Rask to open the third period, made a sprawling save to preserve the win.

Sweden opened the game with first period goals by Daniel Ahsberg and Robert Nilsson.

It was a 3-0 game when Johannes Salmonsson scored at 30:55 of the second period.

Finland got on the board with a power play goal by Jussi Makkonen at 32:07.

Sweden regained a three-goal edge on a shot by Carl Soderberg at 35:18.

Sweden out-shot Finland 35-28.

Players of the Game were Nilsson and Tukonen.

Slovakia shuts out Germany

Grabbing a 3-0 lead before Germany got a shot on goal, Slovakia skated to a 5-0 World Junior Hockey Championship win Wednesday.

A natural hat trick by Stefan Ruzicka got things started for Team Slovakia in the Group B game at the Ralph Engelstad Arena in Thief River Falls, Minn. He scored just 47 seconds into the game, again at 7:43 and capped his three-goal first period with a dazzling individual effort that put him behind two German defenders for a power play score at 13:50.

After a scoreless second period, Slovakia picked up two third period goals by Andrej Meszaros at 40:57 and 48:56 - the latter during a 4-on-3 power play.

Slovakia goalie Jaroslav Halak finished with an easy 11-save shutout. Germany pulled starting goalie Thomas Greiss in favor of Youri Ziffzer following Ruzicka's third goal. Together, the two German netminders stopped 25 shots.

Ruzicka and Germany's Florian Busch earned Player of the Game honors.

The win kept Slovakia in contention for a berth in the tournament's medal round with a 2-1 record heading into a Thursday showdown against Sweden.

Winless Germany completed pool play 0-4.

Scoring

Prowlers, Nordics reach finals

■ TRF, MCC Russ Smith Classic semifinal winners

A day after opening the 2004 Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic boys high school basketball tournament with a 34-point, 63-29 win over Red Lake Falls, host Thief River Falls had to sweat out a one-point, 49-48 Tuesday semifinal victory over Tri-County.

Joining the Prowlers in the championship game was Marshall County Central, a 63-58 Day 2 winner over Red Lake.

In Tuesday consolation play, Sacred Heart rolled over Red Lake Falls 86-36 and Kittson Central got by Waubun 78-77 in overtime.

Tri-County gave up just a combined 10 points to Thief River Falls' inside combination of Matt Stuckey (7) and Paul Sjoberg (3), but the Prowlers' scoring void was filled by Jeremy Sich and Kyle Lunke with 16 and 15 points, respectively, in the final second round game.

The Prowlers started with an 18-14 first quarter lead, fell behind 24-23 at halftime and were back on top by the end of the third quarter, 39-33.

Jake Anderson had a game-high 22-point night for the Wildcats. Jameson Benson contributed 10 points.

Monday, Jay Maurstad scored 37 points in an 88-85 Marshall County Central win over Waubun. Tuesday, the spotlight went to the other half of the Nordics' prolific backcourt duo as Dustin Monsebroten had a 36-point performance in the semifinal conquest of Red Lake that put him over 1,000 points for his high school career.

The Nordics trailed 14-12 after one quarter, went ahead 27-26 at halftime and carried a 48-39 advantage into the final period.

"We couldn't shake them," said Marshall County Central coach Jake Rantanen. "It was a pretty physical game. Both teams played hard. We might have ran out of gas at the end. If it would have gone another five minutes, we probably would have lost."

Maurstad had a 17-point semifinal. Red Lake was led by Darrell Crowe with 27 points and Buster Graves with 10.

Led by Tom Fontaine's 28 points, Sacred Heart had four double figure scorers against Red Lake Falls. The winners were ahead at the quarters 25-8, 51-17 and 70-28. Ben Pahlen had a 13-point afternoon for Red Lake Falls.

Kittson Central out-scored Waubun 23-14 in the fourth quarter for a tie, then won the consolation match-up in overtime. The Bombers led at the first three quarter breaks 18-13, 35-31 and 58-49. It was a 72-72 regulation time draw. Joel Schwenzfeier (34) and Austin Bogestad (20) combined for 54 Wolfpack points. The Bombers' offense featured Tim Stalberger with 21 points, Steve Haverkamp 20 and Nick Lerud 19.

ATV registration fees are due on January 1

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources reminds all terrain vehicle owners that some three year vehicle registrations expire the last day of December.

In 2003, the Legislature passed a law increasing the three-year registration fee for ATVs to $23 in 2004. The registration fee becomes $30 ($10 per year) after Jan. 1, 2005.

The $30 registration fee is reflected on the ATV renewal notices that were mailed to ATV owners this month.

Firearms deer harvest likely second highest

Although the final tally may change, this year's firearms deer harvest will likely be the second highest on record, according to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources.

Minnesota hunters harvested an estimated 229,500 white-tailed deer during the statewide firearms deer season, just topping the 1992 harvest of 229,236. Archery and muzzleloader harvest totals have not yet been estimated so the final statewide deer harvest will likely increase. In 2003, 253,000 deer were taken by firearms.

"We didn't expect a record this year, so we're very happy with these numbers," said Lou Cornicelli, DNR big game program coordinator. "Conditions this past fall didn't favor hunters quite as much as 2003. The weather was warm, some crops were still in the fields and we've lowered deer populations in some areas."

DNR officials said hunters reacted very positively to the simplified antlerless permit process as part of the agency's on-going effort to simplify regulations. This year, management and intensive harvest permits were combined into a single bonus permit. Most hunters were able to obtain antlerless permits without applying in the state's permit lottery system. Hunters purchased 183,000 antlerless permits, over the counter.

The final season report, which includes archery and muzzleloader harvests as well as final firearms deer harvest totals, will be posted this winter on the DNR Web site at: www.dnr.state.mn.us and available by clicking on the hunting button.

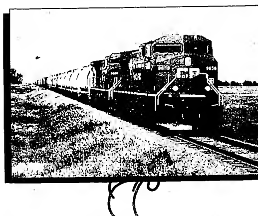
"It's possible our final calculation for the 2004 firearms harvest could shift downward, making it the third-highest total on record," Cornicelli said. "Either way, it's a significant harvest and we're pleased to see hunters taking advantage of opportunities to harvest deer."

DNR Question of the Week

Q: Trespassing is one of the biggest issues DNR conservation officers must deal with during the winter months. What should people remember as they ride their sleds?

A: Winter is a great time to enjoy Minnesota's wonderful natural resources, and snowmobiles present the opportunities to see places you might not otherwise get to see. However, it is important to remember to respect the private and public property that snowmobile clubs have obtained to create the extensive system of trails Minnesota has to offer. Cutting corners, taking shortcuts across fields, hill climbing or operating on private property outside road ditch right-of-ways are all examples of trespassing situations that have resulted in the closing of miles of snowmobile trails every season.

Prowlers' JV has 3-0 tournament



Thief River Falls went 3-0 during the junior varsity portion of the 2004 Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic boys high school basketball tournament.

The Prowlers beat Red Lake Falls 60-27 Monday; defeated Tri-County 60-31 Tuesday; and stopped Marshall County Central 64-27 Wednesday.

Andrew BlackLance scored 19 points and Kyle Trontvet had 10, while Lee Peterson and Adam Rodahl both contributed 8 in the win over Red Lake Falls. The Prowlers had quarter leads of 21-2, 35-6 and 52-16.

A 15-point game by Rodahl and 12 from Peterson led Thief River Falls past Tri-County. Trontvet and Ross Helling added 9 and 8 points, respectively, to the offensive totals as the Prowlers posted break leads of 16-7, 24-15 and 44-22.

Peterson was the Prowlers' leading scorer against Marshall County Central with 14 points. Trontvet netted 13, Rodahl 10 and Helling 8 as Thief River Falls jumped out to an 18-8 first quarter lead, made it 34-14 at halftime and stretched the difference to 49-22 in the third quarter.

World-sized menu

Nutrition for players is a challenge for host

by David Hill
Editor

Five teams, from five different countries, 55 people per team. How do you prepare meals that meet all of their needs? Forget about bacon, sausage and eggs for breakfast, or chips, pop and a sandwich for lunch. These people want healthy meals.

Jeff Jasperson, manager of the Seven Clans Casino, Hotel and Water Park, filed a bid to host teams attending the World Junior Hockey Championships in Grand Forks and Thief River Falls based on his normal holiday rate. He was surprised and then taken a bit aback when he was told the bid for five teams attending the games had been awarded to Seven Clans.

Winning the bid meant not only providing rooms for all the players and coaches, but meeting their demanding nutritional needs. Jasperson pointed to a large stack of paper. Eleven pages were instructions from the International Ice Hockey Federation (IIHF) on meeting the nutritional requirements of players. The document makes it clear that "the players need to have familiar and appropriate food choices to optimize their ability to perform."

In a planning meeting with his food and beverage department, Jasperson said this would be one of the most difficult challenges they would ever have to face. How they handle this challenge, he said, would be critical to the success of Seven Clans, and the community's perception of the hotel.

Jasperson said they looked at the menus, which included separate meal suggestions for European, North American and Asian athletes. He could see right away that breakfast selections for North American athletes wouldn't do for athletes from Russia. To North Americans, the selections might seem strange. The sample menu for European athletes, for example, suggested oatmeal, fruit, three sandwiches - ham cheese and egg or sardines. The Asian breakfast sample menu suggested boiled rice, gruel, bread, and Corn Flakes.

Seven Clans staff have met the challenge by trying to be sensitive to cultural differences. They empathized with these young players, and then, Jasperson said, the staff looked closely at the requirements and began planning meals.

Players from several different teams who were watching the powwow at the hotel on Sunday agreed that the hotel staff had not only met their nutritional needs, but that the food tasted good, too.

The differences and demands extended beyond three meals a day. Athletes of this calibre also require in-between meals.

Whereas many American children might consider a candy bar or bag of chips and a can of pop a smart snack choice, many of these athletes won't touch the stuff. For snacks, the IIHF suggests soups, yogurt, sandwiches, fruit, energy bars and low fat cookies.

"The food and beverage department really pulled together to meet the demands," said Jasperson, who added that he's very proud of them.

Unexpected challenges always crop up. Jasperson said they were met with another challenge when games began to take place and players required food at different times. Again, Jasperson said, the food and beverage department responded and met the challenge.

Joyce Fowler, marketing manager, said she's beginning to wonder if she has a home because she's been working so much at the hotel. That's the same for many hotel employees. She said they want to do their very best for these teams.

Fowler said one day she was swarmed by players from Finland. She couldn't understand a word they were saying. She didn't understand until they started rubbing their stomachs. She checked the schedule and noticed that the team wasn't scheduled to eat for another two hours - teams requested strick adherence to schedules because what they eat and when could have a significant influence on how they play. No one, said Fowler, at Seven Clans wants to do anything that would jeopardize how they play at these important games. But Fowler realized that the players were hungry so she began checking with coaches and team representatives. She then checked to see if the buffet they were interested in eating at met their nutritional requirements.

Language is a barrier, but Fowler noticed that there are some gestures that seem to be understood internationally. Nodding heads and bright smiles was all she needed to see.

Fowler said employees at Seven Clans are not about to give up – not give up on their desire to meet their needs or share their culture - even if it means using hand gestures.

Jasperson said he's proud of all of the staff. One example of the kind of attitude he is seeing at the hotel has been exhibited by Carl Fairbanks. Fairbanks is an employee at Seven Clans, said Jasperson. He's not a supervisor or team leader, he's just an employee. But, for some reason the players and coaches of the various teams have connected with Fairbanks and he's become a direct contact for the hotel. Jasperson said that when he asked Fairbanks about this connection, he said he works for the hotel and as an employee, it's his job to respond to the needs of guests of the hotel.

Jasperson said Seven Clans Casino, Hotel and Water Park is very much honored to host these teams. He also wants to reassure the community of Thief River Falls that they're doing the very best that they can to put the entire community in the best light possible.

World Juniors bring world's hockey fans to TRF

by David Hill
Editor

Hockey fans

Alex Kolosovsky and his father Valeriy Mogliev drove 400 miles from Minneapolis to Thief River Falls on Christmas Day to watch the hockey game between Belarus and the Czech Republic.

Arena staff said there were 900 in attendance at the game, which may have been less than they were hoping for, but then again, it was Christmas Day and the first game of the tournament in Thief River Falls. Only serious hockey fans and the very curious showed up for the first game. Some of them, like Kolosovsky, were wearing team jerseys and waving flags.

Kolosovsky works with a financial company in Minneapolis, but his father, who couldn't speak any English, flew to America from Belarus to visit his son and go to the games.

Kolosovsky is a serious fan, too. He attended the World Cup in Minneapolis, and when he heard the World Juniors were coming to America, he purchased his ticket almost immediately. He said he purchased his tickets through Ticketmaster but when he arrived in Thief River Falls his ticket couldn't be scanned. The staff, he said, was very good and helpful, and corrected the problem. It wasn't like he could just wait until the next game, he explained. Kolosovsky wasn't staying overnight in Thief River Falls. He was going to drive back to Minneapolis after the game – to be with his family, which now includes a 6-week-old daughter.

Having never been to Thief River Falls or Grand Forks, N.D., Kolosovsky didn't know what to expect. When he entered the Ralph Engelstad Arena - Thief River Falls, he was very excited about the arena. "There are seven ice hockey arenas in Belarus," he said, "and this one is one of the best I have ever seen." Of course, he had to mention that he hasn't been to the Engelstad Arena in Grand Forks, N.D., yet.

The Solc family wouldn't dream of missing the Czech Republic team play hockey. Like your average hockey fans, they were easily identifiable, too, waving the Czech Republic flag and cheering every goal.

Jarmila explained that the Solcs came to America from the Czech Republic in 1991, and everyone in their family plays hockey or coaches hockey. Her husband, Jaroslav, works at the Energy and Environmental Research Center (EERC) in North Dakota, but also coaches hockey. Her sons, Jaroslav Jr., Tom and Michael also either coach hockey or play hockey. Jarmila teaches figure skating. Jarmila explained that her son Tom wasn't present because he was serving as a host for the Slovakian team. Otherwise, he'd be at the arena cheering, too.

Jarmila said she really liked the arena in Thief River Falls. "It's very nice, warm, like family," she said.

The Solc family cheers together. Jermilo, Jeroslev, Micheel and Jaroslev Solc Jr., chaared for the Czech Republic teem Seturday, Dac. 25, during tha Czech Rapublic vs. Belorus game.

Alex Kolosovsky (right) end his father Valeriy Mogliev of Belarus cheered on the Belerus teem during the Czech Republic vs. Belarus game at the Ralph Engelstad Arena - Thief River Falls on Saturday, Dec. 25. The two drove from Minneapolis that morning and would driva back to Minnaapolis that night.

Roseau to hire assistant co. attorney

Roseau - The Roseau County Board agreed, at the Dec. 28 meeting, to advertise in area law schools and other institutions for a qualified attorney to assist County Attorney Michelle Moren. The board cited Moren's increasing work load, the small pool of locally qualified attorneys, and the decision by Attorney Steve Anderson to sever his agreement providing legal services to the county as reasons for hiring an assistant county attorney.

Anderson, who has provided his services to the county on an out-source basis, discontinued that agreement, feeling that his defense of the city of Warroad in the recent Hallberg Avenue issue placed him in conflict with the interests of the county. - Warroad Pioneer, Jan. 5, 2005, by Del Stordahl

County Board wraps up 2004 business

Red Lake Falls - The Red Lake County Board of Commissioners wrapped up the year with its final meeting of 2004 on Dec. 28.

Sheriff Les Arlt requested money be put aside for emergency services. It is mandated that at least one civil defense emergency drill be held each year.

"There is another mandate that was forced upon the local government that wasn't followed up with the money to do it," said Commissioner Velma Oakland.

In the past, Arlt said he was able to write a grant for this money, but that source has dried up. He said these drills are training in logistics, cooperation and knowing what to do to organize a response to emergency situations. He requested at least $500 in an effort to have something to work with if an emergency occurred.

Commissioner Ed Larson moved to allot $500 to the sheriff's department. - Red Lake Falls Gazette, Jan 5, 2005, by Barb Novak

Warren construction activity shows an increase for 2004

Warren - Building permits issued by the city of Warren in 2004 had a total valuation of $866,772.36, City Hall reported. This marks the first increase from the previous year after two years of declines.

A year ago, the city issued building permits with $423,420 total valuation. The total for 2004 is, thus, an increase of over 100 percent from the previous year.

Nearly half of the 2004 building permit valuation, $359,310, was for construction or repair of commercial property. The largest permit was for a new building for Nordic Fiberglass Inc., with a valuation of $242,000. - Warren Sheaf, Jan 5, 2005

Strathcona Post Office is 100 years old

Strathcona - The post office was established in Strathcona Jan 13, 1905. There will be a special stamp cancellation to commemorate the 100th year anniversary. It will be used Jan. 13. Customers can go in that day and purchase a postcard with the special stamp cancellation. - The Tribune of Greenbush, Jan. 5, 2005

Cold weather smiles

Wadnasday, people breved the piercing Minnesota winter temperatures, teking tha opportunity to go skating et Northrop Perk. But while tha bittar cold and a foot of snow can make life difficult, it also creates opportunities. For meny local businessas, it generetes business. RV Sports and Hubart Outdoor Power, for exemple, reportad e significant increasa in walk-in treffic, lots of sales, and lots of repair work. On Thursdey, Mika Thygesson of Thygesson Construction used his payloader to loed snow into dump trucks in tha west storage lot at Arctic Cat. Since it's the first significent snowfell in a long time, it ganareted a lot of smilas.

Peterson to lead House Ag committee

Peterson

Congressman Collin C. Peterson (DFL-MN 7th District) has been selected by the House Democratic Caucus to serve as the ranking member on the House Agriculture Committee. Peterson succeeds Texas Congressman Charles Stenholm, who was defeated in the November election.

"I'm honored to be given this opportunity," Peterson said. "I'm looking forward to the challenge and to continuing to serve the agricultural concerns of my District."

As the most senior Democrat on the Agriculture Committee, Peterson will likely serve as one of the party's policy leaders for all areas of the committee's jurisdiction, which includes oversight of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and all of its various agencies and programs, the Conservation Reserve Program, Disaster Assistance, Rural Development, Livestock Compensation, Crop Insurance and Food Safety. In addition, the committee also has jurisdiction over the Food and Drug Administration, the Commodities Futures Trading Commission (CFTC), the Chicago Board of Trade and the Chicago Mercantile Exchange.

Peterson said, "Rural America is often forgotten by the federal government and I will be working to change that. As most people know, the federal budget is a mess and we're running the largest deficit in history. I'm hearing that the Administration intends to make deep cuts in agriculture programs and other programs that affect life in rural areas. We've got to fight them on that and defend the interests of American farmers and ranchers and the economic base of rural communities if we're going to maintain a bright future for rural America."

TRF man injured in train accident near Detroit Lakes

A Thief River Falls man was injured Wednesday evening after an accident between a train and car near Detroit Lakes.

Wayne Halbasch, 49, appeared to suffer serious injuries and was transported to St. Mary's Regional Hospital in Detroit Lakes, and then transferred to Innovis in Fargo, N.D.

At the time of the accident, the man was driving a 2001 Dodge Intrepid east of Detroit Lakes. The vehicle then collided with a Burlington Northern/Santa Fe train at the McHugh Crossing.

The train crossing is marked, but it does not have electronic controls like cross arms or flashers, the department reported.

No injuries were reported to the train crew. The train did not derail.

The department was dispatched to the scene at 11:15 p.m. Wednesday. St. Mary's EMS, the Frazee and Detroit Lakes fire departments, Frazee Rescue and Detroit Lakes Police Department assisted at the scene. The Minnesota State Patrol will assist with accident reconstruction.

Weather hazards won't stop the State Patrol's "smart car"

by April Schelnohn
Reporter

Neither rain nor sleet nor snow should stop the Minnesota State Patrol from responding to emergencies this winter in its Northwest District. That should be especially true now that the district has an "intelligent vehicle."

The "intelligent vehicle" or "smart car" helps a state trooper see a roadway during hazardous weather conditions like white-outs. The trooper is able to see the roadway thanks to maps via Global Positioning System (GPS) technology. The maps are projected onto a screen that can be flipped down in front of the driver's line of view. Highways and county roads, including the centerlines, white lines and fog-lines are shown on the screen. Curves in roadways are also projected even though a state trooper may not be able to see the curves with his or her naked eyes.

The squad car's GPS has an accuracy of less than two centimeters, said Mike Theis, a state trooper who drives the smart car.

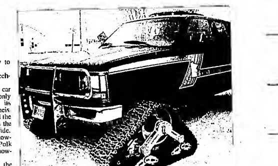
Highway information is transmitted via a tower in Fisher to the squad car, said Theis, who drives the smart car in the East Grand Forks and Crookston area. As of right now, mapped areas include highways and county roads within 20 miles of Fisher.

Collision avoidance radar is also attached to the front of the squad car. The radar senses mailboxes, deer, and oncoming, stalled or slow moving vehicles. Those objects are then projected and highlighted on the driver's screen.

The smart car's GPS and radar are powered by a computer located in the squad car's trunk. If that computer crashes, a laptop inside the squad car has enough memory to power the GPS and radar.

"It's really nice to have this technology to respond," Theis said.

The district has had the smart car for about four months. It's the only one the State Patrol has in its statewide fleet, according to Theis. The Northwest District received the smart car because it encounters the worst weather conditions statewide.



There are also "smart snowplows" in the state. Two Polk County Highway Department snowplows have the technology.

For the smart car project, the State Patrol worked with the University of Minnesota and other partners.

Mattracks

Besides the smart car, the Northwest District also has the use of Mattracks, which replace vehicle tires. Mattracks are rubberized

Law clearly defines DNR's role in defining OHV forest trails

Warroad to host public meeting on January 13

(Editor's note: Several public meetings regarding defining forest trails are expected to take place in 2005. Many have not been scheduled, yet. However, in this region of the state, a public meeting has been scheduled to take place from 6 to 9 p.m. on Thursday, Jan. 13 at Warroad Middle School. To obtain more information about the meeting, or to obtain an updated list of the meetings, log on to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resource Web site at: www.dnr.state.mn.us. The following story is a press release issued by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources.)

As a series of public meetings concerning motorized vehicle use in state forests are about to begin in northwestern Minnesota, Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Commissioner Gene Merriam said the law clearly defines what the DNR is required to do.

According to state statutes passed by the 2003 Legislature, the DNR is mandated to review the classification of all managed lands and to change the classification to "limited" or "closed." The Department was not given the option of classifying the state forests as "managed," which means off-highway vehicles can go on any trails unless they are marked off-limits.

"There seems to be some confusion about the classifications that are required by law," Merriam said, "and citizens sometimes confuse roads with trails, ATVs with other Off-Highway Vehicles (OHVs), truck challenge areas with technical trails, and other aspects of related legislation, such as the big game and trapping exemption."

Legislators passed a law that directed the DNR Commissioner to complete a review of all forest lands under the authority of the commissioner on a forest-by-forest and area-by-area basis in accordance with the process and criteria under Minnesota Rules, part 6100.1950.

The law specified that classification be based on these criteria:

• Resource sensitivity and management objectives of the lands in question;
• Resource impact by motorized and non-motorized use, including erosion, rutting, and impacts on vegetation, wildlife, air, water or natural habitats;
• Motorized and non-motorized recreational opportunity in the area;
• User needs, such as trails, parking, signs, and access;
• The degree and trend of motor vehicle use in the area;
• The degree and trend of non-motor vehicle use in the area;
• Competing interests among different user groups; and
• Public safety and law enforcement concerns.

"Imagine the huge task the DNR's dedicated field staff undertook to inventory 54 forests that contain more than three million acres in order to comply with law," said Merriam. "Because trails cross county, federal and other lands mixed among the state forest property, the employees actually created a thorough inventory involving additional acreage that totaled nearly five million acres."

The inventory recorded every trail that showed prior human activity, including ones that never had motorized use, so when DNR staff talks about total miles in the trail

Two killed when truck and ambulance collide

by April Schelnohn
Reporter

Two people died Tuesday morning after an accident between an ambulance and a garbage truck three miles east of Greenbush.

Ambulance driver Terry Lee Pearson, 48, Lake Bronson, and ambulance patient Eleanor Olson, 68, Roseau, were dead at the scene along Highway 11, according to the Minnesota State Patrol.

Ambulance attendant Stacy Leroy Otto, 36, Roseau, was transported to Roseau Area Hospital and Homes (RAHAH) and then airlifted to Altru Hospital in Grand Forks, N.D. He was listed in critical condition Friday morning, an Altru nursing staff member said.

Garbage truck driver Robert James Christianson, 34, Badger, was treated for minor injuries and released, the State Patrol reported.

At the time of the accident, Pearson was driving the ambulance westbound on Highway 11. The report indicated the RAHAH ambulance's red lights were in operation.

Ahead of the ambulance, Christianson was also driving westbound and had made a left turn into a driveway. The 2003 Ford E-350 ambulance then struck the 1990 International 4000 Series tandem garbage truck in the rear.

At the time, Olson was strapped down in the ambulance, the State Patrol report indicated. It was not known if Otto was wearing a seat belt. Pearson was wearing a seat belt, and Christianson was not.

The ambulance was on its way to Grand Forks, said Carl Ireland, RAHAH director of emergency medical staff. He noted both Pearson and Otto were volunteer emergency medical technicians.

The ambulance was totalled, and the garbage truck, which is owned by Hammer Sanitation of Roseau, sustained moderate damage.

RAHAH is now receiving help from surrounding ambulance services in providing ambulance service, Ireland said.

The State Patrol was dispatched to the scene at 9:02 a.m. Tuesday. The accident remains under investigation.

New MN newborn screening test to protect more lives

Starting this month, the Minnesota Department of Health (MDH) will begin testing newborns for biotinidase deficiency, a rare metabolic disorder.

Biotinidase is an enzyme that recycles biotin, an important B vitamin that is found in foods like egg yolks, liver and yeast. People with biotinidase deficiency have trouble using biotin in their bodies, so they need extra biotin in their diet to stay healthy.

About one in every 60,000 healthy babies inherits the gene for biotinidase deficiency from both parents. With newborn screening, the disease can be detected early, and treatment can begin before serious symptoms, such as frequent infections, seizures, hearing loss, mental retardation, coma and even death, occur. Lifelong treatment can prevent most problems so that babies have the opportunity to live healthy, productive lives.

By adding biotinidase deficiency to the newborn screening program, Minnesota is one step closer to screening for all of the disorders recommended by the American College of Medical Genetics. "Minnesota now screens for 40 conditions, including congenital hearing loss," said Minnesota Health Commissioner Dianne Mandernach. "Newborn screening can mean the difference between life and death, disabilities and healthy development for the the 70,000 babies born in Minnesota every year."

Although more than 30 other states currently screen for biotinidase deficiency, Minnesota screens for a wider range of conditions than most other states. Organizations, such as the March of Dimes, hope that Minnesota's leadership in newborn screening will help pave the way for other states to expand their screening programs.

"Minnesota's newborn screening program continues the state's long-held tradition of implementing cutting-edge healthcare policy," said Dr. Nancy Mendelsohn, March of Dimes Public Affairs Committee co-chairperson. "We're hopeful that other states will follow Minnesota's example and begin screening for more conditions."

Most patients who have biotinidase deficiency are treated at the University of Minnesota Metabolic Clinic – one of two such clinics in Minnesota.

"Screening for biotinidase deficiency is critical," said Dr. Susan Berry, a pediatric metabolic specialist at the clinic. "Newborns need care as early as possible by a team that includes a metabolic specialist, dietician, genetic counselor and the baby's primary care provider. We work together with MDH and our colleagues at the Mayo Clinic to ensure the best possible care for the infants and their families."

All states screen newborns for certain metabolic birth defects. The tests are done from a blood specimen taken before the baby leaves the hospital. The baby's heel is pricked to obtain a few drops of blood for laboratory analysis. Minnesota hospitals are required to take blood from every baby and send the sample to MDH.

"The Minnesota screening program is a cooperative effort involving health professionals from all around the state," Mandemach said.

MDH started screening for phenylketonuria in 1965 and has added more conditions as technology improved and legislation allowed. In addition, MDH supports hospitals in voluntarily screening infants for hearing loss and reporting the results for follow-up services and diagnosis.

More information about newborn screening and the conditions being screened by MDH is available at www.health.state.mn.us/divs/phl/newborn/.

Cooking for the new year includes preparing more healthy meals.

This is a wonderful bread that is so soft you'll never remember it is good for you - It's a good way to keep on with that healthy eating diet you planned for the new year:

OATMEAL BREAD

- 1-1/4 cups water
- 3 cups white bread flour
- 1-1/2 tablespoons dry milk
- 1-1/2 teaspoons salt
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons honey (or molasses or Karo syrup)
- 1/2 cup rolled oats (whole, not quick-cooking)
- 1 package active dry yeast

This recipe that fixes up quickly and makes a healthy meal. Serve with that fresh bread you made:

SPICY SKILLET SUPPER

- 1 pound ground turkey
- 1 can chili beans in sauce, undrained
- 1-1/2 cups cooked brown rice
- 1 cup salsa
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- 2-3 teaspoons chili powder
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon cumin
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 cup shredded light cheddar (if desired)

In skillet coated with nonstick spray, brown turkey. Drain if necessary. Add beans and sauce, rice, salsa, vinegar and seasonings. Mix well. Bring to boil, reduce heat, cover and simmer 20 minutes. Sprinkle with cheese if desired.

Recipe serves 5. Each 1 cup serving (without cheese) contains 248 calories, 944 mg sodium, 45 mg chol, 32 gm carb, 28 gm protein, 3 gm fat. Diabetic exchange is 3 very lean meat and 2 starch.

How about a "leftover" soup? Freeze those bits of leftovers that accumulate during the week and make this tasty soup on the weekend. It would be great with the fresh bread, too, and, who knows, it might become a weekend tradition:

SECRET MINESTRONE

- 4 cups water
- 1 (1.7ounce) package dry vegetable soup mix
- 1 can kidney beans, rinsed and drained
- 1 can corn, drained
- 1 (8 ounce) can tomato sauce
- 2 cups cubed meat (beef, chicken, turkey, pork)
- 1 cup cooked leftover vegetables
- 1 cup sliced celery
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 2 cups cooked elbow macaroni

Combine water and soup mix in soup pot. Bring to a boil over medium heat and add vegetables and salt and pepper. Bring to a boil, then reduce heat, cover and simmer 10 minutes. Add macaroni and heat through. Serves 10-12 people.

A little taste of the southwest with this special salad:

SPECIAL SALAD

- 2-1/2 cups corn chips
- 1/2 head iceberg lettuce, torn
- 1 cup shredded Mexican or Cheddar cheese
- 1 can pinto beans, rinsed and drained
- 1 small tomato, seeded and diced
- 1/4 to 1/2 cup salad dressing of your choice
- 2 tablespoons sliced green onions
- 1-2 tablespoons chopped green chilies
- 1 small avocado, peeled and sliced

In serving bowl, combine all ingredients except avocados, then top with avocado slices. Serve immediately. Serves 6-8 people.

This dressing would be good on that southwest salad:

HOT BACON DRESSING

- 1/3 pound bacon, diced
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cup cider vinegar
- 1 cup water
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1 ounce diced pimentos, drained
- 1 tablespoon Dijon mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 1-1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1 tablespoon cold water

In skillet, cook bacon until crisp. Remove and set aside. Drain pan, reserving 1 tablespoon drippings. Add onion and sauté until tender. Remove from heat. Add vinegar, water, sugar, pimentos, mustard, salt, pepper and bacon and mix well.

Combine cornstarch and cold water and stir into skillet. Cook and stir until mixture comes to a boil. Boil 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Serve warm over salad. Refrigerate leftovers and reheat to use. Makes 2 cups.

Light and fluffy, serve this airy dessert in your pretty wine glasses and top with a dab of whipped topping and an orange slice:

ORANGE WHIP

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1/3 cup sugar
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 1-3/4 cup hot orange juice (150 degrees)
- 3/4 cup whipped topping

Combine gelatin, sugar and salt. Add orange juice and stir until gelatin dissolves. Chill until slightly thickened, about 1 1/2 hours. Beat on low speed until light and fluffy, then spoon into dessert dishes. Chill firm. Top with dollop of whipped topping or whipped cream. Makes 6 servings.

EQIP sign up is underway

The Environmental Quality Incentive Program (EQIP) sign up is now underway. The sign-up period began Dec. 13. Applications will be scored and ranked based on a locally prioritized statewide environmental ranking worksheet. High priority applications will be funded after each of the following scoring periods: Jan. 28, Feb. 25 and March 25.

EQIP pays 50 percent of eligible conservation practice expenses. Incentive payments may be available to encourage a farmer to adopt land management practices, such as the management of nutrients, manure, integrated pests and wildlife habitats. Popular practices locally have been rotational grazing, pest and nutrient management, and tree planting.

For more information, visit the Minnesota Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) Web site (www.mn.nrcs.usda.gov) or contact the local NRCS at (218) 681-1612, extension 3.

Foundation offers 10 free trees

Ten free flowering trees will be given to each person who joins The National Arbor Day Foundation during January 2005.

The free trees are part of the nonprofit foundation's Trees for America campaign.

The 10 trees are two white flowering dogwoods, two flowering crabapples, two Washington hawthorns, two American rosebuds, and two goldenraintrees.

"These compact trees were selected for planting in large or small spaces," said John Rosenow, the foundation's president. "They will give your home the beauty of lovely pink, white and yellow flowers – and also provide winter berries and nesting sites for songbirds."

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting between Feb. 1 and May 31 with enclosed planting instructions. The six- to 12-inch trees are guaranteed to grow or they will be replaced free of charge.

Members also receive a subscription to the foundation's bimonthly publication, Arbor Day, and The Tree Book with information about tree planting and care.

To become a member of the foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 contribution to Ten Free Flowering Trees, The National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Ave., Nebraska City, NE 68410 by Jan. 31 or go online to arborday.org.

TRF woman injured in accident Wednesday

A Thief River Falls woman was injured Wednesday morning after an accident along Highway 59 South in Thief River Falls.

Bethany Jo Nelson, 23, suffered a neck/back injury, according to the Minnesota State Patrol.

At the time of the accident, Nelson was driving a 1997 Saturn northbound on Highway 59 South near Galaxy Twin Theatre. She stopped for a northbound 1997 Honda Civic driven by Alissa Gaye Langan, 18, Thief River Falls. Nelson's vehicle was then rear-ended by a 1992 Dodge Dakota driven by Dale Arvid Toren, 47, Thief River Falls.

Langan's vehicle did not sustain any damage. Langan had stopped for a northbound 1997 Plymouth Neon driven by Bethany Dianne Stroh, 16, Thief River Falls. The report indicated Stroh had pulled onto Highway 59 South from a driveway, but she had difficulty getting up to speed due to icy roads. Stroh's vehicle did not sustain any damage.

Nelson's vehicle sustained extensive damage, and Toren's vehicle sustained minor damage. The Minnesota State Patrol was dispatched to the scene at 8:06 a.m. Wednesday.

LSS offers tips on financial stability

Along with changing diet and exercising more, financial goals are often at the top of the list when it comes to making New Year's resolutions. Most families however, skip a great opportunity to get the entire family involved in the financial planning process.

"It's a really good time to sit down as a family and establish financial goals together that involve everyone in the family," said Jody Anderson, program director with LSS Financial Counseling Service. "A family meeting on finances can be a great teaching tool for children. It's also just a good time for all of us to take an honest look at our spending habits and how they may or may not connect with our values and personal goals. If we've been on the wrong track, it's a perfect time to start fresh."

Anderson offers these suggestions for creating a healthier outlook for family finances in the new year:

Set goals. Do you want to pay off your car loan, establish a college fund, plan for a family vacation, sock more money away in your company retirement plan or increase your charitable giving? Write three to five financial goals this year and challenge yourself to stick to them. Have your kids do the same.

Clarify your financial picture. Figure out what you owe by gathering credit card statements, car payments, mortgage payments and any other loans. Then write down what you own, including the equity you have in your home, savings, stocks and retirement plans.

Have a spending plan. Track your saving and spending – down to vending machine items and special coffees. Some people discover that they spend $100 a month on what they thought were trivial expenses, and then changed their spending habits.

Become a regular saver. Establish a payroll deduction plan with your employer or a credit union. Do your own lawn maintenance and car washes. Clip and use discount coupons. Make comparison shopping a habit.

Keep good records. That includes for your home, car and life insurance. Check your policies. You may want to make changes to improve your benefits to you and your family.

Write a will. Make sure you decide, on paper, where you want your assets to go when you die. Otherwise, the courts will decide for you.

Review your credit report. Your credit score impacts your ability to buy a home, secure a car loan or get an apartment. It's a good policy to check your credit report annually and determine whether you have a good status, or need to improve your score. In March 2005, individuals will be able to get a free copy of their credit report through credit bureaus, such as Experian, Transunion or Equifax. Lutheran Social Service also offers a service that can help you understand your credit report and determine any steps you need to take to improve your credit score.

Develop a holiday spending budget. If you plan to pay your holiday bills for more than the next 60 days, its time to make some changes. Start setting aside money now for next year and open a special savings account just for holiday spending.

For more information about budget counseling or debt repayment planning assistance, call Lutheran Social Service at 1-888-577-2227 or visit www.lssmn.org/debt.

tracks that can be attached to vehicles for off-road capabilities and when drivers encounter wet conditions or snow.

Mattracks of Karlstad loaned the equipment to both the North Dakota and Minnesota state patrols for the World Junior Hockey Championship, said Capt. Dick Wittenberg of the State Patrol's Northwest District. The equipment was loaned in case troopers had to respond to buses stranded in white-out conditions.

"When we have white-out conditions with a wheeled car, you have to maintain speed," said Wittenberg, who noted Mattracks enable a driver to navigate through white-outs and snow drifts at safe speeds.

This is the third time a district vehicle has been outfitted with Mattracks, said Wittenberg, who added that the district has used the equipment since 1995. He noted Mattracks loans the equipment to the district for testing and evaluation. In the past, the district used Mattracks for the Ironman snowmobile race (now called the Carlisle/Commercial Sewing Sno-X SnowCross Race) and the governor's snowmobile ride.

"As far as the ride, tar roads are the roughest ride," Wittenberg said about traveling with Mattracks. He noted six or more inches of snow provide smoother traveling conditions.

In prior years, the patrol district used Mattracks for up to a month at a time. This time, Wittenberg said, the district will use Mattracks until the company wants the equipment back.

About Mattracks, he said, "It's nice they loan them to us."

inventory, they are actually including some trails that were not previously used by off-highway vehicles. The inventory also included some trails in wetlands.

In an effort to foster clear communication internally and externally about these DHV and trail issues, Commissioner Merriam recently directed employees to avoid jargon, acronyms and terminology that may not be easy for everyone to understand. Merriam also said, "employees know that another key component of clear communication is listening with an open mind to what the public and co-workers are saying as we work together for the good of the resource and the citizens we serve. I simply reminded them and myself to communicate clearly and be good listeners."

Merriam also acknowledged that some clarifications in legislation may also be necessary to make clear motorized vehicle designations on "limited" forest lands. During the 2005 legislative session, the DNR will likely pursue clarifications on the OHV hunting exemption and possibly some kind of zoning plan within forests to manage for motorized and non-motorized uses.

The fire occurred at the Terry Larson and David Veselka residence. The Middle River Fire Department was dispatched to the scene at 9:20 a.m. Monday, according to the Marshall County Sheriff's Department. The Newfolden Fire Department provided mutual aid.

Repeated, unsuccessful attempts were made this week to contact Middle River Fire Chief Keith Gram. As a result, no further information was available at press time.

The Marshall County Highway Department informs residents that piling snow on county highway right of way (by plowing, blowing, shoveling, etc.) is illegal.

This act can subject a person to a civil liability if this road hazard causes a traffic accident. The act itself may be considered a misdemeanor and punishable under State law. Civil liabilities may extend to both the property owner and the person performing the snow removal.

We ask that all citizens obey these rules, as they are designed to keep highways functioning safe and efficient during the winter months.

It may not look "smarter" than other squad cars, but this Minnesota State Patrol squad is a "smart car." During hazardous weather conditions, the smart car helps a state trooper see a roadway. A Global Positioning System receiver is located on top of the squad car, and a collision avoidance radar system is located at the front of the vehicle. For the smart car project, the State Patrol worked with the University of Minnesota and other partners.

Inside the "smart car," a Minnesota State Patrol trooper will find a screen that flips in front of him or her. Maps are projected onto the screen via Global Positioning System (GPS) technology. Mailboxes, deer, and oncoming, stalled or slow moving vehicles are also projected onto the screen. The vehicle's collision avoidance radar detects those objects, which are then highlighted onto the screen. The radar and GPS technology are powered by a computer located in the squad car's trunk.

Health officials propose changes to disease reporting rules

The Minnesota Department of Health (MDH) is proposing changes to the state's communicable disease reporting rules. MDH officials noted these changes will improve MDH's ability to respond to new and re-emerging diseases and changes in healthcare practice.

The department published its notice of intent to adopt changes in the Communicable Disease Reporting Rules in the State Register on Dec. 27. The public has until Feb. 2 to comment on the proposed changes. If MDH receives 25 or more requests for a hearing, a public hearing on the proposed rules will be held Monday, Feb. 4 at 9 a.m. in the Chelsey Room at the MDH, 717 Delaware St. S.E., Minneapolis, MN 55414.

The rules have not undergone a thorough revision, according to MDH. In the intervening 19 years, new communicable diseases have appeared in the U.S., such as Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome (SARS) and West Nile virus, diseases that did not exist in 1985. In addition, threats of biological terrorism have put health departments on alert for communicable diseases that could be caused by intentional acts, including diseases that previously were declared eradicated, such as smallpox. Finally, the federal Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act has created a climate in which professionals who are required to report communicable diseases increasingly want explicit provisions on reporting to ensure they are protected when they give health information to MDH.

"Revision of the rules is critical for us to do our job," Minnesota Health Commissioner Dianne Mandernach said. "The new rules will enable us to continue to:

• conduct effective surveillance and disease investigation, identify outbreaks and promptly respond to new and emerging communicable diseases;

• implement outbreak control measures to stop the spread of disease;

• keep Minnesotans healthy both medically and economically (SARS caused a multi-billion dollar loss to Toronto's economy); and

• respond promptly to an act of bioterrorism through early detection of disease."

The rulemaking process began March 1 when MDH published the Request for Comments on the proposed rules. In addition, to ensure that MDH heard from affected parties, MDH created a communicable disease reporting rules advisory committee that met during the spring of 2004. Based on these meetings and comments received, MDH formulated its revisions of the rules.

Among the highlights of the substantive changes:

• Adds SARS and smallpox (variola) to the list of those diseases that are required to be immediately reported to MDH.

• Requires mandated reporters and medical laboratories to submit "clinical materials" rather than "isolates" to the MDH Public Health Laboratory. Medical laboratories are increasingly using new diagnostic tests that do not result in isolation of an organism. If the laboratory does not isolate an organism, material containing the viable infectious agent is still necessary in order for MDH to conduct molecular subtyping and other tests for purposes of monitoring and investigation.

• Adds emerging drug resistance cases to the rule requiring physicians to report unusually high numbers of certain cases.

• Adds a requirement to report unexplained critical illness in a previously healthy individual that may be caused by an infectious agent.

Written comments or questions, requests to receive a draft of the rules and the statement of need and reasonableness should be directed to Patricia Segal Freeman at P.O. Box 9441, Minneapolis, MN 55440; Commdisrule@health.state.mn.us; 1-800-657-3970; or fax (612) 676-5689. MDH has also set up a Web site on the rule at www.health.state.mn.us/divs/idepc/dtopics/reportable/#rule.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

A child's resolution could change all of us

Certainly, we'll get right on that.

Everyone is expected to make New Year's resolutions, but when the time comes to make that resolution, that all encompassing mission that will help us keep focused on a goal for an entire year and make us "a better person," we procrastinate.

Bombarded by commercials and stories about obesity, and faced by the disagreeable reality that our age is marching forward unabated, and waistlines are sagging over our belts, many of us have decided to focus our New Year's resolutions on something to do with health, like losing weight. Personally, I refuse to use terms like "few." I believe many of us need to lose more pounds than a "few," which is defined as a small amount, such as three. That's not much, not nearly enough, even.

Our 58-year-old commander-in-chief, George W., has even sheepishly conceded that he's, "a little overweight." He recently announced that he intends to, "lose some inches off my waistline and some pounds off my frame."

For several years now (not a few), health professionals have been warning us that obesity is a problem for Americans. In fact, obesity rates among U.S. adults increased by 75 percent between 1991 and 2001, and rates doubled in children and tripled in teens over the last 20 years. It's such a problem that it's affecting healthcare costs for all of us. So, it's not surprising that many Americans have focused their New Year's resolutions on losing some inches from the waistline and some pounds off their frames.

At a New Year's Eve party I attended, the obvious question came up: "What's your New Year's resolution?" Boring. The answers were predictable: lose weight, get more exercise, get healthier - right after I finish eating these cookies.

The inquisition continued, however. Everyone was asked the same question, even the teenagers and young children. We even asked Jake, who couldn't be older than 10, to announce his New Year's resolution.

"Be more responsible," he said.

Games stopped, everything stopped. No one said a word for a moment. You could tell though, that everyone realized at the same time, that a New Year's resolution regarding weight loss was probably pretty shallow.

Maybe, I thought, we should be focusing our New Year's resolution on something that makes us better - better people, or even something that would improve our community or country.

Someone finally broke the uncomfortable silence, "Jake, you brown-noser." And, the laughter and merriment continued.

The very next day, I caught one friend in the act of adding a couple of caramel rolls to his breakfast plate. "What happened to your New Year's resolution?" I asked with as much sarcasm as I could muster in the morning.

"It doesn't start until next week when I get back home," he said, while adding a little more butter to the caramel roll.

"Next year" has arrived and I realize that the procrastination must stop. Yet, while I'm trying to cut down on the sweets and eat better, I can't stop thinking about what I learned from Jake.

Maybe we would all be a little better off if we were a little more responsible.

Thanks, Jake.

LETTERS

To the Editor

I am writing this letter to voice my opinion as a sportsman and environmentalist and by no means am I extreme.

I think the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) needs to better understand people in northern Minnesota. We live up here north of Highway 2 because we enjoy our backyard. Being a taxpayer in Minnesota, if I want jump in my pickup, car, snowmobile or four-wheeler and take a spin in the forest, then that is what I will do. There are a lot of people in northern Minnesota who feel the same way.

Now, I read a letter that talked about maintaining wildlife and science of our forest and reducing trails in Beltrami from 1,100 miles to 500 miles. There is no science about this, it is more like communism than anything. Evidently, the DNR does not remember what happened when the National Forest out west was stricken by fires that could not be reached because someone with no common sense decided not to let people have access to this area other than by foot. Do you guys really want to make the same mistake?

Just because we are a smaller group of people does not mean you guys (DNR) can take what you want from us. Why don't you go shut down Valley Fair in the Cities? It would make just about as much sense.

Everyone who reads this letter must realize that all the favorite trails to your berry patch, or to where you would sit on post while deer hunting, or to where you are baiting your bear, will all be unavailable to you unless you're walking. We all need to stick together and give a hell of fight. That is why we all need to be at the Warroad school for this hearing with the DNR Jan. 13.

Myles Hogenson
Roosevelt
A PO'D northern Minnesotan

To the Editor:

The trail systems in out-state forests are in jeopardy - not from us, but they are in danger of being closed by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR). We will no longer be able to enjoy the forests if we can't get to them.

Leases for eight recreational snowmobile shelters have been terminated in Lost River State Forest by the DNR. This appears to be only the first step in the closing of the forest trail systems in Lost River, Beltrami Island State Forest and other forests as well by the DNR. It seems that we will no longer be able to access OUR state's forests.

The potential closing of trails affects not only the lease holders of these shelters, but snowmobile enthusiasts, ATV riders and even horseback riders, not to mention Polaris' and Arctic Cats' economic contributions to our communities.

There is a public meeting scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 13, at the Warroad Middle School at 6 p.m. If you are concerned about what is happening to OUR state forests, you need to be at this meeting to express your dissatisfaction with the DNR's proposals. What you, your children and grandchildren can enjoy in the future may depend on it.

Sincerely,
Connie M. Johnson

Agreement can help smaller feedlots meet runoff requirements

Less than a year remains for smaller livestock operations to take advantage of a provision in the state feedlot rule. That provision can make it easier for operations to comply with requirements to prevent water pollution from manure-contaminated runoff.

Livestock producers with feedlots under 300 animal units are encouraged to check with their county feedlot offices or Minnesota Pollution Control Agency (MPCA) regional offices to see if they might qualify for the open-lot agreement. Sign up must occur by Oct. 1, 2005; however, producers are encouraged to sign up sooner because some of the work must be completed by Oct. 1.

Reducing open-lot runoff benefits both the environment and livestock operations, according to the MPCA. It protects water quality in nearby streams, lakes and other wetlands. It makes the feedlot drier, which is better for livestock health. As part of a manure management and storage system, it prevents the loss of valuable nutrients for crops.

"This is a great opportunity designed for smaller feedlots," said Wayne Anderson, MPCA agriculture liaison. "It allows more time, flexibility and security when working to improve your feedlot by fixing open-lot runoff."

"The Minnesota Department of Agriculture encourages all eligible feedlot operators to learn about the open-lot agreement option," said Agriculture Commissioner Gene Hugoson. "I believe when livestock producers understand these provisions, they will have greater confidence that the agreement provides economic as well as environmental benefits."

The open-lot agreement offers several advantages for smaller feedlots that need to correct runoff problems. It offers more time and flexibility as well as protection from past violations. Under the agreement, initial improvements must occur by October 2005. Those who sign the open-lot agreement can have until October 2010 to complete runoff controls.

In many cases, runoff problems can be solved with low-cost solutions such as:

- Moving fences to increase the distance between a feedlot and a waterway.
- Cleaning the lot more often.
- Improving down-slope grass buffers.

To qualify, a feedlot with fewer than 300 animal units must be registered, and a signed open-lot certification must be submitted to the county feedlot officer (or to the MPCA regional office if the particular county isn't delegated) before Oct. 1, 2005.

For more information on the open-lot agreement or to receive a form, contact the regional MPCA office in Detroit Lakes at 218-847-1519. Information and forms also are available on the Internet at www.pca.state.mn.us/hot/feedlots.html#forms.

True fishermen will endure anything

There was an adequate, if not ample, hole in the frost that obscured most of the windshield. Occasionally, rounding a rural snow-covered highway corner, that hole would change shape based on wind direction and vehicle speed, enlarging or shrinking with a regularity that suggested breathing, as though it were providing life to the aging Jeep Wagoneer behind it. And though no oxygen might actually have been transferred, the brief glimpses of clarity that the hole provided certainly gave life to those who depended on it for a view ahead.

"Can you see the yellow line anymore, Bill?" I asked, not totally convinced that he was even awake at this juncture.

"Ahh, not really," Bill said, wiping a line of drool from the side of his mouth. "The last thing I could identify as road edge was that deer carcass we bounced over a mile or so back."

"Well, try not to blink so much, you'll stand a better chance of seeing something."

He ignored me, continuing to tilt his head to the right as he drove, trying to maximize the 15 square inches of clear windshield that opened dead center above the dashboard. It looked like he was talking on an imaginary phone.

The single, working windshield-wiper scraped ineffectively across an accumulated icy glaze, offering no peripheral view of the world outside. Heavy condensation on the driver and passenger windows made glances into the side mirrors little more than neck exercise. What was back there was of no consequence at this point, anyway. There was no turning back now.

A dog howled in the rear of the Jeep, packed distantly behind the boxes of clutter and junk that always seemed so important to take along on these trips. I could see no further back into the car through the maze of gear than I could forward out into the darkened blizzard that raged around us. I could only assume that the beast was cold or hungry or both, but that situation would have to be addressed later. The dog howled and whined again, and then another answered, and then another. Inspired by the interaction, all three launched into a throaty cacophony. The chorus was deafening and reassuring. It was comforting that there was other life in there with Bill and me, somewhere, and for the first time I was forced to acknowledge the grim prospect that, in a pinch, we would at least have meat to eat.

"What's their problem?" Bill asked. His eyes looked so dry I was sure he hadn't blinked since our last conversation.

"I suppose that snow is building up on top of them. You know, the rear window on this Wagoneer hasn't closed completely in years. Either that or the carbon monoxide from the exhaust leak is getting to them, again."

He nodded knowingly and continued his stare-down with the roadway. I wanted to point out to him that the gas gauge was dangerously close to E, but that would pull his eyes off the road again. Better slow and lingering death by starvation and cold on the shoulder than immediate and violent death at the hands of a roadside tamarack, I figured. I silently hoped for a gas station to emerge from the hell around us.

A furious Whap, Whap, Whap against the side of the car caused the dogs to erupt again. Bill's eyes bulged further from their sockets, and my heart temporarily occupied the space where the frost hole in the windshield had been. Had we not been traveling at 27 miles an hour, I would have had little doubt that the noise was some enraged northwoods Yeti attacking our car in search of a quick meal.

"How fast is a Yeti?" I yelled over the din.

"That front quarter panel must be loose again," Bill hollered back, having regained a semblance of composure. "I duct-taped it on before we left, but the wind and snow must've worked it loose. No sense in trying to get it to stick now, in this weather."

We continued on for what seemed like miles, though may have been, in reality a few hundred yards. The combined noise from the slapping quarter-panel and the three baying hounds in the back made any effort at conversation futile. There wasn't much left to discuss, anyway. Bill monopolized the limited view through the windshield and I contented myself with staring at the now bottomed-out gas gauge. The wiper scraped out the baseline to "Old-MacDonald" across the windshield.

An abrupt bounce and a lengthy skid and spin alerted me to the fact we'd arrived.

"Start fishin'!" Bill cried out enthusiastically. "I'll set up the portable and you drill the holes."

"You betcha!" I shouted back. "I love these trips to the lake. We should go more often!"

As if on cue, the dogs began a new serenade. I knew they were in agreement, too.

Annual Red River Basin land and water conference Jan. 12-14

"Shared Resources, Shared Responsibilities" is the theme of the 22nd Annual Red River Basin Land and Water International Summit Conference at the Ramada Plaza Suites in Fargo, N.D., Jan. 12-14. The conference is sponsored by the Red River Basin Commission (RRBC).

The conference will bring together leaders from around the Red River Basin who are involved in some capacity with water and land resource management, protection, or restoration. Conference participants will focus on the importance of working on these resource issues from a holistic watershed perspective; working on these issues together toward a common vision; speaking with a unified voice; and acting through a unified approach, said RRBC Executive Director Lance Yohe.

"This year's conference will help us all focus on the type of Red River Basin that we want to leave our children," Yohe said. "The planning effort of numerous individuals and agencies over the past several years has resulted in the beginning of a basin-wide plan that will help chart our course for the future."

The Red River Basin Natural Resources Framework Plan (NRFP) has been developed under the guidance of the RRBC plan management committee and will be presented at the annual conference. The NRFP outlines a series of goals for comprehensive, integrated watershed stewardship and management for the Red River Basin. Each goal includes a number of objectives that were developed specifically for the RRBC to undertake. The RRBC expects to garner support for the NRFP in the coming year so that all residents, governments, agencies and entities in the basin also will voluntarily work towards achieving these goals for the basin through their own planning processes.

Yohe added that last year's conference attendees provided feedback that helped develop a more complete plan. This year's attendees will review that effort, begin to see how it relates to actual projects and activities, and provide more input to the ongoing effort.

This year's program also will feature a free public session on Jan. 13 beginning at 3 p.m. The session will include presentations related to fish, wildlife and outdoor recreation. The session will conclude with a program by Mark Angelo called "RiverWorld" a personal journey to the world's wildest waters and places. Angelo called "RiverWorld," a personal journey to the world's wildest waters and places. Angelo is a renowned river conservationist, paddler, teacher and writer. Over the past four decades, he has traveled along hundreds of waterways on six different continents. His presentation emphasizes the importance of river conservation, provides an overview of the many threats confronting our waterways and discusses the plight of many indigenous people and cultures dependent on rivers. The public is encouraged to attend this celebration of our rivers, waters and great wild places.

RRBC was formed in July 2002 as a result of a merger between The International Coalition, the Red River Basin Board, and the Red River Water Resource Council. The 41-member RRBC Board of Directors represent Manitoba, Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota cities, counties, rural municipalities, watershed boards, water resource districts, joint powers board, First Nations and other local interests in the Red River Basin. The governors of North Dakota and Minnesota, and the premier of Manitoba also have appointed members to the board.

The mission of the RRBC is to develop a Red River Basin integrated natural resources framework plan; to achieve commitment to implement the framework plan; and to work toward a unified voice for the Red River Basin.

For more information about the conference, call 218-291-0422 or 204-982-7254, or go to the Web site www.redriverbasincommission.org.

Memorial fund established to honor Marian Foley

The Foley family has established the Marian Foley Memorial Fund with a gift of $100,000 in memory of Marian Foley. As a restricted fund of the Roseau Community and Education Fund, it is managed and administered by the Northwest Minnesota Foundation.

Foley received her nursing education from the Sisters of St Joseph in Fargo, N.D., graduating in 1951. Her principal training took place in Fargo, Grand Forks and Butte, Mont. Upon graduation, she was employed at the Grand Forks Clinic as a pediatric nurse with Dr. Louis Silverman. She also assisted at the St. Michaels Hospital in Grand Forks in the pediatric ward.

She continued her nursing career after marriage and later left nursing to become the mother of five children. She was a dedicated and compassionate nurse, spending many extra hours to assure every task was completed to her satisfaction. Foley passed away April 21, 2003 at MeritCare Hospital in Fargo, N.D., after bypass surgery.

"Marian was a very caring and thorough person with her work as a nurse and as a wife and mother," said her husband, Robert F. Foley. "She believed that people deserved the best care that she could provide."

This permanent endowment fund will continue her legacy of caring and education. The primary purpose of the fund will be for support of Marian Foley Memorial Scholarships for Roseau High School (RHS) graduates who are pursuing post-secondary education in nursing or other direct-care health care professions through a college, university, trade school, tech school, or another technical or vocational program.

The scholarship applications will be available in March 2005 from Guidance Counselor Dan Urness at RHS. Two awards for $1,000 are expected to be made this spring.

The secondary purpose of the fund will support Marian Foley Health Care and Education Grants, which will provide funding for programs, projects, and activities that support health care and wellness in the Roseau community and/or that encourage or support individual interest in the health care profession.

Anyone interested in contributing to this fund may send their donations to Northwest Minnesota Foundation - Foley Fund, 4225 Technology Dr. N.W., Bemidji, MN 56601. Questions may be directed to Caryl Tumow, fund development specialist, at (218) 463-0440 or ctumow@wiktel.com.

Prowlers playing without Matt Stuckey...

TRF boys beat Panthers 54-49

Playing on the road without their top senior didn't seem to faze the Thief River Falls boys Tuesday as the Prowlers registered a 54-49 boys high school basketball win over Park Rapids Area.

Battling a knee injury that occurred in a Dec. 14 win at Bagley and an ankle sprain suffered in a Dec. 28 victory over Tri-County, 6-1 senior center Matt Stuckey underwent knee surgery Tuesday morning.

The report on Stuckey was a good news/bad news situation for the Prowlers. The bad news is that the lone returning starter from last year's 20-2 team is expected to be sidelined for two weeks. The good news: it's only a two-week absence and not a season ending situation.

In Stuckey's absence, sophomore guards Jeremy Sich (14) and Ryan Winkelman (13) combined for 27 points, and senior Paul Sjoberg played a strong game in the post, contributing 8 points to the offense while contending with 6-10 Bryce Fazekas and 6-6 Zach Wolff.

"It was a great team effort," said Thief River Falls coach Chris McLean, whose team went above .500 for the first time this winter at 5-4. "The kids played hard, smart basketball."

The Prowlers led at the quarter 18-12 at the first quarter stop and had a 29-24 halftime edge. The Panthers pulled even at the end of the third quarter, 36-36, but 11-for-14 final period Thief River Falls free throw shooting was the clincher.

Both teams put up 45 field shots. The Panthers made 19 (42 percent); the Prowlers hit 17 (38 percent). But Thief River Falls had a 17-for-27 game at the line, where Park Rapids Area was a quieter 7-for-12.

The Panthers finished with a 22-17 rebound advantage, only to lose that edge by topping the turnover figures 19-14. The latter was a major improvement for the Prowlers, who had been averaging about 21 turnovers per game, according to McLean.

Wolff scored 13 points, Nick Stenberg had 11 and Rocky Donatelle 10 for the Panthers.

Prowlers post 10-1 win over Wolfpack

Michael Forney and Alec Holen both had six-point games Tuesday as Thief River Falls skated to a 10-1 Section 8A boys high school hockey win over Kittson Central at the Ralph Engelstad Arena.

Forney scored four goals and picked up two assists. Holen had three goals and three assists as the Prowlers improved to 7-3-1 heading into a Thursday match-up with Crookston.

Robby Philipp, Wyatt Reed and Lucas Genereux were also goal scorers as Thief River Falls took a 3-1 lead into the first intermission and had a 6-1 cushion after two periods.

Corey Horien collected four assists and Michael Benedict had two for the Prowlers.

"We moved the puck and did some nice things," said Thief River Falls coach Scott Berglund.

Bagley holds off TRF for a 50-47 victory

Three late-game possessions that gave Thief River Falls a chance to tie or go ahead failed to generate a point Tuesday as the Prowlers fell to visiting Bagley 50-47 in girls high school basketball.

Bagley led at the quarters 11-9, 24-16 and 32-25. A 22-point final period gave Thief River Falls a chance to overtake the Flyers down the stretch, but the Prowlers couldn't turn opportunity into offense.

The game had only two double figure scorers: the Flyers' Lindsey Gray with 23 points; the Prowlers' Nichole Gryskiewicz with 17.

"Our defense was okay, but two things we need to work on is to have more people step up offensively, as well as keeping our opponents off the board," said Thief River Falls coach Jeff Loe.

A 21-8 first half advantage led to a 33-23 Bagley rebound edge.

Thief River Falls went 19-for-51 from the field, 4-for-7 at the free throw line. Bagley was 19-for-43 from the floor, 11-for-19 at the line.

Drew Stofford of Team USA (19) played the puck while being defended by Petr Vrana of the Czech Republic (20) during Tuesday's World Junior Hockey Championship bronze medal game at the Ralph Engelstad Arena in Grand Forks, N.D. Nate Hagemo (18) and Patrick O'Sullivan (12) of the USA looked on. The Czech Republic won the game 3-2 in overtime.

Medal games wrap up tournament

■ Canada takes World Junior Hockey Championship gold

Canada, Russia and the Czech Republic were medal winners Tuesday as the 2005 World Junior Hockey Championship completed an 11-day, 31-game schedule that utilized the Ralph Engelstad Arenas in Thief River Falls and Grand Forks, N.D.

The gold medal went to Team Canada, a 6-1 final-day winner over Russia. The Czech Republic took the bronze by beating Team USA 3-2 in overtime.

Although the Canadians have won more medals than anybody else in the history of the tournament for players age 20 and under, it was their first gold in seven years.

That Canada and Russia were the finalists should come as no surprise. Only once in the the 29-year history of the International Ice Hockey Federation U20 tournament have the Canadians and Russians both fail to win a medal. That came in 1987 when Finland won the gold, Czechoslovakia took the silver and Sweden collected the bronze. Canada's 24 tournament medals include 11 gold, eight silver and five bronze. The 22 Russia medals includes 12 gold, six silver and four bronze.

The overtime setback at the hands of the Czech Republic spoiled the bid of defending champion USA to win back-to-back World Junior Hockey Championship medals for the first time. It was the first medal for the Czechs since they won the gold in 2001.

Other information posted on the IIHF Web site:

■ Finland failed to make the medal round for the first time since 2000. The Finns had won three straight bronze medals.

■ Sweden wound up without a medal for the tenth straight year – since taking a bronze in 1995.

■ Switzerland survived relegation round play for the third straight year. Since the IIHF implemented the two-team relegation system in 2003, the two teams that earned promotion to the top division have been immediately bounced back to Division I. Germany and Belarus were relegated in 2003, while newcomers Austria and Ukraine were one-year participants in 2004. Both Germany and Belarus will be making a quick return to Division I in 2006, replaced at the top level by Norway and Latvia.

■ Total ticket sales for the games at both sites was 195,771. That figure ranks second on the all-time list only to the 242,173 count at Halifax, Nova Scotia, Canada, in 2003.

■ The 2006 games will return to Canada – Vancouver, Kelowna and Kamloops, British Columbia. Tentative pool play groups put Canada, USA, Finland, Switzerland and Norway in Group A; Russia, Czech Republic, Sweden, Slovakia and Latvia in Group B.

Roseau 4-1 winner in girls hockey

Three second period goals carried Roseau past visiting Thief River Falls 4-1 in girls high school hockey Tuesday.

After a scoreless opening period, two goals by Carissa Erickson and one by Sarah Erickson put the Rams up 3-0 at the second intermission.

The Prowlers' Brittni Johnson put the puck in the net midway through the third period, but the Rams' Kelsey Lane finished it with a final-minute goal.

It was a busy night for Thief River Falls goalie Trudy Erickson, who stopped 42 shots. Roseau goaltender Kim Grafstrom finished with 14 saves.

Although the 1-13 Prowlers are winless since opening night, Thief River Falls coach Tim Magnusson feels his team is making progress. "I think our play is getting much better," he said. "Defensively our team is getting much better. We did have four or five good chances to score, and missed. Our power play even had some chances."

Detroit Lakes, Perham top TRF

Detroit Lakes and Perham both beat Thief River Falls Tuesday in a double-dual boys high school swim meet at the Franklin Middle School pool.

The Prowlers' times computed to a 100-66 loss to the Lakers and an 84-83 setback at the hands of the Yellowjackets. Detroit Lakes swims also produced a 105-63 victory over Perham.

Cole Bylander and Jon Kays were Thief River Falls first place finishers against Detroit Lakes in the 500-yard freestyle and 100 breaststroke, respectively.

With the win in hand, the Lakers swam the final event – the 400 freestyle relay – as exhibition, giving the Prowlers a win there with Ben Carlson, Brian Kays, Jordan Michaels and Bylander.

Thief River Falls winners against Perham were Bylander, 200 individual medley; Scott Rakozy, 50 freestyle; Brian Kays, 100 backstroke; Jon Kays, 100 breaststroke; Brian Kays, Jon Kays, Michaels and Carlson in the 200 medley relay; Rakozy, Tyler Olson, Jon Kays and Bylander in the 200 freestyle relay.

"Cole had a great meet with a (personal) best time in the 200 I.M.," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Lacy Knott. "Brian Kays also swam very well with best times in the 200 I.M. and 100 backstroke."

The Prowlers are 0-3 in dual meet competition.

Eagles out-score Nordics by 79-71

Winning a game at Newfolden was a significant accomplishment for Grygla-Gatzke, according to Eagles head coach Vern Johnson, whose team outlasted the Nordics 79-71 in Tuesday boys high school basketball.

"It's not very often you go there (Newfolden) and come out with a win," explained Johnson. "It's a difficult task, to say the least."

And the manner in which the Eagles won also caught Johnson by surprise. "We came out of the first quarter with a 21-20 lead," he said, "but I wasn't real comfortable with the score. I didn't know if I wanted to get into a run-and-gun game with them."

But they did. And they won, acknowledged Johnson, who watched the Eagles open up a 41-33 intermission lead that was cut in half by the end of the third quarter, 54-50.

Andrew Holte and Tomas Loberg both had 21-point games for the winners, while Tim Polansky and Geoffrey Satre scored 11 apiece. That offset the Nordics' backcourt of Dustin Monsebroten, who poured in 36, and Jay Maurstad, whose 21 points were scored on seven 3-pointers.

"Going in, I thought if we held those two (Monsebroten, Maurstad) to 40 points, we'd have a chance," quipped Johnson. "Well, the one scores 36 and together they get 57."

Grygla-Gatzke won by shooting 56 percent from the field (31/55) and by making clutch free throws down the stretch as part of a 14-for-21 foul-shooting night. Marshall County Central shot 47 percent from the floor (24/51) and went 13-for-22 at the line. The Nordics had a 27-23 rebound edge, but also topped the turnover charts, 15-11.

The Eagles are 7-1; the Nordics fell to 6-4.

Huskies make it into the win column, 72-35

■ Goodridge boys end seven-game losing streek by beating Greyhounds

Pieces finally fell into place for Goodridge Tuesday as the Huskies snapped a season-long seven-game losing streak by beating Fosston 72-35 in boys high school basketball.

Prior to facing the Greyhounds the Huskies had trouble generating a offense this season, due in part to their penchant for turnovers. It wasn't a coincidence, pointed out Goodridge coach Eric Mickelson, that by cutting those mistakes from the 20-something range to 14 resulted in a season-high point total.

"Offensively, we've really struggled," acknowledged Mickelson. "We've had trouble holding on to the ball. We've been averaging 20-plus turnovers and about 46 points per game. This time, our turnovers were down, and we hit some shots."

Seven 3-pointers sparked the Huskies offense, with Cole Scheef hitting three of them, while Dustin Isaak and Cole Dahlen both had two.

Isaak scored 24 points, Scheef 20 and Dahlen 12 as the Huskies turned a 13-13 first quarter tie into a 33-23 halftime lead and a 48-30 third quarter difference. Goodridge out-scored Fosston 39-12 over the final 16 minutes.

Josh Roysland led the Greyhounds with 12 points.

"It was a nice win," said Mickelson. "Actually, we've played pretty decently the past three games, and now we have a win to show for for our efforts. It was fun to see people smiling again."

Loss No. 7 came the previous night in a 55-41 defeat at the hands of Kittson County North.

The Cougars led at the quarters 6-5, 20-15 and 39-24.

"Both teams were a little sluggish in the first half," admitted Mickelson. "We played better in the second half."

Nick Mickelson scored 15 points, Isaak 11 and Dahlen 10 that night. Jake Sele, who finished with 19, and Jason Nordin, who had 12, combined for all 19 third quarter Kittson County North points.

Early lead stands up for RLCC girls

Courtney Halvorson came up with a 20-point, 12-rebound double-double to lead Red Lake County Central to a 51-45 girls high school basketball win at East Grand Forks Tuesday.

The Mustangs also got double figure scoring from Brittany Gustafson and Betsy Winkler with 11 and 10 points, respectively, in their first start following a holiday break.

A six-point first quarter lead wound up being the margin of victory as Red Lake County Central led 13-7 after eight minutes, built a 13-point second quarter cushion that shrank to 26-20 by halftime and maintained a 40-35 third quarter edge.

"We got ahead and never gave up the lead," explained Red Lake County Central coach Rick Koivisto. "We finally hit a few shots. Our press was working, and we got some fast breaks."

East Grand Forks did pull within three points with two minutes remaining, but Red Lake County Central eighth grader Faith Kruchowski made two free throws to stymie the Green Wave rally, and Halvorson added another pair of foul shots to ice it.

Red Lake County Central was 18-for-55 from the field (33 percent) and 13-for-21 at the free throw line. East Grand Forks went 19-for-47 from the floor (40 percent) and 3-for-4 at the line. The Mustangs outrebounded the Green Wave 28-21.

Prowlers beat Crookston 7-4 in boys hockey...

Moorhead, Warroad test TRF

No doubt the toughest back-to-back games of the 2004-05 season await the Thief River Falls boys high school hockey team as the Prowlers prepare to take on Moorhead and Warroad, the defending champions in Section 8AA and Section 8A, respectively. The No. 1-ranked team in Class AA, 9-1-1 Moorhead will visit the Ralph Engelstad Arena Tuesday. Ranked No. 2 in Class A (behind reigning state champion Breck) 12-0-1 Warroad will have home ice for a Thursday encounter.

This will be the only time this year the Prowlers will see the Spuds and Brian Lee, a Team USA defenseman during the recent World Junior Hockey Championship played in Thief River Falls and Grand Forks, N.D. It's the second Thief River Falls meeting of the year with Warroad, a 7-2 winner in the first encounter.

The Prowlers went to 8-3-1 Thursday with a 7-4 home ice win over Crookston. Thief River Falls' domination on the ice produced a 45-18 difference in shots-on-goal, but resulted in only a three-goal difference on the scoreboard.

Alec Holen had his second hat trick performance of the week and Michael Forney added another four points to his stat sheet with a goal and three assists. Those two both had six-point nights in a 10-1 Tuesday victory over Kittson Central.

"We did a lot of good things offensively," confirmed Thief River Falls coach Scott Bergland. "We moved the puck. We're starting to work really well together. Alec Holen and Michael Forney are working hard and creating a lot of scoring chances out there."

Five of the Prowlers' seven goals against the Pirates were scored by the special teams: three on the power play and two while skating shorthanded. Crookston got in the net, too, with a pair of power play goals.

First Crookston shot on goal - by Josh Morgan from outside the blue line - opened the scoring at 4:27 of the opening period.

Holen's point-production started when he picked off a Crookston pass in the Pirates' zone and scored a shorthanded goal at 7:36.

Tyler Holen clanged a long slap shot off the crossbar for a power play goal and a 2-1 Thief River Falls lead at 13:08, and just 48 seconds later Forney made it 3-1.

Kirby Johnson kicked off a hat trick performance for the Pirates by scoring on a soft wrist shot at 4:06 of the second period to pull Crookston within 3-2.

Sustained Thief River Falls pressure led to an Alec Holen goal at 9:33 and a quick five seconds into a man-advantage situation, Robby Philipp's goal at 14:10 provided the Prowlers with a 5-2 advantage going into the second intermission.

Alec Holen slipped behind the Crookston defense for his second shorthanded goal of the night with 4:39 gone in the third period, only to have Johnson score 21 seconds later - on the same power play.

Another Johnson power play goal, this one a mere seven seconds into the extra-man situation, chopped the Prowlers' lead to 6-4 with 6:59 still to play.

Thief River Falls countered, however, with a power play goal by Matt Nordhagen at 13:05 to complete the scoring.

Thief River Falls is a 6-2 winner against Pirate JV

Thief River Falls got goals from six different players Thursday in a 6-2 boys junior varsity high school hockey win over Crookston.

The Prowlers' goals were scored by Pat Barry, Dan Kaushagen, Codey Johnson, Cody Bottem, Jack Tuthill and Lance Efteland.

Thief River Falls spotted Crookston a 1-0 head start, then went ahead 3-1 at the first intermission and had a 5-2 second period lead.

TRF freshmen girls post a 38-26 win over Bagley

Thief River Falls beat Bagley 38-26 in ninth grade girls basketball Tuesday.

Kayse Lee scored 9 points and Kristine Sletten had 8 for the 4-3 Prowlers, who led at the quarter stops 10-8, 25-12 and 27-18.

It was Thief River Falls' first start since a Dec. 21 loss at the hands of the Northern Freeze, 50-38.

Hannah Kainz scored 11 points and Sletten had 10 that night when the Marshall County Central/Tri-County cooperative turned a 23-21 halftime edge into a 42-32 third quarter advantage.

Third quarter leads to 57-50 RLCC win

Whatever Red Lake County Central coach Randy Hute told his team at halftime worked Tuesday as the Mustangs turned a 25-19 first half deficit into a 41-37 third quarter lead and a 57-50 boys high school basketball win over Mahnomen.

"We struggled in the first half," admitted Hute. "The third quarter was the best third quarter we've played all season."

Ryan Fisher had a 24-point, 14-rebound double-double for the Mustangs, who improved to 5-3. Lucas Goulet and Jesse Olson joined their teammate in double figures with 12 and 11 points, respectively.

Red Lake County Central was 20-for-52 from the field (38 percent) and 15-for-22 at the free throw line. Mahnomen went 21-for-64 from the floor (33 percent) and 3-for-8 at the line. The Mustangs finished with a 33-25 rebound edge, but also topped the turnover charts, 20-14.

Close wins carry Falcons over TRF wrestlers 36-33

Two one-point wins added up to a 36-26 Fertile-Beltrami victory over Thief River Falls Thursday in a high school wrestling dual hosted by the Falcons.

A 1-0 Humberto Alzalde decision over Ben Poissant at 189 pounds and a 4-3 Dan Swenson double-overtime victory over Andrew Peralta at heavyweight added up to a 12-point scoreboard swing.

Six Prowlers collected wins: Jordan Engen, 103; Thain Abrahamson, 140; Zach Anderson, 145; Dan LeDuc, 152; Adam Lian, 171; and Maney Peralta, 215.

Anderson decisioned Jordan Gunnafsan, the No. 7-ranked wrestler in the state, 5-3.

The loss dropped the Prowlers' dual record to 5-3.

"We lost two one-point matches in the final three weights, which were key," reported Thief River Falls coach Kenny Geiser.

TRF Hockey JV posts 9-1 win over Wolfpack

Kittson Central scored the first goal, but Thief River Falls roared back for a 9-1 boys junior varsity high school hockey win Tuesday.

Dan Kaushagen had a four-goal game for the Prowlers, who led 2-1 after one period and opened up a 6-1 second period gap. Single goals came from Cody Bottem, Pat Barry, Matt Olson, Ian Ericksen and Brandon Klinkhammer.

Prowlers win JV game

Mandy Thompson scored 12 points as Thief River Falls registered a 38-7 girls junior varsity high school basketball win over Bagley.

The two teams played to a low-scoring 3-3 first quarter draw, and the Flyers didn't add to their total the rest of the half as the Prowlers took an 11-3 lead into intermission. It was 20-5 through three quarters.

Sacred Heart turns Mustangs' turnovers into points

Twenty-nine Red Lake County Central turnovers added up to a 49-35 Mustangs loss at East Grand Forks Sacred Heart in Thursday girls high school basketball.

The visitors started in fine fashion, leading 17-9 after one quarter and ahead 24-15 at halftime. But the Mustangs, who opened the third quarter by missing two open lay-ups and another close-in basket, could generate only 11 second half points. They were down 28-27 at the third quarter break and watched the Eagles score 10 of their 21 fourth quarter points at the free throw line.

Sacred Heart 6-0 sophomore center Kayli Schumacher scored 20 points. The Mustangs answered with a 19-point game by Courtney Halvarson.

Because of the turnovers, the Mustangs were limited to a 36-shot offense. They made 13 of those attempts (36 percent) and went 7-for-16 at the free throw line. The Eagles were 16-for-40 from the floor (40 percent) and 16-for-24 at the line. Sacred Heart finished with a 23-22 rebound edge. The Eagles turned it over 15 times.

The loss dropped the Mustangs to 4-6.

Municipal liquor stores post record sales in Minnesota

State Auditor Pat Anderson released a report Monday on the finances of Minnesota's municipal liquor stores. The annual report, Analysis of Municipal Liquor Store Operations, for the year ended Dec. 31, 2003, summarizes the financial data of the state's 257 municipal liquor stores.

As a whole, municipal liquor stores posted record sales for the eighth consecutive year in 2003. Gross sales totaled $249.2 million in 2003, an increase of $8.3 million over 2002. In addition, net transfers increased in 2003. Cities often transfer the profits of municipal liquor stores to other city funds to help pay for local government expenditures. Cities transferred $15.4 million of their profits to support other city services in 2003 as compared to $14.1 million in 2002.

However, municipal liquor stores only saw a slight increase in net income (profits) in 2003 after a decline in 2002. Net income totaled $19.2 million in 2003, up from 19.0 million in 2002.

Despite the overall increases in sales, profits and transfers, a significant number of cities lost money on their 2003 liquor store operations. In fact, the number of money losing stores increased by 41 percent, from 27 cities to 38 cities reporting money losing operations.

Further, if "non-operating revenue" is factored out (such things as a sale of an asset or interest earnings) a total of 54 cities lost money on the operation of their liquor stores, meaning they had negative net operational income. This means

Community safety stressed at sex offender notification

Warren - "Having a sex offender in your community is not new," said Steve King of the Minnesota Department of Corrections (DOC) at a Level 3 sex offender notification meeting in Warren last Wednesday. "What's new is having a meeting to notify the public."

The main topic of the meeting was Tommy Salyers III, a Level 3 sex offender formerly from International Falls who moved to a residence in rural Warren near Radium Dec. 20. About 70 members of the public turned out to learn what information would be provided by King, community notification coordinator with the DOC.

Acknowledging that everyone was interested in learning more about Salyers, a 31-year-old white male who served prison time for two convictions of criminal sexual conduct, King suggested an even better focus of the meeting. His suggestion included safety and ideas for the community to develop a constructive plan to protect itself, and particularly its children, from sexual predators. - Warren Sheaf, Jan. 12, 2005

RLC Sheriff's Dept. reports eventful 2004

Red Lake Falls - The Red Lake County Sheriff's Department reported 2,018 calls in 2004, down from 2,075 calls in 2003. While the total number of calls was lower than last year, increases were seen for some types of incidents.

The greatest number of calls the department responded to were traffic related. The department had 573 traffic related calls, which encompass accident investigations, speeding violations and traffic law violations. Also reported were 176 dispatches for ambulances or transportation to hospitals.

There was an increase in child protection calls from past years – 34 in 2002, 36 in 2003 and 62 in 2004. Of the 62 calls in 2004, 56 percent resulted in some form of intervention, and 44 percent were unfounded.

Burglaries and alarm responses accounted for 63 calls in Red Lake County last year while theft-related calls totalled 80 and property damage reports numbered 93. Seventy-four domestic disputes were handled, and 68 nonsufficient fund checks were reported.

Deputies were sent out for 11 assault calls, and two sex crimes were recorded last year. - Red Lake Falls Gazette, Jan. 12, 2005

Snow removal is topic for Hallock City Council

Hallock - With the first big snowfall of the season in the city of Hallock, cleaning and removing snow was the hot (or cold?) topic at last Monday's City Council meeting.

The council discussed a variety of subjects regarding snow removal, including snow-covered fire hydrants and snow accumulations around mailboxes.

"With more and more citizens receiving home mail delivery, there is an increased chance of accidental damage to the boxes during heavy snow removal," said City Clerk Hank Noel.

Council members also agreed that it is a good idea for citizens to try and keep fire hydrants on the edge of their properties properly cleared in case of emergencies. Access to the hydrants could become slowed should there be a need for use if buildups of snow are surrounding them. - Kittson County Enterprise, Jan. 12, 2005, by Louise Money

How the Heart Works

While classmate Zane A. looked on, Sylvie A. "pumped" the HiTECH (Help in Teaching Elementary Children about Healthy Hearts) Heart with her hands. The St. Bernard's Catholic School fourth graders learned about the heart Wednesday at the school in Thief River Falls. The kids were able to "pump" the heart according to the number of beats an active or inactive person's heart would beat. The presentation was made possible through the Minneapolis Heart Institute Foundation. It is St. Bernard's policy to not include its students' last names.

Sno-X race to feature top racers

SNO DRIFTERS SNOW CROSS

The name has been changed for legal reasons, but the racing shall remain the same. The 2005 Carlisle/Commercial Sewing SnoDrifters Sno-X SnoCross race will be held on Saturday, Jan. 22 and Sunday, Jan. 23 in Thief River Falls.

The 2005 edition of this annual event is a WSA Minnesota North Region race, that will feature some of the Midwest's best sno-cross racers, in two days of racing at the Pennington County Fairground grandstand.

Racing begins at 9 a.m. each day. Two-day passes can be purchased for $10 and single day passes for $6. All children age 10 and under will be admitted for free when accompanied by an adult.

An additional attendance incentive will be provided on Sunday in the form of a snowmobile giveaway. All adult ticket holders will automatically be entered into a drawing for an Arctic Cat Snowmobile. The winning ticket holder must be present to win.

Aside from the name change, the most noticeable difference from past races will be the layout of the track. More snow is available for the 2005 race, which translates into more possibilities for competition.

"It will be a wider, more challenging track," said Tom Wang of the Thief River Falls Snow Drifters.

Wang said that early registration totals are over 200. Race registration information is available at www.mnnorthsnocross.com.

Two dash for cash races will be held during the weekend. Racing will conclude on Saturday with the Commercial Sewing Dash for Cash, while the Carlisle Dash for Cash will wrap up Sunday's races. Payouts have not been determined for either dash for cash.

Sno-X race set for Saturday, Jan. 22 and Sunday, Jan. 23 in Thief River Falls

She knows what it's like to be harassed

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

The following article includes an account of one person's ordeal with harassment and stalking. The names of the victim and perpetrator have been changed.

"Mary" knows what it's like being harassed and stalked. It started after she decided to break up with "Keith" in 2002.

After dating him for about a year, Mary realized she didn't want to be with him anymore. Apparently, Keith still wanted Mary in his life.

Shortly after Mary broke up with him, Keith left messages on her answering machine – one time leaving 35 messages in two hours and filling up her answering machine tape.

And that wasn't all. "It was like he knew my every move," Mary said.

Even though Keith lived in another city hours away, he would occasionally be in Thief River Falls. Mary was afraid for herself and her children. "It was scary," she said.

One day, Mary parked her vehicle to shop downtown. Not paying attention to her surroundings, she was sitting in her car and putting her keys away. "All of a sudden, my passenger door opened, and he was in my vehicle," Mary said.

Keith wanted to talk to her. Mary tried to grab her cell phone, but Keith grabbed it. He wouldn't give it back. Mary got out of her vehicle, but Keith had gotten her keys. He backed her into a corner, and he wouldn't give her keys back to her unless she talked to him. Mary agreed to talk to him, got her keys back and hightailed it back to her car.

Yet, Keith wedged himself between the car and the car door. He tried to pull the keys out of the ignition as Mary tried to drive away.

Other people walked by, but no one helped. "Nobody said anything," said Mary, who eventually drove away.

After the incident, she didn't call the police. However, that changed

Stalking

- Average length of stalking is 1.8 years, increases to 2.2 years if intimate partners are involved
- 1,006,970 women and 370,990 men are stalked annually in the U.S.
- 1 in 12 women and 1 in 45 men will be stalked in their lifetimes
- 77 percent of women and 64 percent of men know their stalkers
- 87 percent of stalkers are men
- 61 percent of stalkers made unwanted phone calls; 33 percent sent or left unwanted letters or items; 29 percent vandalized property; and 9 percent threatened to kill a family pet

Harassment cases not uncommon

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

"Mary" isn't alone when it comes to being a stalking or harassment victim.

Pennington County sees 10 to 20 harassment cases per year, estimated Karla Stavnes, Pennington County crime victim advocate. "A lot of times what I deal with or the state deals with is phone harassment or phone stalking."

Most of those cases involve partners who share a child and are no longer together, Stavnes said.

It's not always an ex-partner harassing a former partner. Stavnes noted she has had cases involving people who harassed their exes' new partners.

January is National Stalking Awareness Month. Stalking is a crime in all 50 states, but the laws vary from state to state.

Here in Minnesota, the law couples stalking with harassment. Minnesota law defines harassment as conduct that would cause someone to "feel frightened, threatened, oppressed, persecuted or intimidated." That conduct includes someone making it known directly or indirectly that he or she intends to injure another person or damage that person's property by committing a crime. It also includes such things as stalking, repeated phone calls, and repeated e-mails or other mailings.

Stavnes provided several tips for dealing with a stalker/harasser.

- In order to show a pattern of behavior, write down what the perpetrator does to the victim.
- If the stalker/harasser calls a cell phone or answering machine, don't delete the call.
- If the perpetrator were sitting outside of the victim's residence, school or workplace, take a picture of the person and/or the person's vehicle. Also, place the date of occurrence on the photo.
- If there were a witness to the harassment, bring that person to court. "Judges don't always call upon them, but it's always good to have that person there," Stavnes said.

Candidates sought for research and promotion council

The Minnesota Department of Agriculture (MDA) announced Wednesday it is seeking candidates to replace 19 vacant positions on five commodity research and promotion council boards. Candidates will be selected through mail ballot elections set for March 2005.

The Barley, Beef, Corn, Soybean and Wheat Councils will sponsor a mail ballot election to fill vacancies on their boards. The candidate registration deadline is Feb. 4. These farmer/leaders will serve three-year terms directing the investment of their council's check-off programs.

The commodities, along with districts that have vacant positions for the upcoming March elections, include:

• Barley Research and Promotion Council: Vacant positions are in Districts 1 and 3.

• Beef Research and Promotion Council: Vacant positions are in Districts 1, 4, 5, 7, and 8.

• Corn Research and Promotion Council: Vacant positions are in Districts (1, 2, & 4), 7, 8 and 9.

• Soybean Research and Promotion Council: Vacant positions are in Districts 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8.

• Wheat Research and Promotion Council: Vacant positions are in Areas 1, 2, and 3.

To express interest in serving on a board, contact the councils' offices listed below.

• Barley Research and Promotion Office: 1-800-242-6118 or (218) 253-4311.

• Beef Research and Promotion Office: (952) 854-6980.

• Corn Research and Promotion Office: (952) 233-0333.

• Soybean Research and Promotion Office: 1-888-896-9678.

• Wheat Research and Promotion Office: 1-800-242-6118 or (218) 253-4311.

Farmers who voted last year will automatically receive ballots in the mail, and others can request a ballot from the commodity council offices or the MDA by Jan. 25 to have their names placed on the list to receive ballots for this year's elections. Requests received after Jan. 25 will be added to the list to receive ballots for next year's elections.

January is National Oatmeal Month, just in case you didn't know. People buy oatmeal more in the month of January than any other time during the year. But what with our terrible temperatures, is it any wonder that we need something in our tummies to keep us warm?

Carry your oatmeal tummy warmer with you wherever you go, especially on a car trip in this nasty weather:

WINTER TRAIL MIX
2 cups old fashioned oats, uncooked
1/4 cup maple syrup, regular or light
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
1 teaspoon vanilla
1-1/2 cups oatmeal squares cereal
1/2 cup snipped dried apple chunks
1/2 cup snipped dried apricots
1/2 cup dried cranberries (or raisins)
3/4 cup dry roasted peanuts or lightly salted almonds

Heat oven to 325 degrees. In large bowl, combine oats and cereal. In small bowl, combine syrup, oil and vanilla. Pour over cereal mixture. Mix until well coated. Place in 10x15 inch jelly roll pan.

Bake 20-25 minutes until oats are golden brown, stirring every 10 minutes.

Remove from oven and immediately stir in remaining ingredients. Cool completely in pan on wire rack. Store loosely covered up to 1 week.

How to use: Stir into yogurt or cottage cheese, layer with fresh fruit and yogurt, serve cold with milk, spread bagel with peanut butter and then sprinkle mix on top, mix with light cream cheese and spread on bagels or toast, stir into pancake batter before cooking.

Nutritional Info: 1/2 cup with almonds: 170 calories, 50 calories from fat, 6 g total fat, 0.5 g sat fat, 0 chol, 75 mg sodium, 27 g carb, 3 g dietary fiber, 12 g sugar, 4 g protein.

Here is a delicious recipe for no bake oatmeal cookies with a great flavor:

NO BAKE OATMEAL PUDDING COOKIES
2 cups white sugar
3/4 cup butter
1 (3.4 ounce) package instant butterscotch pudding mix
1/2 of 12 fluid ounce can evaporated milk
3-1/2 cups quick cooking oats

In microwave bowl, combine sugar, butter and milk. Cook on high power for 2-5 minutes, stirring occasionally, until mixture comes to rapid boil. Allow to boil for 20-30 seconds, then remove from heat and stir in pudding and oatmeal. Spoon onto waxed paper lined sheets and let stand 15 minutes or until firm.

Serve these for breakfast this weekend:

OATMEAL BLUEBERRY PANCAKES
1 1/2 cups rolled oats (not instant)
1/2 cup flour
2 teaspoons white sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 teaspoons soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
2 eggs
2 cups buttermilk
1 cup frozen blueberries

Heat oiled griddle over medium heat.

In large bowl, mix oats, flour, sugar, salt, soda and baking powder. Stir in eggs and buttermilk. Fold in blueberries.

Pour or spoon batter on griddle, using approximately 1/4 cup for each pancake. Serve hot.

Muffins are great to have around for snacking as well as for breakfast - these are really good:

IRISH OATMEAL MUFFINS
1-1/2 cups buttermilk
1 cup old fashioned whole oats
1/4 cup melted butter
1/2 cup brown sugar or honey
1 egg, beaten
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
3/4 teaspoon salt

Pour milk over oats and let stand 30 minutes to an hour.

Mix batter, sugar (or honey) and egg in bowl, then add oatmeal and mix again. Can mix with mixer.

Mix flour, baking powder, soda and salt together with whisk and add to oat mixture. Mix gently with spoon (do not use mixer or whisk) to blend - the less mixing at the end, the better the muffins.

Fill lined cupcake caps 2/3 full and bake at 400 degrees for 12-15 minutes. Delicious plain or served with honey, jelly or jam. Also taste really good with Nutella on them (this is that chocolate/hazelnut spread that is sold by the peanut butter in the store).

Ever heard of oatmeal pie? Give this a try:

OATMEAL PIE
2 eggs, beaten
3/4 cup corn syrup (Karo)
3/4 cup packed brown sugar
1/2 cup flake coconut
3/4 cup quick cooking oats
1/4 cup butter
Salt to taste
1 recipe pastry for 9 inch pie

Mix eggs, corn syrup, brown sugar, coconut, oats, butter and salt. Pour into unbaked pie shell.

Bake at 325 degrees for 45 minutes or until golden and knife inserted in center comes out clean.

MSGA announces crop insurance program

The Minnesota Soybean Growers Association (MSGA) announced Tuesday that it is joining with 17 farm associations to sponsor Growers National Cooperative Insurance Agency Inc. (GNC).

GNC provides an alternative way for members of MSGA to purchase federal crop insurance. Through GNC, sponsoring associations have a voice in providing insurance tailored to the specific needs of their members.

During the passage of the Agricultural Risk Protection Act of 2000, Congress adopted a Sense of Congress resolution that stated, "Partnerships between approved insurance providers and farmer-owned cooperatives provide opportunity for agricultural producers to obtain needed insurance coverage on a more competitive basis and at a lower cost." GNC was formed under these guidelines.

Ron Jacobsen, MSGA president from Wells, said, "This win-win program will lead to increased membership in MSGA, and will provide an innovative way to purchase federal crop insurance risk management tools."

Other soybean associations endorsing GNC include the Indiana, North Dakota and Kansas Soybean Associations. These associations are members of the American Soybean Association, which represents soybean producers nationwide, as well as the 3,000 growers in Minnesota.

Austin Mutual Insurance Company is the underwriter of the plan and an approved Standard Reinsurance Agreement holder in the Federal Crop Insurance Program. Austin Mutual is headquartered in Minneapolis and carries an A (Excellent) rating from A.M. Best Company. CropUSA of Lewiston, Idaho, is Austin Mutual's managing general agent and also manages GNC.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Dave Hill and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Opinions in items from other publications may not coincide with the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and legislators need to pay attention to the concerns being expressed over public use of state-managed lands. There seems to be considerable dismay and confusion over proposed rules that limit access. That concern is particularly coming from owners of all-terrain vehicles.

The DNR has been placed in a difficult position. Legislators approved a law that specifically tells them to review the classification of all managed lands, and spells out the classifications. It's a huge task, and one which, to everyone's tastes, can't be done thoroughly enough or fast enough.

I doubt whether many people believe there should be unlimited access to "managed lands," but closing lands without spelling out the exceptions or allowing for input or review of those decisions isn't a reasonable response either.

For their part, legislators might be able to disarm some of the protagonists by helping the DNR complete its assigned task, and by reviewing some of the definitions and constraints of the law they passed.

The ugly truth is, that if a compromise isn't reached, many citizens will either be found in violation of a law they didn't know existed and don't understand, or deliberately in violation of a law they know can't be enforced in a consistent and equitable manner. These outcomes don't serve Minnesotans or the environment.

LETTERS

Has the DNR and Minnesota Legislature gone too far?

(Editor's note: This letter has been edited for length.)

To the Editor:

Currently, thousands upon thousands of acres of public land in the state of Minnesota is classified by the Department of Natural Reources (DNR) as "managed." This means all roads and trails off the main roads are open to various motorized vehicles unless otherwise posted. This provides excellent access to our public lands, allowing everyone to enjoy the outdoors.

Unfortunately, the DNR is now informing the public that it will soon be changing the classification to "limited." This means all the roads and trails off the main road will be closed unless otherwise posted. We all know what that will mean. Just about all of our access to these lands will be denied.

A few years back, I was on my way to my favorite trail in the forest in anticipation of another great bear hunting season. As I arrived at the location, I became sick to my stomach as I read the sign the DNR had placed right in the middle of the road: "No Motorized Vehicles Beyond This Point."

One can't carry bear bait far, so I realized I had just lost my favorite hunting spot. After a couple hours of scouting, I found a new place to hunt, and although I thought it would never be as good as my first spot, it would have to do.

The next year, I was relieved to discover that my new spot had not been closed over the winter. I then spent a couple of weeks baiting the location. On a beautiful sunny day, my world came crashing down around me. Right in the middle of bear season, the DNR had placed a "No Motorized Vehicles Beyond this Point" sign on the road.

Later that day, I happened to meet a man in a DNR truck. Still angry, I asked him why I am not allowed to drive down those roads. His response was rambling, and I realized that he didn't really know the answer. He did say something about disturbing wildlife and damaging the forest.

By the third year, I thought I had prepared myself for anything and everything, but as the old Waylon Jennings song goes, "Wrong." As I approached my old favorite hunting spot, I couldn't believe my eyes. It had been logged to the ground. I couldn't even tell where the wonderful old road was. Rather, the place looked like it had been hit by an atomic bomb. Although not opposed to logging, I thought to myself, "I'm not going to need an environmental impact study to know that this wasn't good for that road."

It didn't make sense. They can log the Beltrami Forest from one end to the other and yet I'm denied access because I might do some damage. There are thousands of acres of wetlands in the forest that have no access and never will. If the price of the general public's access means that a small percentage - maybe one percent - might be damaged, would that justify it's use? Perhaps we should have no access at all. Does this make sense to you? Perhaps the DNR has fallen into that paranoid animal rights, tree-hugger mentality and is attempting to protect the forest to the point of denying all access and use by the very people who own them. No, that can't be its line of reasoning; after all, the entire place has just been logged to the ground. This is crazy, I thought.

I must admit to you that before I wrote this letter I was trying to console myself, saying that at my age and with all the great years of hunting I've had in the past, this proposal probably wouldn't affect me much. Then, I looked into the eyes of my grandson and knew in my heart that he longs for the day he can hunt the magical places I have so often described. At that moment, I once again got that sickening feeling that I had when I saw that first sign, and knew that I wasn't getting any younger and wouldn't be able to make the journey on foot. So, please, even if you don't use these roads and trails, or aren't even an outdoors person, write, call, or e-mail your Minnesota state senator and representative or governor. Let them know that it's "we the people" who own these lands.

In January, too much pressure will end everyone's run

I grew up next door to a large Catholic family. That might sound a little redundant from an East Coast perspective - large and Catholic - as all Catholic households in our neighborhood seemed to have an abundance of children. However, I use the religious adjective to highlight not the size, but the eating patterns of this particular family. Catholic families on that block were very good at finding the time to sit down for the evening meal as a group. I envied that. No matter how busy or unsettled the homebodies in that 12-person house were, they always managed to have supper together. And as an annoyingly ever-present neighbor kid, I would get invited to my fair share of evening buffets.

Once again, we're talking large numbers around the table, depending on what daily disaster might have occurred, a 10-person minimum to a 'friend and relative' over-abundance of 16 or 17 was not uncommon. And, as each bowl or plate, filled with meats and vegetables and breads, was brought to the table at the beginning of supper, the matriarch would admonish the gathered hordes to "be polite, there's plenty for everyone." But as much of a cornucopia as initial glances might suggest there to be, there never was enough. What always began, as an orderly, gracious process would inevitably devolve into a scene that looked more like starving cavemen fighting over the rotting carcass of a jackal. There were simply too many mouths to fill with whatever food was available. I would always sneak off home after the meal and eat again from the left-overs at my own house. Did I mention that it was a large, skinny, Catholic family I grew up next to?

We've come to accept that when it comes to fish on Lake of the Woods, all anglers are welcome. There's plenty of fish to go around for everyone. And in most circumstances, I'd have to agree with this. We have good numbers, good reproduction, good lake fertility, and good growth rates. When the fish are off Pine, a lot of fishermen can partake of the feast. When the flats are going, a bunch of happy anglers can group there. When the rock piles are hot, a crowd can survive on the abundance. Come on over, there's plenty.

However, there are times when that hospitable tone doesn't ring as true. Take mid-winter. It's cold, both above and below the ice. Fish are moving more slowly and feeding less aggressively. Like deer, their metabolism has shut down enough that the natural need to feed now occurs at a near snail's pace. Come the inevitable warming trends of February, that movement will slowly increase until it peaks during the pre-spawn frenzy. For now, euphemistically, the bite is a leisurely one.

This doesn't mean, however, that you should be catching any fewer fish than a month ago during the December heydays. What it does mean is that you'll have to change your approach a bit. In December, the number of fish houses congregated in an area was a good indicator, back then, for a fishing spot. The water was warm, relatively, and the fish were active, moving quickly in and out of feeding areas. Just because the guy in the next fish house had pulled 20 saugers and walleyes through the ice that morning, it didn't mean there wouldn't be fish to catch in the afternoon. Like crowded subway trains, these fish were commuters who changed their locations quickly and often in December.

Now, unfortunately, the crowd might be every bit as good an indication of a tough area to fish. With fish moving more slowly and, therefore, less far each day in their quest for food, numbers dwindle from an area rather quickly. For example, if 100 fish occupy a square acre of a lake and 10 fish houses plop down in that zone, that's about 10 fish per house. Fair, not great. However, if on day two the same 10 houses fish that same square acre, their chances at duplicating the 10 fish totals will be next to impossible, as only 50 slow-moving fish have had the opportunity to restock that zone. Remember, in December's relative warmth, the fish moved quickly enough that you could restock the ice under your house in hours, if not minutes. But in the slow-moving times of January, too much pressure will end everyone's run.

Options are obvious. Move a lot, spending no more than a couple of days in any one spot. Or simply locate your house well away from any crowd, satisfying the need for privacy as well as a consistent supply of fish. Or, if you're just not feeling that motivated, leave the fish house right where it is, the fish'll be back there in a few weeks. And until that time, you can sneak over to the neighbor's for a fillet or two. I've been told there's plenty there.

January - National Glaucoma Awareness Month

GLAUCOMA

What is Glaucoma?

Glaucoma causes damage to your optic nerve which is an extension of your brain that is connected to the back of your eye. In glaucoma, the optic nerve is damaged and starts to deteriorate causing early peripheral vision loss and eventually blindness.

Glaucoma usually is asymptomatic early on and can be detected by your eye care professional. Some signs and symptoms may include blurred vision, halos around lights, reddening of eyes, severe eye pain, and possibly nausea and vomiting. The most common type of glaucoma is known as primary open-angle glaucoma (POAG). In POAG, internal ocular pressures are elevated and elevated pressures left untreated cause Optic nerve damage and vision loss. There are several other types of glaucoma such as low tension glaucoma which is when a person has normal eye pressures, but continues to have optic nerve damage.

Who is affected?

Glaucoma affects approximately 3 million Americans, which ranks it as the second most common vision loss in the United States. Glaucoma affects people of all ages, but the risk increases with a positive family history and aging.

How do I know if I have Glaucoma?

A thorough eye exam is needed to determine if there is a possibility of glaucoma. A thorough eye exam should include a refraction, eye pressure check using Goldmann Tonometry and not the puff of air test (inaccurate), slit-lamp exam, and dilation to determine ocular health. If glaucoma is suspected then there are a battery of tests needed to make the definitive diagnosis. These tests include:

- Pachymetry - determines corneal thickness.
- Visual field testing - determines peripheral vision loss.
- Nerve Fiber Layer Analyzer - determines the nerve fiber layer thickness.
- Fundus Photography - photographic history of optic nerve.
- Gonioscopy - determines if angles are open and not closed.

All of these tests are done by your local eye care professionals at Northwest Eye Center. Once the type of glaucoma has been diagnosed treatment is the next step.

How do you treat Glaucoma?

Initial treatment usually starts with medicated eye drops to lower eye pressures. Surgical intervention is needed when medicated eye drops are not controlling pressures adequately. Although laser and surgical intervention are usually reserved as a final line of treatment, it has become more commonly used as an initial treatment due to its relatively safe and effective ability in lowering pressures.

Prowlers fall to top-ranked team 7-4...

Three-goal flurries key Moorhead win

A pair of three-goal bursts carried Moorhead past Thief River Falls 7-4 in Tuesday boys high school hockey at the Ralph Engelstad Arena.

The 11-1-1 Spuds, the No. 1-ranked team in Class AA, had a 3-0 lead 6 1/2 minutes into the contest. The 8-4-1 Prowlers didn't fold, however. They were back to within 3-2 by the end of the first period and got the equalizer when Matt Nordhagen skated across the crease and beat Moorhead goalie Derek Hittle with a point-blank backhand just 71 seconds into the second period.

Thief River Falls coach Scott Bergland was justifiably excited about the rally. "Most teams would have caved in after falling behind like that," he said. "But we fought back."

With the comeback providing a shot of confidence, the Prowlers played the Spuds on even terms... until the visitors' second three-goal volley shattered Thief River Falls' upset bid.

Moorhead's game-clinching flurry of offense started when Cory Johnson rushed down the ice while a delayed penalty was signaled behind the Spuds' net. The speedy Johnson didn't wait for extra-time power play to set up. Instead, he took the puck to the net and clanged the tie-breaker off the inside of the goal pipe at 13:52.

Nate Miller pushed a rebound through a crowd to make it 5-3 at 15:15 and just 51 seconds later Jake Dibble's tough-angle shot from the side went off goalie Cole Hunt's shoulder for a 6-3 spread.

A long straight-on shot by defenseman Brian Lee, a Team USA member during the recently-completed 2005 World Junior Hockey Championship, sailed into the net on a Moorhead power play 43 seconds into the second period as the Spuds made it a four-goal difference.

Final goal came from Thief River Falls forward Alec Holen, who got a step on a defenseman and scored from point-blank range at 7:41.

Moorhead wasted little time getting on the board at the start as Drew Fisher rolled a rebound just inside the right post at 2:10 and Jon Ammerman quickly doubled the difference at 3:49.

A long power play shot by Matt Becker made its way through a crowd for a 3-0 game at 6:29.

A two-man power play advantage opened the door for the Prowlers, and they took advantage of the opportunity when a soft shot from the point and an equally soft rebound by Holen dribbled through at 11:03.

Another Thief River Falls power play goal chopped the difference to 3-2 when an end-to-end rush by Michael Forney was finished off by a Kory Kezar tap-in rebound at 16:50.

"We played well," said Bergland. "There were some questionable goals that our goaltender has to stop. If they're the best team in the state, and they claim they are, then we know we can play with anybody."

Returning to the Ralph Engelstad Arena wearing his Moorhead High School uniform Tuesday was defenseman Brian Lee, who played in Thief River Falls as a member of Team USA during a 2005 World Junior Hockey Championship exhibition game against Germany. Lee scored the final goal in the Spuds' 7-4 win over the Prowlers.

Lakers sweep series with TRF girls, 57-37

An improved performance didn't change the final outcome Tuesday as Thief River Falls lost a 57-37 Section 8AAA girls high school basketball game at Detroit Lakes.

The outcome completed a home-and-home sweep for the Lakers, who won the first meeting 49-26 on Dec. 11 in Thief River Falls.

"Although we played better the second time around, the results were much the same," offered Thief River Falls coach Jeff Loe. "They are a quality team. We didn't put anybody in double figures, which was due largely to a solid defensive effort by Detroit Lakes."

Currently ranked No. 9 in the Class AAA state polls, the 8-1 Lakers led 15-9 at the end of the first quarter, had a 34-18 halftime cushion and maintained a 47-30 third quarter spread.

Thief River Falls shot only 34 percent from the field (15/44) and went 5-for-10 at the free throw line. Detroit Lakes shot 41 percent from the floor (25/61) and had a 4-for-10 free throw night. The Prowlers out-rebounded the Lakers 29-23, but lost that edge to 26 turnovers, compared to only 10 for the winners.

"They are the type of team, that if you don't do the little things on offense – like setting quality screens and moving quicker to the ball – you don't get the quality shots," explained Loe. "We also had too many turnovers."

Jordanne Even led the Detroit Lakes offense with 20 points. Hallie Hogenson netted 13. Nichole Gryskiewicz had a 9-point, 10-rebound game for the Prowlers.

Thief River Falls fell to 6-7 with the loss. A game at Hawley tonight (Saturday) will be followed by boys/girls doubleheaders Tuesday at Roseau and Thursday at home against Crookston. The varsity girls will play the late game both nights – 7:45 p.m. vs. the Rams and 7:30 p.m. vs. the Pirates.

Turnovers doom Prowlers in loss to Bemidji, 66-44

Not many teams can turn the ball over 34 times and still win. Thief River Falls can't. That number all but guaranteed the Prowlers' fate Tuesday in a 66-44 boys high school basketball loss to visiting Bemidji.

Down 12-9 after one quarter and trailing 22-21 at halftime, the Lumberjacks' defense took a toll on the Prowlers over the final 16 minutes. They went up 39-32 at the close of the third quarter and sealed it with a 27-point final period finish.

"The kids really tried hard," offered Thief River Falls coach Chris McLean. "We played some good defense in the first half, but they (Lumberjacks) went with a half-court trap, and we didn't handle it very well."

Because of the high turnover figure, Thief River Falls got off just 37 shots. And when you shoot 41 percent on a limited number of possessions, it doesn't bode well, either offensively or defensively. It's hard to press, acknowledged McLean, when you're not hitting, or even getting shots.

Meanwhile, ball-handling mistakes and errant passes add up to lay-up opportunities at the other

Northland 65-64 winner in first division contest

Kimae Larson's basket with eight seconds remaining provided the winning points as Northland edged visiting Rainy River 65-64 in the Pioneers' 2004-05 Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division women's basketball opener.

Northland raced to an 11-2 lead at the start and had a 33-31 halftime edge. But the Pioneers trailed by 10 with eight minutes remaining.

"That's when I called a time-out and told them now's the time to make a move," explained Northland coach Missy Majerus.

The Pioneers responded. A press that had been abandoned because of ineffectiveness and fatigue was reinstated almost immediately produced results.

Rainy River led 64-63 when Northland brought the ball down the floor for a likely final-shot possession.

And a play that had already been called, worked to perfection as Rochelle Nelk drove the lane, then kicked the ball out to Larson for the game-winning bucket. A foul on the basket gave the Prowlers a chance to make it a three-point play. The free throw was missed, but Northland controlled the rebound and ran out the clock.

Swim meet, wrestling dual, basketball road trip called off due weather conditions

Weather conditions prompted a number of changes in the Thief River Falls sports schedule.

Thursday, officials called off that day's Thief River Falls boys home swim dual vs. Park Rapids Area; the Prowlers' Friday home wrestling dual vs. Hibbing; and a weekend basketball trip for the Thief River Falls boys, who were scheduled to play Friday at Grand Rapids and Saturday at Hibbing.

Pioneers open with MCCC victory

There wasn't anything pretty about it – except the final score – Tuesday as Northland opened its Minnesota Community College Conference-counting men's basketball schedule with an 85-59 home court win over Northern Division rival Rainy River.

"It was one of those ugly wins," admitted Northland coach Rick Nikunen. "It was a sloppy game with a lot of turnovers and a lot of offensive rebounds. But that's how they (Voyageurs) try to beat you by playing a wide-open, chaotic style."

Northland built a 42-31 halftime lead and lengthened it out over the final 20 minutes as Juwaun Bowman scored 27 points, Mike Howard 18, Matt Largis 17 and Jason Koch 17.

It was the third straight win since returning from a holiday break for the Pioneers, who are 9-5 overall. "The intensity level picked up with the start of conference play," noted Nikunen. "It wasn't pretty, but we managed to play with a little more discipline than they did, especially on defense."

Thomas Brown led Rainy River with 22 points. Maurice Lloyd had 10.

The Pioneers, who had a weekend trip to Vermilion and Mesabi Range, will be back home Wednesday for a Northern Division game against Itasca.

Prowlers swim at Detroit Lakes

Individual improvements highlighted Thief River Falls efforts at the Jan. 8 Laker Invitational boys high school swim meet in Detroit Lakes.

Irondale entries won 13 of the meet's 16 events and the Knights easily took team honors with 467 points, followed by the host Lakers with 312, Morris Area 230, Park Rapids Area 170, Thief River Falls 169, Perham 165 and Bemidji 161.

The three races not won by Irondale went to Detroit Lakes swimmers.

Top placing Prowler was senior Jon Kays, second in the 100-yard breaststroke.

"The boys had a great meet, with nearly everyone swimming personal-best times," reported Thief River Falls coach Lacy Knott.

Scoring his second goal of the game, Thief River Falls forward Alec Holen got behind the Moorhead defense and beat goalie Derek Hittle from point-blank range during the third period of Tuesday's boys high school hockey match-up at the Ralph Engelstad Arena. The Prowlers fell to the top-rated Class AA team in the state 7-4.

Warroad is 6-1 winner

Two goals apiece by Ben Bengston and Kyle Hardwick carried Warroad past visiting Thief River Falls 6-1 Thursday in boys high school hockey.

It was the second loss of the year at the hands of the defending Section 8A champions for the 8-5-1 Prowlers, who were beaten 7-2 in the earlier meeting at the Ralph Engelstad Arena.

Bengston scored both goals as Warroad skated to a 2-0 first period lead.

The Prowlers' Alec Holen cut the difference to 2-1 in the first minute of the second period, but Hardwick responded with his first goal less than a minute later.

Wolverines' comeback nets 38-32 victory over Warroad on Thursday

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke overcame a 10-point second half deficit to beat Warroad 38-32 in Thursday girls high school basketball.

The Wolverines, coming off a 38-33 Tuesday loss to Red Lake County Central, trailed at the quarter stops 13-11, 23-17 and 29-26 before outscoring Warroad 12-3 over the final eight minutes.

"We went to a 2-3 zone and shut down their outside shots," explained Wolverines assistant coach Brent Philipp. "They're a pretty good 3-point shooting team."

Stephanie Olson and Sara Rindahl led the winners with 13 and 12 points, respectively.

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke is 5-7.

"We have better odds of winning if we keep it (scoring) low," noted Philipp.

Kimbrough, who was 22-for-26 from the field, completed a double-double with 11 rebounds as the Gators built quarter leads of 24-9, 42-26 and 68-35.

Missy Bruggeman added 16 points to the offense, while Lynsey Roppe had 12 and Cassy Campbell contributed nine assists.

"It was an outstanding night by our three seniors," said Gators coach Tom Neibauer, referring to Kimbrough, Bruggeman and Roppe.

The 14-0 Gators shot 66 percent from the field (44/67). They were 4-for-9 at the free throw line. The Ponies had a 15-for-24 free throw night.

Three third period goals capped a 5-0 Moorhead win over Thief River Falls Tuesday in boys junior varsity high school hockey.

The Spuds picked up single goals in both the first and second periods.

Brady McIntyre was in goal for the Prowlers.

Fosston handles Mustangs 71-27

Fosston raced to a 20-4 first quarter lead and rolled to a 71-27 girls high school basketball win over Red Lake County Central Thursday.

The No. 2-ranked Greyhounds were up 43-11 at halftime and ahead 59-17 through three quarters.

"Not a good night," offered Red Lake County Central coach Rick Koivisto. "We had trouble with their press." Twenty-eight turnovers attested to that.

Kayla Bagaason scored 20 points to lead the Greyhounds, who were 29-for-66 from the field (44 percent).

A 12-point game by Courtney Halvorson led the Mustangs, who struggled through a 12-for-43 night from the floor.

Final quarter carries TRF past Bemidji ninth grade

Thief River Falls turned a 35-34 third quarter deficit into a 50-39 freshman boys basketball win over Bemidji Tuesday.

Kacey Trontvet scored 16 points, while Tom Loe and Jacob Stuckey both had 8 as the Prowlers grabbed a 14-7 first quarter lead and took a 23-20 edge into halftime.

Strong defense nets 51-34 win for Eagles

Defense was the name of the game Tuesday as Grygla-Gatzke beat Warroad 51-34 in boys high school basketball.

"It was one of our better defensive efforts of the season," reported Eagles coach Vern Johnson, whose 10-1 team had quarter leads of 11-7, 17-13 and 33-21. "In the first half, both teams played tough defense. Shots were hard to come by. Second half, we started strong, then we spread it out."

A 14-point game by the Eagles' Tomas Loberg was the only double figure production on either side.

Grygla-Gatzke was limited to a 35-shot offense, with 15 of those finding the mark (42 percent). The Low number of field goal attempts was due in part to a steady march to the free throw line, where the winners were 19-for-35.

Warroad went 14-for-39 from the floor (36 percent) and 6-for-9 at the line.

Grygla-Gatzke finished with a 19-15 rebound edge. Warroad topped the turnover charts 13-12.

"Defensive rebounds made a big difference," explained Johnson. "We only gave them five offensive rebounds, and that's been one of their strengths."

end.

"Thirty-four turnovers is just too many," said McLean. "That's a lot of offensive opportunities you're missing out on. Cut that figure even in half and it would be a big difference."

It wasn't that Bemidji was perfect, either. The Lumberjacks got by with 23 turnovers, and despite the steady supply of fast breaks, settled for a 45 percent 20-for-44 shooting performance.

Zach Marino and Nate Daniels had 18-point games for the Lumberjacks, while 6-10 Bruce Felts netted 11. The Prowlers got 10-point each from Jeremy Sich and Kyle Lunke.

Both teams scored at the free throw line, where Bemidji was 22-for-31 and Thief River Falls went 14-for-19.

The Lumberjacks finished with a 22-15 rebounds advantage, including a 12-4 edge on the offensive boards.

Thief River Falls fell to 5-6 with the loss. The Prowlers will have boys/girls doubleheaders Tuesday in Roseau and Thursday at home against Crookston. The boys play the early varsity games in both twin-bills – 6:15 p.m. at Roseau and 6 p.m. vs. Crookston.

Jennifer Hueneke, a health educator with the Minneapolis Heart Institute Foundation, asked St. Bernard's Catholic School fourth graders questions about the heart Wednesday in Thief River Falls. Hueneke brought along the HiTECH (Help in Teaching Elementary Children about Healthy Hearts) Heart. The interactive display educates fourth graders about the heart, how it works and how to take care of it.

that of the 230 cities with municipal liquor stores, 23.5 percent lost money from operations. Statewide operational losses increased in 2003 by 16.9 percent (from $761,540 in 2002 to $890,202 in 2003).

"It is troubling that in a year in which overall sales went up, the number of cities with money losing municipal liquor stores increased," said Anderson. "It is especially troubling that an even larger group of municipal liquor stores lost money on operations."

Minnesota law requires that those cities that have failed to make a profit in at least two of the last three years hold a public hearing on the future of the liquor store. Based on that law, 24 cities should have held public hearings in 2004.

"In cities where municipal liquor stores consistently lose money, citizens may, in essence, be paying taxes to subsidize the sale of alcohol within their community," said Anderson. "In those cities that must draw down reserves to cover losses at municipal liquor operations, the sale of alcohol is competing with other priorities for scarce resources. This turns the primary purpose of municipal liquor operations on its head. Municipal liquor stores should generate profits to help fund city services."

Liquor stores in northwest Minnesota

The nine municipal liquor operations in the northwest economic development region of Minnesota reported gross sales of $7.6 million in 2003, up from $7.2 million in 2002. They recorded a net income of $709,000, up from $578,000 in 2002. Stores in the region transferred $427,000 to other governmental funds in 2003.

The northwest economic development region includes the counties of Kittson, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau. Net income among the northwest region's municipal liquor operations ranged from a low of $11,000 in Goodridge to a high of $286,000 in Thief River Falls.

"Liquor stores in the northwest region had a strong year in 2003," said Anderson. "They increased their sales and net income, and there were no stores in the region that lost money."

Metro area versus Greater Minnesota

Municipal liquor operations located within the Twin Cities metropolitan area are considerably larger and more profitable than their Greater Minnesota counterparts. Although only 23 of the 230 Minnesota cities (10 percent) that own and operate municipal liquor stores are located in the Twin Cities metropolitan area, they represent 37.9 percent of the total sales and 37.7 percent of the net income of municipal liquor store operations.

Sales by metropolitan area establishments averaged $2.2 million in 2003, compared to average sales of $723,000 for Greater Minnesota municipal liquor stores. The average net income of metropolitan stores was $172,000 in 2003, compared to an average of $56,000 for municipal liquor store establishments in Greater Minnesota. Net income and losses among metropolitan liquor operations ranged from a loss of $65,000 in Mound to a profit of $896,000 in Edina. Net income and losses among Greater Minnesota cities ranged from a loss of $138,000 in Pine City to a profit of $559,000 in Elk River.

"It is critical that cities in Minnesota closely examine their municipal liquor store operations to ensure efficient operations," said Anderson. "Cities should work to maximize profits from their liquor operations because there is no real reason for a city to run a municipal liquor store unless they are generating revenue to help fund local government expenditures."

Court orders can be filed to help harassment victims. Restraining orders are filed for general incidences of harassment and may be issued for people who lived together, Stavnes said. Protection orders are issued if the involved people had a relationship, live together or have a child together.

For a victim who feels he or she needs to file a restraining order, the cost is $245. If the victim alleges that gross misdemeanor or felony harassment violations have occurred, he or she would not have to pay the fee. For protection orders, there is no cost to the petitioner.

Stavnes files the order for the petitioner and goes to court with the person to support him or her. Since she's not an attorney, she noted that she can't speak at the hearing that both the petitioner and petitionee attend. Yet, she can remind the person of important things he or she may want to say.

Stavnes has also worked with people who had restraining orders served on them, but who didn't deserve to have the order.

She added that people facing or filing harassment orders do not need an attorney because it's a civil matter. Yet, they can have attorneys represent them if they so choose.

For help dealing with a stalker/harasser, contact Stavnes at 681-0881.

when she discovered that Keith had been trying to get her fired from her job. She learned her employer was investigating her after Keith alleged she had abused her work e-mail privileges. Once she discovered she was being investigated, she told her supervisor. Her supervisor knew about the past problems with Keith, and they called police. Mary got a restraining order against Keith.

Looking back on the relationship, Mary said there were red flags she didn't see. Keith would constantly put her down, and he had to know where she was at all times. If he couldn't reach her on her cell phone, he would leave messages on her answering machine and ask where she had been.

After filing the restraining order two years ago, Mary hasn't had any problems with Keith. She surmised that he found a new victim, but she is still on guard – locking her doors and looking over her shoulder.

County retaliates against proposed DNR forest road restrictions

Roseau - Frustrated by recent Department of Natural Resources (DNR) proposals that would restrict access to trails and roadways in the Beltrami Island State Forest (BISF), Roseau County commissioners approved, at the Jan. 11 board meeting, a measure directing that all existing Roseau County unorganized township trails and roads used by the public will remain open to the public.

Commissioners were of a single mind in agreeing that the county must take a stand against DNR efforts to reclassify BISF road access. - Warroad Pioneer, Jan. 19, 2005, by Del Stordahl

Fewer-than-anticipated loss of students boosted W/A/O District

Warren - Warren/Alvarado/Oslo School District did much better financially than projected in the 2003-04 school year, thanks to a smaller-than-anticipated loss of students throughout the year and the ability of the administration to monitor and control expenses. Those two conclusions were included in a management discussion and analysis section in the independent auditor's report on the school district's performance for the year ended June 30.

As reported last week, the audit report was presented by Brady Martz auditor Roy Lunde and accepted by the W/A/O School Board at its Jan. 10 meeting.

The audit report points out, when put into final form, the district budget for the 2003-04 school year anticipated general fund expenditures would exceed revenues by $469,101. Actual results, however, showed not a shortfall, but a surplus of $66,300. This is an improvement in the district's situation of $535,401 over what had been projected. Auditors attributed $169,055 of that improvement to the fact the district did not lose as many students as had been anticipated. - Warren Sheaf, Jan. 19, 2005

Commissioners split over board leadership

Roseau - Commissioners sharply disagreed about board leadership in organizing for the 2005 year at the Jan. 4 Roseau County Board meeting. Organized into two opposing geographical and ideological blocs, Commissioner Alan Johnston stood opposed to Commissioner J.C. Stone's resolution that the board reelect Orris Rasmussen as board chairman.

Johnston seemed most angry about positions Rasmussen took at recent jail hearings and said, "The chairman has to represent the board. The board has been more than patient in allowing him to speak his piece, but as chairman, he must be impartial and not offer opinions."

Although Commissioner Russell Walker was absent from the meeting, he offered, by letter, his concerns about Rasmussen's reelection.

Resolutions to reelect Rasmussen chairman and Johnston vice chairman were each approved 2-1 with Johnston opposed in each case. - The Tribune of Greenbush, Jan. 19, 2005, by Del Stordahl

Wal-Mart presents TRF building plan

Planning Commission passes plan onto City Council

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

Thursday night, the Thief River Falls Planning Commission approved a preliminary plat for a proposed Wal-Mart site.

Jered Morris and Darcy Winter, Wal-Mart representatives, presented the company's plans and the preliminary plat to the commission and about 20 residents at the public hearing.

Wal-Mart is planning to build a 155,000-square-foot SuperCenter that sells clothing, food and other merchandise, Winter said. Plans also call for tire lube express service and an indoor and outdoor garden center at the site facing Highway 59. At a Dec. 14 Thief River Falls City Council meeting, she also noted plans for a Murphy Oil Corp. gas station at the site.

At that same meeting, Winter expected construction would take nine to 12 months after government approval for the proposal and depending on weather conditions.

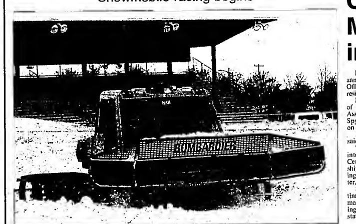
"We've looked at [building in Thief River Falls] a couple of times in the past years," said Winter, who noted Wal-Mart has been studying the possibility of a Thief River Falls store for the past 10 years.

The proposed site is located along Nelson Drive, east of Pizza Hut and behind Speed's Automotive Service on land owned by Anne and Jake Barnick.

The preliminary plat was approved with a stipulation that discussions would continue about a Highway 59 entrance. That entrance may be near Dakota Clinic or on the southside of Pizza Hut where Greenwood Street may be relocated.

Therefore, the commission recommended that the Thief River Falls City Council approve the preliminary plat. That does not necessarily mean the council will approve it. The council will discuss the preliminary plat at its meeting Tuesday, Jan. 25, at 5 p.m. at City Hall.

During Thursday's public hearing, at least one attendee wondered why Wal-Mart decided it wanted to become his neighbor. Mike Barry, who lives near the proposed site and owns Pennington Square and Pennington Main, asked why the company wants a SuperCenter in Thief River Falls.



Winter, a commercial real estate broker with D.E. Winter & Associates Inc of Minneapolis, replied that she has received letters over the years from Thief River Falls residents. She said they wrote that they needed and desired a Wal-Mart with those components.

Pennington County Commissioner Bob Carlson, who

About 20 people listened Thursday night as Darcy Winter and Jered Morris, Wal-Mart representatives, presented information about the company's plans to locate in Thief River Falls. At the public hearing, the city's Planning Commission approved a preliminary plat for the site along Nelson Drive near Highway 59.

Snowmobile racing begins

On Wednesday, Blair Holthusen of Grygle helped shape the competition track for today's Carlisle/Commercial Sewing SnoDrifters Sno X race. Holthusen worked with Steve Olson of Thief River Falls on construction of the course, which will feature more snow than previous years. Racing begins at 9 a.m. today (Saturday). SLEDS (Still Legends but Extremely Dangerous Series) will also conduct a race at Seven Clans Casino, Hotel and Water Park this weekend.

CEO of Northwest Medical Center in TRF resigns

Dick Spyhalski

Northwest Medical Center has announced that its Chief Executive Officer, Dick Spyhalski, has resigned, effective March 31, 2005.

Larry A. McDowell, chairperson of Northwest Medical Center Association board of directors, said Spyhalski submitted his resignation on Jan. 18.

McDowell and Spyhalski both said the separation was amicable.

"Dick has always held the best interests of Northwest Medical Center at the forefront of his leadership and has done a fine job of leading and managing the medical center," said McDowell.

Spyhalski said he will take a little time off to collect his thoughts and make plans. He said he's even thinking about returning to his home state, Wisconsin.

Spyhalski has been with the hospital since September of 1982. During his 22 years with the hospital, Spyhalski said he has enjoyed his time in Thief River Falls, but he is looking forward to some time off. He said he doesn't think he's taken a two week vacation since his college days.

Spyhalski said he's at an age when "you begin thinking about the 'R' word," but added that he's not quite ready for retirement. He said he might do something outside of the health care industry.

The next step for the board of directors is to begin the process of selecting an executive search firm. McDowell said Spyhalski was kind enough to give them more than 30 days notice, but isn't sure that the search for a chief executive officer will be complete by the time Spyhalski leaves.

"On behalf of the Northwest Medical Center Board of Directors, I wish Dick the best of success as he moves toward new challenges," said McDowell. "The Northwest Medical Center Board thanks him for his tireless efforts on behalf of Northwest Medical Center. He will be missed when he leaves in March."

DNR reschedules meeting

Citing a need for better information, DNR reschedules meeting on off-highway vehicle trails in Beltrami Island for Feb. 17

Citing the need to get better information and maps out to the public about its motorized use proposal for the Beltrami Island State Forest, the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is postponing its public meeting in Warroad, which was scheduled to take place on Thursday evening, Jan. 13 at the Warroad High School.

"Given the enormous public interest in this proposal and the frustration we're seeing over our maps of the proposal, we really feel that some additional time is needed to clearly explain what we're proposing and to produce some better maps of the proposed routes before we hold a meeting," said Paul Swenson, Northwest regional director for the DNR.

The DNR is seeking specific comments and recommendations on the routes it has identified for motorized use, which includes designations for highway-licensed vehicles and off-highway vehicles (OHVs).

The meeting has been rescheduled for Thursday, Feb. 17, 2005 from 6 to 9 p.m. at the Warroad High School, which is located at 510 Cedar Avenue NW, Warroad, MN.

In addition to clarifying the mileages being proposed for different uses and the reasons for the designations, DNR staff are already working to produce new, cleaner versions of the maps and will make them available by Jan. 21 for public review. The new maps will be created at a better scale, will be easier to understand, and will identify landmarks within the forest to better

Twins field questions from TRF audience:

Twins Caravan rolls into TRF

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

The Minnesota Twins Winter Caravan made its annual stop in Thief River Falls on Thursday. The 45th annual Twins Caravan is making stops throughout Minnesota and the upper Midwest. The schedule and sites change each year, but like most years, Thief River Falls was one of the scheduled stops.

"Thief River is special," said Brian Donaldson, manager of community relations for the Minnesota Twins. "We come here every year, not every town gets us every year."

Donaldson said that public response is a big reason why Thief River Falls is among the regular stops on the Caravan.

"People of Thief River are good people. They usually come out in droves to see us."

Another reason for the stop is the Twins organization's relationship with Thief River Falls radio. Donaldson said that KTRF Radio has been an affiliate of the Minnesota Twins for a very long time.

The type of presentation given to Twins fans in the Thief River Falls area varies. In past years the participating team members have presented programs to students of various age groups, appeared on KTRF radio and presented noon or evening programs.

On Thursday Twins fans spent their lunch breaks at the Best Western Hotel in Thief River Falls, talking about their favorite team. Each attendee was given a complimentary bumper sticker, Twins Fest poster, a pocket schedule, trading cards and a season ticket guide.

The program was opened by Clay Matvick of Fox Sports Net North. Matvick said the 2005 Twins team will include the majority of the team that won the 2004 American League Central Division championship. He added that the outfield remains intact and the return of Joe Mauer and emergence of Justin Morneau will make the 2005 team very competitive.

"This team is definitely going to be the favorite to win the American League Central division in 2005," Matvick said.

> "This team is definitely going to be the favorite to win the American League Central Division in 2005."
> – Clay Matvik

Matvick introduced a short video that showcased the Twin's accomplishments in 2004 and the organization's expectations for 2005.

Following the video, Matvick introduced the guests, which included Twins radio announcer Dan Gladden, a two-time world series winner with the team in 1987 and 1991. Gladden currently announces all 162 regular season games for the Twins Radio Network.

Matvick next introduced outfielder Lew Ford. Ford did not

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere – email: lacours@rumealtelcast

January is not only National Oatmeal Month, but it is also National Soup Month, and soup is a mighty good thing to have for supper in Minnesota lately.

To cook on top of the stove, simmer for 1 1/2 hours, or to use your slow cooker, cook 8-10 hours on low. Either way, it's a delicious meal to warm your innards:

SUPER CHILI

1 pounds hamburger
1 (46 ounce) can tomato juice
1 (29 ounce) can tomato sauce
1 (15 ounce) can kidney beans, drained and rinsed
1 (15 ounce) can pinto beans, drained and rinsed
1 1/2 cups chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
1/8 teaspoon cayenne pepper
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon oregano
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 teaspoons cumin
1/4 cup chili powder

Brown ground beef, drain and crumble.

Combine all ingredients in large pot or in crockpot. To cook on top of the stove, bring to boil then turn down to simmer. If you want to cook it all day, just put all ingredients in crockpot and cook on low for 8-10 hours.

Serve with a dollop of sour cream and/or grated cheese, with tortilla chips on the side and a big glass of milk to cool things off.

This easy recipe can be ready for eating in less than half an hour. Really peps up tacos or sandwiches:

CHICKEN TORTILLA SOUP

1 can whole kernel corn, drained
2 (15 ounce) cans chicken broth
1 (10 ounce) can chunk chicken (or your own leftover cooked chicken)
1 can black beans
1 (10 ounce) can diced tomatoes with green chiles, drained

Combine all ingredients in pot. Simmer over medium heat until chicken is heated through.

Here's a hearty soup that will make a great meal - and it can be made entirely meatless with vegetable broth, or beefy with a beef broth:

VEGETABLE BARLEY SOUP

2 quarts vegetable broth
1 cup uncooked barley
2 large carrots, chopped
2 stalks celery, chopped
1 (14.5 ounce) can diced tomatoes with juice
1 zucchini, chopped (or any kind of squash)
1 (15 ounce can garbanzo beans, drained
1 onion, chopped
3 bay leaves
1 teaspoon of each of the following: garlic powder sugar salt
parsley
curry powder
paprika
Worcestershire sauce
2 teaspoons pepper

Pour broth into large pot. Add barley, carrots, celery, tomatoes, zucchini, garbanzo beans, onion and bay leaves. Add remaining ingredients, cover and simmer over medium low heat for 90 minutes. Soup will be very thick. You may add more broth or less barley as desired. Remove bay leaves before serving.

Load the slow cooker with this soup and supper will be a breeze tonight:

SAUSAGE AND BARLEY SOUP

1 pound Italian sausage
1/2 cup diced onion
1 tablespoon minced garlic
1/2 teaspoon Italian seasoning
1 (48 ounce) can chicken broth
1 large carrot, sliced
1 (10 ounce) package frozen chopped spinach
1/4 cup uncooked pearl barley

Cook sausage, onion and garlic in skillet over medium heat until sausage is evenly brown. Season with Italian seasoning. Remove from heat and drain.

In slow cooker, combine sausage mixture, broth, carrot, spinach and barley. Cover and cook 4 hours on high or 6-8 hours on low.

Use whatever vegetables you like instead of the mixed vegetables in this cheesy, hearty soup. It will be ready to eat in under an hour:

LITTLE BROWN JUG SOUP

4 cubes chicken bouillon
6 cups water
1 cup chopped celery
1 cup chopped onion
3 cups peeled and cubed potatoes
1 (10 ounce) package frozen mixed vegetables
1 (10 ounce) package frozen chopped broccoli
2 (10 3/4 ounce) cans condensed cream of chicken soup
1 pound processed cheese, cubed (Velveeta or similar)

In large pot, dissolve bouillon cubes in water. Add vegetables, both fresh and frozen, to the pot and simmer 30 minutes, until vegetables are tender.

Stir in cream of chicken soup, then add cheese and mix until melted.

One more oatmeal recipe. These would be a great dessert for any meal. When I worked at the Times, I got some of these cookies from a fellow who makes them in large quantities and gives them away. They were so good, I had to have the recipe. I've given you his measurements in parentheses, just in case you want to treat friends, neighbors and people walking by (it's a big recipe):

Orville's Oatmeal Cookies

1 1/4 cups (2 1/2 cups) flour
1 teaspoon (2 teaspoons) soda
1/4 cup (1/2 cup) white sugar
3/4 cup (1 1/2 cups) packed brown sugar
1 package (2 packages) instant vanilla pudding (or butterscotch is good too)
2 sticks (4 sticks) butter or margarine
2 (4) eggs
1 cup (2 cups) raisins, softened by heating in a little water (I put a half teaspoon of rum in the water - vanilla would be good too)
1 package walnut halves (or as desired)
3 1/2 cups (7 cups) oatmeal

Mix in order given. Bake at 350 for 8-10 minutes. Recipe with 1 1/4 cups flour makes about 70 smaller cookies.

Profit from liquor stores gain in importance

It seems cities with municipal liquor stores are between a rock and a hard place. It wasn't too long ago that cities with municipal liquor stores were being criticized for being profitable. No one, it seems, thought about what happens if those stores didn't turn a profit.

Minnesota State Auditor Pat Anderson recently released a report on the finances of Minnesota's municipal liquor stores. That annual report showed that the number of money-losing stores increased by 41 percent – from 27 cities to 38 cities. Except for northwestern Minnesota, most of the stores reporting losses are located in Greater Minnesota. Anderson also noted that while the number of stores losing money increased, sales increased. That's an odd result, but it's a generality.

Stores in northwest Minnesota did well in 2003. In fact, Anderson said that stores in northwest Minnesota had a "strong" year. The information from that report shows that most of the communities in northwest Minnesota were able to transfer money from their liquor store funds to their general funds.

In the past, critics decried the use of funds from the sale of liquor because it is perceived as the cause of so many problems in society. Increased sales and profits mean more DWIs, more poverty, increased health costs, and much more. Then, profits were criticized because profit was an indication that cities were charging too much to a captive citizenry, and weren't giving entrepreneurs an opportunity to make money. They also criticized profits because it seemed that when there were profits, non-resident customers were in essence, paying-down taxes in a city where they don't reside, and arguably, don't receive any benefit of those taxes. With an increasing number of stores failing to make a profit, however, instead of nodding in knowing agreement, there are new complaints.

In the auditor's report, Anderson reminded the public that Minnesota law requires that those cities that have failed to make a profit in at least two of the last three years hold a public hearing on the future of the liquor store. It appears that some of those communities are not holding those required meetings. It's important to keep track of these things, because as Anderson pointed out, "In cities where municipal liquor stores consistently lose money, citizens may, in essence, be paying taxes to subsidize the sale of alcohol within their community."

Transfers from the liquor store in Thief River Falls to the city's general fund help citizens of Thief River Falls, so what would happen if we didn't have a profit to transfer from the liquor store? Could we raise taxes enough to cover such a loss? In 2003, the city transferred over $250,000 to the general fund from the liquor store. Raising property taxes by one percent only raises about $15,000. It's doubtful that the city could raise enough taxes to cover the loss. I expect that the city could absorb the loss. The example, however, points out the importance of the municipal liquor store.

As local government aid declines and other resources dry up, the municipal liquor store has become an invaluable asset. I wonder if that was anyone's intent.

I would agree with the auditor's office on one comment from that report: Cities should work to maximize profits and ensure efficient operations from their liquor operations. Until then, I suppose liquor stores will be darned if they make a profit, and darned if they don't.

initially make the big league team in 2004. An injury to center fielder Tori Hunter created an opportunity for Ford to prove himself at the big league level. In 2005 he is expected to see time at all three outfield positions as well as DH.

Matvick's final introduction was pitcher Grant Balfour. The Sydney Australia native is expected to pitch in middle relief situations, with some setup duties in 2005.

Once introductions were completed, Matvick asked Gladden what keeps the Twins competitive each year. Gladden responded that it was pitching. Three twins starting pitchers pitched over 200 innings in 2004. Johan Santana, Brad Radke and Carlos Silva each topped 200 innings, while Kyle Lohse struggled at times, but still managed to pitch 194 innings. Gladden noted that only 42 pitchers in all of baseball pitched 200-plus innings.

Matvick then asked Lew Ford what his goals were for the upcoming season. Ford responded that the Twins have one of the better outfields as far as depth defense and hitting are concerned. His main goal is to contribute where he can.

Matvick asked a similar question to Balfour, asking how he fits into the bullpen. Balfour responded that the bullpen is pretty strong and he's glad to be a member of it. Balfour was then asked by Gladden if he would be able to pitch two days in a row. Balfour responded that he had most of his career, until last season's shoulder injury. His shoulder is healthy now and as long as it stays healthy, he should be able to contribute on consecutive days.

Questions were then opened up to the audience. The first question went to Gladden, who was asked what concerns the Twins organization has right now.

"If there is a concern its going to be a young infield," Gladden responded. Gladden continued, saying that experience wise, the infield should be pretty sound, but a lack of playing together is the concern.

Gladden was next asked who will be the backup catcher in 2005. Gladden responded, Mike Redmond, a veteran catcher, who played for the Florida Marlins since coming up to the big leagues in 1998 would be the number two catcher, behind Joe Mauer.

The question was asked if Ford had taken any fielding practice at first base, to help keep his bat in the lineup. Gladden responded before Ford had the chance, saying that he would be the shortest first baseman in baseball.

"He'll probably pitch before he plays first base, Balfour added.

"It's very difficult in the major leagues if you've been playing outfield to come in and try to field balls," Ford responded.

The program concluded with Gladden summarizing why the Twins remain competitive, stating if you look at all the other clubs reporting to spring training, the Twins are the last club to report. For many players of other clubs, the first day of spring training is the first time they've done anything since the end of the previous season. The Twins players are a lot different in that they work out year-round.

THE LYON'S SHARE

Tim Lyon

The comments published in this column are intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. They are written by independent columnists and do not represent the opinion of the staff or management of The Times/Northern Watch.

We're number, er, last!

During the course of a recent hockey travel, I ran into a guy from Babbitt. You know Babbitt, over there in the middle of nowhere, north of Duluth with a reputation for extremely cold weather. Babbitt, it seems, is always near the top of the list for the coldest spots in the nation. This recent arctic blast, for instance, saw that small towns take second place honors for frigidity with a -51-degrees Fahrenheit reading. Embarrass, just a scant few miles down the road was, of course, the cold spot once again at -54-degrees Fahrenheit. Embarrass always seems to be the cold spot. I asked this guy how it felt to be so damn cold in the winter and yet never be able to claim top honors for icy misery- always a bridesmaid and never the bride. Babbitt was, he explained with a resigned slump of the shoulders, the cold spot in the nation on many occasions. Embarrass, however, managed the notoriety because they had a removable thermometer. When bitter winter conditions arrive, Embarrass residents simply carry their thermometer down into the eight-foot deep ditch, where the lowered elevation gives them an extra couple of degrees every time. You could say, he smiled, that they have a screw loose in Embarrass and that's the reason for their fame, or infamy, if you will.

It seems odd, at the outset, to have a community be so competitive about the highest level of misery. My knee jerk reaction is to not want to encourage sympathy from the rest of the world. If I'm the lowest of the low, I certainly don't want you to know. I'll keep that information in the closet with the rest of my skeletons, thank you.

And then I start thinking about the Minnesota existence, in general, and the Embarrass notion of flaunting despair and wretchedness seems far less, well, embarrassing. We revel in our misery here in Minnesota. The painful extremes of life are worth putting on display.

Where else than Minnesota could a team like the Vikings continue to garner such public support? From the unimaginable early Super Bowl losses to AFC upstarts to the dishonor of Hail Mary defeats and Herschel Walker trades to the modern day antics of Randy Moss, there's little question that we embrace extreme public ineptitude.

Or how about our curious relationship with mosquitoes? A blood-sucking, disease-carrying parasite that threatens the very foundations of our Minnesota love affair with the out of doors, and yet we proudly proclaim the insect's size and abundance with bumper stickers and knick-knacks at tourist shops statewide. The way we market our acute mosquito population suggests we regard them more a natural resource than a winged pest.

Or consider the eelpout - an unattractive rough fish that's spawned more childhood nightmares than adult fishing fables. And yet, annually, Walker, takes Leech Lake's overabundance of eelpout and celebrates their existence with tens of thousands of anglers who, on any other weekend, would describe the fish in terms that even a lawyer wouldn't find complimentary.

And if you're still seriously in doubt about our Minnesota need to glorify the most miserable levels of life in the extreme upper Midwest, then you need look no further than lutefisk. Noxious to the nose and even less palatable to the palate, this lye-soaked fish still manages to make its way to positions of gastronomic honor at Christmas and Thanksgiving tables across the state. Perhaps that's how you keep your relatives from coming back next year. Like garlic ropes and vampires. Anyway, I just don't see it. Heck, some churches even put on lutefisk suppers where they make you pay to eat the stuff! That's taking the Catholic notion of suffering a little too far.

So when I first heard about that little burb of Embarrass and how they actually went to such lengths to prove that people there were the coldest, most miserable curs on the Minnesota map, I thought, they must be just a little starved for attention. And then I pondered a little longer and realized that the residents of Embarrass were no different than Minnesotans everywhere else. We like the world to know we're miserable because we like the world to know we're tough. If Embarrass residents want to scramble down into that ditch, then it's their Minnesotan right. And if the residents of Babbitt don't have a ditch that's deep enough to outdo the temps in the Embarrass ditch, then they can find their own personal misery. Who knows, maybe they're actually tough enough in Babbitt to clamber down into a ditch at -51 F. and eat a plate of lutefisk?

No, nobody's got a screw that loose, do they?

Marshall County Central graduate Andy Larson chased down a long rebound for Itasca and headed up the court in front of Northland's Derek Shropshire during Wednesday's Minnesota Community College Conference men's basketball game.

Itasca comeback hands Northland home court loss

There were few close games during the early portion of the 2004-05 Northland Community and Technical College women's basketball schedule. Wins and losses were both mostly one-sided affairs as the Pioneers split 12 nonconference decisions.

All that changed when Northland jumped into Minnesota Community College Conference play this month. The Pioneers are still a .500 team at 8-8 overall and 2-2 in the MCCC, but three of their four Northern Division games have been decided by three points or less. Wednesday it was a 68-65 setback at the hands of Itasca.

This one hurt more than a 67-66 weekend loss at Mesabi Range. Not only did the Pioneers lose a close home game, they let a seven-point halftime lead slip away in the process.

"I thought we played a great first half," said Northland coach Missy Majerus. "Then the wheels fell off. That's kind of the way our season has gone. We started turning it over, and we missed some easy shots."

A rebound basket by Kamae Larson with 1.6 seconds on the clock closed out a final-minute 6-0 first half finish for the Pioneers that gave them a 36-31 edge at intermission.

It was a 40-33 spread on a Tara Blazejewski free throw two minutes into the second half.

Itasca gained the upper hand on the strength of a four-minute 12-0 run that turned a 53-550 deficit into a 62-53 lead when Joslin Geisler connected from the side with 6:35 remaining in the game.

Blazejewski scored on the inside and then hit two free throws as the Pioneers pulled within 62-20 with 1:37 left.

Geisler, a freshman guard from Greenway, then came up with the biggest points of the night by hitting back-to-back baskets from the side for a 66-60 cushion with 39.3 seconds on the clock.

Northland still had a shot when Alisa Costin hit a 3-pointer to make it 67-65 with 6.1 seconds to play.

The Pioneers immediately called a time-out. Unfortunately, they didn't have one to call. That resulted in a technical foul. But when the Vikings made only one of three free throws (1-for-2 on the technical and 0-for-2 on the ensuing possession), a rebound with 5.4 seconds remaining gave Northland a final hurried shot at tie. The 3-pointer beat the buzzer, but missed the mark.

Blazejewski scored 16 points, Chesley Fering 13, Ashley Kujawa 12 and Larson 10. Kari Virkus, a 6-0 freshman center from Grand Rapids, led the Vikings with 23 points. Geisler had 15 and Jessica Nelson 10.

Northland shot only 29 percent from the field (20/68), while Itasca shot 48 percent (26/54). The Pioneers were 19-for-26 at the free throw line; the Vikings went 15-for-21. Itasca, 3-0 in the Northern Division, overcame 32 turnovers by out-rebounding Northland 45-31. The Pioneers turned it over 20 times.

First half burst leads to 79-63 win...

Howard jump-starts Northland's offense

A first half offensive show by Mike Howard carried Northland to a 79-63 Wednesday Minnesota Community College Conference men's basketball win over Itasca.

Howard, a 6-5 sophomore forward from Grand Forks, N.D., scored 15 points in a 6-minute, 17-second blitz that provided the Pioneers with a 30-15 cushion midway through the first half of the midweek match-up. He had 19 points when the team left the floor at halftime and finished with 26 as Northland improved to 3-1 in the Northern Division, 11-6 overall.

"That's as good a half by an individual player as I've seen in a long time," said Northland coach Rick Nikunen, obviously impressed with Howard's early-game performance. "He gets in that zone. He has days like that in practice when nobody wants to guard him."

Howard didn't score the first three minutes of the game. But once he tasted net, there was no stopping the MCCC all-stater. His explosion started with a short turnaround jumper for a 10-7 Northland lead 3:12 into the contest and ended with a basket from underneath that made it 30-15 with 10:31 remaining in the opening half.

When Howard and the Pioneers finally cooled off, the Vikings made a run that made it a 36-30 game on a Josh Quick 3-pointer with 3:24 left in the half.

But Howard connected from the side, Matt Largis nailed a 3-point shot from the corner and Howard made two free throws as the Pioneers regained control and went into the half with a 43-33 advantage.

If Itasca mustered up comeback dreams during intermission, they were shattered when Jason Koch opened the second half with a 3-pointer, Howard hit from the field, and after a Jake Freeman drive for the Vikings, Cyrin Shaffer put another trey into the Northland books for a 51-35 difference.

Playing in streaks is nothing new for the 2004-05 Pioneers, admitted Nikunen. "That's kind of been the story of our season," he said. "We play so well, get a lead, then let up. But I think the kids are learning. They're starting to become a little more consistent."

Shaffer added 16 points to the Northland offense, while Juwaun Bowman had 11 and Koch 10.

The 4-13 Vikings, who fell to 0-3 in the Northern Division, were led by Jake Freeman, a 6-6 sophomore from Cambridge, with 13 points. Bemidji product Chris Appicelli netted 11 and Marshall County Central graduate Andy had 10.

Northland shot 42 percent from the field (29/69) and went 15-for-23 at the free throw line.

Biggest problem for the Vikings, outside of the fact they couldn't stop Howard during that first half run, was a 32 percent 23-for-72 shooting night. The visitors were 11-for-18 at the line.

The other statistical categories were pretty even, with Itasca owning a 45-41 rebound edge while topping the turnover charts 17-16.

Northland guard Kelly Dunnigan passed the ball off while being guarded by Jessica Nelson of Itasca during women's college basketball action in Thief River Falls Wednesday.

Alisa Costin named NJCAA player/week

Alisa Costin, a freshman guard on the Northland Community and Technical College women's basketball team, was recently named National Junior College Athletic Association Division III player of the week.

The Kittson Central product is one of the few Pioneers to ever earn the NJCAA honor, noted Northland officials.

Costin was honored for her efforts in games Jan. 11-14. She had 21 points, four assist and a steal in a 65-64 win over Rainy River; 20 points, three assists and three steals in a 75-55 victory over Vermilion; 10 points, four assists and two steals in a 67-66 loss to Mesabi Range.

Pirates get by TRF upset bid, 72-66

Thief River Falls boys high school basketball coach Chris McLean was quick to lay the blame for the Prowlers' late-game mistakes that cost them a chance to pull off a major upset Thursday against once-beaten Crookston. He pointed the finger at himself after watching a 63-60 lead with two minutes remaining turn into a 72-66 loss.

Matt Stuckey scored from underneath, then Alex Yaggie hit an open 3-pointer and finished off a fast break as the Prowlers overcame a 60-56 deficit to take that three-point edge.

But it took mere seconds for the Pirates to answer the second Yaggie basket, and McLean promptly called a time out. He thought it best to try to settle things down; let an inexperienced team regroup against a talented, senior-dominated opponent.

Instead, the break enabled Crookston to reset its defense. When play resumed, three straight Thief River Falls turnovers were converted into a fast break lay-up by Kenley Wahlin, a 3-pointer by Jake Coanette and a short jumper from the side by Coanette as the 14-1 Pirates went ahead 68-63 with a minute to play.

"Never call a time-out when you've got the lead," offered McLean in a way of self-criticism. "We have a young team, and I thought I was protecting them by calling the time-out. But all I did was give Crookston a chance to get into their trap defense. Without the time-outs, they would have had to stay in man-to-man."

Half of the Prowlers' 20 turnovers came in the fourth quarter, and four of those occurred in the final two minutes.

Thief River Falls, after being weathered out of three straight starts, fell to 5-7. But the Prowlers challenged the Pirates from start to finish. Crookston had a 23-18 first quarter lead and a 39-35 edge at the half before falling behind 56-53 in the third quarter.

Kenley Wahlin, a 6-2 senior, had a 30-point night for the Pirates, who got 13-point games from Andy Hughes and Coanette. Sidelined two weeks by a knee injury, Stuckey made an impressive return to the line-up by scoring 24 points, with 17 of those coming in the first half. Paul Sjoberg contributed 14 points and Yaggie had 10.

Thief River Falls lost despite shooting 60 percent from the field (28/47). The Prowlers were 7-for-14 at the free throw line. Crookston shot 45 percent from the floor (30/67) and had a 7-for-9 free throw game. The Prowlers finished with a 24-23 rebound edge. The Pirates turned it over 11 times.

"We did a lot of good things," noted McLean, "but we're not going to win many games giving up 72 points."

It was the first half of a Thief River Falls vs. Crookston boys/girls twinbill hosted by the Prowlers.

Tuesday TRF schedule affected by snow/wind

Another round of weather-related schedule changes hit the Thief River Falls boys and girls high school sports programs Tuesday.

The snow and high winds that day forced the Prowlers to call off boys hockey at East Grand Forks, girls hockey at Moorhead, boys and girls basketball at Roseau, wrestling vs. Park Rapids Area and New York Mills at Park Rapids and boys swimming at home vs. Bemidji.

Those changes came on the heels of wholesale postponements and cancelations the previous Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

TRF Sports Schedule Changes

■ Double dual wrestling meet vs. Park Rapids Area and New York Mills was turned into a Thursday dual at New York Mills.

■ A Thursday, Jan. 27, wrestling double dual vs. Detroit Lakes and Fosston/Bagley in Thief River Falls became a quadrangular with the addition of Hibbing.

■ Boys hockey at East Grand Forks was put back on the schedule for Monday, Jan. 31.

■ Boys and girls basketball doubleheader at Roseau will be made up on separate nights. Thief River Falls girls will go to Roseau Thursday, Feb. 3. The Prowler boys will play at Roseau Saturday, Feb. 5.

■ Boys swimming vs. Bemidji was moved to Tuesday, Feb. 8, when it will be added to an already-scheduled Thief River Falls home meet vs. Moorhead for a double-dual outing.

■ Girls hockey games against Bemidji and Moorhead will not be rescheduled.

New York Mills is winner over TRF wrestlers

It wasn't a great homecoming for Thief River Falls head high school wrestling coach Kenny Geiser. His Prowlers lost a 39-28 dual decision at New York Mills Thursday in Geiser's first return to his home town gym as a coach.

The setback dropped the Prowlers to 5-5.

A Thief River Falls highlight, pointed out Geiser, was a 12-11 Jordan Engen win at 103 pounds over Jesse Bauck – a wrestler who had beaten Engen twice earlier this season.

Latest Class AA state rankings listed the Prowlers' Dan LeDuc No. 4 at 152; Zach Anderson No. 5 at 140; and Andrew Peralta No. 6 at heavyweight.

Crookston zone shuts down Prowler offense

Early Thief River Falls offensive success prompted Crookston to make a change on defense. The switch from man-to-man to a zone made a huge difference as the Pirates went on a 22-0 run en route to a one-sided 61-27 win in the girls' portion of Thursday's high school basketball doubleheader hosted by the Prowlers.

Short jumpers by Becca Larson and Kristi Joppru, along with baskets on the inside by Casey Engelstad and Joppru, produced an 8-3 Thief River Falls lead five minutes into the contest. That's when Crookston made the switch. The Pirates out-scored the Prowlers 26-2 to the half for a 29-10 intermission cushion. It was 48-18 through three quarters.

Forced to operate from the outside, Thief River Falls struggled through a 21 percent 12-for-58 shooting performance.

"They went to zone, and we froze up offensively," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Jeff Loe. "We just don't see it (zone) very often, and we didn't react very well."

Freshman guard Kamille Wahlin scored 19 points to lead the 10-5 Pirates. The 6-8 Prowlers did not have a double figure scorer.

"They have a good team," acknowledged Loe. "They've got good athletes. They put five-six kids on the floor who can run and shoot."

Crookston got a fair number of lay-ups off 26 Thief River Falls turnovers and shot 46 percent from the field (26/56). The Pirates were 7-for-13 at the free throw line, where the Prowlers had a 2-for-3 night. The winners finished with a 39-24 rebound advantage and turned it over 16 times.

Tradewell, Patriots defeat RLCC 43-38

Melissa Tradewell scored 14 of her game-high 24 points in the second quarter to lead Win-E-Mac past Red Lake County Central 43-38 Thursday in girls high school basketball.

The Mustangs led 9-3 after one quarter, but trailed 22-16 at halftime.

Trailing 32-26, Red Lake County Central was at the free throw line for a bonus opportunity with five seconds left in the third quarter. But instead of making it four-point game, the Mustangs missed the first shot, then watched the Patriots' Lisa Buchholz hit her only basket of the night – a 3-pointer at the buzzer – to make it a nine-point gap.

"That one broke our back," said Red Lake County Central coach Rick Koivisto. "Instead of it being a four-point game; we're down nine."

Red Lake County Central shot 33 percent from the field (13/40). The 6-9 Mustangs were 11-for-13 at the free throw line. Win-E-Mac shot 44 percent from the floor (18/41) and went 4-for-6 at the line. Rebounds were even at 23-apiece and the two teams split 38 turnovers down the middle.

Prowlers post 7-2 boys hockey win over Panthers

Michael Forney scored four goals and Alec Holen came up with a five-point night with a goal and four assists as Thief River Falls beat Park Rapids Area/Menahga/Nevis 7-2 in boys high school hockey.

The 9-5-1 Prowlers out-shot the visitors 60-18.

"We did a lot of good things offensively," said Thief River Falls coach Scott Bergland. "We maybe didn't finish as well as we would like, but a lot of that had to do with their goalie – he played well."

mended the public hearing, asked whether Wal-Mart was asking for any concessions from the city, such as utilities.

"No, we are not asking for any concessions," Winter said. (Wal-Mart has already asked for street improvements along Nelson Drive east of Sherwood Avenue, according to information provided to City Council. The company is willing to be invoiced for the improvements.)

Carlson also asked about the capacity of two retention ponds, which will be created at the site for stormwater runoff.

The ponds are designed as dry ponds to handle a 100-year storm event, said Morris of Olsson Associates of Edina. Noting they would be maintained and not become a wetlands area, he added the ponds would empty in 24 to 48 hours.

Public Works Director Ron Lindberg said the city engineer, Pennington County Soil and Water Conservation District and Minnesota Department of Transportation determined that Wal-Mart "would not adversely affect storm sewers" in that area.

Carlson was among several government leaders attending the public hearing. Mayor Dale Weinberg and City Council members Terry BlackLance, Elvera Cullen, Ken Schmalz and Harriet Wurker attended the meeting. City Council member Conrad Holten, who is a member of the Planning Commission, also attended. The mayor and council members did not speak at the public hearing.

Yet, some residents spoke. One resident voiced her concerns about truck access. "Will the truck traffic be going all night long?" asked Elaine Gravum, who lives near the proposed Wal-Mart site.

Trucks would access the store via Nelson Drive, Morris said. The majority of customers would use Highway 59 to get to Wal-Mart.

Trucks will make deliveries when employees are in the store, said Winter, who added that delivery times may change due to snowstorms or the Christmas season. She estimated 25 trucks would make deliveries each week as opposed to 300 since most of Wal-Mart's merchandise comes from the Wal-Mart Distribution Center.

Buffers around the property also seemed to be a concern for residents. Gravum asked what types of trees would serve as buffers and be planted at the site.

In addition to an existing grove of trees, Morris said that evergreens and some deciduous trees would be planted. A two- to three-foot retaining wall would be constructed to help the existing trees.

"I'm wondering what kind of lighting you'll have at the back of the store," said Dianne Kays, another neighbor of the proposed Wal-Mart site.

Truck dock lights will be shielded from neighbors as a result of landscaping and the type of lights the company uses, Morris said. He compared the lighting to city streetlights, but said the lights would be brighter in front of the store and in the parking area.

Besides having the opportunity to attend the public hearing, residents were able to send written comments before the hearing. Community Development Director Mike Moore said he did not receive any written comments about the proposed Wal-Mart. However, he noted someone sent him a copy of a Jan. 15 Grand Forks, N.D., Herald article in which Wal-Mart rebutted negative claims unions made about the company. Moore said the unidentified sender was in favor of Wal-Mart.

More meetings will be held about the proposed Wal-Mart site. The property, which is larger than 31 acres, is zoned agricultural. Due to the zoning of the property, the matter would again have to go before the Planning Commission prior to the issuance of a building permit.

And Wal-Mart has yet to buy the property from the Barnicks. The company has not yet closed on the property, Winter said.

The Planning Commission unanimously approved the preliminary plat. Members Kermit Genereux, Dave Onkka, Rick Reierson and Dick Sjoberg were absent.

This was the second time the Planning Commission attempted to hold a public hearing about the preliminary plat. On Tuesday, a public hearing about the plat was rescheduled after Wal-Mart representatives were not able to attend. About 20 people had gathered for the meeting when they learned it had been rescheduled.

TRF man faces sex charge and other charges

A Thief River Falls man is facing charges after allegedly tapping on windows and making suggestive comments to residents. He is also facing charges for allegedly having sexual intercourse with a female under the age of 16. More charges may be pending, according to the Thief River Falls Police Department.

Nicholas Donald Aune, 27, Thief River Falls, has been charged with third degree criminal sexual conduct, disorderly conduct, interfering with privacy, and trespassing.

The criminal sexual conduct charge stems from an incident in November 2003, according to the criminal complaint. At that time, Aune allegedly inappropriately touched and had sexual intercourse with a female under the age of 16 at C'Mon Inn in Thief River Falls. That charge was filed after an investigation into other unrelated charges.

The disorderly conduct charge stems from an incident in the 1200 block of Edgewood Dr. in Thief River Falls. Aune, who was wearing dark clothing and a face mask, allegedly tapped on a window of a residence. The criminal complaint alleges he then made a suggestive comment to the resident and left.

The interfering with privacy charge stems from an incident in the 2000 block of Greenwood St. E. in Thief River Falls. Aune allegedly knocked on a window. When the resident looked outside, she found he had allegedly exposed himself. Aune, who was wearing dark clothing and a face mask, allegedly made a suggestive comment to the resident, masturbated and left.

After an investigation, a search warrant was executed at Aune's residence in the 900 block of Reserve Ave. in Thief River Falls. Black clothing and a black face mask were allegedly found there.

According to the criminal complaint for the privacy charge, Aune has a 1998 conviction for harassment/stalking in Stearns County.

Aune has also been charged with trespassing for a Dec. 28 incident in the 1200 block of Stephen St. in Thief River Falls. He had allegedly been in the residence without permission.

TRF looks at plat for Wal-Mart site

by April Scheinohn
Reporter

The Thief River Falls City Council has unanimously approved a preliminary plat for a proposed Wal-Mart store. The approval, which was granted at the Tuesday council meeting, comes on the heels of a Jan. 20 recommendation from the Planning Commission.

This summer, Wal-Mart is planning to build a 155,000-square-foot SuperCenter that sells clothing, food and other merchandise. Plans also call for the store, which will face Highway 59 Southeast, to have tire lube express service and an indoor and outdoor garden center. A Murphy Oil Corp. gas station is also planned for the site.

Another parcel would be for sale, said Jered Morris, Wal-Mart representative, to council members and about 10 residents at the meeting. He noted that the parcel may be used for a bank, fast-food restaurant or sit-down restaurant.

The proposed site is located along Nelson Drive, east of Pizza Hut and behind Speed's Automotive Service. The property, which is more than 31 acres, is agriculturally-zoned. It is owned by Anne and Jake Barnick.

Council members approved the preliminary plat contingent upon a primary entrance being approved and accepted, among other things. That Highway 59 Southeast entrance may be near the south entrance of Dakota Clinic or on the southside of Pizza Hut where Greenwood Street may be relocated. Future meetings will be held regarding such things as zoning, the final plat and a conditional use permit.

Hearings may also be needed about potential assessments related to the site, including storm sewer and street improvements. Wal-Mart has already asked for improvements to Nelson Drive from Highway 59 to Steven's Drive. The company has agreed to be invoiced for the cost.

Street and storm sewer improvements are estimated at $179,000, according to information provided to the council. Of that amount, $44,000 is the estimate for storm sewer improvements. It is estimated that Wal-Mart would be invoiced for $171,000 of the proposed cost. Nearby property owners may be assessed an estimated $8,000.

"To be flat honest, we just started discussion on the storm sewer issue and how that would be paid," said Morris, who admitted Wal-Mart

City panel finds pool costs are pricey, seeks more info

Warren - At a fairly short Warren City Council meeting Tuesday night, topics included the high cost of replacing the current pool and longer-range planning for streets, parks and the airport.

Oeb Myrfield, Public Works Committee chairperson, reported on several matters discussed at the committee's last meeting. One matter that has concerned the committee and its preceding committee, Pool, Parks and Recreation, for several months, is repair or replacement of the present Holiday Pool.

Myrfield said cost estimate information provided by a pool consultant is not encouraging. A cost of $1 million for a new pool with full-service bathhouse would not be an accurate estimate. She indicated she and the committee were suffering from sticker shock. Before doing much with cost estimates it has been given, the committee wants to pursue cost information for a splash park, in lieu of a pool, and study ways of cutting the cost of a new pool, such as a less elaborate bathhouse.

Myrfield also requested Clerk/Treasurer Bob Brooks to develop three- to five-year financing plans for pool replacement. Brooks said he would have the plans ready by March 8. - Warren Sheaf, Jan. 26, 2005

DNR locates S.D. cougar in northwest Minnesota

Karlstad - You saw a mountain lion in Kittson County, yeah right...

For once, a sighting of a cougar in this part of the nation rang true when Oepartment of Natural Resources officials located a mountain lion in Kittson County this past December.

Oonovan Pietruszewski, Karlstad area wildlife manager, said they received reports of unofficial sightings of the cougar prior to locating it 30 miles south of Karlstad Oec. 21.

The cougar was fitted with a radio collar late last winter in the Black Hills of South Oakota. The animal is part of a long-term research study being conducted by South Oakota State University. - Kittson County Enterprise, Jan. 26, 2005, by Cindy Stewart

State mandates threaten GMR electives

Greenbush

Greenbush/Middle River Principal Eldon Sparby informed school board members, at the Jan. 24 meeting, that the state mandate that will require students to take 3-1/2 credits of social studies will make it very difficult for the district to continue the music program as it now exists.

Sparby said the faculty remains committed to block scheduling and opposes an eight-period day with 45-minute classes.

An eight-period day is one consideration that would permit students to schedule both band and chorus. - New River Record of Middle River/Newfolden, Jan. 26, 2005

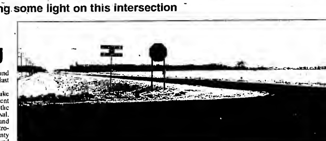
NCTC students pass by the library on the way to their next destination. NCTC's total enrollment for the spring semester 2005 is 3,322, a 63-student increase compared to enrollment at this time in 2004.

Enrollment at NCTC grows

On Jan. 21, Northland Community and Technical College's Provost and Chief Academic Officer Kent Hanson announced a total spring semester enrollment of 3,322 students, the largest spring semester enrollment in the college's combined two-year history.

The announcement came 10 days into the semester and marked a 63-student increase over enrollment at this time in 2004. Of the students taking classes at NCTC this spring, 1,647 are enrolled at the Thief River Falls campus and 1,574 are enrolled at the East Grand Forks campus. An additional 101 students are enrolled through distance education courses at NCTC. There are 1,945 students enrolled full-time, and 1,377 students are taking classes on a part-time basis.

Enrollment numbers are expected to increase with additional registrations of students in the Farm Business Management, Small Business Management and Specialty Crops programs.



Hanson was positive about the total enrollment increase. "We are continuing to come together and grow as a college," said Hanson. "This will be the second year of our two-campus merger; as we align programs and departments, we are able to increase access and services to students."

He added, "Northland continues to offer quality instruction and training opportunities at an affordable cost and in various schedules and formats. Our continued enrollment increases reflect our ability to work with students and serve their needs."

Last fall, NCTC announced the implementation of nine new or expanded degree programs to be offered between the two campuses.

Shedding some light on this intersection

Starting this summer, streetlights will luminate the intersection of U.S. Highway 59 and CSAH 3, seen above. Three government entities, Mn/DOT, Pennington County and Red Lake Nation, have teamed up to complete the project.

Partners agree on intersection lighting

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

At the Oec. 28 Pennington County Board of Commissioners meeting, County Engineer Mike Flaagen introduced a proposal for a three-way partnership to light the intersectian of U.S. Highway 59 and Pennington County State Aid Highway 3 (CSAH 3), west of Seven Clans Casino.

The praposed plan called for the Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) to provide all four streetlighting poles, luminaries and expertise; Pennington County would be in charge of installation work and associated funding; and Red Lake Nation would be responsible for operating cost and maintenance.

The U.S. 59-CSAH 3 intersection had been a topic of discussion for several years before the current agreement was reached. Discussions on how to improve the intersection were rekindled after meetings between officials from Mn/OOT and Red Lake Nation were held last year.

Roger Hedd of the Red Lake Nation Economic Oevelopment Office contacted Flaagen about the U.S. 59-CSAH 3 lighting proposal. After meeting with Hedd and Mn/OOT officials, Flaagen introduced the proposal ta the county board. After receiving board approval, Flaagen sent a letter ta Mn/OOT, formally requesting the lighting project.

Mn/DOT cansiders only one factor when determining whether a given intersection should be luminated: crashes. Monty Eidem, Oistrict Two traffic engineer for Mn/OOT, stated that nine or more nighttime crashes over a three-year period are required for Mn/DOT to fund a lighting project like the U.S. 59-CSAH 3 intersection.

Because of limited funding, Mn/DOT feels the need to prioritize which projects it funds. Eidem said that only three nighttime crashes occurred over the three-year study period for the U.S. 59-CSAH 3 intersection, but other intersections with similar traffic volumes to U.S. 59-CSAH 3 have received partial funding in some situations.

"The reason for such thresholds is to establish priorities for safety improvements due to limited available funding," Eidem said. "This particular intersection had three nighttime crashes total for the three year period; therefore, we could not initiate such a project. Incidently, we have been aware of the increased traffic volumes at the intersection due to the casino, which resulted in the addition of left and right turn lanes about three years ago."

"As part of a partnership approach, this district has set-aside some unused signal-lighting upgrade and maintenance funds in order to purchase street lighting poles and luminaries," Eidem said. "Within reason, we have been providing poles, luminaries, and the expertise for such an improvement with the local governmental agencies involved having responsibility for the installation, maintenance, and power costs."

Salvation Army thankful for continued support

by David Hill
Editor

Donations during the Salvation Army's Red Kettle drive during the holidays were down in Thief River Falls, but not by much.

Pennington County Volunteer Committee Chairperson Shannon Olson said the local unit reported receiving about $8,500 during the Red Kettle drive. "This is down a little from last year, but like everything else, donations seem to go up and down depending upon whether a disaster affects us here or not."

Olson said she is always thankful for everything that is donated to the Salvation Army. "All of the donations will be used," she said. "All of the donations made to the Salvation Army last year were used, too."

Dave Carlson of the local chapter of the Salvation Army said he has to believe that anytime the local chapter gets between $8,000 and $10,000 for this event, they're doing real good. He said he thought the organization had collected about $8,500 during the event, too, but said he had just received another $500 that would bring the total up to about $9,000.

Once again, Pennington County's Red Kettle fund drive was led entirely by volunteers. No one is paid to ring bells and collect money at the kettles.

Olson said she was happy with the volunteers. "They did a good job," she said.

Olson relies heavily on local civic organizations, like the American Legion and Auxiliary, and many other organizations. From past experience, representatives serving on the local Salvation Army board know that kettles, manned by a volunteer ringing a bell, brings in more donations than an unmanned kettle. The volunteer is highly valued in Pennington County.

Although, several small, unmanned kettles were distributed throughout the community and this year, they seemed to do quite well.

Carlson said the little kettles are usually good in only a couple of places. He said that this year, he was really impressed. Every kettle had money in it, and checks in some instances.

On the other hand, demand for assistance is high right now. Carlson, who works at the Pennington County Law Enforcement Center where many people who are seeking assistance can find help, said requests have

Lurking winter dangers await pets

by April Scheinohn
Reporter

Winter may be dangerous for humans, but it's also dangerous for pets.

"If it's too cold for us to be out, it's too cold for cats and dogs to be out there," said Dawn Williamson, operations manager of the Pennington County Humane Society.

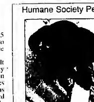
"People have to use common sense," said Tim Miller, animal control officer with the Thief River Falls Police Department. Miller noted he gets phone calls about huskies or other types of sled dogs, as well as Akitas, St. Bernards and elkhounds, being outside this time of year. He reminded residents that those dogs can be outside in cold, snowy conditions since they were raised for that weather.

However, short-haired pets belong indoors during the winter, Miller said.

By Minnesota law, Miller noted, pets are required to have a three-sided, roofed shelter. He added that they are also required to have food and water, not snow or ice.

Pets who are outdoors this winter may get hypothermia, frostbite or other injuries common to humans this time of year, Williamson said. In the event of such an injury, she reminded pet owners to take their pets to veterinarians.

Wintertime may also lead to other problems. During the winter, the police department sees more pets at the police animal pound and receives more calls about animal abuse, Miller said.



The Humane Society also has more animals at its shelter in the winter, and space is limited. Williamson has received 10 to 15 calls per day from people wanting to drop off their pets at the shelter, she said.

Part of that increase is the result of people getting rid of pets they received for Christmas. Even though the Humane Society does not allow people to adopt pets as Christmas gifts, Williamson noted many people go to pet stores to do just that. A month or more later, the pets are dropped off at the shelter.

SOUPÇON

It's still winter, and we still need those cozy foods that keep us cozy and warm.

This recipe is easy to fix in the crockpot and makes some mighty tasty, just a little different, barbecues:

BARBECUE SANDWICHES
1 (2 pound) beef roast
15 ounces tomato sauce
3/4 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1/4 cup ketchup
1 tablespoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of Tabasco sauce
1 tablespoon pickling spice (tie in cheesecloth "bag")

Trim most of fat. Place in bottom of crockpot.

Combine tomato sauce, onion, green pepper, brown sugar, Worcestershire, ketchup, mustard, salt and Tabasco sauce. Pour over roast. Place spice bag into crockpot. Cover and cook on low for 10-12 hours.

When roast is very tender, remove and chill. Cook sauce down, adding flour and water mixture to thicken as desired. Slice roast against grain and add it back to the sauce. Serve on hard rolls.

Here's one more oatmeal recipe to top off the month of January. It's filled with delicious things and warm and tasty, just right for a cold morning:

COZY OATMEAL
2 cups water
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup quick cooking oats
2/3 cup shredded apple
1/3 cup raisins
2 tablespoons pure maple syrup
2 tablespoons chopped walnuts
Butter (optional)

In a 2-quart saucepan, combine water, cinnamon and salt. Bring to a boil over medium high heat. Add oats and cook 3 minutes.

Stir in apple, raisins, 1 tablespoon syrup and 1 tablespoon walnuts. Cook 5 minutes more.

Divide oatmeal between 2 serving bowls. Drizzle each with remaining syrup and nuts. Garnish with butter, if desired.

Each serving, without butter, contains 9 g protein, 7 g fat, 65 g carbs, 7 g fiber, 274 mg sodium, 0 chol and 346 calories.

Still time for one more soup to celebrate January Soup month. This is a light soup that is as good for you as it tastes:

FISH AND TOMATO SOUP
1 tablespoon olive oil
1 teaspoon finely chopped garlic
1 cup (2 stalks) celery, coarsely chopped
1/2 cup (1 medium) onion, coarsely chopped
1 tablespoon chopped fresh parsley (or less dried)
1 dried bay leaf
2 (28 ounces each) cans Italian style plum tomatoes, undrained
2 (14 ounces each) cans vegetable or chicken broth
1 cup dry white wine or vegetable broth
1 1/2 pounds assorted fish fillets (bass, cod, haddock, ocean perch or red snapper), cut into 2 inch pieces
1-1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Grated lemon peel, if desired

Heat oil in Dutch oven over medium heat. Cook garlic, celery, onion, parsley and bay leaf in oil for 5-6 minutes, stirring frequently, until celery is crisp-tender.

Stir in tomatoes, broth and wine. Heat to boiling over high heat, then reduce heat to medium low. Cover and simmer 20 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Stir in fish, salt and pepper. Cover and simmer 8-10 minutes or until fish flakes easily with a fork. Remove bay leaf. Top soup with lemon peel, if desired.]

Recipe serves 8 with 1 1/2 cups each. Each serving contains 165 calories, 45 mg chol, 1300 mg sodium, 12 g carb, 18 g protein. Dietary exchange is 2 vegetable, 2 very lean meat, 1 fat, with carb choice 1.

Make a bread in your bread machine to go with the soup:

CHEDDAR BREAD
1-3/4 cup milk
2 tablespoons oil
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
2 teaspoons honey mustard
3 1/2 cups bread flour
1 cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
1 1/2 teaspoons dry yeast or active dry yeast

Follow manufacturer's directions to place ingredients in bread machine. Select basic/white cycle. Do not use delay cycle. Makes 1 (12 slice) loaf. Each slice contains 22 calories, with 60 calories from fat, 10 mg chol, 270 mg sodium, 8 g protein, with Dietary Exchanges of 2 starch and 1 fat or 2 carbs, 1 fat.

Sen. Stumpf schedules town meetings in February

State Sen. LeRoy Stumpf (DFL-Plummer) has scheduled seven town meetings throughout Senate District 1 in February. The meetings provide area residents an opportunity to discuss Gov. Tim Pawlenty's proposal to balance the budget and other issues facing the Legislature in 2005.

The town meetings are set for Feb. 4, 5 and 12. Stumpf will be joined by Rep. Bernie Lieder (DFL-Crookston) at meetings in Warren, East Grand Forks, Oklee and Crookston. Other town meetings are set for Thief River Falls, Roseau and Hallock.

"These meetings come shortly after Governor Pawlenty unveils his two-year budget proposal to eliminate another projected deficit," said Stumpf. "We want to hear ideas for budget solutions from our constituents, as well as discussion of other key issues facing the Legislature this year."

Stumpf's town meeting schedule includes:

Erskine deaths ruled homicide, suicide

A provisionary autopsy report has ruled the deaths of two people Sunday in rural Erskine as a homicide and suicide, according to a news release from the Polk County Attorney's Office.

Dr. Michael B. McGee, Ramsey County medical examiner, listed the death of Tina Lynn Gerving, 39, McIntosh, as a homicide. The death of David Allen DeFrang, 44, Erskine, was ruled a suicide.

In a press release, Polk County Attorney Greg Widseth did not note how Gerving and DeFrang died. The press release also stated his office and other law enforcement agencies would not be making any further public comments regarding the investigation at this time.

Polk County sheriff's deputies found the bodies of Gerving and DeFrang inside a rural Erskine home Sunday after being asked to conduct a general welfare check there. McGee performed the autopsies a day later.

A final autopsy report will be completed and forwarded to law enforcement once the Ramsey County Medical Examiner's Office has completed its forensic investigation and analysis. That office anticipates the investigation and analysis may take several weeks.

While the Polk County Attorney's Office does not anticipate any criminal charges resulting from this investigation, law enforcement authorities continue to compile information regarding this case. The County Attorney's Office will review that information once the investigation is completed.

Don't be a victim of identity theft

Don't give strangers personal information, like passwords on credit cards, Social Security numbers, bank or phone account numbers, and please report stolen credit cards as soon as you realize they are gone.

Law enforcement officials, banks and financial resource centers make this same plea several times a year. Despite the media coverage and the pleas, millions of people become victims of identity theft every year.

A survey conducted by the Identity Theft Resource Center in 2003 reported that over seven million Americans were victims of identity theft last year. Cleaning up the mess thieves make on your good name and credit record, they report, can take months or years and cost you lots of your hard-earned money. According to the same study, fraudulent charges now average more than $90,000 per name used.

Don't believe it won't happen here in rural Minnesota. It has happened, and could happen to you if you don't take precautions.

TRF approves plat for Wal-Mart site

would benefit most from the storm sewer.

Public Works Director Ron Lindberg noted two properties have frontage near the proposed storm sewer on Nelson Drive and could be assessed.

Even though some decisions have yet to be made, it has been determined how people will access the site. Wal-Mart will be accessed via Nelson Drive and Highway 59 Southeast. "In addition, we're proposing our truck route to go onto Nelson Drive," said Morris, who is employed by engineering firm Olsson Associates of Edina.

Truck traffic seemed to be a concern among several people attending the meeting. "I do see traffic issues there," said council member Harriet Worker, who referred to possible traffic congestion due to Wal-Mart trucks trying to turn left from Nelson Drive onto Highway 59 Southeast.

"There is some traffic volume, of course," said Morris, who noted Wal-Mart representatives, city leaders and Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) officials had to find the best solution for the traffic situation.

Traffic control signals would lead to gaps in traffic, allowing trucks to turn left, said Brent Feller, another Wal-Mart representative employed by Olsson Associates of Edina.

Where to put those stoplights and how to pay for them has yet to be determined, Lindberg said. It has been a goal to have traffic control signals on that section of Highway 59.

Dave Grovum, who lives near the proposed Wal-Mart site, asked whether truck access could be moved to the building's southside instead of looping it around the building.

"It's simply not efficient on this site or another site going through the core of where customer parking is located," Morris replied. He added that pedestrians would be walking in the parking lot, which could cause potential problems with trucks entering the parking lot.

Concerns were also voiced about the number of trucks entering the Wal-Mart site. "Realistically, out of these sites, I don't believe they have eight to 10 trucks a day, if that," said Morris, who noted a 155,000-square-foot store may even see less delivery trucks.

Elaine Grovum, a neighbor of the proposed Wal-Mart site, countered another Wal-Mart representative had said, at a Jan. 20 Planning Commission meeting, that about 30 trucks per week would make deliveries at the store.

"The most they could have in one day is in the eight to 10 range, but I expect it would be lower than that," Morris said about the number of trucks.

Besides asking about the number of deliveries, Elaine Grovum asked about delivery times and store hours.

Morris responded that he was not sure about delivery times or store hours. However, he said that would be discussed at a meeting about Wal-Mart's request for a conditional use permit.

More discussions will also be needed about a frontage road near the proposed store. Wal-Mart proposes to eliminate portions of the existing frontage road and locate it farther north, Morris said.

City leaders and Wal-Mart representatives have yet to talk about the frontage road with Mn/DOT, Lindberg said. However, he added, Wal-Mart would be responsible for the cost of the frontage road.

One neighbor seemed surprised about the frontage road. Bonnie Ornquist, co-owner of Speed's Automotive Service, said she had not heard about a potential change in the frontage road. She added that her business currently does not have much room for parking.

Another neighbor, Elaine Grovum, asked council members which 155,000-square-feet of existing businesses the council sees the city losing after Wal-Mart opens its store. Noting that she did not know if she would receive an answer Tuesday night, she said that she wished the council would answer that question at some time. She also asked whether Wal-Mart would contribute anything to those businesses. Wal-Mart representatives and council members did not answer her.

With all members in attendance, the council unanimously approved the preliminary plat.

been fairly steady. That's typical for this time of year, and he expects demand to be high until the end of January. Carlson said he believes it's a combination of the cold weather and a backlash from the holidays that causes many people to find themselves a little short. And, he said, these people are seeking assistance for basic needs sorts of things, like gas, utility assistance, and groceries.

This makes Olson, Carlson and the other volunteer Salvation Army board members thankful that the local community is so supportive.

The Pennington County Board of Commissioners agreed to formally request a lighting project for the intersection of U.S. 59 and CSAH 3 on Dec. 28. A description of the project was first published as part of a Pennington County Board story appearing in the Jan. 5 edition of The Times. The information provided in the story misled some readers into [illegible] that signal lights would be installed at the intersection.

Signal light installation is based more on traffic volume than crash rates. To meet the necessary traffic volume, both roads would require a much heavier flow of traffic.

"Of our 60 signal lights (in 11-county District Two), only one is based on crash records," Eidem said. "The main [consideration] we look at is volume threshold for any eight hours of a day."

Eidem explained, for signal lights to be installed at the U.S. 59-CSAH 3 intersection, there would need to be at least 420 cars per hour traveling on U.S. 59 in both directions for an eight-hour period and 105 cars traveling in one direction on CSAH 3 for an eight-hour period. Eidem said that the 420 cars on the main road and 105 on the second road were Mn/DOT's minimum threshold to initiate a signal-lighting project.

"This intersection would not be close to warranting a signal light based on the State and National Manual on Uniform Traffic Control Devices," Eidem said.

Streetlights are expected to be added at the U.S. 59-CSAH 3 intersection this summer.

Highway 2 railroad project scheduled at Erskine

The Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) alerts the public about the continuation of a project to upgrade the Canadian Pacific Railway railroad crossing on Highway 2 at Erskine.

According to Mike Kamnikar, an engineer with Mn/DOT's Bemidji office, the project to install new signals and gate arms at the railroad crossing in Erskine began earlier this month and was then delayed by Canadian Pacific due to extreme weather and equipment problems.

Kamnikar said the work will start around 8 a.m. Tuesday, Feb. 1 and is expected to be complete by 5 p.m. the same day. Drivers can expect delays of five to 10 minutes during the installation of the gate arms. They are being asked to slow down when entering the work zone.

Grand Rapids rolls up 79-31 score vs. TRF

Grand Rapids' domination on the court was reflected on the scoreboard Tuesday in a 79-31 boys high school basketball win over visiting Thief River Falls.

An 18-10 first quarter lead for the No. 10-ranked Class AAA Thunderhawks turned into a 37-12 halftime spread and a 60-18 third quarter gap.

"We got out-worked, out-played and out-coached," said Thief River Falls coach Chris McLean. "Grand Rapids is a good team. They took away everything that we tried to do."

Grand Rapids shot 48 percent from the field (31/64), including a 6-for-11 effort from 3-point range. Thief River Falls shot 36 percent from the floor (12/33) with a 3-for-8 figure on three's.

The Prowlers also had trouble at the free throw line, where they were 4-for-13. The Thunderhawks made 11 of 15 foul shots.

Grand Rapids finished with a 26-14 rebound advantage. Thief River Falls wound up with more turnovers than points, topping that chart 32-18.

A make-up game from a Jan. 15 weather-related postponement, the contest featured the first of three strong opponents awaiting the 5-8 Prowlers, who will be at Bemidji Tuesday and at East Grand Forks Friday.

Grand Rapids wins close JV match-up against TRF

It was close from start to finish as Grand Rapids edged Thief River Falls 51-47 in boys junior varsity high school basketball Tuesday.

The Thunderhawks led 14-13 after one quarter, trailed 28-22 at halftime and were back on top 40-37 at the end of the third quarter.

Kyle Trontvet scored 11 points and Andrew BlackLance had 9 for the Prowlers.

Chasity Johnson of the Prowlers tried to poke the puck away from Sophie Bolstad of the Broncos during Tuesday's girls high school hockey game at the Ralph Engelstad Arena. International Falls scored at 16:53 of the third period to beat Thief River Falls 3-2.

International Falls girls win 3-2...

Late goal beats TRF

Courtney Friend scored with 6.9 seconds remaining Tuesday to give International Falls a 3-2 girls high school hockey win over Thief River Falls.

The Prowlers out-shot the Broncos 25-17 and were pressing hard for the tie-breaker in the final minute when the visitors suddenly broke out with a 4-on-1 rush that Friend started and finished by skating across the front of the goal and putting a high wrist shot over Thief River Falls goalie Trudy Erickson.

"That's a concern when you're applying pressure like we were doing – that you'll give up the odd-man rush at the other end," explained Thief River Falls coach Tim Magnusson. "We were putting lots of pressure on their goalie, and you could see they (Broncos) were floating high in the zone. They got the puck and took off."

The loss, following a weekend tie and a win, dropped the Prowlers to 2-15-1 heading into their regular season final Thursday against Detroit Lakes. The Broncos moved to 8-16-1.

With wins hard to come by this winter, losing in the final seconds was a tough pill to swallow, admitted Magnusson. "The girls are taking it pretty hard," he said. "We were the better team; we just didn't have the luck. That's the best we've played in a long time, and I'm not talking just this year."

International Falls scored first when Erika Ciminski wasted no time converting a centering pass into a 1-0 lead three minutes into the game.

Persistence paid off for the Prowlers as they kept poking away at a loose puck at the feet of Broncos goalie Lacey Mark for the equalizer at 11:07 of the first period.

A strong individual effort by Brittany Bolstad put International Falls back in front before the first intermission as she split the defense and muscled her way to the net at 13:29.

Thief River Falls' attack caught fire after an innocent-looking long ice-hugger by Kaley Holen slipped by Mark for a 2-2 tie 12:27 into the second period.

"The last five minutes of the second period we really started to play as a team, for maybe the first time all year," said Magnusson. "They were doing the things they were taught to do. It was nice to see, especially this time of the year with the (Section 3A) tournament just around the corner."

Both goalies made key saves the rest of the way, and overtime strategy was being formed – before Friend abruptly ended it.

"We did what we had to do," offered Thief River Falls coach Scott Bergland. "We got everybody into the game. We went with four lines and six defensemen from the get-go, and they all had a good energy level. Cody Bottem did a nice job, picking up four points."

Robby Philipp scored two goals, while Corey Horien, Matt Nordhagen, Chris Thompson and Kory Kezar scored one goal each. Horien and Nordhagen also had two assists, as did Wyatt Reed.

Panthers 101-75 winner over TRF

■ Prowlers record 17 season-best swims in loss

The setback dropped the Prowlers' dual record to 0-4.

"We had some great swims," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Lacy Knott, "but we're so young."

The Prowlers out-pointed the Panthers 32-6 in a limited number of junior varsity races.

Eagles lose lead, but win game

Grygla-Gatzke watched a 16-point, 52-36 third quarter lead turn into a 64-64 fourth quarter tie before regrouping in time to register a 70-68 overtime win against Kittson Central in Tuesday boys high school basketball.

After watching the Wolfpack hold the ball for a final shot that missed the mark at the end of regulation time, the visiting Eagles opened overtime with a 3-point play by Tomas Loberg. It was tied again at 68-68, but two single final-minute free throws pushed the Grygla-Gatzke record to 14-1.

Kittson Central again had the ball at the end, but missed the final shot for a tie or a win.

"We defended the last shot well," noted Grygla-Gatzke coach Vern Johnson. "When you can put a 6-7 and 6-2 kid on the ball, it makes for a tough shot."

Loberg scored 27 points, Andrew Holte 16 and Geoffrey Satre 10 for the Eagles. Joel Schwenzfeier scored 12 of his 26 points in the fourth quarter Kittson Central rally. Austin Bogestad added 18 points and Ernie Ayala 11 to the Wolfpack offense.

"It was a good news, bad news situation for us," offered Johnson. "First three quarters we did a nice job. We moved the ball, got good shots and played pretty decent defense. But they (Wolfpack) exploded in the fourth quarter. They hit a couple shots and just took off. I give them a lot of credit. They could have folded when they were down by 16."

Johnson took heart, however, in the fact that the Eagles, after watching their lead slip away, were able to regain their composure to play a strong overtime for the win.

Both teams shot well from the field, with Grygla-Gatzke hitting 26 of 46 (57 percent) and Kittson Central going 26-for-51 (51 percent). But the Eagles didn't fare well at the free throw line, where a 14-for-27 showing included just a 3-for-8 overtime. The Wolfpack made 11 of 16 foul shots.

Grygla-Gatzke out-rebounded Kittson Central 31-21, but also had more turnovers, 15-11.

The winners were 23-for-46 from the field, while the Eagles were 12-for-36 (33 percent).

"Our shooting was on," acknowledged Red Lake County Central coach Randy Huie. "We played a solid defensive game. The kids played hard, intense and focused."

Nordics' return to court features strong defense

Strong defense down the stretch wrapped up a 47-41 Marshall County Central boys high school basketball win over Tri-County Tuesday.

The Nordics started the game with a 16-3 lead and had a 30-16 cushion at halftime. But the Wildcats chopped the difference to just 36-35 by the end of the third quarter, and they went ahead by hitting a basketball in the first 30 seconds of the final period.

That would be the only Tri-County lead of the night as the Marshall County Central defense tightened and gave up just four points over the final 7 1/2 minutes.

It was the first game since Jan. 11 for the 9-4 Nordics, who were weathered out of three straight starts.

"It was a nice win," said Marshall County Central coach Jake Rantanen. "For having two weeks off, we came out strong. But we knew Tri-County was too good of a team not to come back. And they did. We maybe weren't as intense defensively as we should have been in the third quarter, but Tri-County deserves all the credit for coming back like that."

Jay Maurstad scored 16 points and Dustin Monsebroten had 15 to lead the Nordics. However, the high-scoring Marshall County Central backcourt was limited to a single field goal in the second half. The offensive void was filled by Tyler Blazejewski, who finished with 10 points, and Nick Haven, who contributed a half-dozen.

"Tyler and Nick did a great job for us in the third and fourth quarters," said Rantanen.

Ryan Anderson led Tri-County with 11 points.

The Nordics were 16-for-33 from the field (48 percent) and 10-for-14 at the free throw line. The Wildcats went 17-for-40 from the floor (43 percent) and 3-for-4 at the line. Tri-County finished with a 20-14 rebound edge, but also had more turnovers, 13-9.

Green Wave third quarter tops Wolverines

East Grand Forks out-scored Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke 15-2 at the start of the second half and went on to beat the Wolverines 54-39 in girls high school basketball Tuesday.

The Wolverines were within 9-7 after one quarter and ahead 20-19 at halftime, but were out-scored 35-19 in the second half. The host Green Wave carried a 37-30 lead into the final quarter. It was still just a six-point spread with four minutes left before the gap widened down the stretch.

"First half we shot 44 percent and led 20-19," pointed out Wolverines assistant coach Brent Phillip. "Second half we shot 33 percent and they started hitting a lot of outside shots."

Amanda Wickersham scored 16 points and Alicia Olson had 11 for the winners. The 5-10 Wolverines were led by Stephanie Olson with 11 points, Justyne Larson 8 and sophomore Kasey Dahlen, who was a perfect 6-for-6 at the free throw line and finished with a season-best 7 points.

Fouls are costly in in Mustangs' 49-39 loss against Bears

Fouls put Courtney Halvorson on the bench, and without their floor leader, Red Lake County Central saw a first half lead turn into a 49-39 girls high school basketball loss at the hands of Clearbrook-Gonvick Tuesday.

With three minutes left in the first half, Halvorson was whistled for what the Mustangs thought was her second foul. When it was announced that the 5-9 sophomore had three personals, not two, Red Lake County Central coach Rick Koivisto, who called it "the phantom foul," scrambled to make a substitution. But before the switch was made, Halvorson picked up another foul – her fourth.

With their scoring leader on the bench in the third quarter, the Mustangs watched a 22-16 halftime lead turn into a 34-31 deficit.

"We came out ready to play," said Koivisto. "Courtney got those fouls, and we turned it over too many times in the third quarter."

Both teams shot just 29 percent from the field, with Red Lake County Central hitting 14 of 48 and Clearbrook-Gonvick going 13-for-45. The Mustangs were 10-for-15 at the free throw line, where the Bears had a busy 20-for-32 night.

Scores nearly matched, but the results were just the opposite for the Thief River Falls girls junior varsity high school basketball team as the Prowlers beat Roseau 47-27 Monday, then lost to Hawley 47-29 Tuesday.

New Mission

Area businesses get WorkForce Center help

This represents a significant shift in the mission of the WorkForce Center"
– Harry Farris

Minnesota Department of Employment and Economic Development (DEED) has trained a new corps of business services specialists to serve the needs of local businesses across the state.

Harry Farris, specialist at the WorkForce Center in Thief River Falls, said this represents a significant shift in the mission of the WorkForce Center. He said the single point of contact program makes the WorkForce network more response to the needs of businesses.

Specialists like Farris, are located throughout the Minnesota WorkForce Center system, provide a single point of contact in connecting area businesses to the resources and information they need to expand and prosper. This focus makes the state's workforce network more responsive to business needs and is part of a general realignment of DEED's mission and goals.

"Our employers, statewide, provide good paying, good quality jobs," said Matt Kramer, DEED Commissioner. "Thriving businesses mean more jobs and a better way of life for individuals and communities across Minnesota."

Whatever the need, local business services specialists can efficiently connect businesses with available resources. They can, for example, provide information and assistance on a wide variety of topics, including:

- Entering and competing in the international market;
- Recruiting and retaining qualified workers;
- Acquiring permits;
- Applying for state economic programs;
- Providing labor market information.

Citizens sign on to protest closing of Beltrami trails

Warroad - Hoping to send a clear message to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR), thousands of names have been lent to a petition to "save the trails." Dennis Battles, along with his brother Jeff Battles and friend Randy Ward, have spearheaded the effort to get people to speak out on the issue of trail closings.

Battles feels that closing of the trails would be bad for tourism, noting that hundreds of snowmobilers come to the area each year to enjoy Beltrami Island State Forest (BISF). Pointing out one of the trails set to be closed, Battles said that it has long been a very popular snowmobile route.

Battles hopes to bring the names collected on the petition to the Roseau County Board of Commissioners meeting Feb. 10, in advance of the public meeting with the DNR on Feb. 17. While he encouraged those who want to sign the petition to do so before Feb. 10, Battles said the petition will also be available to sign after that as well.

In 2003, the Minnesota Legislature mandated that the DNR evaluate the trails of the BISF. That evaluation process completed and an initial draft done, the DNR will be looking to the public for input at a meeting scheduled for Feb. 17 at Warroad High School. The plan will then be refined and sent to the DNR commissioner for final approval. - Warroad Pioneer, Feb. 2, 2005, by Bonnie Nordvall

Some townships consider denying DNR access to roads

Roseau - With no official response from the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) regarding the action the Roseau County Board took recently restricting DNR access to unorganized township roads, commissioners discussed requests for assistance by some organized townships that want to pass similar resolutions. The board also discussed, at the Jan. 25 meeting, converting that resolution into an ordinance. - The Tribune of Greenbush, Feb. 2, 2005, by Del Stordahl

County Board takes hard line on state ownership of land

Warren - An often-expressed concern about too much government ownership of land was in play again Tuesday in actions by the Marshall County Board of Commissioners.

In the first business item on the agenda, commissioners voted to deny approval for a donation by private landowners of 1,027 acres in Fork Township to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR). They also authorized sending a letter to the DNR expressing their denial of the donation transaction and stating conditions for reversing the county's stand on the Fork Township donations.

While it is not clear whether the state or landowners need County Board approval to complete the donation transaction, LeRoy Vonasek, County Board chairman, said in his letter to the DNR that the switch from private to state land would violate the county's "no net loss" policy regarding private ownership of land within the county.

As a sort of good-faith gesture, Vonasek said the county would continue to work with the DNR in providing 320 acres of tax-forfeited lands for a DNR all-terrain vehicle trail system in the county. - Warren Sheaf, Feb. 2, 2005

NCTC employees share their artwork

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

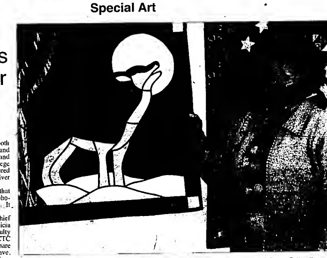
Artwork of employees from both the Thief River Falls and East Grand Forks campuses of Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) is currently being featured in an exhibit at NCTC-Thief River Falls.

The exhibit features artwork that includes drawings, paintings photography, textile and sculpture. It will be displayed until Feb. 18.

To find exhibitors, NCTC Thief River Falls Art Instructor Talicia Lerfald sent a mass e-mail to faculty and staff members of both NCTC campuses, persuading them to share any artwork they may have. Thirteen Thief River Falls employees and one East Grand Forks employee agreed to share past projects.

Faculty and staff who are displaying work in the exhibit include Susy Dowers, TRF director of placement, textile; Al Gunderson, EGF respiratory care instructor, wood sculpture; Dennis Johnson, TRF philosophy instructor, photography; Kristel Kizer, TRF chemistry instructor, textile and bronze sculpture; David Olsen, multi-media specialist; photography; Kathy Olson, TRF administration support instructor, painting; Linda Samuelson, TRF music instructor, pencil; Mary Dyrud, TRF spanish instructor, photography; Jack Haymond, TRF history instructor, water color and pastel; Frederick Johnson, TRF welding instructor, photography; Barb Noel, TRF account clerk, fabric sculpture; Aliza Olson, Roseau/TRF history instructor, textile; Adam Paulson, TRF English instructor, photography; and Jan Strandlie, TRF Library, textile.

Dowers and Strandlie are each members of the Thief River Falls Quilters Guild and like many of the exhibitors, have submitted work that uses fabric as the medium. An immediate left turn after entering the gallery will take visitors to the work of Dowers and Strandlie.



Dowers' featured work includes three wall hangings. The first is a wolf that uses a stained glass technique, in which the black lines appear to be lead. Dowers' second work used a star technique. Dowers started the project in the middle of the hanging, and passed the hanging to other members of the TRF Quilter's Guild for a process she called "round robin." Each time the hanging was passed on, a guild member would add something to it, until it made its way back to Dowers to be finished.

Strandlie's projects may draw some attention from exhibit viewers, especially one featuring little golden handprints, titled "Little Butterfingers of Gold."

"It was a quilter's guild project," Strandlie said. "Each participant was given a candy bar. Whatever candy bar we got we were to use to create a wall hanging, and I got Butterfinger. I thought about my grandkids and I did their little Butterfingers of gold."

Wal-Mart hearings in TRF on Feb. 15

by April Schelnohn
Reporter

Two public hearings are scheduled Tuesday, Feb. 15 at 7 p.m. for Wal-Mart's intended Thief River Falls SuperCenter. The hearings will be held at the Thief River Falls City Hall.

The hearings will cover a rezoning request, as well as a request for a conditional use permit, for the proposed SuperCenter along Nelson Drive. Scheduled during the Thief River Falls Planning Commission meeting, the hearings are a legal requirement.

Currently, the proposed Wal-Mart site is zoned agricultural (AG). Jake and Anne Barnick, who currently own the property, are requesting a zoning change to General Business District (C-2) on behalf of the Wal-Mart Corporation.

Under C-2 zoning, shopping centers are a conditional use. The Barnicks, again on behalf of Wal-Mart Corporation, are requesting a conditional use permit for the proposed Wal-Mart store.

This summer, Wal-Mart is planning to build a 155,000-square-foot SuperCenter that sells clothing, food and other merchandise. Plans also call for the store, which will face Highway 59 Southeast, to have tire lube express service and an indoor and outdoor garden center. A Murphy Oil Corp. gas station is also planned for the site.

The company intends to sell another parcel at the site. The parcel may be used for a bank, fast-food restaurant or sit-down restaurant.

A winter weather change

Unusually high temperatures at the end of January and beginning of February created some interesting sculptures. Temperatures are soon expected to return to their average for this time of year. This photo was taken of the east side of the Kays, Benton, Safranski & Co. building in Thief River Falls.

Superintendents occupy hot seats when it comes to cancelling classes

by April Schelnohn
Reporter

Many local superintendents agree that their jobs are difficult when it comes to determining when to delay or close school due to hazardous weather conditions. Some superintendents also have senses of humor about it.

"It's the superintendent intuition," said Ron Ruud when asked how he makes his decision. Ruud is the superintendent of Tri-County School District in Karlstad.

His counterpart at Marshall County Central Schools in Newfolden had another way of looking at it. Superintendent Ron Paggen joked that he has a dartboard that helps him determine when to delay or close school.

All kidding aside, the safety of students and staff is on the minds of superintendents as they make their decisions.

"If I make a mistake, I make a mistake on the side of caution," said Gwen Borgen, Badger School District superintendent.

"It's tough," said Ruud, who noted he tries to do what's safe for the students and staff. "You don't know what to do half the time."

"We always keep school in session or call it off with the safety of the kids in mind, said Galen Clow, Goodridge School District superintendent.

Most of the superintendents who were interviewed check weather forecasts and consult with their districts' transportation directors before making their decisions.

Thief River Falls School District Superintendent Irv Peterson said his decision is "heavily dependent on

Relay for Life Kickoff on Feb. 22

Pennington County's Relay for Life kickoff, signaling the start to American Cancer Society fundraising efforts and culminating with the all-night relay in June, will be at 7 p.m. Feb. 22 at the Swenson House in Thief River Falls. Individuals interested in participating in the event are encouraged to attend the kickoff.

A video will re-cap last year's Pennington County Relay for Life, and teams and team captains will receive packets of informational and a promotional boost from representatives of the local chapter of the American Cancer Society, and from Glenice Johnson, who will talk about cancer survival. There will be door prizes and refreshments available to all who attend the kickoff.

Relay For Life is a fun-filled overnight event designed to celebrate survivorship and raise money for research and programs of your American Cancer Society. During the event, teams of people gather at schools, fairgrounds, or parks and take turns walking or running laps. Each team tries to keep at least one team member on the track at all times.

Relay For Life represents the hope that those lost to cancer will never be forgotten, that those who face cancer will be supported, and that one day, cancer will be eliminated. The Pennington County Relay for Life on June 10, 11, is an opportunity for area residents to support this mission.

For more information about Pennington County's Relay for Life, contact Jane Anderson at 681-3810, or Jane.Anderson@northlandcollege.edu.

Red Lake County

Red Lake County Relay for Life has scheduled its event for June 3, 4. The Red Lake County Relay for Life is one of the top 10 events in the nation. Last year, it raised more than $49,000.

TRF woman injured in one-vehicle rollover

A Thief River Falls woman was injured after a one-vehicle rollover one mile west of the intersection of Highways 1 and 59.

Melanie Lynn Miller, 24, suffered cuts and bruises from the accident, according to the Minnesota State Patrol. The State Patrol report indicates she was wearing a seat belt.

Miller was taken to Northwest Medical Center (NWMC). She was treated and released, said Janell Hudson, NWMC nursing director.

At the time of the accident, Miller was driving a 1994 Geo Prism eastbound on Highway 1. Her vehicle then went into the south ditch and rolled.

The vehicle sustained extensive damage. The State Patrol was dispatched to the scene at 4:30 a.m. Friday.

Time to get out some good recipes for those Super Bowl parties again.

Here's a tasty soup that will warm them up no matter what:

MEXICAN CHICKEN CORN CHOWDER

3-4 boneless, skinless chicken breasts
1/2 cup onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
3 tablespoons margarine
2 teaspoons chicken bouillon (or 2 cubes)
1 cup chicken broth
1/2 to 1 teaspoon cumin
2 cups half and half or evaporated milk
2 cups Monterey Jack cheese, shredded
1 (14 ounce) can cream style corn
1 cup green chilies, chopped
1/2 teaspoon Tabasco sauce
1 medium tomato, chopped

Cut chicken into bite-sized pieces and sauté in 3 quart pan, along with onion, garlic and margarine, until chicken is cooked. Add broth, bouillon and cumin. Bring to boil. Reduce heat and simmer 15 minutes.

About 1/2 hour before serving, add cheese, corn, chilies and hot pepper. Cook until cheese is melted but do not boil. Stir in tomatoes and serve immediately. Garnish with parsley or cilantro or crushed corn chips. Serves 6-8 people.

Make most of this salad ahead of time and put together when ready to serve:

TACO SALAD

1 pound ground beef
1 envelope dry taco seasoning mix
1 medium to large head lettuce
1 large tomato, diced
1 medium onion, diced
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
1 medium bag corn chips, broken
1/2 cup smooth taco sauce
1-1/2 cups Western salad dressing

Brown beef and drain. Pat on paper towels to absorb all fat. While beef is warm, add taco seasoning and mix well. Cool.

In large bowl, tear up lettuce and mix with onion, tomato and cheese. (This may be refrigerated at this point until ready to serve.)

Just before serving, add beef mixture, corn chips and dressing last. Amounts may be varied, according to taste. May also use green or black olives and/or kidney beans, or use Thousand Island dressing in place of Western.

CHICKEN ENCHILADAS

1 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup margarine
1/4 cup flour
1 tablespoon instant chicken bouillon
8 ounce carton sour cream
3 cups cooked chicken, cubed
2 cups shredded cheddar cheese
1 (4 ounce) can chopped green chilies
1/2 teaspoon chili powder

In large saucepan, cook onion in margarine until tender. Stir in flour, then water and bouillon. Cook and stir until thickened. Remove from heat, then add sour cream.

In large bowl, combine 1 cup of sour cream sauce, chicken, 1 cup of the cheese, chilies and chili powder. Dip each tortilla in remaining sauce. Fill each with chicken mixture. Roll up in 9x13 inch pan. Spoon remaining sauce over tortillas. Sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes.

Cookies are always great to pile on a serving table for a quick dessert and peanut butter cookies are always welcome - better double the recipe though:

PEANUT BUTTER COOKIES

1/4 cup shortening
1/4 cup butter
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 egg
1/2 cup peanut butter
1-1/4 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon soda
1/4 teaspoon salt

Cream shortening, butter and sugars. Add egg and peanut butter and stir. Add dry ingredients. Roll into balls and flatten with fork dipped in sugar. Bake at 375 degrees 10-12 minutes.

These crispy sugar-topped cookies are spicy and good:

MOLASSES CRINKLES

3/4 cup soft shortening
1 cup brown sugar, packed
1 egg
1/4 cup molasses
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon ginger

Mix shortening, sugar, egg and molasses well. Blend all dry ingredients and add to shortening mixture. Chill.

Heat oven to 375 degrees. Roll dough into balls the size of large walnuts and dip tops in sugar. Place sugar side up 3 inches apart on greased or parchment-covered sheet. Sprinkle each with 2-3 drops of water. Bake 10-12 minutes. Makes 4 dozen cookies.

Everybody will love these forever - they are the...

BEST SUGAR COOKIES

1/2 cup powdered sugar
1/2 cup white sugar
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup vegetable oil
1 egg, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
2-1/2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
1/8 teaspoon salt

In large bowl, cream margarine and sugars. Add oil, egg, almond and vanilla. Combine dry ingredients and add to creamed mixture.

Shape into 1-inch balls and roll in sugar. Place on ungreased cookie sheet and flatten with sugared glass. Bake 10-12 minutes at 350 degrees until lightly browned. Makes 3-4 dozen.

Red Lake County Relay for Life set for June 3, 4

Red Lake County Relay for Life will start at 6 p.m. on Friday, June 3, and conclude at 6 a.m. on June 4 in Oklee. This event has been ranked in the "top 10 nationwide" among Relay for Life events of its size. Last year, Red Lake County raised more than $49,000 for research, education, services and advocacy for cancer patients.

"That impact is huge," said Mary Bachand. "It's a sad fact that most of us know someone who has been affected by cancer, and this is one important way we can help."

Last year, Red Lake County had 15 teams take part in this fun and meaningful walk, and Bachand says their help is needed again.

"We are proud of the number of teams that have participated since we began our Relay in 1999, and we are looking for new teams that want to be part of this great event," said Bachand.

Bachand believes the success of the Relay for Life in Red Lake County is due to individuals who form teams. These teams, she said, have raised more than $237,000 since Red Lake County began its Relay for Life.

"We need you to help us continue this fight," said Bachand.

Individuals interested in becoming involved with the Red Lake County Relay for Life, and would like to find out more about this event of hope and progress, are encouraged to contact any of the following Red Lake County American Cancer Society Advisory board members: Ruth Schultz in Red Lake Falls at 253-2421; Dianne Gagner in Brooks at 698-4475; Arlene Froiland in Plummer at 465-4448, and Mary Lynn Bachand in Oklee at 796-5765.

Bachand thanked all participants for giving hope to all those affected by cancer, and encouraged them to remember the Red Lake County Relay for Life on June 3, 4 in Oklee.

Citizens reminded to buckle up the ones they love

Child Passenger Safety Week, Feb. 13 through 19, gives Altru Health System the opportunity to remind citizens about the importance of motor vehicle occupant safety.

SAFE KIDS Grand Forks, N.D., and Altru remind readers that motor vehicle crashes are the number one killer of children under the age of 14. Many of these deaths are preventable. Children and adults need to be secured properly every time they ride in a car. Most crashes occur near home and can be violent, even at low speeds. When used correctly, child safety seats can prevent injuries and save lives.

Keep these tips in mind when buckling up children:

• Children 12 and under should ride properly restrained in the back-seat, especially if there is an active air bag in front of the passenger seat.

• Infants should ride in rear-facing safety seats as long as possible – at least until they are 12 months old and weigh at least 20 pounds. Riding backwards as long as the seat will allow is preferable. (Some rear-facing seats can be used for kids weighing up to 30 or 35 pounds. If in doubt, check the manufacturers' instructions.)

• Kids over 1-year-old who weigh 20 to 40 pounds and can no longer ride rear-facing should ride in forward-facing child safety seats.

• Kids over 40 pounds must use booster seats until the vehicle's lap and shoulder belts fit correctly (around age 8). To check for the proper fit of the adult seat belt, adults must answer "yes" to all of the following questions in order for the child to be safe. Can the child sit with his or her back against the back of the vehicle's seat? Can the child sit with his or her knees bent at the edge of the seat? Can the child sit with his or her feet on the floor with the lap belt across the hips (not the abdomen)? Can the child sit with his or her feet on the floor with the shoulder belt across the center of his or her chest (not across his or her neck or placed behind him or her)?

• Once safety belts fit children correctly (usually around age 8), the lap and shoulder belts should be used.

• All child safety seats must be installed and used according to the manufacturers' instructions and the vehicle owners' manuals to properly protect children.

• All vehicle occupants need to be buckled up. In a crash, unrestrained vehicle occupants will be thrown about, possibly killing or injuring other passengers in the vehicle.

Public Safety Department releases January traffic death totals

Wednesday, the Minnesota Department of Public Safety announced that preliminary Minnesota State Patrol traffic crash reports indicate 33 people died on the state's roads in January, and 27 were seriously injured.

The State Patrol reports more than half of those killed or seriously injured were not wearing seat belts. Also, nearly half of the fatalities – 14 people – were killed in cross-median or centerline crossing collisions. There were 25 traffic deaths at this time last year.

The crashes occurred in all parts of the state. The northwest area had five fatalities. Central Minnesota had 11, and the metro area had six. The south-central region had five fatalities, including three in Freeborn County.

In January, 19 motorists killed were not belted, and 16 of the 27 motorists seriously injured were also not wearing seat belts. Seat belt use in Minnesota is 82 percent, and belted vehicle occupants represented only 39 percent of all occupant traffic fatalities in 2003.

"These stats paint a grim picture for those who neglect to buckle up," said Col. Steve Mengelkoch, chief of the State Patrol. "No matter what your excuse is for not wearing a seat belt, that excuse won't do you much good when you're involved in a crash."

The State Patrol also reports four cross-median and five centerline crossing crashes that resulted in 14 deaths. Eight of the crashes occurred on icy roadways. Mengelkoch said these crashes could have been prevented if motorists adapted to the inclement weather by significantly decreasing speeds.

"Drivers are accountable for their actions," said Mengelkoch. "When you ignore road conditions, tragedy is just around the corner."

Impaired driving accounted for two traffic deaths and three serious injuries. Seven additional fatal crashes are under investigation to determine if alcohol was involved.

Northwest Grain reports net operating earnings

At its recent annual membership meeting, Northwest Grain reported net operating earnings of $2.0 million and returned $1.6 million in cash and patronage on total sales of $98 million. Dividends were calculated based on rates of $0.05 per bushel for spring wheat and $0.16 per bushel for soybeans, along with percentages of 2.7 percent on plant food, 5.6 percent on seed and 5.5 percent on crop protection products.

According to General Manager Tim Miller, this was a record year in both sales and net earnings for Northwest Grain, a wholly owned subsidiary of CHS Inc. (formerly Cenex Harvest States Cooperatives).

CHS – a leading grain-based foods, energy and agricultural supplier – also reported record year-end results, with net income of $221.3 million and net sales of $10.9 billion. This compares to net income of $123.8 million and net sales of $9.3 billion for fiscal 2003. CHS has filed its 10K financial report with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Within the CHS inputs businesses, strong refining margins, combined with improved performance by lubricants and propane operations, contributed to the highest energy earnings in CHS history. CHS outputs businesses, consisting of local operations, business services, grain marketing, oilseed processing and foods, reported improved performance for each business segment across the board.

Country Operations and Services, consisting of local operations – including Northwest Grain – animal nutrition and sunflower businesses, turned in its fourth consecutive year of strong performance. Grain marketing operations overcame challenges in Chinese soybean markets to complete fiscal 2004 with its best earnings in five years.

"A tremendous thank-you to the patrons of Northwest Grain from the board and all the employees," said Miller. "Here at Northwest Grain, we remain committed to establish lasting partnerships with producers by providing them with a complete line of quality goods and services at competitive prices, while adding value to their production."

New study says prevention is key to achieving good health

Community leaders throughout the state have agreed that prevention is a key component to achieving good health, and that communities must play a role to promote prevention among its citizens. For example, safe walking trails and sidewalks will encourage people to exercise more in their own neighborhoods, smoke-free environments and higher cigarette prices will help people stop smoking, and healthy foods that are readily available will encourage better nutrition.

Improving health in Minnesota is dependent on making prevention an individual commitment and a community priority, according to a report released this week by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Minnesota.

At community forums held in Minneapolis, Rochester, Duluth, Red Wing, St. Cloud and Willmar, a diverse group of community leaders - business, local government, health care, nonprofit, education and faith - shared information about successful prevention policies already in place and discussed ways to continue to elevate prevention in order to improve health and control costs.

The forums were part of "A Healthier You, A Healthier Minnesota," a Blue Cross Minnesota Decides initiative designed to engage Minnesotans in discussing the connection between community action and health improvement.

"Prevention needs to be an individual commitment and a community priority," said Sanne Magnan, M.D., medical director of the Center for Tobacco Reduction and Health Improvement at Blue Cross. "Effective prevention programs include a mix of individual actions to improve our health, and public investments in our communities. For all our good intentions and best efforts, individual actions are strongly influenced - for better or worse - by our surroundings. And our surroundings are greatly influenced by public and private policies," said Magnan.

Six key themes emerged from the community forums:

1. People understand that prevention requires both individual and community actions. Participants understood that we are each responsible for making good decisions, but recognized the positive role community-wide actions can play in supporting those decisions.

2. Communities should have a plan for what is most important to address. Supporting comprehensive, community-wide approaches that would address and be accessible to all citizens is important. Yet, it also is important to focus on critical areas and not take on too much.

3. People need to be engaged at the grassroots level. Community-wide efforts will be successful to the degree citizens are partners in taking action. "Top-down" efforts alone will not work.

4. Collaboration and partnerships are critical. Collaboration that includes public-private partnerships and government involvement is the key to success. This will involve the entire community in supporting better health decisions.

5. More resources are needed. Prevention efforts aimed at long-term change are often the first to be cut. Stakeholders, including public officials and health plans, need to make wise use of resources to make prevention a priority in order to see increased investment.

6. Barriers are present but not insurmountable. There are several barriers to elevating prevention, including marketing that promotes poor health, and socio-economic conditions, which limit options. These factors need to be considered when implementing prevention efforts.

From this feedback, Blue Cross found consensus on three conclusions:

1. Many leaders are ready to promote prevention policies and investments for their communities. The community leaders who attended the forums came away with an increased commitment to promoting community-based prevention.

2. Community leaders see public support for prevention policies. The community leaders see growing public understanding of prevention as a strategy for both health improvement and cost control.

3. Focusing on tobacco cessation, physical activity and nutrition makes sense. Forum attendees agreed that these three focus areas would be understood by the public, would be credible and would have payback in terms of improved health and cost control.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Dave Hill and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Opinions in items from other publications may not coincide with the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

Offering an informed opinion is such a drag

No doubt, rumors of Wal-Mart coming to Thief River Falls, and actual evidence that the behemoth is looking at Thief River Falls is a big story. Everyone is talking about it. They're talking about it because it'll have an impact on this community and many surrounding communities. Depending on whom you talk to, it'll either bring in business or destroy it all.

Plenty has been written about it, and in fact, plenty has been written about Wal-Mart outside of Thief River Falls. There is a Web site dedicated to pointing out the store's deficiencies, faults, and negative impact on communities. Wal-Mart has responded by presenting its own stories, and advertisements promoting itself as a healthy, community store, and good neighbor. Their efforts went so far lately, that the National Newspaper Association told them to back off. In a letter to Wal-Mart, Mike Buffington, president of the National Newspaper Association, asked, "Why is it that community newspapers in America are good enough to help you fend of critics with free PR, but we're not good enough for your paid advertising?"

It seems, everyone has something to say about Wal-Mart.

The not-so-funny thing about expressing an opinion is that it really helps to know what you're talking about if you're going to offer an "informed" opinion. Unfortunately, the information isn't always at our fingertips. Sometimes you have to dig. Sometimes you have to look on the Internet. Sometimes you have to ask government leaders. Sometimes you have to go to meetings.

In the case of the proposed Wal-Mart in Thief River Falls, readers who want to keep abreast of what's taking place have to read beyond the headlines. There hasn't been a city council meeting lately, or story about the city council, that hasn't included some news about Wal-Mart. Additionally, if you're at all interested in either supporting its construction and move to Thief River Falls, or…"nipping this problem at the bud," you'll have to watch for important meeting dates and actually participate in those meetings. Sometimes, like our reporters, you'll even have to check the legal section of our own newspaper to find out when those meetings are taking place.

Isn't it a shame that we have to work so hard to stay informed?

Thanks for supporting the Roseau County Board

To the Editor:

I would like to take this time to thank the people of northern Minnesota for the support of the Roseau County Board on the battle that continues to go on with the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR). Also, I want to thank so many for the speedy response and support for the Board's resolution that gives limited access to DNR on our unorganized township roads. Support came from Pennington, Lake of the Woods and Koochiching counties, followed by a resolution of support from MRCC, a 22-county organization.

On January 22, there was a meeting that was to be held that included Rep. Maxine Penas, Sen. LeRoy Stumpf and two county commissioners from Roseau County. Sen. Stumpf was a no show, and as of January 31, has not responded. I would like help from the public on locating Sen. Stumpf.

I would also like to respond to Deputy Commissioner Mark Holstein's statement that we don't have legal right to restrict state vehicles. When Paul Swenson met with the County Board I asked Swenson about documentation on why a trail or road was closed. He stated they didn't have documented reason. What makes the DNR think we should have to have a documented reason for limited access to them. If Holstein thinks the county should follow the rules maybe he should look at the DNR Rules, Chapter 6100 89.01 sub.d 7 - Commissioners Powers and Duties: Forest road coordination committees. "The commissioner shall establish a forest road coordination committee in each forestry administrative area in which a state or county forest road is located. The commissioner shall appoint as members representatives from among the following: road authorities, county land commissioners, local governments, the forest products industry, and forest recreation interests. Each committee must meet at least once annually. The committee shall assist in providing a transportation system to facilitate the protection, management, and use of this state's forest resources. The purpose of the committees include coordination of the planning, construction, maintenance, and use of forest roads, and of restrictions on their use."

Russell Walker
Roseau County Commissioner

Where does Governor Pawlenty stand?

To the Editor:

The sportsmen and outdoor enthusiasts in northern Minnesota and round the state are currently involved in the fight of their lives with the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR). The DNR is in the process of severely restricting our access to our state forests. Temperatures are rising to the boiling point with some county commissioners going so far as to deny the DNR access to township roads within their county. To quote a line from the old movie network, "We're mad as hell, and we're not going to take it anymore!" The line has been drawn, and it's time for everyone to decide which side they are on.

The Governor has many supporters in northwestern Minnesota and they, along with non-supporters, have a right to know where the Governor stands and what he plans to do. So, Mr. Pawlenty, are you with the extreme environmentalists and animal rights activities, or are you with the sportsmen and outdoor enthusiasts?

The DNR has pushed the citizens of northwest Minnesota around so much that some of us jokingly believe that we would be better off if we voted for the Commissioner of Natural Resources and had him appoint the Governor, instead of the other way around. Governor, it's time you told the people of northwestern Minnesota that they also have a voice in this great state, and while you're at it, tell them exactly what you intend to do about this situation.

Call or e-mail the Governor at 1-800-657-3717, tim.pawlenty@state.mn.us and let him know what you think, and ask him what he's going to do. Don't expect anyone else to do what you should be doing. Call or e-mail him now.

Pioneers beat Mesabi Range 76-66 in men's game...

Free throws add up for NCTC

Northland got to the free throw line 36 times; Mesabi Range once. With a stat sheet spread of that proportion, it shouldn't be a surprise the win in Wednesday's Minnesota Community College Conference men's basketball game went to the host Pioneers, 76-66.

The lone Mesabi Range free throw came when Giles Friedlich was fouled while scoring on an offensive rebound with 1:35 remaining in the game. He missed.

Twenty-four points at the free throw line obviously were big in a 10-point win over a team that began the night sharing second place in the MCCC Northern Division with the Pioneers at 4-2.

A 6-0 finish to the first half led to a 45-31 Northland lead at intermission – the biggest spread over the first 20 minutes.

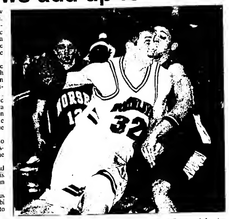
The Pioneers opened the second half with a 3-pointer by Matt Largis and a basket underneath by Juwaun Bowman for a 50-31 cushion.

But 10 straight Northland misses from the field and an 11-0 Mesabi Range run chopped the difference to 54-51 with 10:22 remaining.

"We had a chance to put it away and couldn't do it," said Northland coach Rick Nikunen. "We had that stretch where we were shooting those perimeter shots, and missing. We weren't looking inside."

Northland went 9-minutes, 15-seconds without a field goal before a 3-point play off a drive by Jason Koch with 7:27 left kicked off a rally-sniping 9-0 run that rebuilt a 68-55 gap with 5:31 to play.

Mike Howard led a balanced Northland offense with 18 points. Koch had 16, Cyrin Shaffer and Bowman both scored 14 and Largis contributed 10.



Mesabi Range relied heavily on William Maupins, a 6-4 sophomore from Rosemount, who scored 23 of his game-high 31 points in the second half – 17 of those coming in the Norse rally that turned a 19-point game into a three-point contest.

"We couldn't stop Maupins," acknowledged Nikunen. "We finally put Cyrin on him. He's quick enough and tall enough to play someone like that."

Northland was 23-for-47 from the field (51 percent), with the shot numbers lowered by the free throws. Mesabi Range, on the other hand, put up 82 shots, hitting 29 of them (35 percent).

The other numbers were pretty even as the Norse finished with a 39-36 rebound edge and the Pioneers topped the turnover charts 17-16.

Northland took a 14-7 overall record into Friday night game against Northern Division leader Vermilion. The Pioneers host Central Lakes Thursday.

Mike Howard of Northland drove past Mesabi Range defender William Maupins during the second half of Wednesday's Minnesota Community College Conference men's basketball game in Thief River Falls. The Pioneers won the key Northern Division match-up 76-66.

It looks like a goal for Thief River Falls forward Matt Nordhagen, but the puck was actually headed up and over the net after a save by Bemidji goalie Scott White in the second period of Tuesday's boys high school hockey game at the Ralph Engelstad Arena. The Prowlers beat the Lumberjacks 7-2.

Bemidji unable to stop Prowlers

Bemidji was able to slow the game down, but the Lumberjacks still didn't have the firepower to stay with Thief River Falls Tuesday as the Prowlers skated to a 7-2 boys high school hockey win at the Ralph Engelstad Arena.

Outside of a two-minute span in the second period when Bemidji turned a 2-0 deficit into a 2-2 tie, it was all-Thief River Falls – a fact reflected in the Prowlers' 41-15 shots-on-goal advantage.

Matt Nordhagen scored two goals and added an assist while Corey Horien and Robby Philipp both scored once and had two assists as the Prowlers improved to 12-7-1 and dropped the Lumberjacks to 4-17.

But it wasn't the prettiest game, admitted Thief River Falls coach Scott Bergland. "It wasn't our best effort," he said. "Bemidji plays so defensive. They collapsed on us. It was tough to get free ice. But give them credit. They knew they couldn't match foot speed with us, so they slowed it down. It was tough to get anything going in the neutral zone."

Thief River Falls turned an early-game Bemidji penalty into a 1-0 led when Michael Benedict's long straightaway wrist shot got through a crowd at 3:26 – just three seconds before the power play expired.

Michael Forney was right in the face of Bemidji goalie Scott White when he made it 2-0 at 12:06.

A power play opportunity sparked a brief flurry of Bemidji offense in the second period. A glove and a pad save by Thief River Falls goalie Lance Klaven drew applause, but the puck was still in play and the Lumberjacks' Noah Nemgar pushed in the point-blank rebound at 5:34.

Tobin Korpi was fed a goal mouth pass that he one-timed past Klaven at 7:49 for the tie.

Thief River Falls regained scoreboard control when, on a delayed penalty call, Alec Holen finished off pressure around the Bemidji net with the tie-breaker at 12:17 and a quick 13 seconds later Nordhagen's shot off a face-off to the right of White went off the goalie's glove for a 4-2 game.

The two rapid-fire goals prompted a Bemidji time-out and a change in the nets.

"Those two goals were big," acknowledged Bergland. "Michael Forney, Alec Holen and Corey Horien did an awesome job. They kept cycling and were finally rewarded for their efforts."

Philipp finished a rush down the left wing when he cut across the goal mouth and scored on a backhand just 1:19 into the third period.

The score didn't change until Horien put a shot up and over Brandon Thompson at 13:06, then Nordhagen got his second goal to finish it at 14:17 when he converted a centering pass from behind the net.

Fering Player of the Week a second time

Chelsey Fering, a Northland freshman guard from Red Lake Falls, has earned her second Northern Division Player of the Week award from the Minnesota Community College Conference women's basketball coaches.

Fering averaged 20.5 points and 7.5 rebounds per game in a week capped by a 28-point game in a 79-51 Jan. 29 win over Hibbing. She is the division leader in steals, 3-point shooting and free throw shooting.

"Chelsey had another great week and played extremely well vs. Hibbing," said Northland coach Missy Majerus. "Chelsey will continue to be counted on for her offensive ability, but her ability to guard the other team's best player is what has truly made her one of our best players."

Jacks produce a second win over TRF boys, 62-48

Better. But still not good enough. Thief River Falls, coming off a humbling 79-31 loss at Grand Rapids the week before, regrouped and put together a competitive, albeit, losing effort in a 62-48 boys high school basketball setback Tuesday at Bemidji.

The Lumberjacks beat the Prowlers in similar 66-44 fashion earlier this winter by taking over in the second half after trailing at intermission. This time, it was a 21-21 halftime tie and Bemidji again carried play over the final 16 minutes when they out-scored Thief River Falls 41-27. It was 43-32 through three quarters.

"It was a vast improvement from the Grand Rapids game, and I thought it was a better effort than the first time we played Bemidji," said head coach Chris McLean of the 5-9 Prowlers. "For this team, that's what we have to keep shooting for: improvement."

Bemidji completed the home-and-home sweep between the two long-time rivals with an offense that featured four double figure scorers and 51 percent 25-for-49 shooting. Nate Daniels led the way with 20 points, while Logan Howe and Bruce Felts both netted 12 and Zach Marino had 11.

"They shot the ball very well," noted McLean. "We gave them too many open looks on the perimeter, and their dribble penetration hurt us, as well."

The Prowlers, who were 16-for-44 from the field (37 percent) got 14 points from Matt Stuckey, 13 from Alex Yaggie and 10 from Paul Sjoberg.

"I was really happy with our offense," said McLean. "But we couldn't come up the stops in the second half when we had to."

The Prowlers may have let their chance at picking up a win slip away in the first half, according to McLean. "Their 6-10 kid (Felts) went to the bench with foul trouble in the second quarter," he explained. "We had our chance right there, but we didn't capitalize."

Thief River Falls was 11-for-18 at the free throw line; Bemidji went 6-for-9. The Prowlers finished with a 33-31 rebound edge, but they also had more turnovers, 16-13.

Bemidji's 10-7 record marks the most wins for the Lumberjacks since 1999.

Pirates end hockey season for TRF, 2-0

■ Section 3A girls tournament opener

First period goals by Lexy Wangen and Cassie Cota carried Crookston to a 2-0 first round Section 3A girls high school hockey tournament win over visiting Thief River Falls Tuesday.

"We came out a little sluggish – probably nervous – and they scored two early goals," explained Thief River Falls coach Tim Magnusson. "We needed the first goal for confidence, and to get them on their heels."

The Prowlers stayed close behind the 45-save performance by senior goalie Trudy Erickson. But they mustered just nine shots themselves, making it an easy shutout for Crookston goalie Amy Burke.

"We never really mounted much of an attack," admitted Magnusson. "We kept their first line from scoring, which I thought was a key, but you can't win if you don't score any goals."

Thief River Falls finished the season 2-16-1. Three of those losses came at the hands of the Pirates, who swept the regular season series 4-0 and 5-2.

Tournament play leads to the Section 3A finals Feb. 11 at Bemidji State.

Northland women beat Mesabi Range 59-53...

Final minute points nets win

Alisa Costin's 3-point basket ignited a final-minute tie-breaking Northland breakaway that netted a 59-53 Wednesday Minnesota Community College Conference women's basketball win over visiting Mesabi Range.

Nicole Switzer backed up behind the line and launched a 3-pointer that pulled the Norse even at 53-53 with 1:12 remaining, only to see Costin shatter the deadlock with her shot from the top of the key with 49.4 seconds on the clock.

Chelsey Fering made it a two-possession game when she hit the front end of a bonus free throw opportunity with just 13.7 seconds left, and the outcome was all but decided when her second-shot miss went out of bounds off a Mesabi Range player. Kamae Larson capped it off by scoring on the in-bounds play with 10.5 seconds showing.

The two teams came into the game with identical 4-2 second place records in the tight MCCC Northern Division playoff race. Instead of playing the usual first game of the doubleheader with the men, the women's contest was moved to the back end of the twin-bill to enable the team to attend the funeral earlier in the day for the mother of Rochelle Nelk, a Northland freshman guard from Wheaton.

"We maybe weren't real focused at the start," acknowledged Northland coach Missy Majerus, "but the kids battled."

Ahead 32-28 at the break, Mesabi Range followed intermission with a 9-0 run as Northland went 0-for-12 from the field and 0-for-4 at the free throw lines in the first 6-minutes, 44 seconds of the second half.

But Northland had an answer for a 13-point deficit: a run of 18 unanswered points that ended with an Ashley Kujawa jumper in the middle of lane traffic that put the Pioneers up 48-43 with 7:22 remaining.

The streaky play continued when Mesabi Range scored seven straight for a 50-48 lead on a Switzer 3-pointer with 4:45 still to play.

Tara Blazejewski got that one back with a three, and Larson scored from underneath to put Northland back on top 53-50 with 2:34 on the clock – setting up the finish.

"We played a pretty good first half," said Majerus, who figured she might have to come up with a new halftime speech in light of the Pioneers' struggles after returning to the court. "We had some trouble at the start of the second half, but it just shows the character of the team to be able to come back like that," she said.

Larson scored 14 points, Costin 11 and Fering 10. Switzer led all scorers with 18 points. Teammate Ashley St. Arnold netted 10.

Northland was 21-for-61 from the field (34 percent) and had a not-too-great 11-for-21 free throw night. Mesabi went 20-for-57 from the floor (35 percent) and 9-for-12 at the line. The Norse had high figures in both rebounds (35-33) and turnovers (19-17).

The Pioneers carried a 12-8 overall record into a Friday home game vs. Vermilion. Central Lakes will be in Thief River Falls for a Thursday night doubleheader.

Role reversal benefits Huskies

Cole Dahlen and Cole Scheef swapped jobs briefly and as a result, Goodridge emerged a 47-43 Tuesday winner over Red Lake County Central in boys high school basketball.

Dahlen, who normally handles the Huskies' post duties, went outside and hit three first half 3-point baskets as Goodridge took a 21-18 lead into intermission.

Scheef, the Huskies' primary outside threat, took the ball to the basket to score on three final period drives as Goodridge turned a 31-29 third quarter deficit into a four-point win.

Dahlen scored 16 of his game-high points in the first half. Scheef finished with 11 and Dustin Isaak had 10 to help Goodridge pick up its fourth win of the year against 10 losses. The Mustangs are 7-8.

"It was a good, close game," said Goodridge coach Eric Mickelson. "I was real happy with our performance. We played pretty consistent basketball."

Goodridge got by with 39 percent 17-for-44 shooting by building a 28-18 rebound advantage. Dahlen completed a double-double with 12 rebounds and Nick Mickelson grabbed 11.

"That was the key – we controlled the rebounds down the stretch," explained Eric Mickelson.

The Mustangs' defense also had something to do with the Huskies' low shooting percentage, according to Mickelson. "They do a heck of a job with their man-to-man defense," he said. "They caused us a lot of trouble with it."

Red Lake County Central shot 44 percent from the floor (15/34). The Mustangs hit six 3-pointers, but Mickelson stuck to his game plan and left the Huskies' zone intact.

Bemidji wins 56-36 boys JV decision against TRF

A two-point third quarter doomed Thief River Falls Tuesday in a 56-36 boys junior varsity high school basketball loss at Bemidji.

The Prowlers were within 11-10 and 26-21 at the first two quarter stops, but trailed 38-23 heading into the final eight minutes.

Lee Peterson scored 12 points to lead the Thief River Falls offense.

Prowlers beat Rams 4-3

They've been in different classes and different sections for some time now, but that hasn't diminished the long-standing boys high school hockey rivalry between Thief River Falls and Roseau. The spirited competition repeated itself Thursday at the Ralph Engelstad Arena when the two adversaries accumulated 20 penalties in a game won by the Prowlers 4-3.

It was the third win in four days for the Prowlers, improving their record to 13-7-1. It also meant a year without a loss to the Rams. The two teams played to a 3-3 overtime tie in the 2004-05 season opener at Roseau back on Nov. 23.

Beating Roseau will always rank as one of the season highlights, confirmed Thief River Falls coach Scott Bergland, who said, "That's never a bad thing."

A 37-save performance by Thief River Falls goalie Lance Klaven helped cement a decision that always wavered on being an easy victory and/or a nail-biter. "Early in the third period, we were one bounce away from putting the game away," offered Bergland. "We had several point-blank chances to end it. But we didn't score on those opportunities, and then we gave them life."

Thief River Falls entered the third period with a two-goal lead. Roseau made it a 3-2 game at 4:39 when Klaven made a swiping glove save, only to have the puck pop out and land behind him, inches from the goal line. Before he could find it, the Rams' Alex Lundbohm had a tap-in.

However, just 2:20 later, the Prowlers rebuilt their two-goal edge when Cody Bottem was all alone in front of the Roseau net and he quickly converted a centering pass into a 4-2 scoreboard difference.

Both sides watched as numerous scoring chances either missed the mark or were turned aside by the goalies until Craig Turnow scored a quick seven seconds into a late-game Roseau power play. There were just 24 seconds left, however, and pulling goalie Alex Bjerk for an extra attacker didn't make the clock run any slower.

There was no rebound for Roseau forward Corey Erickson as Thief River Falls goalie Lance Kleven covered the puck during boys high school hockey action Thursday at the Ralph Engelstad Arena. The Prowlers beat the Rams 4-3.

"At times we played well, and at other times, we played tired," said Bergland. "We did some good things. We killed a 5-on-3 penalty, and Lance played extremely well. He played like the goaltender he's capable of being."

Roseau opened the scoring 4:25 into the game when Klaven prevented a Kyle Swanson wraparound, but couldn't reposition himself in time to stop Phil Baumgartner in front of the net.

First power play opportunity of the night led to the first Thief River Falls goal when a center ice pass sent Matt Nordhagen in on the left wing behind the Roseau defense. He was stopped point-blank by Bjerk, but Corey Horien was there for the quick rebound at 7:56.

Alec Holen picked up a loose puck just to Bjerk's right and tucked it into the net for a 2-1 Thief River Falls lead at 15:06 of the first period.

A deft piece of stickhandling by Holen that beat two Roseau defenders - first near the Rams' blue line, then just inside the offensive zone - was promptly followed by a open 20-foot shot he sent past the goalie at 8:01 of the second period for a 3-1 spread.

On a busy night, Klaven was at his best when back-to-back penalties three-quarters the way through the second period had the Prowlers skating two men short for 48 seconds. His efforts enabled the Prowlers to take that two-goal lead into intermission.

Thief River Falls wound up with 11 penalties. Roseau had nine. All were two-minute minors, including six sets of coincidental calls that left neither side shorthanded.

Fourth quarter foul shots sink MCC

Warren-Alvarado-Oslo used 11-for-11 fourth quarter free throw shooting to wrap up a 58-53 boys high school basketball win over Marshall County Central Tuesday.

A 13-13 first quarter draw became a 31-30 Marshall County Central halftime edge. The Nordics, however, mustered just four third quarter points and trailed 40-35 to start the final period.

"We didn't execute our offense in the third quarter," said Marshall County Central coach Jake Rantanen, "and we had too many turnovers."

By game's end, the Nordics had 20 turnovers – a high number for this time of the year, acknowledged Rantanen.

"First half, both teams were kind of sluggish," offered Rantanen. "There was not a lot of enthusiasm until the fourth quarter."

The Nordics were 21-for-47 from the field (45 percent) and 6-for-9 at the free throw line. The Ponies went 20-for-43 from the floor (47 percent) and 13-for-14 at the line.

"We may have forced some shots at the end, and they made their free throws," mentioned Rantanen, whose team fell to 9-6.

The Nordics' 25-21 rebound edge was offset by their turnovers, although the Ponies turned it over 16 times themselves.

Applicants sought for law enforcement scholarships

Pennington County Sheriff Mike Hruby has announced the commencement of the Minnesota Sheriffs' Association (MSA) Scholarship Program for 2005. The MSA has established a scholarship fund totaling $9,000 for the awarding of 15 $600 scholarships for this year. It is anticipated that the MSA Scholarship Program, which is promoted by the 87 sheriffs of Minnesota, will be expanded in the years to come.

The Scholarship Committee, in making its selection of awards, intends to achieve representation from all geographical areas of the state. Applications will be received until March 11 with scholarships being awarded by May 1. Application forms and a statement of procedures are available at the Pennington County Law Enforcement Center. Scholarships are only available to students in one of the following four categories:
- Mandated skills program
- Two-year law enforcement program
- Vocational/technical police program
- Four-year college criminal justice course

In order to qualify, students must have completed at least one year of a two-year program or two years of a four-year program.

The policy adopted by MSA indicated it was its feeling that law enforcement in a democratic society is a complex task. The ability of a peace officer to render effective service responsive to the public's need depends heavily upon job knowledge and skills. MSA recognizes the importance of pre-entry training to the accomplishment of these requisites. It also recognizes that some candidates, even though they excel academically, need outside help in meeting the costs of such training. To that end and as funds allow, the association stands ready to offer financial assistance in the form of these scholarships.

License security upgrades bring a number of changes

One of several improvements that came with Minnesota's new driver's licenses is a more secure numbering system. The previous numbering system coded the cardholder's name into the number.

"Identity thieves could use new technology to decode the numbers or to create new ones," said Patricia McCormack, Driver and Vehicle Services (DVS) director. "The old system was no longer effective or secure."

The new numbers, like the old ones, are composed of one letter and 12 numbers, but they are randomly generated and do not start with the first letter of the cardholder's name. The number will remain unchanged during the cardholder's lifetime.

Everyone applying for an initial, duplicate or renewal instruction permit, driver's license or ID card will receive a new number. Any cardholder who wants a new number before the card expiration date may apply for a new card at a driver's license office. The cost is $8. The card expiration date changes only when the card is renewed.

McCormack said some people are concerned about driver's license number changes because of other issues, such as credit bureau records or bank checks. "People who are concerned with credit records can be assured – Social Security numbers are the primary identifiers for credit bureaus, not driver's license numbers."

She added that the Federal Trade Commission and Minnesota Retailers Protection Association advise people to omit driver's license numbers on checks to protect against identity theft and fraud.

The Minnesota cards featuring the new numbers are easily discernable because of their rainbow printing, textured surface and "floating loon" image that seems to rise and sink as the viewer tilts the card. DVS began issuing the new cards in mid-December. For more information, visit the DVS Web site (www.mndriveinfo.org).

David Olson, a multi-media specialist at Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) - Thief River Falls, stands beside photos that he took during motor cycle trips last year. Olsen's photos are being displayed at NCTC - TRF as part of the NCTC Faculty and Staff Exhibition, which includes work from employees of both the Thief River Falls and East Grand Forks campuses.

NCTC employees share their artwork

To create the golden handprints, Strandlie, used a metallic gold cloth that was cut in the outline of each grandchild's hand. The hands were stitched onto a black cloth, with each grandchild's name and age at the time of production included on the hanging.

Several photographs are featured in the faculty and staff exhibition, including the work of Multi-Media Specialist David Olsen. Olsen's photos, all color landscape photos, were taken in national parks or scenic routes that he photographed while on vacation last year.

"All of them were shot on motor cycle trips," Olsen said of his work, which includes both mountainous and sprawling field type landscapes. "I like shooting at national parks because that's where the scenery is."

Olsen's featured photos were each taken using a palm-sized Canon S400. Photos were shot at Arches National Park and Bryce Canyon, both in Utah, Grand Teton National Park, the Blue Ridge Parkway, located in the Appalachian Mountains, and the Great Smoky Mountain National Park.

The exhibit can be viewed daily from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

To close or not to close, to delay or not to delay transportation."

They also consult with a variety of sources before determining to close, delay or cancel school.

"We confer with a lot of people to make the decision to close or delay school," said Al Foley, Red Lake Falls School District superintendent. He noted he calls the district's transportation department, the Red Lake County Highway Department and the National Weather Service in Grand Forks, N.D. Prior to making a decision, Foley also drives around the school district and sometimes calls other superintendents.

In Newfolden, Paggen said, "We just kind of deal with each situation separately." Before making up his mind, he said, he usually talks to the bus supervisor, checks forecasts, and drives west and south of Newfolden on gravel and asphalt roads.

It may be hard for superintendents to determine whether to delay or close school. Yet, their difficulties don't end there. "You'll have people upset either way," Ruud said.

His Thief River Falls colleague seems to keep it in perspective. Peterson said, "You just make the best decision you can with the information you have."

Commissioners OK jail project

Roseau - At a special meeting Feb. 1, the Roseau County Board took the first concrete steps in the process that will result in a new jail complex for the county.

The board approved the three essential elements of the plan, recommended by the Jail Committee, to construct a new jail and related structures.

The plan approved calls for construction of a new county jail with a capacity of 26 cells and 52 beds, moving law enforcement into the existing Social Services suite of rooms, and erecting a new Social Services building on the northeast side of the courthouse complex.

The board approved Commissioner Alan Johnston's motion that the plan agreed to will not exceed $6 million for the entire project, pending future review. - The Tribune of Greenbush, Feb. 9, 2005, by Del Stordahl

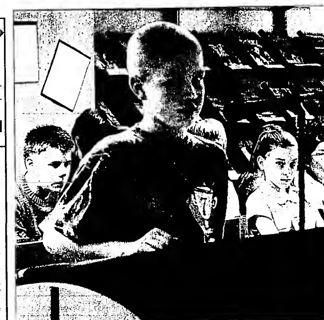
Enbridge Energy and Red Lake County settle property tax dispute

Red Lake Falls - A wholly owned subsidiary of Enbridge Energy Partners, L.P., Enbridge Energy, Limited Partnership that owns and operates the Lakehead Pipeline System, and Red Lake County have settled a lawsuit filed in St. Paul by Enbridge to determine the fair market value of certain company property located in the county.

The dispute settled by this agreement relates to the recommended values determined by the Minnesota Department of Revenue on certain Enbridge property in Red Lake, Clearwater, Beltrami, Itasca and Marshall counties.

The settlement will result in total Enbridge property tax payments to Red Lake County of $646,022.87 for 2003 and $741,682.33 for 2004. - Red Lake Falls Gazette, Feb. 9, 2005

Influenza hits Kittson County



Hallock - Minnesota and Kittson County are experiencing widespread cases of influenza, both in communities and in the school setting. The lab at Kittson Memorial Healthcare Center has received six positive lab results for Influenza A virus. Influenza A is the virus that is responsible for regular outbreaks of influenza during the flu season. It causes moderate to severe illness and affects people of all ages. - Kittson County Enterprise, Feb. 9, 2005

Re-branding Fosston's image

Fosston - One of the challenges for any small town in America is attracting new residents, businesses and tourists. Fosston is no different. No matter how great area residents think Fosston is, marketing Fosston to people outside the community is essential to the vitality of the economy. These were the issues The People Connection recognized when it approached the city council with a marketing proposal.

Michelle Landsverk of The People Connection went to work creating a brand for Fosston that would attract shoppers, businesses and new residents. - The 13 Towns of Fosston, Feb. 8, 2005, by Tessa Balstad

They now advance to the Regional Spelling Bee that will be on March 4 at Northland Community and Technical College.

No charges filed after fatal accident

Train crew followed stop and protect order

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

No criminal charges will be filed after a fatal semi and train accident Jan. 28, according to Assistant Pennington County Attorney Al Rogalla.

Robbie David Gordan Johnson, 21, Arbog, Manitoba, Canada, was killed in the accident two miles north of Thief River Falls. At the time of the crash, Johnson was driving a semi northbound on Highway 59. Loaded with crushed cars, the semi then collided with the side of a south-eastbound Northern Plains Railroad train loaded with grain.

"It does appear to be an accidental death," Rogalla said.

Rogalla conferred with Minnesota State Patrol and Federal Railroad Administration (FRA) officials. They came to the conclusion that no criminal activity occurred, Rogalla said.

The FRA's regional office is still conducting an investigation into the accident, said Warren Flatau, FRA public affairs specialist. He expected it would take several weeks for the investigation to be completed.

However, Rogalla said, "The warning lights were not working." The railroad had reported the lights were not working prior to the crash.

A state of Minnesota snowplow struck the warning lights three weeks before the accident, said Capt. Dick Wittenberg of the State Patrol. Temporary stop signs are in place at the railroad crossing until the lights are fixed.

Due to the malfunctioning lights, a stop and protect order was assigned to the crossing. A stop and protect order means railroad crew members stop before the crossing, Flatau said. They get out of the locomotive, check for traffic and/or direct traffic as the train crosses the highway.

From the information he received, Rogalla noted that it

The Smithsonian is coming!

"Barn Again! Celebrating an American Icon" to travel to TRF

by David Hill
Editor

Numerous activities are being planned around the Smithsonian traveling exhibit coming to Thief River Falls this summer. "Barn Again! Celebrating an American Icon" will be in Thief River Falls at the Peder Engelstad Pioneer Village June 25 through August 21.

"We're really excited about it," said Faye Auchenpaugh of the planning committee. "It's the only opportunity for residents in northern Minnesota to see the exhibit. The only other place it will appear will be in Grand Rapids (March 7 through April 30)."

Barns.

It's all about barns. "Barn Again! Celebrating an American Icon," which was organized by the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service and the National Building Museum in cooperation with the National Trust for Historic Preservation, recognizes the fact that the barn is more than a building. It is, and has been, witness to years of change. Not only have they served as storehouses of feed and hay, sheltered animals, agricultural supplies and equipment, but have also served as factories and places of businesses. Over the years, amazing changes also have taken place in the industry that rendered traditional barns obsolete. In more recent years, area residents have witnessed a dramatic shift in population and in the fortunes of agricultural producers. As a result of so many factors, barns are falling into disrepair, often disappearing from our landscape.

During these years, barns came to represent a great deal among which, rural Americans include hard work, self-reliance and industriousness. This exhibit recognizes

Sen. Dayton not to run for re-election

Sen. Mark Dayton (D-MN) has announced that he will not be running for re-election.

"I am announcing that I will not seek re-election to the Senate next year. God willing, I will complete my present term to the very best of my ability," said Dayton in a prepared statement on Wednesday, Feb. 9.

"It has been a tremendous honor to serve the people of Minnesota during the past four years. Everything I have worked for and everything I believe in depend upon this Senate seat's remaining in the Democratic Caucus in 2007. I do not believe that I am the best candidate to lead the DFL Party to victory next year. I cannot stand to do the constant fundraising necessary to wage a successful campaign, and I cannot be an effective Senator while also being a nearly full-time candidate. Thus, I am choosing to devote all of my time and energy to the job Minnesotans have elected me to do.

"As I am removing myself from the political fray, I have informed St. Paul Mayor Randy Kelly that I must also withdraw my support from his Re-election Committee.

Sen. Mark Dayton

"I want to thank everyone who has supported me and especially the people of Minnesota who have given me the greatest honor of my life, the chance to be their United States Senator.

"I have done my utmost to uphold that high honor, and I will continue to do my utmost to represent our great state to the very best of my abilities until Jan. 3, 2007.

"While I have no specific plans, I intend to remain in Minnesota thereafter and continue to be involved in service."

Red Hats: Just their "cup of tea"

Northwest Medical Center CNC starts Red Hat Society

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

The Northwest Medical Center CNC Red Hat Society held its third ever monthly meeting last Friday. The third meeting featured something new for the 50 and older club...red hats.

Each of the 13 Society members present at the meeting, was fitted with official Red Hat Society headwear prior to the start of Friday's meeting.

The hats were purchased using money that was raised by the NWMC Auxiliary. All NWMC employees were asked to donate baked goods for the Auxiliary's bake sale. Proceeds from the sale were spent on the Society's visual and most notable trade mark, bright red hats.

Roxanne Dunrud, an activity aid for CNC, credits NWMC Auxiliar Volunteer Coordinator Bev Rupprecht, Gail Holland, NWMC public relations, and the NWMC Auxiliary for organizing the bake sale and in turn making many of the NWMC CNC Red Hat Society activities possible.

The Auxiliary sponsored Friday's meeting, providing donated tea cups, tea and treats for Society members.

"The ladies seem to like it, they're having a good time," Dunrud said. "It's different than their every day routine and it brings a smile to their face."

Getting in touch with their roots...

Jim and Jan Strandlie host "The Root Cellar"

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

Thief River Falls residents Jim and Jan Strandlie are in touch with their roots and the state of Minnesota's roots. Now, they're sharing their interests with others.

The Strandlies host "The Root Cellar," a weekly program on Northland Community and Technical College's FM radio station 90.1. The show, which airs Tuesdays at 9:15 a.m. and replays Tuesdays at 6:30 p.m., delves into genealogy and Minnesota history.

"We answered the call from our new radio station manager, Travis Ryder, for volunteers because they wanted to make it more of a community-based radio station," Jim said.

Neither of them had experience working in radio, but they decided to give it a try. They began their radio show in fall 2004.

"I think it was an interesting challenge, and I like to get the information out to the public about history and making people aware about what happened in this state," Jim said.

Jan noted it has been a fun experience, but she told Jim, "It was your idea."

The Strandlies' show is 15 minutes in length, and half of the show is devoted to each spouse's particular interest. For his segment, Jim covers Minnesota history, from the state's first inhabitants to the present time.

Jan covers genealogy, including the family histories of other people. She enjoys sharing family stories from people's collections that not many other people would hear or read.

History has been among the Strandlies' interests for a number of years. "The more you learn, the more you want to learn," Jan said.

Her husband added that wanting to learn leads people to learning more.

Their desires to learn about history have led them to share what they've learned with listeners. Family histories, oral histories and stories about pioneers intrigue Jan, who works as the assistant librarian at NCTC. Her passion for genealogy has also led her to write a chapter about her grandmother in another relative's book.

Jim, who teaches Minnesota history and coordinates the service learning program at NCTC, also likes hearing pioneer stories. He said he marvels at how people survived during hazardous winter

I have no idea where I got the First Annual Female Fattening Food Festive In Fergus Falls cookbook, but I think it will yield some mighty tasty Valentine Recipes. I have published the names of the contributors too, in case you have friends or relatives there.

These must be good because they were submitted by two women. They sound like yummy Valentine treats to me:

YUMMY BARS/GERMAN CHOCOLATE CARAMEL BARS
Lynette Schirmers and Meg Kolden

3/4 cup melted butter
1/2 cup evaporated milk
1 package German chocolate cake mix
1 package chocolate chips
1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts (optional)
1 package Kraft caramels, melted with 1/3 cup evaporated milk)

Mix butter, 1/2 cup evaporated milk and cake mix and place half of the mixture in greased 9x13 inch pan. Bake for 6 minutes at 350 degrees.

Remove from oven and add chocolate chips and nuts. Spread melted caramel mixture over, then add remaining cake mixture (can use blobs of the cake mixture and then spread around - easy if you have an offset spatula for this). Bake 15-20 minutes at 350 degrees.

Apple pie is everybody's favorite - makes a good Valentine:

OLD FASHIONED APPLE PIE
Jennifer Parker

No Fail Pie Crust:
3 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1-1/4 cups butter
5 tablespoons water
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 egg

Stir flour, salt and butter together. Beat water, vinegar and egg and add to dry mixture with a fork. Form into 4 balls. When ready to make pie, roll on waxed paper.

Apple Pie Filling:
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
Dash of salt
1/4 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Peel, pare and cube 6-8 medium apples. Pour sugar mixture over apples and stir until apples are coated. Place in bottom pastry shell and dot with 1 tablespoon of butter. Cover with top crust, make slits in top crust, seal edges and flute. Cover edges with aluminum foil so they don't brown too much. Bake at 425 degrees for 40-50 minutes. Remove foil for last 15 minutes.

Chocolate, chocolate and more chocolate for Valentine's Day:

FROZEN CHOCOLATE DESSERT
Donna Philippot

Crust:
36 Oreo cookies
3 tablespoons thawed whipped topping

Crush cookies. Mix cookie pieces with 3 tablespoons thawed whipped topping and place in 9x13 inch pan.

Filling:
1/2 gallon vanilla ice cream (or frozen yogurt)
6-7 ounces peanuts

Soften ice cream and spread over cookie crust. Sprinkle with peanuts

Topping:
2 cups powdered sugar
2/3 cup chocolate ice cream topping
1 (5 ounce) can evaporated milk
1/2 cup butter

Bring all ingredients to a boil. Stir and boil for 8 minutes. Cool thoroughly, then pour and spread over peanuts.

Freeze overnight. Recipe serves 12-15 people.

Here's a simple idea, but so good:

CREAM CHEESE BARS
Julie Habiger

2 packages crescent rolls (let stand at room temperature for 30 minutes)
2 (8 ounce) packages cream cheese
1 egg yolk
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Grease 9x13 inch pan and open 1 package of crescent rolls and place on bottom of pan, pinching any seams together.

Beat cream cheese, egg yolk, 1 cup sugar and vanilla and sprinkle over roll layer. Place other package of rolls on top, again pinching seams. Mix 1/4 cup sugar and cinnamon and sprinkle over top. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Another favorite - brownies - and lots of them:

BROWNIES AND FROSTING
Linda Patterson

2 cups flour
2 cups sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup water
1/2 cup oil
1/2 cup butter
1/4 cup cocoa
2 well beaten eggs
1-1/2 cups sour milk or buttermilk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix flour, sugar, salt and soda in bowl.

Mix water, oil, butter and cocoa and boil until butter melts. Remove from heat and cool a bit before adding to flour mixture in bowl. Then add eggs, sour milk and vanilla. Place in greased and floured 11x15 inch jelly roll pan for 25 minutes at 350 degrees. Cool on rack.

Frosting:
6 tablespoons butter
6 tablespoons milk
1-1/2 cups sugar
3/4 cup semi sweet chocolate chips.

Stir butter, milk and sugar together in saucepan. Bring to hard boil and boil 30-40 seconds. Remove from heat and add chocolate chips. Stir off and on until mixture thickens, then frost brownies.

This recipe does not come from the Fergus Falls cookbook, but it is one that a reader asked me to find for her. She said she made it for her church group and they liked it a lot, but now she couldn't find it. I looked through a lot of recipes before I found it too. Turns out it was from February of 2002. Here it is again - make it for your valentine:

ROSY CITRUS DRINK
2 cups cranberry juice
1 cup unsweetened grapefruit juice
1 cup orange juice
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon ground allspice
Apple slices and cinnamon sticks, if desired

In saucepan, combine juices, sugar and allspice. Bring to a boil. Serve in mugs garnished with apple slices and cinnamon sticks.

Minnesota Grown program encourages participation

Minnesota growers, livestock producers and others are invited to join the Minnesota Grown program, designed to help farmers promote their Minnesota products and connect with consumers. Participation in the program has doubled in the last decade.

In 2004, there were more than 800 growers licensed to use the trademarked Minnesota Grown logo. Minnesota Department of Agriculture (MDA) Marketing Specialist Brian Erickson is encouraged by the response by consumers to the Minnesota Grown Program.

"They use it because shoppers prefer to buy local, fresh products for their quality," said Erickson. "Minnesota consumers are interested in supporting family farms and rural communities. That's what the Minnesota Grown program is really all about."

Licensed growers can request free merchandising materials such as price cards, posters and stickers that feature the Minnesota Grown logo. For direct-marketing growers and ranchers, farmers' markets, local meat markets and garden centers, licensing also entitles them to list their products in Minnesota's most comprehensive farm products catalog, the Minnesota Grown Directory. Almost 170,000 free directories were distributed to consumers in 2004 at 1,500 locations across the state, including: libraries, tourist information centers, and extension service offices. The next directory will be printed in April 2005.

To request an application form for the $5 Minnesota Grown license and a listing in the Minnesota Grown Directory (available to direct marketing growers for an additional $40), growers may call 651-296-4939 and leave their name and mailing address. Producers can also download and print an online application form at: www.mda.state.mn.us/mngrown/join.htm

The Minnesota Grown license is available throughout the year, but applications for a place in the directory should be made no later than Feb. 28, 2005.

The whole 10 percent

Some sage angler once stood up in his dinghy and boldly pronounced, "90 percent of the fish occupy 10 percent of the water" and the rest of the fishing world stood back in overwhelmed awe and declared him a genius. The specifics as to whom this mastermind was have long since been forgotten, but I'm sure there's a large, paper maché statue of him proudly standing on the outskirts of some small Minnesota town, reminding anglers of his important contributions to hook-and-line history. Unfortunately, it's probably the same guy who gave us such forgettable weekend witticisms as "big minnow, big fish" and "who needs a map?" Sweeping generalizations like these seem to come most often from the mouths of fishermen who have more time to spend sitting and thinking than they do actually removing fish from their hooks. The "90/10" adage is a real brainstorm if you know which 10 percent to fish, but I almost guarantee you it won't be the same 10 percent it was yesterday. And what about when that 10 percent is made up of millionths of scattered percents as fish spread both horizontally and vertically throughout the lake? Here, let me try to explain.

The most recent of climactic incursions, a record early February warm front, made a mess of Lake of the Woods. Weeklong temps in the 30s and 40s melted the mass of accumulated January snow and spread a thick layer of water across the ice sheet. Travel became a slushy battle and fishing took an immediate turn in a different direction. No, I didn't say a poorer direction; I said a different direction. Fishermen who adapted to the conditions concentrated their efforts at two, six, and even 16 feet off the bottom and continued to catch fish at a steady clip, while those who mired themselves with hooks and minnows in the same 10 percent of water that they fished in January had lots of time to think up clever fishing one-liners. It's a phenomenon that occurs regularly in March, when the spring meltdown normally occurs. It just came a little earlier this year.

Here's what happens. This may get a little drier than a mouthful of microwave popcorn, but bear with me. Water at it's densest is roughly 38 degrees. We've covered that ground in the past so I won't dwell on it. That 38-degree water is, therefore, in the deepest recesses of the lake and, on a normally cold winter, will often represent the warmest water the lake has to offer. What it all adds up to is the fish look for this water. As the pool of 38 degree water shrinks in mid-January, walleyes and saugers follow it out to deeper zones. And the fishhouses tend to follow the same route. Simple, logical.

Enter the early February meltdown. All that warmish (35-40 degree) water trickles its way down through cracks and holes in the ice as it seeks to find an appropriate level in the water underneath. Now remember, the densest water is 38 degrees which means that the water just under the ice begins at 33 degrees and the temperature layers warm as they get closer to the bottom. I know, I know, popcorn. Just a little more here. So the water from above the ice, which has taken the air's temperature of somewhere around 38 degrees, is going to slide under the ice and try to get to the bottom. But on the way down it encounters levels of cooler water and mixes everything up. The whole basin is in liquid turmoil, which affects the fish that live in it. They react by pulling off their normal bottom feeding patterns and suspend in different layers of comfortable water. One day two feet, another day six feet and even some days 16 feet off the bottom. Heck, during a period of dramatic meltdown, they'll occupy all levels in the same day.

Fishing becomes labor intensive as the need to watch depth-finders and change depths becomes a necessity. The rewards, however, are commensurate with the effort. Bigger fish, gone since December, begin to show up again and species like tullibees and northerns spice up the action. Just the satisfaction of getting practical, obvious use out of the $300 Vexilar you bought last fall is reward enough for the exertion.

Now don't panic. A good cold February cold snap is inevitable and when everything firms up you can go back to catching fish tight to the bottom like you've been taught. And when that works well for you, drive south and pay the appropriate homage to that statue of the "10 percent" guy who had time to stand up in his tippy dinghy and spout out with fishing philosophy. But when the next spring meltdown rolls around in a few weeks and you want to continue to catch fish, remember that the best "10 percent" to fish is all of it.

Renewable Energy conference Feb. 23-24 in Grand Forks

This year's Renewable Energy in the Upper Midwest Conference in Grand Forks, N.D., Feb. 23-24, will explore the vast potential for production of wind, hydrogen, ethanol and other renewable forms of energy in the region.

The event is sponsored by Sen. Byron Dorgan (D-ND) and the Energy and Environmental Research Center (EERC) at the University of North Dakota. It builds on five successful wind energy conferences.

The two-day conference will be at the Alerus Center in Grand Forks. It will feature a lineup of national experts in the renewable energy field.

Dorgan said the event will feature keynote speeches from two of the nation's most influential leaders in the renewable energy sector:

- Pat Wood, chairman of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC), the independent regulator of the nation's wholesale electric power industry, natural gas, oil and refined products pipelines and hydroelectric facilities;
- Dr. Marilyn Brown, a commissioner on the National Commission on Energy Policy who also directs a $120 million-a-year program at the Department of Energy's Oak Ridge National Laboratory to develop advanced energy efficiency and renewable energy technologies.

The conference begins with a general session on Wednesday, Feb. 23. It is free and open to the public. Leaders from North Dakota, South Dakota and Minnesota will discuss their state's renewable energy projects and the barriers and possible solutions for advancing the region's energy interests. Dorgan said the half-day session is an "excellent opportunity for North Dakotans and others to hear about hydrogen, wind and biomass, and their role in our state's energy and economic future."

"We broadened the conference this year because perhaps unlike any other part of the country, the upper Midwest has a huge range of renewable energy sources under its skies and in its fields and prairies. That means limitless economic opportunities for North Dakota," Dorgan said. "The high price of oil, the predicted shortage of natural gas, the 2003 electrical blackout in the Northeast, and national security interests all make the same point: We need to move aggressively toward energy independence."

"The EERC is committed to exploring a full range of energy options to address the most challenging issue for this country: energy security," EERC Director Gerald Groenewold said. "With considerable help from Sen. Dorgan and our private industry partners, we have developed strategic Centers of Excellence in biomass, wind, and alternative fuels, and have been designated as the National Center for Hydrogen Technology."

For more information or to register for the Renewable Energy in the Upper Midwest conference, call the EERC at 701-777-5246 or online at www.undeerc.org/reconference.

St. Bernard Science Fair is Feb. 17

St. Bernard's Catholic School in Thief River Falls has announced its science fair will be held Thursday, Feb. 17 from 3 - 6 p.m. in the school cafeteria. The fair will highlight projects from the third, fourth and fifth grades. All are welcome to attend.

Twenty-two singers, following in the great male chorus tradition of Wales, will perform as The Black Mountain Male Chorus in Thief River Falls on Sunday, Feb. 20. This performance, which begins at 7:30 p.m., will be at St. Bernard's Catholic Church in Thief River Falls. Tickets are available at the door.

Black Mountain Male Chorus to perform in TRF

The Black Mountain Male Chorus of Wales will perform at 7:30 p.m. on Sunday, Feb. 20, as part of the 2004-2005 Thief River Falls Entertainment Series. This performance will be at St. Bernard's Catholic Church in Thief River Falls.

With an average age of under 30, the singers for The Black Mountain Male Chorus, are drawn from the top music colleges, the National Youth Choir of Wales, and young soloists who are taking the first rung on the ladder to a professional career.

Wales has a geography that is as diverse as the choir's repertoire - from rolling hillsides to high mountain crags to a beautiful coastline. The chorus' performance is often described as a musical journey through Wales and incorporates the great Welsh hymns and lilting ballads. The program will also include some contemporary British music, songs from Scotland and Ireland, and of course, some light American music.

This highly entertaining show is for all audiences. Tickets are available at the door.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Dave Hill and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Opinions in items from other publications may not coincide with the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

Reasonable laws are needed

Area residents are really worked up about how the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is handling a directive to review the classification of all managed lands and to change the classification to "limited" or "closed." I encourage the DNR to work with area residents in coming up with some acceptable rules regarding access to state property, and use of current trails. Given the name-calling and hard feelings already expressed, it may take considerable effort. I also encourage the DNR and Legislature to increase funding for trail development.

The truth is that if the DNR or Legislature doesn't come up with a reasonable proposal that is agreeable to a majority of the people who live here, they will ignore your laws. Northern Minnesota residents have a reputation for being independent - sometimes to the point of being obstinate. Most off-highway operators are responsible, law-abiding citizens. All they want is reasonable laws that allow them access to state land - land that belongs to all taxpayers. The law should not turn them into criminals.

Submit your comments in writing

Next week, residents will be given the opportunity to voice their opinion at a public meeting. That meeting, which begins at 6 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 17, at the Warroad High School, is expected to draw thousands of area residents. Because it is expected to attract so many people, I doubt everyone will have an opportunity to express his or her opinion. It may be in your best interest, and ours, to submit your comments in writing.

A bit of advice on submitting letters: Name calling isn't likely to win any arguments. The best arguments are ones that persuade rather than accuse, they share personal stories, stories that tell us how closing the trails affects their lives.

I encourage you to submit comments to the DNR. Those comments will be accepted until Feb. 28, 2005. Written public comments should be directed to Helen Cozzetto, DNR Natural Resources Planners, 6603 Bemidji Ave. N., Bemidji, MN 56601; fax: 218-755-4063; or e-mail to, helen.cozzetto@dnr.state.mn.us.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

DNR trail proposal discriminates against the elderly and those with limited ability

To the Editor:

I am the son of a cancer victim who recently passed away this past summer and, like many, whose heritage included the trails of the Beltrami Island State Forest. Because of ability and age, reaching the favorite trails for blueberry picking, hunting, sight-seeing, and just plain enjoying what they have paid taxes for their whole lives, will now become limited and/or closed for access. The ability for the elderly and disabled to reach these spots (that their ancestors have grandfathered into the lives of most every northern Minnesotan), for whatever reason of nature, will no longer be accessible for them with a motorized vehicle.

Now I may be speaking selfishly. During the last few months of my dad's life, we drove through the woods and trails with my brothers. If you could have seen the smile on my dad's face, you would have realized it was the best possible medicine we could have offered.

My wife also has a 94-year-old grandmother who has been picking berries in the woods longer than the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources has been organized. And her ability to access the trails without a motorized vehicle is improbable. To me, this discriminates against the elderly and those with limited ability. One day, it will affect my heritage and my way of life in northern Minnesota.

I think Minnesota and its legislators have enough issues with healthcare and Social Security for the elderly. They shouldn't be wasting taxpayer dollars restricting access in the state forest.

I am from the baby boomer era, and I take pride in my upbringing and heritage. I have been taught that respecting nature and wildlife is an essential. Being from northern Minnesota, I have a lot better understanding of water, woods and wildlife than anyone from the southern part of the state. I understand those things due to the way I was raised and being in the woods everyday of my life.

Thank you,
Myles Hogenson

Dang Near Russian

To the Editor:

For years we have kidded a local friend about his cap that reads DNR, Dang Near Russian. Go ahead and change the last two letters of the first word if you want. I wanted to get this printed. It was merely humorous until lately when it became more gut-wrenching, prophetic, and no longer a laughing matter.

After 40 years of hunting in northern Minnesota, I have become convinced that the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) wants to drive us all indoors. Land that we used to hunt was state land or tax-forfeited land, but land that we all could use. In recent years, this land was designated wildlife management land, and is becoming more and more off-limits to anyone but the young and healthy hikers. You see a lot of these people buying licenses and hiking in our forests and swamps.

Maybe DNR should stand for Do Nothing Right. Fathers and sons are being ticketed for riding four wheelers on legal roads at the wrong time of day or riding double. Can we all afford one four-wheeler for every family member? The conservation officer argued that they were protecting the quality of the hunt. What about the road hunters, who year after year cruise up and down the road, back and forth, all day long, loud mufflers and all? A group of friends were ticketed this fall for having mud on the tires of their all-terrain vehicles. The DNR officer said that meant they had to have been off the trail, though it had been raining all weekend, and they had not been off the trail.

Where did common sense go?

The section lines and ditch grades that people have driven on for 75 years are now off limits. Look at the Beltrami State Forest road maps and road closings. Many of these trails have been used for generations by people for blueberry picking, picnicking, and grouse and deer hunting. These trails are now closed unless the individual has the time or is healthy enough to hike miles at a time.

What has finally angered me enough to finally say "enough is enough" would be evident to anyone who drives southeast of Grygla on Ditch 20. Our DNR has decided to flatten two sections of land on the north side of the ditch. If you are a hunter or logger it will make you throw up your hands at what the Do Nothing Reasonable decision-makers have decided to do with this prime poplar and deer country. A contractor from Plummer has been hired to level those two sections. Taxpayer money is going to a project that will destroy thousands of cords of standing poplar. Why not let local loggers have it at half the stumpage price? The state would make money and not waste money. I suppose, that would make too much sense. I think most people know when you cut poplar that it almost immediately re-sprouts. You snap it off like the bulldozers are doing and nothing re-grows. The bulldozers had a difficult time when they leveled the swamp the deer winter in because the deer did not want to move or leave. We cannot ride off trail because we make ruts, but these bulldozers are destroying more than all the four-wheelers in Minnesota could wreck in 10 years.

Hurray for the Roseau County commissioners who are standing up to our DNR. It is time for all of us who live in northern Minnesota to stand up for the outdoors that we love and be heard. Call your representatives, township boards, and anyone who might have influence.

I would really like to know who controls our DNR. Is the DNR a tax supported organization that is out of control and out of touch with the mainstream outdoorsman? Would anyone like to live in this area and enforce these rules? Maybe we should bring back "Markie" and "Fern." I am really dating myself now. Markie and Fern were game wardens who were tough but fair. They went after shiners, poachers, game hogs and fish netters, not after Mom and Pop out picking blueberries or a fisherman whose ATV tabs were expired by one day, or an individual who had mud on his tires.

To the Editor:

This letter is in response to an ever-increasing trend in this state and country – the erosion of the freedoms of its citizens under the guise of "in their interest and that of the environment." Having said that, I could go into so many subject areas, but I do not have the time or heart to address all of them. Instead, this letter will address one subject that is pressing on my heart.

As a veteran, I served this country to preserve our freedoms, much as our troops of today are doing in Afganistan and Iraq. Yet today, we seem to have "government-supported organizations." (I use this terminology loosely because even though they are part of the government, they openly admit to not being responsible to the people.) who embody what this country is supposed to stand against - socialism at its best. The Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and its policies on government-owned land, which the people have no say and effectively no access to, fits the definition of socialism.

This may have started by well-intended legislators, but it is speaking to a policy that as a people, we should be concerned about. Freedom is not the government controlling land and you. If the land is being bought "by the people," the people should have unlimited access to it. It should not be controlled by special interest groups. Such land can be bought by private groups, but that purchase should not be funded by the government.

People, please fight for the freedom that others have died to preserve.

Hats off to Roseau County and all who support them.

USDA creates voluntary register to reach minority producers

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Farm Service Agency (FSA) announces that minority farmers and ranchers may now join a new voluntary register to receive information from USDA.

"The new Minority Farm Register is an outreach tool to reach underserved farmers and ranchers who are not currently enrolled in USDA loan, farm or conservation programs," said JoDell Poolman, Marshall County FSA county executive director. "The Register will create a shared outreach list that will help USDA, community-based organizations, and minority-serving educational institutions to communicate with minority farmers and ranchers."

By joining the Register, minority producers may receive outreach materials, newsletters and program announcements from USDA agencies. They may also receive information and assistance from other USDA-approved outreach partners, such as community-based organizations, faith-based organizations and minority-serving educational institutions. USDA will carefully control access to and use of the Register.

Individuals wishing to join the Register must sign and date a form that provides their names and addresses. Providing phone numbers, e-mail addresses, race, ethnicity, gender, farm or ranch location will be voluntary although the additional information increases the producer's opportunities for receiving appropriate assistance.

The Register pamphlet with the registration form is available at the Marshall County USDA Service Center or from approved USDA outreach partners. Completed forms may be mailed to Minority Farm Register, USDA Stop Code 0503, 1400 Independence Ave. S.W., Washington, D.C. 20250. The registration information is available on the FSA's Web site (www.fsa.usda.gov/pas/publications/mfr/default.htm). FSA and USDA's Office of Outreach are jointly administering the Register. Registration forms are available in Spanish and English.

An individual may remove his or her name from the Register by writing to the above address. For information, contact the USDA Office of Outreach at 1-800-880-4183 or e-mail usdaoutreach@usda.gov.

Prowlers hold off Green Wave

In Section 8A, there's a world of difference between a second or third and a fourth seed for the upcoming 2005 boys high school hockey tournament. Get a No. 2 or No. 3 spot and you are placed in the lower bracket opposite the No. 1 seed and unquestioned favorite Warroad. Finish a spot lower and you're bumped into bracket that includes the defending champions, who are currently ranked No. 1 in the state.

Meeting Warroad in the tournament finals is preferred to a semifinal encounter. And that was the incentive Tuesday in a Thief River Falls vs. East Grand Forks match-up at the Ralph Engelstad Arena – site of the upcoming Section 8A tournament. The Prowlers all but guaranteed themselves of a No. 2 or 3 seed with a 5-4 win. And the loss figured to seal the Green Wave fate as Warroad bracket fodder.

With a 4-1 lead in the first minute of the second period, Thief River Falls' post-season position appeared to be a formality. And a 5-2 edge at the second intermission put the goal that much closer.

But East Grand Forks didn't just go through the motions in the third period. Kyle Tice scored on a power play tip-in at 3:36 and Casey Solem scored a full-strength goal in similar fashion at 12:28 for a 5-4 game.

And with goalie Kane Aubol pulled in favor of an extra attacker, East Grand Forks was pressing for the tie at the end when a final shot just missed the mark at the horn.

It was the sixth straight win for the 16-7-1 Prowlers in the midst of a busy late-season schedule congested by the addition of two weather-related make-up contests.

"We were doing a lot of good things when we had those 4-1 and 5-2 leads," said Thief River Falls coach Scott Bergland. "At the beginning of the third period, our seven games in 11 days was starting to show. We got tired. But it's a pretty gritty effort to win six-in-a-row like that."

The Prowlers' first shot on goal resulted in a 1-0 lead when Alec Holen converted a 2-on-1 at 5:55 of the opening period.

Thief River Falls goalie Lance Klaven, back in the nets after missing a pair of games following a snowmobile accident, gloved a waist-high shot, but couldn't hold on to the puck, giving Brad Lukasz a tying goal at 14:11 – just moments after a Green Wave power play had expired.

But it took Thief River Falls all of 23 seconds to get that one back as Corey LaSalle scored at 14:34.

And just 1:38 later a flip pass to center ice by Corey Horien put Holen behind the East Grand Forks defense for a 3-1 lead.

Fifty seconds into the second period it was 4-1 when Michael Forney scored on a backhand off a rebound after Holen had fought off a persistent East Grand Forks defenseman to bring the puck into the offense zone for the initial shot.

Patrick Boppre's tip on a power play slap shot gave East Grand Forks a second goal at 10:47, but Thief River Falls had another three-goal advantage when a Cody Bottem goal at 14:42 ended the night for Green Wave starting goalie Luke Bye.

Klaven stopped 20 shots, including a save on a clean breakaway by Boppre with 2:13 left in the second period. The two East Grand Forks goalies combined for 25 saves.

Scoring

First period - TRF, Alec Holen (Michael Forney), 5:55. EGF, Brad Lukasz (Kyle Scholand), 14:11. TRF, Corey LaSalle (Matt Nordhagen, Robby Phillipp), 14:34. TRF, Holen (Corey Horien), 16:12.

Second period - TRF, Forney (Holen, Horien), :58. EGF, Patrick Boppre (Kyle Nikle), 10:47. TRF, Cody Bottem (Holen, Nordhagen), 14:42.

Third period - EGF, Kyle Tice (Scholand, Michael Palmiscno), 3:36. EGF, Casey Solem (Riley Gregoire), 12:28.

Goalie saves - TRF, Lance Klaven 9 6-5-20. EGF, Luke Bye 9-9-x, Kane Aubol x-3-4. EGF game total 25.

Prowler wrestling team beaten by Roseau...

Second seeds lose 8AA matches

Top seeds Hibbing and Detroit Lakes advanced, but No. 2 seeds Thief River Falls and Deer River/Northland failed to make the 2005 Section 8AA high school wrestling tournament team semifinals.

The tournament began with East and West bracket matches Tuesday in Hibbing and Detroit Lakes, respectively. After receiving first round byes, the Bluejackets gained a semifinal berth by beating Greenway/Nashwauk-Keewatin 45-24 and the Lakers joined them with a 49-18 win over Crookston.

Thief River Falls, the No. 2 seed in the West, opened with a 65-3 drubbing of No. 7 Fosston/Bagley, but then dropped a 39-28 second round decision to No. 3 Roseau.

Deer River/Northland had a first round bye as the No. 2 seed in the smaller East field, only to lose a 46-27 match to No. 3 Blackduck/Cass Lake-Bena.

Thief River Falls' one-sided win over Fosston/Bagley included the first varsity wins for the Prowlers' Trevor Storey, an eighth grader wrestling at 112 pounds, and William Hesse, a freshman competing at 130.

That set up a Thief River Falls showdown against Roseau, a team the Prowlers beat 39-33 on opening night back on Dec. 2.

This one had a lot different look to it, according to Thief River Falls coach Kenny Geiser. "They were missing state champ Andy Przekwas that night, and most of their guys were wrestling up a weight," he explained. "Since then, we lost Ben Poissant and Brian Anderson to season-ending injuries, so both teams sent out different line-ups."

The two teams swapped pins to start the match, with Roseau winning three of the next weights to build a 21-9 lead.

Zach Anderson got the Prowlers back in it with a key pin at 140 that cut the Roseau lead to 21-15.

Thain Abrahamson suffered a pinched nerve in his neck during the Fosston/Bagley match, but he competed gamely against the Rams' Tommy Palmquist at 145 before losing 8-1.

Dan LeDuc had the Prowlers within four points of the Rams with a technical fall at 152, but back-to-back Roseau pins by Mark Przekwas and Andy Przekwas at 160 and 171, respectively, pushed the scoreboard spread back to 36-20.

Even though Adam Lian gave the Prowlers a victory at 171, his 6-5 decision over Matt Przekwas still left the Prowlers trailing by 13 with just two matches left – sewing up the match for the Rams.

"I told the guys they needed to leave it all on the mat, no regrets," said Geiser. "They did that. I am very proud of them. I am just a little disappointed for this big big crew of seniors. It would have been great for them to go a little farther as a team."

Thief River Falls finished the year with a 13-9 dual meet record.

"We had some great performances out of guys who were sick or hurt," noted Geiser. "Kevin Fynbob and Andrew Peralta were battling the flu, and Thain had the pinched nerve. Knowing the team needed them, they didn't let those things bother them."

The four qualifiers headed to Cass Lake for the team semifinals and finals Friday.

Individual portion of the Section 8AA tournament will take place Feb. 18-19 at Fosston.

Warroad wins low-scoring game

There just wasn't a whole lot of offense Tuesday as Warroad edged Thief River Falls 40-39 in boys high school basketball.

Thief River Falls started with a 10-6 first quarter lead and had a 24-21 halftime edge. But the host Prowlers could muster just 15 second half points. Warroad was barely better with 19, but it was enough for the win.

It was a 33-33 tie at the third quarter break.

Twenty-seven percent shooting did in the Prowlers, along with turnovers at key points of the game.

"Untimely turnovers led to lay-ups for Warroad," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Chris McLean, who gave some of the credit for the Prowlers' shooting woes to the Warroad defense. "Their zone is tough to crack," he said. "They play it very, very well. There's a reason they've won 12 games."

Warroad scored the game's final four points to beat the clock and the Prowlers.

Thief River Falls stayed in the game with 14-for-18 free throw shooting. Warroad shot 53 percent from the floor (18/34), but had a quiet 3-for-7 free throw night. The Prowlers finished with a 33-23 rebound advantage.

"It was a tough loss," admitted McLean. "The kids were pretty disappointed because we improved on our rebounds and free throws, but we didn't put the other pieces together to get the win."

Reid Merriman of Warroad led all scorers with 14 points. Thief River Falls numbers featured Matt Stuckey with 12 points and 8 rebounds, Alex Yaggie with 10 points and an 8-point, 9-rebound game by Paul Sjoberg.

The loss dropped the Prowlers to 6-11.

Raiders muscle way past Pioneers 66-55

Central Lakes was the stronger team, literally, Thursday as the visiting Raiders muscled their way past Northland 66-55 in Minnesota Community College Conference men's basketball.

The Pioneers had trouble generating an offense, and, even though they gave up only 66 points, it was a glaring weakness against the Raiders' inside game that forced the defense to take it's share of the blame.

Free throw contest won by NCTC

As the free throw count climbed, so did the confidence level of Northland coach Missy Majerus. Her faith in the Pioneers' foul shooting had merit as a 32-for-43 game at the line cemented a 79-64 win over Central Lakes Thursday in Minnesota Community College Conference women's basketball.

The two teams combined to put up a head-shaking 81 free throws. The Pioneers won by shooting 74 percent at the line. The Raiders lost in part, because they missed 20 times, hitting just 18 of 38 attempts.

"We've been a very good free throw shooting team," said Majerus. "And that's not just one or two kids. I have confidence in every one of them."

It was a key win for the Pioneers in their bid to stay with Northern Division leader Itasca. The week began with the first place Vikings at 6-1 in league play and the second place Pioneers at 6-2. They meet today (Saturday) in Grand Rapids.

A balanced attack helped lift the Pioneers' overall record to 14-8 as Alisa Costin scored 19 points, Kamie Larson 17, Ashley Kujawa 13 and Tara Blazejewski 11.

Northland never trailed, but they couldn't coast, either. The Pioneers enjoyed a 17-point, 37-20 lead with 3:29 left in the first half, but had to settle for a 39-28 difference at the break. It was a 49-40 game with 14:24 remaining before an 8-1 run produced a little separation as Larson completed a 3-point play off a rebound for a 57-41 cushion with 11:57 to play.

The Raiders still had life, though, when a basket by Kim Rosencrans cut the difference to 64-55 with 7:30 still on the clock. But a 3-pointer from the side by Kelly Dunnigan, two free throws by Rochelle Nelk and a long jumper by Costin shot the lead back to 71-55 over the next 76 seconds.

Central Lakes played better than the 3-14 record the Raiders had at the start of the week. "They're a tough team," said Majerus. "I think we played hard. We did what we had to do to win the game."

Rosencrans and Courtney Stach both had 20-point games for the Raiders.

Northland was 21-for-67 from the field (31 percent) against an aggressive Central Lakes defense.

"We didn't expect them to come out man-to-man or with a full court press," explained Majerus. "We hadn't prepared for it, but we handled it – maybe not perfectly, but we got the job done."

Central Lakes went 22-for-64 from the floor (34 percent).

The Pioneers finished with a 41-30 rebound advantage, but they also had more turnovers, 19-15.

It was a home-and-home sweep over the Raiders for the Pioneers, who won the earlier match-up at Brainerd 58-47.

Maurstad nets 37 in 74-63 MCC Tuesday victory over Gators

Jay Maurstad scored 37 points, Dustin Monsebroten netted 22 and Tyler Blazejewski came up with an 11-point, 11-rebound double-double as Marshall County Central beat Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 74-63 Tuesday in boys high school basketball.

The visiting Nordics turned a 12-11 first quarter edge into a 36-25 halftime advantage. They carried a 53-48 lead into the final quarter.

"The kids did a good job of executing our offense in the second quarter," reported Marshall County Central coach Jake Rantanen. "They ran the plays and got good shots."

The Gators, however, wouldn't go away. Down 50-35 midway through the third quarter, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River shaved 10 points off that spread before the horn and pressured the Nordics to the end.

"They (Gators) kept coming at us," noted Rantanen.

A 13-for-14 fourth quarter at the free throw line iced it for the Nordics, who improved to 12-6.

"It was a good win," said Rantanen.

Marshall County Central was 24-for-52 from the field (46 percent) and a productive 23-for-29 at the free throw line, where Maurstad went 15-for-19.

Adam Telander scored 13 points, Kyle Klasen and Nathan Thompson 12 each and Kevin Klasen 10 for the Gators, who were 23-for-65 from the floor (35 percent) and 13-for-17 at the line.

Rebounds were even at 37-apiece, and the two teams split 34 turnovers down the middle.

Bemidji rally beats Prowler girls 54-51

Bemidji wiped out a 19-point third quarter deficit with a remarkable turnaround that netted 54-51 win over visiting Thief River Falls Tuesday in girls high school basketball.

Thief River Falls jumped out to an 18-8 first quarter lead and had a 33-16 halftime cushion. Bemidji still trailed 44-32 at the close of the third quarter, but the Lumberjacks' comeback picked up momentum as they out-scored the Prowlers 22-7 over the final eight minutes.

It was the latest in a series of stinging defeats for the 7-13 Prowlers that also included setbacks at the hands of Roseau 51-43, Pelican Rapids 65-63 and Fergus Falls 57-46 – all games that could have very easily gone into the win column.

"We've had some tough losses over the past week-and-a-half, but this is one of the toughest to take," offered Thief River Falls coach Jeff Loe. "As well as we played in the first two quarters, we reversed that in the third and fourth. Bemidji got got more aggressive in the second half, and we didn't challenge enough."

An improved Bemidji effort on defense after intermission set up the Lumberjacks' rally, explained Loe. "They gave us opportunities to score in the first half that we didn't get in the second," he said.

Brittany Mayclin led the Lumberjacks with 14 points. Ashley Brown and Lindsey Gullickson both had 11. The Prowlers got a 15-point, 9-rebound game from Nichole Gryskiewicz and 14 points from Becca Larson.

"We really lost it on two statistics: free throws and rebounds," pointed out Loe. His team was out-rebounded 38-22 and had a 6-for-12 free throw night, compared to 20-for-29 foul shooting by the Lumberjacks.

Thief River Falls had only one offensive rebound in the second half and made just fourth quarter basket – a 3-pointer by Shawna Rogalla with 22.5 seconds left that tied it at 51-51.

Bemidji scored the game's final three points at the free throw line. Mara Johnson hit a pair to break the deadlock, then a Thief River Falls turnover was followed by a single free throw by Mayclin to finish it.

Thief River Falls shot 37 percent from the field (21/57). Bemidji shot 29 percent (16/56). The Lumberjacks topped the turnover charts 19-14.

Moorhead and Bemidji handed Thief River Falls a pair of losses Tuesday in boys high school swimming.

Times registered during the double-dual at the Franklin Middle School pool added up to a 126-43 win for the Spuds and an 86-75 victory for the Lumberjacks.

The results completed an 0-7 dual meet season for the Prowlers, who are completing the schedule with an appearance at the Taconite Invitational today (Saturday) in Aurora.

East Grand Forks wins JV contest in overtime

Thief River Falls forced overtime by pulling the goalie and scoring in the final minute of regulation time, but East Grand Forks won Tuesday's boys high school junior varsity hockey game 3-2 on a goal with just 10 seconds left in an 8-minute sudden-death overtime period.

Pat Barry and Dan Kaushagen scored the Thief River Falls goals.

Thief River Falls' goalie Cole Hunt had 22 saves.

Monday, John Carlson and Evan Jones scored two goals each and Drew Kjono had a single goal in a 5-4 Thief River Falls win over Grafton-Park River.

Hunt had a 23-save that night.

The home ice split followed a 4-3 Saturday loss at Detroit Lakes.

Grygla-Gatzke shooting beats Kittson Co. North

Grygla-Gatzke used a 55 percent 26-for-47 shooting performance from the field to compensate for an 11-for-24 showing at the free throw line Tuesday as the Eagles beat Kittson County North 66-53 in boys high school basketball.

"I thought our free throw shooting had been improving," offered Grygla-Gatzke coach Vern Johnson.

Those misses kept the game close. The Cougars led 15-12 at the end of the first quarter. The Eagles were up 31-27 at halftime and had a 46-35 third quarter advantage.

The make-up game victory put the Eagles at 18-1, but it wasn't without a struggle, admitted Johnson. "I thought they (Cougars) played a very good game," he said. "They played good defense and were very patient on offense. At times, they just plain out-played us. There just happened to be a few periods of the game where things went our way."

The Eagles were led by Tomas Loberg with 26 points, Geoffrey Satre 12 and Andrew Holte 10. Jason Nordin had a 22-point night for the Cougars, with 18 of those coming in the first half. He scored all 12 of his team's second quarter points.

Kittson County North was 20-for-43 from the field (47 percent) and 8-for-11 at the free throw line.

The Eagles had a 22-21 rebound edge. Turnovers were even at 10-apiece.

Raiders get physical in win over Pioneers

"We were intimidated by their physical play," said Northland coach Rick Nikunen. "That was the most disappointing thing."

The Pioneers began the week with a 6-2 first place record in the Northern Division – one-half game ahead of second place Rainy River in the win column. But what was a clear path to Northland's first pennant since 1996 now faces some obstacles heading the final games of the regular season. They're in Grand Rapids today (Saturday) to play last place Itasca. They will be on the road again Wednesday against title-contending Rainy River, then close out the schedule at home Feb. 19 vs. Hibbing.

No matter the opponent or the site, the Pioneers will have put out an all-points bulletin for their offense. It disappeared on them against the Raiders.

"We couldn't score," offered Nikunen in a short post-game interview.

Actually, the Pioneers did score early, grabbing a 12-2 lead four minutes into the game. But there were few offensive highlights after that.

Central Lakes led 33-28 at halftime.

Although the Raiders were clinging to just a 49-47 lead with 9:23 remaining, their inside game was already beginning to take over. Fourteen of the final 21 Central Lakes points over the last 10 1/2 minutes were scored from from inside the lane. The other seven included a fast break lay-up and five free throws.

And the Pioneers were unable to come up with an answer at the other end, missing nine of their final 13 shots.

Muscular 6-4 Louis Roseman scored 14 points, while a more slender Eli McVey netted 13 for the Raiders. Mike Howard and Juwann Bowman scored 16 and 13 points, respectively, for the Pioneers.

Northland was 20-for-52 from the field (38 percent), while Central Lakes went 28-for-55 (51 percent). The Raiders went to the free throw line just eight times, but made seven of them. The Pioneers had a 7-for-15 free throw night.

Central Lakes finished with a 33-23 rebound edge over the Pioneers, who topped the turnover charts 18-17.

The loss ended a four-game winning streak for the Pioneers, who are 15-8 overall. They also lost the first meeting of the year with the Raiders, 77-65 in Brainerd.

Central Lakes now has title thoughts with a 7-3 Northern Division record. The Raiders are 14-10 overall.

Currently the group includes 16 members. Sadly, Myrtle Drury, one of the group's original members who was instrumental in the push for a local chapter, died on Jan. 18.

"She really wanted to get this going," Dourud said. "She would have loved today, this would have been her cup of tea."

Drury was remembered during Friday's meeting with a moment of silence.

The NWMC CNC Red Hat Society is currently in the process of becoming a registered chapter of the Red Hat Society and is expected to be a fully participating chapter by the March meeting. The group meets on the first Friday of each month at the NWMC CNC board room.

The next meeting of the NWMC CNC Red Hat Society will be March 4. The meeting will be held jointly with a neighboring Red Hat Society from Oklee.

weather conditions in the past.

Listeners will surely hear more pioneer stories on the Strandlies' radio program, and the Strandlies are interested in receiving listeners' feedback. If the couple has left something out of a broadcast, listeners have something to add or listeners have ideas to share, they can call Travis Ryder, station manager, at 681-0791.

Community-based radio

The Strandlies are among several community members lending their talents to NCTC's radio station. About 15 community members have radio shows, Ryder said.

Noting that he is always looking for more community volunteers, Ryder added that he wants the station to be more than a training ground for mass communications students. Specifically, he said, he is looking for people willing to host shows covering jazz, bluegrass, blues or folk music. Besides music, Ryder is interested in having programs covering public affairs, politics, veterans affairs, and/or gardening, birdwatching or other hobbies.

To volunteer for a 15- to 30-minute show, call Travis Ryder at 681-0791.

The Smithsonian is coming!

and preserves for history what role, image and symbol barns have been for rural America.

Diverse Collection

Citizens of the United States come from many different backgrounds, so it should not come as a surprise that in this melting pot, there are a wide variety of barn types. The five kiosks included in the exhibit, include photos and representations of the English barn, Pennsylvania barn, New England barn, Western barn, tobacco barn, round barn and much more.

The exhibit also surveys the agricultural changes that led to architectural adaptations on the farm, following major movements in American history, such as westward migration and industrial changes.

Complimentary Events

Auchenpaugh said the organizing committee in Thief River Falls is planning many complimentary exhibits and events, but she added that the Smithsonian exhibit remains the primary focus, of course.

Activities and events are still in the planning stages, but Auchenpaugh couldn't contain her excitement about them. Activities, she said, could include a bus tour of barns and farms in Pennington County. It could include a presentation by Doug Ohman, the photographer who recently published a collection of photographs in a book entitled "Barns of Minnesota." Activities may also include exhibits about dairies and creameries in the area, centennial and community quilts, a garden club exhibit, a demonstration on horse harnessing, tractors and dairy cow milking.

Auchenpaugh said the grand opening has been scheduled for Friday, July 8. During the day of the grand opening, Charlie Maguire, a musician who made regular appearances on public radio's A Prairie Home Companion, will work with fourth graders, who will perform during the grand opening. Maguire will also play many "old tunes," such as "Turkey in the Straw" and his own compositions. Erio Bergerson, author of the newspaper column "Down on the Farm" and several anthologies, as well, will be the guest speaker.

Many other activities and events are being planned. Auchenpaugh said they hope to have something different each week, that's why it's important for residents to consider becoming members of the Pennington County Historical Society. Auchenpaugh mentioned that the Historical Society was kind enough to put its name and support behind the successful grant application that led to the exhibit being brought to Thief River Falls. The cost to see the exhibit located on the grounds of Peder Engelstad Pioneer Village is $3 per person per day. Because of the many activities being planned around the exhibit, purchasing a membership, might be of better value. Membership to the Pennington County Historical Society ranges from $12 for individuals, to $24 for families. The mailing address is: Pennington County Historical Society, P.O. Box 127, Thief River Falls, MN 56701. More information about memberships can be found on the Pennington County Historical Society Web site: www.pvillage.org.

Tyler Peterson (left) and Owen Stenvik, both eighth graders at Franklin Middle School in Thief River Falls, were the two top winners at the School District 564 Spelling Bee. Tyler, the son of Dan and Monique Wilson and Michael Holmgren, was the overall winner. The final word was "misshapen." Owen is the son of Owen and Rhea Stenvik. Tyler and Owen now advance to the Regional Spelling Bee that will be on March 4 at Northland Community and Technical College.

appeared train personnel followed the stop and protect order. The train started across the highway, and the collision occurred.

Rogalla added that he reviewed the fatality and coroner's reports. Yet, he noted, he did not have the reports indicating whether alcohol was present in Johnson's body at the time of the crash. Whether Johnson had alcohol in his body has no bearing on criminal charges, Rogalla said.

Due to the force of the accident, two railcars derailed and overturned, Wittenberg noted. Other railcars derailed as well, but did not overturn.

Some railroad track was damaged and has since been fixed, Wittenberg said.

The accident also led to the closure of that section of Highway 59 until Jan. 30, according to the State Patrol.

The State Patrol was dispatched to the scene at 7:38 p.m. Jan. 28. The preliminary report indicated roads were icy at the time of the accident. Another semi and a car following Johnson's semi went into the ditch. The drivers were not listed in the preliminary report and neither was the engineer of the train.

Hosted by the BSU Child Development Training Program, the Mega Conference features more than 100 educational sessions for individuals from Head Start, early childhood family education, early childhood special education, nursery school, public school and center as well as family child care programs.

Norman Kunc and Emma VanderKlift will present the opening keynote March 17. From British Columbia, the pair use powerful story-telling, humor and keen insights into the roles of professionals to challenge a commonly held assumption that people with disabilities are deficient. The program maintains that people with disabilities reflect the diversity of the human community and attention must be paid on the inherent assets of each person.

The closing keynote on March 18 features sisters Maggie Carlson and Susan Lee. Carlson is a BSU assistant professor of language arts while Lee is an early childhood family education teacher in Oklee. Accomplished musicians and educators, they will share their love for children and admiration for caregivers through songs, stories and ideas.

During the March 17 program, participants will also celebrate the 40th birthday of Head Start and the 30th anniversary of the BSU Child Development Associate training. A special appearance by Delana Smith, Miss Indian World, along with the Red Lake royalty will part of the celebration.

The Mega Conference is co-sponsored by the Northern Minnesota Head Start Advisory Council.

Registration is available on a one-day basis or for the full conference. If completed prior to March 2, the fee for Thursday is $90; Friday $75; and the entire conference $165. Registration increases by $10 for the daily rate or $20 for the full conference after March 3. Two lunches and the March 17 banquet meal are included in the cost.

The conference is also available for one university semester credit with an additional fee for tuition.

Registration and reservations may be completed by contacting the Child Development Program, Education-Art Building, Bemidji State University, 1500 Birchmont Dr. N.E., Bemidji, MN 56601-2699; by telephone at 1-888-234-1305; or by e-mail at cbrouwer@bemidjistate.edu.

National Animal Identification System enrollment underway

More than 35,000 Minnesota livestock producers should have received a letter from the Minnesota Board of Animal Health (BAH) and the Minnesota Department of Agriculture (MDA) in the last week. Each letter contains details on the state's National Animal Identification System (NAIS) and premises registration.

BAH and MDA are working together to register all Minnesota livestock premises (farms, auction markets, processing plants, etc.) by the end of the year. The state has received funding from the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) to implement a premises identification system and to begin work on livestock identification in the state. In the event of a disease outbreak, the goal of the NAIS is to be able to trace potentially exposed livestock within 48 hours.

Minnesota Board of Animal Health NAIS Project Manager David Wiklund said the U.S. needs to keep pace with the rest of the world if we want to remain competitive and the NAIS can help.

"Keeping pace includes livestock identification and movement documentation," said Wiklund. "To have credibility with consumers and trading partners, an animal identification system must ensure the ability to track each and every animal. The first step toward such a system is a sound method for identifying livestock premises."

In order to accomplish this, all Minnesota livestock premises need to be identified. Producers can register for the program by filling out the premises registration card they received in the mail, by contacting BAH at 651-296-2942, ext. 17, or by logging onto www.bah.state.mn.us.

A common question regarding the NAIS is whether producer information will be kept confidential. "Minnesota producer privacy will be a high priority throughout the implementation," said Wiklund. "The system will collect only information needed for effective disease control."

In the coming months, federal and state legislation may be developed to address data privacy concerns.

On Feb. 24, a free statewide informational NAIS presentation will be broadcast to locations throughout Minnesota. For a complete list of times and locations, log onto the board's Web site at www.bah.state.mn.us, or call (651) 296-2942, ext. 17.

Home buying workshop to be held

Buying a home is one of the most important decisions that a person makes today. In order to prepare home buyers for this step, the University of Minnesota Extension Service and Minnesota Housing Financing Agency will offer a "Home Stretch" Home Buyer Workshop on Thursdays, Feb. 24, March 3 and 10. Workshop sessions will be held from 7 to 9:45 p.m. in the Pennington County Courthouse meeting room in Thief River Falls.

The three-session workshop is designed for the first-time, low to moderate income home buyers; for homeowners ready to finance a contract for deed; or for persons just interested in exploring the possibilities of home ownership.

Participants will gain a thorough understanding of the home buying process. They will find out how much home they can afford, what lenders look for in a buyer, how to eliminate the barriers to home ownership, and what kinds of mortgage assistance programs are available. Various speakers from agencies or companies that work with home buyers will present the material and answer questions.

A certificate of completion will be provided to all participants who attend all three workshop sessions. Many lending programs now require completion of a home buying workshop to be eligible for their mortgage products.

The registration fee for the workshop is $20 per household. Call the Pennington County Extension Office at 218-683-7030 to receive a registration brochure with more information. Registration deadline is Monday, Feb. 21.

Nationwide ACT test set for April 9

College-bound high school students can take the ACT Assessment on April 9, 2005, the next nationwide test date. The registration postmark deadline is March 4. Late registration postmark deadline is March 18 (an additional fee is required for late registration).

The ACT Assessment now contains an optional writing test. Some colleges will require writing scores from students entering college in the fall of 2006. Students should check the admissions requirements of colleges they are considering before deciding whether to register for the ACT with or without the writing test. The cost is $28 without and $42 with the writing test.

Students can receive registration information from their high school guidance counselors or they can register on ACT's Web site at www.actstudent.org. The Web site also features test tips, practice tests, and a database for students to find out if a prospective college requires a writing score.

ACT scores are accepted by virtually all colleges and universities in the nation, including all Ivy League schools. Scores are used, along with a student's high school GPA, high school courses taken, extracurricular activities and other information to help determine if a student is academically ready for college-level coursework.

ACT encourages 11th-graders to examine their ACT scores for academic weaknesses and take more challenging courses or receive extra help to grow stronger in important academic areas. The ACT Assessment includes four tests: English, reading, math and science. Students who opt to take the writing test will add 30 minutes to the three-hour normal testing time.

Area students named to UND dean's list

The University of North Dakota has named 1,201 students to the fall semester dean's list. The list includes the students whose grade point averages are in the top 15 percent of the enrollment in each of the University's degree granting colleges and schools. To be eligible, a student must have completed at least 12 semester hours of academic work.

THE PROPOSED CLASSIFICATION OF TRAILS AND ROADS FOR BELTRAMI ISLAND STATE FOREST IS...

Not Acceptable

At The Gardens in Warroad Thursday, Feb. 17, over 2,200 people participated in the public hearing on proposed limitations on motorized access in Beltrami Island State Park. Staff at the concession stand were having a tough time keeping up with business. One staff person said that sales were as brisk as they are at a Warroad and Roseau hockey game. In fact, from the jeers and cheers coming from the hockey arena, he said, one might have thought a game between Warroad and Roseau was underway.

Crowd challenges DNR's proposed plan for Beltrami Island State Park

by David Hill
Editor

Thursday night in Warroad, over 2,200 people attended a public hearing on a proposed Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) plan that would limit motorized vehicle access to Beltrami Island State Park to a little over 500 miles of 1,135 miles of trails mapped in the park.

Residents of northwest Minnesota cherish their freedom, and nurse their independence from assembly lines and complications of modern life in the outdoors among the tall aspens, birch and cattail bottom land that makes up much of northwest Minnesota. If they could have spoken with one voice Thursday night, it would have been to say: This plan is not acceptable.

In perhaps a way of easing tension at the meeting, the DNR announced that "following concerns about our process" it was extending the public comment period until the summer.

Tension eased, but only for a moment.

Bennett Morgan, general manager of the ATV division at Polaris, was the very first speaker and he was addressing a crowd that included many Polaris employees. Morgan said that when Polaris signed on to this plan, they were under the impression that the plan would expand and extend trails. This plan, said Morgan, is not the plan Polaris signed on to. It's not acceptable.

Morgan like, many others in the crowd, thanked the DNR for the countless hours spent mapping trails, but said the plan concentrates use, and as a result would cause even greater environmental damage. He also said local residents have not been involved in the process until now and because they have not been involved, "We need to stop the process now; not just in Beltrami Island State Park, but all 54 state parks."

Mike Trihey, manager of ATV field testing, said "This should be a plan for trail creation not elimination."

Morgan reminded DNR officials and state legislators attending the meeting that 65 percent of the

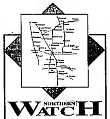
Beltrami Forest

The Beltrami Island State Forest is located north of Upper Red Lake and south of Lake of the Woods. The State Forest covers portions of Beltrami, Lake of the Woods, and Roseau counties. The cities of Warroad and Roseau are northwest of the forest and Baudette lies to the northeast. Portions of Hayes Lake State Park, the Red Lake Wildlife Management Area are within the boundaries of the Beltrami Island State Forest.

The Proposal



The DNR is proposing designation of 488 miles as "state forest roads," which would typically be open to both highway-licensed vehicles and off-highway vehicles. The plan also proposes designating about 54 miles of existing routes as ATV and OHM trails. About 592 miles of existing routes would remain undesignated, and therefore closed to motor vehicle use.

A Forest Access Route Inventory completed in 2003 documented about 1,135 miles of forest roads and other access routes in the Beltrami Island area.

MST Watershed District refunds $850,390 to DNR after complaint

Warren - Middle-Snake-Tamarac Rivers Watershed (MST) Watershed District has at least temporarily refunded an $850,390 second installment of a grant from the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) related to land acquisition for MST's Agassiz Valley Flood Damage Reduction Project. The refund was ordered by a resolution of the MST Board of Managers at its Jan. 24 meeting, Ron Adrian, MST engineer, said Monday.

The watershed district had received notification that the funds were to be returned through a Jan. 10 letter signed by Kent Lokkesmoe, director of the DNR Division of Waters.

Adrian said disbursement by DNR of the grant monies was requested by MST after its board issued an order to proceed with the Agassiz Valley Project (AVP), sometimes informally called the Helgeland Project after its location in Helgeland Township of Polk County, a few miles east of Warren. Adrian said the order to proceed meant about $2 million of damages bad to paid to project area landowners for acquisition of land needed for the project.

Documents related to the project indicate the first 50 percent of the DNR grant was sent to MST in March 2001. The second half, $850,390, was advanced in October 2002. The larger amount indicates, apparently, an increase in the amount approved for the land acquisition.

However, Adrian said, subsequent to the October 2002 advancing of the second half of the DNR grant, some of the landowners objected to the amount of damages awarded and appealed the amount in court. Because of those landowner objections, AVP has been stalled for the past 2-1/2 years though a court did order an arbitration process to try to work out the differences on damages.

More recently, the landowners have gone beyond the challenge to damages awarded and have challenged in Ninth District Court the establishment of the project by the MST. The challenging landowners claim the benefits of the project do not equal or exceed the costs, a requirement of such projects. Adrian said the challenge was taken under advisement of the court after a Feb. 3 hearing. A court ruling is pending. - Warren Sheaf, Feb. 16, 2005

Tourism discussed at Community Club

Fosston - Dave Bergman from Explore Minnesota Tourism was present at the Feb. 9 meeting of the Community Club to talk about tourism opportunities in Fosston.

Bergman began by stressing the importance of tourism to Minnesota from an economic standpoint. Annual travel and tourism in Minnesota generates $9.2 billion in gross receipts and sales, and $1 billion in state and local tax revenue. There are 28.6 million travelers to Minnesota each year, and these Minnesota tourists generate $25 million in gross receipts and sales per day. - The 13 Towns of Fosston, Feb. 15, 2005, by Tessa Balstad

Former Stephen police chief sues city, awarded $125,000

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

A jury has awarded a former city of Stephen police chief $125,000 after he filed a lawsuit against the city.

Greg Winskowski was awarded the settlement after he sued the city of Stephen in U.S. District Court in Minneapolis. The jury found Winskowski was entitled to a public "name-clearing" hearing to rebut claims that damaged his reputation, said Minneapolis lawyer Marshall Tanick, who represented Winskowski.

Winskowski's position was terminated in 1998 after the city eliminated its police force. (The city's law enforcement responsibilities are now covered by the Marshall County Sheriff's Department.)

It is not known whether the city will appeal the decision. "We have not made a final determination," said Julie Fleming-Wolfe, an attorney hired by the League of Minnesota Cities Insurance Trust (LMCIT) on behalf of the city.

If the settlement stands, the city would pay a $250 deductible, and the LMCIT would pay the rest, Fleming-Wolfe noted.

The city may also be required to pay Winskowski's attorney fees. Tanick noted that he will file a motion seeking attorney's fees as well.

The liberty interest claim was one of two claims Winskowski filed against the city of Stephen. The jury found in the city's favor regarding Winskowski's claim that the city had violated his right to procedural due process, Fleming-Wolfe said. She argued that Winskowski was an at-will employee and didn't have a constitutional right to procedural due process. The jury agreed.

Winskowski was employed with the police department for 18 years, including many years when he was the only full-time employee. Tanick said Winskowski is now employed by the Beltrami County Sheriff's Department.

Seven Clans I-500 considered snowmobing at its purest

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

In the winter of 1954-55 the dream of reliable, high-speed snow travel became a reality when Polaris co-founder David Johnson built, and later sold the first Polaris snowmobile to Pete Peterson, a neighboring business owner.

Johnson's vision was that man could travel cross country through snow in ways that were never before possible. Today, over 50 years after its invention the snowmobile has become an iconic representation of northwestern Minnesota culture - a culture that loves snowmobile racing of all types.

A guaranteed $10,000 cash prize will be on the line during the USCC (United States Cross Country) Snowmobile Racing Association Red Lake International 1500, held Feb. 25-27 at Seven Clans Casino - Thief River Falls. The 500 mile race is essentially snowmobiling in its purest form and it is expected to draw many of the USCC's top competitors.

The event, sponsored by Seven Clans Casino, Pepsi, Arctic Cat and Universal Screen Print, will offer a total prize fund of $50,0... competitors who can maneuver their sleds through natural jumps, over frozen lakes and rivers and even heavy brush.

"We want to try to bring the I500 back to the status it held in the '70s when it was a Winnipeg to St. Paul race," Seven Clans Casino - Thief River Falls General Manager Jeff Jasperson said. "The only other race that's similar is the Sioux 500, but it's raced on an oval. There is no other race like it this year. It's a big deal and we're bringing it right here to Thief River Falls."

Jasperson added that the race is staying true to its international tradition, as a portion of the course travels through Red Lake Nation. He said when Seven Clans Casino - Thief River Falls agreed to host the race, an agreement with USCC was reached that the race be a true cross country race, not a

I hove three Better Homes ond Gordens cookbooks that I use, along with all of the other ones I hove. The newest one was given to me by my eldest son one Christmas, and it is my "modern" one with recipes for breadmokers ond crockpots ond other new-fangled things. The second one is the one I received for my wedding shower in 1960, and it has really been used (ond is still used). However, the one I am using for today's recipes is my mother's cookbook. The copyright is 1941, so it is a war cookbook, ond some of the recipes reflect thot. I use it often, enjoying her pretty handwriting on some of the poges ond thinking how many of the recipes she made for us. She was a good cook.

One can't help but notice the omounts used in these recipes are much more frugol thon used todoy. It is sold we eat much more than we need nowodays, and I believe it is true. Notice the Spanish Rice with its topping of 1/4 cup of cheese! And the recipe serves 8. Would thot recipe serve 8 today? And there are six porsleyed potatoes cooked and the recipe soys it serves 6. No seconds for anyone during the wor.

Here's o cake I know Mom mode. The recipe is so old that it soys to chop a 7-ounce block of semi-sweet chocolote very fine to use in the cake. I think I'll chonge that to mini-chocolote chips:

ORANGE-CHIP CAKE
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup brown sugar (Mom used 1 cup of white instead of half and half)
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
6 or 7 ounces of semi-sweet mini chocolate chips
1/4 cup grated orange peel
1/4 cup chopped walnuts
2 cups flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup sour milk

Thoroughly cream shortening, sugars and vanilla. Add eggs and beot thoroughly. Stir in chocolate, orange peel and nuts. Stir in dry ingredients olternately with sour milk and mix just until smooth.

Pour into waxed-paper-lined 9 inch square pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 minutes. "Elegant with or without frosting!"

If you wont frosting, here's an easy one:

CHOCOLATE FROSTING
2 tablespoons water
1 tablespoons butter
1 (1 ounce) square unsweetened chocolate
1 cup confectioner's sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Heat water, butter and chocolate to melt chocolate. Add confectioner's sugar and vanilla and beat.

I'm sure this is the recipe my home ec teacher hod us make in 9th grode. I was so smart obout it, I tried to make it ot home, but, of course, used 3 cups of UNCOOKED rice. I never heard the end of thot, I can tell you - saucepon ofter saucepon after saucepon as the rice grew ond grew ond grew:

SPANISH RICE
6 slices bacon, chopped
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
2 cups canned tomatoes
3 cups cooked rice (1 cup uncooked, remember)
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper

Fry bacon crisp. Remove and add onion and green pepper. Cook slowly until onion is soft and yellow. Add remaining ingredients and bacon and bake in greased casserole at 350 for about 30 minutes. If desired, 1/4 cup grated American cheese may be sprinkled over top before baking. Serves 8.

Here's a recipe from the Eggs ond Cheese section. Again, it's simple but nutritious and it serves 6 (with 4 eggs, if you can believe it):

SUPPER OMELET
2 tablespoons minced onion
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup canned tomatoes
Salt and pepper
1 teaspoon sugar
1 cup chopped, cooked ham
1/2 cup chopped mushrooms
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup milk
4 beaten eggs
1 cup coarse cracker crumbs

Lightly brown onion in 2 tablespoons butter. Add tomatoes and seasonings and cook until slightly thick. Brown ham and mushrooms in butter. Add milk and eggs to crumbs and pour over ham mixture. Cook over low heat until eggs are set, stirring constantly. Serve with the tomato sauce, garnish with parsley. Serves 6.

Remember this dish? I bet you hoven't mode it for oges:

SWISS STEAK
2 pounds round or chuck steak
1/2 cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons fat
1 small onion, chopped
1 cup canned tomatoes
(Mom has written, "1/2 green pepper" on her recipe)

Have steak cut into 1-1/2 to 2 inches thick (by your butcher or meat man I bet - two of my uncles were those)

Mix flour, salt and pepper. Thoroughly pound into steak. Brown meat and onion (and green pepper if you want to use it) in hot fat. Add tomatoes, cover and cook over low heat, or bake at 350 degrees until tender, about 1-1/2 hours. Serves 6.

We always had potatoes from the gorden ond the new little potatoes were so tasty cooked this way. Mom didn't use lemon juice though - just porsley and butter - yum:

PARSLEYED NEW POTATOES
6 medium sized new potatoes
1/4 cup melted butter
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/4 cup minced parsley

Cook potatoes in jackets. Remove jackets. Combine butter, lemon juice and parsley. Add potatoes and toss until coated. Lemon juice may be omitted. Serves 6.

In Loving Memory of Lance Bugge
Aug. 20, 1970 - Feb. 18, 2004

It's been a year since you decided that your plate was too full – with no room for dessert. All that you wanted in life was never to be. You gave all you could, and even though you were loved, and very much loved by so many it didn't seem like that to you. If you only knew. So when you went down that last hunting trail, body and mind frail, you left in a very peaceful and contented state of mind. That is our only comfort, knowing you were ready to meet your maker face to face at the Pearly Gates. Although it's been a very difficult year for us, we know you aren't struggling to make all things right down here for so many. We'll never forget the hugs, kisses and "I love you" when we'd part. Special moment never to be forgotten. So now, when we don't have you here to do all the good for us that you did, just know that we'll never forget you and we'll miss and love you forever.

EQIP sign up enters second round

Funding still remains available for the Environmental Quality Incentive Program (EQIP) in the Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District (SWCD) area.

The Natural Resources Conservation Service Office (NRCS) in Warren (Marshall County) and Bemidji (Beltrami County) will take applications with an application deadline of Feb. 25.

EQIP provides funding for specific conservation practices. Examples of eligible EQIP practices include field, farmstead or wildlife tree plantings, including the removal of old trees, replanting or tree maintenance; sealing abandoned wells; nutrient management; pasture/hayland management; residue management for erosion control; grassed field borders; or prescribed grazing. Additional practices are also eligible. Contact the NRCS Office for additional information.

EQIP may provide financial assistance to livestock producers enrolled in the Open Lot Agreement, who need to make initial improvements by Oct. 1 to comply with requirements to prevent water pollution from manure-contaminated runoff.

By utilizing EQIP to install needed conservation practices now, individuals may be in a better position to qualify for the Conservation Security Program (CSP). CSP payments are based on management activities individuals have already taken as well as those they may wish to add.

EQIP applications are prioritized locally at the end of each enrollment period. Cost-share through EQIP is at 50 percent.

Additional funding may be available through the State Cost-share Program or the Agricultural Best Management Practices loan program. Contact the Marshall-Beltrami SWCD at (218) 294-6144 for more information.

Extension agricultural drainage workshop set for Crookston

Subsurface tile drainage, planning, design and other agricultural drainage topics will be on the agenda at an upcoming agricultural drainage design and water management workshop at Crookston. The workshop will be held Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 23 and 24 at the Northland Inn in Crookston.

The workshop will provide information on tile drainage principles, economic factors, design considerations and problem solving examples with lots of discussion time. It is designed for tile drainage contractors, farmers, landowners, industry staff, crop consultants and land use and water management decision-makers.

The first day will cover water management planning, basic tile drainage design concepts and farmer experiences. The second day will include hands-on layout and design problems and an update on university regional drainage research.

There is a charge for the event to cover coffee, meals, handouts, etc. For pre-registration, contact Jean Spohr at the University of Minnesota, West Central Research and Outreach Center in Morris at (320) 589-1711 or spohrjm@mrs.umn.edu. Registration forms and program agenda are also available online at the U of M Drainage Outlet Web site, http://d-outlet.coafes.umn.edu/.

The U of M Extension Service, in partnership with the Minnesota Land Improvement Contractors Association, industry partners and North Dakota State University Extension Service, is sponsoring the workshop.

For more information on the program, contact Hans Kandel, regional extension educator at Crookston, at kande001@umn.edu or 1-888-241-0781.

USDA announces second 2004 crop countercyclical payments

The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) has announced that it will begin issuing second partial countercyclical payments for 2004-crop wheat, corn, grain sorghum, barley, oats and soybeans under the Direct and Countercyclical Program (DCP).

Second partial countercyclical payments are not available to wheat DCP participants who received first partial payments. However, wheat DCP participants who did not receive first partial payments may request a $0.014 per bushel second partial payment rate. Wheat market prices have increased since first partial payments were made in October 2004 and, as a result, the first partial payment rate exceeds the revised second partial payment rate.

Countercyclical payments are available to producers who participate in the DCP authorized by the 2002 Farm Bill. Producers are eligible for countercyclical payments when effective prices are less than the target prices specified in the 2002 Farm Bill. The effective price equals the direct payment rate plus the higher of (1) the national average market price received by producers during the marketing year or (2) the national loan rate for the commodity.

The 2002 Farm Bill allows producers to receive countercyclical payments in three installments:

- A first installment in October (up to 35 percent of the total projected rate);
- A second installment in February (up to 70 percent of the total projected rate, less any amount received under the first payment);
- The final payment after the end of the marketing year, which varies by commodity.

The first 2004 countercyclical payment was available in October 2004. Based on the Feb. 9, 2005, supply, demand and price forecasts released in USDA's report and world agriculture supply and demand estimates, the total projected and second partial payment rates for 2004 are:

- Wheat – A total projected rate of $0.02 per bushel and a second partial rate of $0.0140 per bushel.
- Corn – A total projected rate of $0.40 per bushel and a second partial rate of $0.2800 per bushel.
- Sorghum – A total projected rate of $0.27 per bushel and a second partial rate of $0.1890 per bushel.
- Barley – A total projected rate of $0.15 per bushel and a second partial rate of $0.1050 per bushel.
- Oats – A total projected rate of $0.016 per bushel and a second partial rate of $0.0112 per bushel.
- Soybeans – A total projected rate of $0.26 per bushel and a second partial rate of $0.1820 per bushel.

Producers who previously elected not to receive the advance countercyclical payments for crop year 2004 may go to their respective Farm Service Agency (FSA) office and change their elections up until Friday, Sept. 30, 2005.

Final countercyclical payments will be determined after the end of the 2004-05 marketing year for each commodity:

- Wheat, barley and oats – May 31
- Rice, upland cotton and peanuts – July 31
- Corn, grain sorghum and soybeans – Aug. 31

More information on DCP is available at local FSA offices and on FSA's Web site (www.fsa.usda.gov).

Be with me in my dreams tonight
Be all you once were and all you will be.

Rantanen to enter four-stroke snowmobile in Seven Clans I-500

Arne Rantanen Jr., vice president of White Knuckle Performance Inc., has announced his intentions to enter a four-stroke snowmobile in the USCC Seven Clans I-500 snowmobile race. Rantanen said that after three months of testing, he believes the Yamaha Vector 3 cylinder four-stroke snowmobile is a competitive choice for this grueling event.

Rantanen was the 2001 I-500 fan class winner. He is a seven-year cross country veteran and will be sponsored by White Knuckle Performance Inc. of Middle River, and Carver Performance of St. Hilaire. He is also supported by RV Sports of Thief River Falls, and Seaberg PowerSports of Detroit Lakes.

Sailer remains optimistic for Red Lake schools

Representative Brita Sailer (DFL-Park Rapids) reacted with optimism in spite of news that the Red Lake School improvements were not included in the House Capital Investment Bill released by the committee.

"Red Lake students deserve the same access to a quality learning environment that other students around the state enjoy," said Sailer. "This project is about making essential investments in children's futures."

Sailer pointed out that the project is included in the Senate's Capital Investment bill that passed last month; it was also included in the 2004 House Capital Investment bill that perished due to legislative deadlock.

"The Red Lake School project continues to enjoy bi-partisan support because it is a necessary investment for the Red Lake community," said Sailer. "The governor has included the project in his budget recommendations; the Senate approved the projects as part of theirs. We have reason to believe that the project will receive the necessary funding this year, regardless of the small setback in the House."

We're not in Kansas anymore, Toto.

It wasn't all that hard to believe in at first. You know, how objective and credible the Internet seemed in those first few naive years that I accessed it. Like a youthful perception of teenage love or the life expectancy of pets, my view was immature, at best. Heartfelt solicitations for worthy causes, confidential offers to share vast sums of inherited African wealth, medically-based promises to increase the dimensions of undersized body parts by 30 percent - all proposals that'd be greeted with a skeptical glance if offered in person. Yet, there was something about coming across through cyberspace that gave them validity. Surely, a machine so technologically advanced as a personal computer, I figured, couldn't dispense anything but absolute truth and honesty. However, after several years of watching my personal debt increase, my appendages remain the same size, and my faith in human nature shrink, I have to admit to a brand new, jaded view of the Internet. I now tend to perceive it with a very defensive posture. Offers that seem too good to be true, are now considered just that. Unfamiliar e-mails are deleted immediately. Downloading is a last possible alternative. And if that guy from Kenya doesn't send me my $14.2 million by the end of the week, I'll never give out my bank access codes online again.

So, if an unsophisticated computer rube like me can finally come to the painfully obvious conclusion that Internet information is not always totally believable, how come the rest of the fishing world still seems to lag behind on that same point? As a well-seasoned angler, I'm more than willing to admit that I've learned very little about the actual habits of fish. Heck, after nearly two decades on Lake of the Woods, my catch rate in a boat is still capable of making most 10-year-olds casting off the end of a dock look good. And yet, for all the potential knowledge that's been missed, I've still managed to grasp that the bulk of fishing success resides in an angler's story, not his cooler. In short, like one of those devices that get offered through my e-mail every day, fishermen try to stretch things.

So, let's put two and two together. We've got the Internet, which is not a totally reliable source. And we've got a bunch of fishermen, who are under a cultural demand to exaggerate. Now, we go to one of those Web site chat rooms and there we find fishermen on the Internet. Ideas, experiences, destinations, innovations, all having to do with fishing, are exchanged on these sites. It's a great place to go and find out because the fishermen who frequent these sites seem to have done, well, everything. And, even more incredibly, to have done everything well! These guys will tell you where and when and with what. It's just like you're their best buddy! And all just because you're there on the Internet with them. It almost seems to good to be true!

Fishermen. Internet. Hmmmm. Am I the only one who smells something fishy here?

And yet, I'm confronted daily with anglers who put tremendous amounts of stock in the information they absorb from these sites. They'll go so far as to base their entire weekend angling plans on cyberspace suggestions. For instance, guests arrive regularly with obscure tackle supplies like dozens of gold "Gitzem jigs" because a chat room voice insisted that the fish would bite on nothing else. Did it ever occur to this trusting angler that the chat room voice might be coming from the "Gitzem" manufacturing plant? Does it seem too unlikely that "hot bite" reports as to area lakes might be originating from somewhere around those very lakes? Does it seem unreasonable to suggest that stories reflecting huge personal fishing success are being told by anglers with huge, and perhaps fragile, fishing egos?

The Internet and anglers. It's certainly an odd union to put stock in. But, perhaps I'm letting my newfound cynical nature run amok here. Maybe there is a kernel or two of integrity to be gleaned from the myriad of fishing Web sites out there. Finding it, without a clasp of the hand and a meeting of the eyes, however, seems a little difficult from this cyber-space distance.

However, if you're looking to improve your fishing, give me a call! I've got a whole pile of these neat devices that'll enlarge your nightcrawlers over 30 percent. Guaranteed! A must for any fisherman! For sale. Cheap.

State to hold National Animal Identification webcast

The Minnesota Board of Animal Health (BAH), the Minnesota Department of Agriculture (MDA) and the University of Minnesota Extension Service are joining forces to educate the state's livestock producers on the National Animal Identification System (NAIS). When fully implemented, the system will allow an exposed animal to be traced within 48 hours in the event of a disease outbreak.

Two presentations will be given Feb. 24. The presentations will be broadcast via the Internet to sites throughout the state. BAH NAIS Project Manager David Wiklund said the webcasts are designed to answer common questions from producers.

The webcast will be held at 1 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. Feb. 24 at the Northwest Research and Outreach Center in Crookston. For more information, call (218) 281-8602.

It will also be broadcasted at 1 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. Feb. 24 at the University of Minnesota Extension Service, Roseau Regional Center. For more information, call (218) 463-0295.

"The animal identification program will only work if it works for livestock producers," said Wiklund. "It's vital that producers understand how this program is going to work, how they can use it for their own purposes, what's asked of them, and when it's needed. The presentations provide the chance for the producers to get first-hand information about the NAIS."

Wiklund added, "By working together, the farm community and government officials will be able to implement a sound animal ID system. It's an important goal for all of us with a stake in animal agriculture, and the Minnesota Board of Animal Health and the MDA are committed to helping make it happen."

Producers can register their premises by completing a premises registration card, by contacting the Board at 651-296-2942, ext. 17, or by logging on to the board's Web site at www.bah.state.mn.us.

Ag budget proposal is a flawed proposal

President Bush's budget proposal is asking American agriculture to take a hit to help solve the nation's budget problems. It's a flawed proposal that will only add to the burdens of people in the agricultural industry and taxpayers.

The president is proposing to cut ag programs. According to Congressman Collin Peterson, the 2002 Farm Bill helped agricultural and rural economies, and in doing so, spent $15 billion less than originally estimated. It has been a good program for agriculture, and obviously, a cost effective program.

In addition, farm program spending accounts for less than one-half of one percent of the federal budget, and according to Peterson, even if eliminated, the savings would not put a small dent in the deficit.

American agriculture programs are not the problem. Cutting those programs would do little to nothing to solve this nation's federal deficit problem. In fact, cutting these programs might create even bigger problems. As Peterson noted, "instead of honestly trying to deal with the deficit and its causes, the president proposes to cut programs that strengthen our rural economies and help the farmers and ranchers who produce our food and fiber."

It seems that once again, "our fair share" has been translated to mean that rural America will have to pick up a bigger share of the burden.

"We've got to fight them on that and defend the interests of American farmers and ranchers and the economic base of rural communities if we're going to maintain a bright future for rural America," said Peterson when he was selected to serve as the ranking member on the House Agriculture Committee.

Regarding the budget proposal, Sen. Norm Coleman makes a good point, though – the president's budget proposal is only that – a proposal that starts a much longer conversation.

It's time we add our voice to the conversation.

LETTERS

Voters should decide whether to close Beltrami Forest trails

(The following letter was submitted as a letter to the editor. It was written to Helen Cozzetto, natural resources planner, of the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources.)

Dear Ms. Cozzetto,

I have owned property east of Faunce Tower in Beltrami Island State Forest (BISF) since 1977. My daughters and I have had the wonderful opportunity to go four-wheeling on the numerous logging trails and forest roads for the past 28 years. We have enjoyed the beautiful scenery and wildlife, but, more importantly, it gave us a good reason to spend time together as a family.

Back in the 1980s, a 25-square-mile area of BISF was designated as state management land and was closed to all-terrain vehicle (ATV) use. This action cut out the heart of the forest for public use. Now the surrounding area is being put in jeopardy.

I oppose the closing of any additional forest roads or trails for ATV use for any reason. I have not seen the use of ATVs as hurting the environment in that area. If you have driven through the BISF area lately, you would certainly see that more environmental damage is caused by the many logging operations.

In northwestern Minnesota, outdoor recreation is very important to our citizens and to our local industry. BISF is one of our most important recreational areas. We do not see the environmental abuses by ATV operators as seen in the higher population areas. We cannot afford to limit access to property owned by the citizens of this state, especially to those of us living here.

If the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is successful in closing forest trails to all motorized vehicle use, would that limit logging operations, hunting or public access to the ceded Red Lake American Indian lands? Why are we paying ATV licensing fees if there will be no place to ride?

The decision to close forest trails in the BISF should not be left up to the DNR or the Minnesota Legislature, but rather it should be voted on by the taxpayers and citizens of the state who are the real owners of this property.

Sincerely,
- Paul Johnson
Thief River Falls

To the Editor:

Don't we have anything to say anymore or has the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) taken over that, too?

My son Myles Hogenson had a letter in last week's Northern Watch. I will tell you why my husband had a smile on his face when the boys took him up there.

My husband has been hunting at Beltrami since we first got married. We have a beautiful mount of a buck in our family room that he shot in 1952. When he first started hunting up there, there were no roads. A bunch of farmers would go up there hunting, and they would take a cat along to pull all the trucks through and stay for 11 days. They had three big tents. They slept on bales in one of the tents. They also had a power plant, a gas stove, a freezer, and made a sand pit. There used to be toilets across the road from them, but now they are gone and the road is closed, too.

We have a cabin at Waskish, and we would drive through Beltrami when we came from the lake. We'd stop and pick blueberries, and really enjoy it. Some Sundays we would drive up there with our family, bring a lunch along, or stop at Fourtown and eat. We had to keep them in business, too.

We have a daughter living by Fourtown, and a son up at Roosevelt. They always drove that way because it was 40 miles closer.

Our daughter is a horse lover and rides horses all the time. The DNR has land real close to where she lives, but now they can't even ride their horses on the land because they say it will pollute the land. What is this world coming to?

What would we do without Arctic Cat and Polaris if they had to close their doors?

Use some common sense.

Do you see why my husband had a smile on his face when the boys would take him up there?

Yours truly,
Gladys Hogenson
Thief River Falls

(Several conservation groups signed the following letter, which urges Minnesota Governor Tim Pawlenty to reconsider "the demotion" of Minnesota Department of Natural Resources Regional Director Paul Swenson.)

Dear Governor Pawlenty:

We strongly oppose the recent demotion of Department of Natural Resources Regional Director Paul Swenson and urge you to exercise greater oversight of land management in Minnesota. This recent personnel decision is puzzling and raises doubts about whether you and the DNR are operating with the public's best interest in mind.

As you know, the 2003 off-highway vehicle (OHV) law you signed required DNR officials to review OHV trail designations in all 57 state forests. To that end, the DNR recommended limiting ATVs and dirt-bike motorcycles to 514 miles of designated trails in Beltrami Island State Forest. The current management system allows OHVs to ride virtually anywhere across the 739,000-acre forest.

In response to the proposal, Roseau County announced earlier this month that it would prohibit DNR officials from traversing county owned land in Beltrami Island State Forest. The decision was an overzealous response to a balanced proposal.

Rather than rationally address the county's concerns about the forest plan, the DNR abruptly demoted Swenson on Feb. 8. While Swenson has honorably served the DNR for 29 years and done some excellent work on a host of resource issues, including the Red River, his demotion seems rooted in the fact that the forest plan alienated some county officials.

This decision comes at an inopportune time in the Beltrami Island State Forest planning process. A public hearing on the forest plan is scheduled for Feb. 17 in Warroad and it seems irresponsible to remove such a high-ranking official just as the proposal must be explained to the community.

Finally, Swenson's demotion sends a troubling message to other DNR employees: to release a forest plan that offends public officials or other powerful interests means risking their job. Such a message, whether intentional or not, is disabling to DNR employees who must review and prepare proposals for 43 remaining state forests.

We urge you to reinstate Paul Swenson as regional director, and to fend off future incidents of interests calling for the ouster or demotion of other DNR employees who create forest plans favoring resource protection.

To the Editor:

We congratulate the Iraq people for anonymously voting for independence and freedom for their country on election day, Jan. 30, 2005. We commend United States and British forces for maintaining peace during their election day. They still have much to do to form a democratic government.

Their first step will be to set up a national assembly. The duties of this assembly will be to choose heads of government and oversee drafting of a new constitution. By the end of February, the assembly is to elect a president, two vice presidents, and name a temporary prime minister and a cabinet. Their constitution is to be drafted by Aug. 15, 2005.

There will be another nationwide election on Oct. 15, 2005.

Assuming the constitution is approved, new elections will be on Dec. 15, 2005. On Dec. 31, 2005, a fully constitutional government will take power. As you can see, the Iraqi people have much yet to do to form a democratic government.

Now is the opportunity for the other countries of the United Nations to assist the United States and British armed forces for peacekeeping and training the new Iraqi officials.

If this happens, the majority of the United States men and women in the armed forces serving in Iraq should be released so they can come home to their families and jobs.

In my opinion, the first United States forces to be released should be the men and women of the National Guard who were called to serve in Iraq since the beginning of the war.

The National Guard men and women should be kept in the United States to protect our country from terrorism and be ready to help in emergencies such as the tsunami disaster, Florida hurricane, California flood, and other emergencies that could arise.

We express our thanks to all of our men and women in the armed forces who are still serving in Iraq and also thanks to those who have served in the past.

We mourn with the families of those who have died in Iraq.

Sincerely,
Leonard E. Olson
Warren

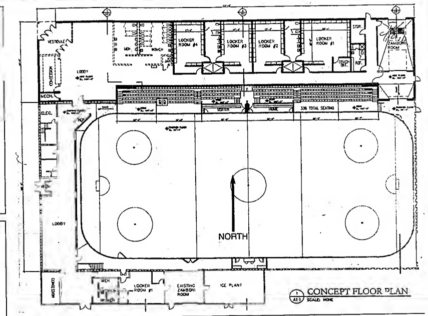
Dated January 10, 2005

OFFICIAL SPECIAL ELECTION BALLOT

City of Red Lake Falls
Red Lake County, Minnesota
TUESDAY, MARCH 8, 2005

If you desire to vote for the proposition, put an "X" in the square before the word "YES." If you desire to vote against the proposition, put an "X" in the square before the word "NO."



Shall the City of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, be authorized to issue its general obligation bonds in an amount not to exceed $570,000 to defray the expense of the betterment of the Red Lake Falls Ice Hockey Arena?

	YES
	NO

NOTICE: BY VOTING "YES" ON THIS BALLOT QUESTION, YOU ARE VOTING FOR A PROPERTY TAX INCREASE.

The maximum amount of increased levy as a percentage of market value is .168%.

The amount that will be raised by the new referendum tax rate in the first year it is to be levied is $48,039

ARENA FUNDING SOURCES

The funding needed to complete the arena project is designed to come from several sources including a bond issue, tax revenues, loans, and third party contributions.

The bond issue, if passed will generate a tax increase to cover the annual bond payments. The difference between direct funding and the actual project cost will be covered by additional tax dollars and/or funds from the city's reserves.

If reserves are tapped for the project, additional levies may be calculated to rebuild the reserve fund over a period of time.

Additional annual funding may be available from increased user fees. It is anticipated that the improvements will generate some increase in arena operating expenses.

SOURCE	AMOUNT	OBLIGATION	FIRST PAYMENT	AVERAGE ANNUAL PAYMENT
General Obligation Bond	$ 570,000	20 years	$ 48,000	$ 45,000
Interest Free Loan	$ 225,000	22.5 years	$ 10,000	$ 10,000
Additional Tax/reserve monies	$ 111,900	1 year	$111,900	Unknown
Existing budgeted improvement monies	$ 105,000	NA	$105,000	NA
Blue Line Club Contributions	$ 85,000	NA	$ 85,000	NA

Dollars value are estimated and round to the nearest $1,000

Over the past week, City Hall has been asked many questions about the Cardin-Hunt Arena proposal.

Here are the questions that have been asked:

Q. Why didn't the city ask the county to help in this project?
A. The city did ask for help on the arena project and the reply was if they put money in the Red Lake Falls arena they would have to put the same amount in the other three cities in the county and, with all the state cuts and losing funding, the county needs to look at ways to save money to keep the county operating.

Q. Was the school district asked to help in the arena renovation?
A. Yes, the city has asked if they would be able to help with the project and the school district was not able to help with funds or grants for this project. And, just remember, they just asked the district to pass a levy referendum to keep the school district operating and also have received state cutbacks, too.

Q. If the Blue Line Club wants the arena remodeled, then why don't they pay for it?
A. Yes, the Blue Line Cub would like to see the arena remodeled but they can't afford to do this on their own. The Blue Line Club has participated in many of the remodeling projects with the city and the Blue Line Club will also participate on this project if it passes and they will continue to do so as long as their program continues. The city owns the building and there are safety issues with the locker rooms upstairs.

Q. Why doesn't the city sell the arena?
A. The city has asked the school and the Blue Line if they would like to buy the arena and, as you can see, the city still owns the arena.

Q. If the city has received a $225,000 interest-free loan and the Blue Line Club has $85,000, why doesn't the city add on locker rooms with showers and fix up what we already have? That's $310,000. Can we really afford more?
A. Yes, the city did receive the interest-free loan and the Blue Line has $85,000 and the city has also budgeted money over the past for improvement and also for repairs that might happen down the road.

Q. Why did this come to a vote of the people and why didn't the city council just decide to do something?
A. The city council made the decision to put it to the vote of the people because of the cost of one million dollars. The council was asked if they would look into updating the arena and, with the help of the Blue Line Club and others from our community, Mike from MJ Architects came up with the plan you see today. The city can bond for street, sewer, water and other repairs without asking for a vote of the people, but on a major remodeling project for recreation, that would require bonding. The state says you can only bond for a portion of the project, and that requires a vote of the people.

Q. The city should remodel. We need new bleachers and we need to fix up our high school locker room and restroom.
A. The proposed project would not include new bleachers or would it fix any of the existing arena we have now.

Q. Why can't it be done a little at a time? We have a Thief River Falls arena 20 minutes away and Grand Forks 40 minutes away?
A. It could be done a little at a time but that always costs more.

Q. What is really wrong with our arena?
A. I believe the locker rooms that are upstairs are a safety issue, the high school locker rooms could be updated, our current restrooms need updating, our lobby could be bigger and our new bleachers are needed and heat would be nice for the spectators.

Q. Why would we put a million dollars into a building that is only used for six or seven months out of the year and than only used for hockey?
A. First of all, yes, it only is used for hockey right now, but the city needs to promote the use of this building for other things, like rollerskating, car shows, flea markets and many other things that might just fit in this building.

Q. The taxes that show here in the paper are for all of this project or is it only on the bonding amount?
A. The tax information you see is only on the bonding amount.

Q. Is there anything the city or Blue Line is trying to hide?
A. No. This is why the city purchased a half page for the month of February so the community would know what is going on and it is also talked about on the local news. That tells me we are trying to keep you informed.

Q. Is it true that if no one came out to vote and there was only one yes vote it would pass?
A. I believe that is correct and that is why there is a vote so people can make that decision . . . YES or NO.

Please call with any questions or concerns you might have. They will be answered in next week's paper.

Northland comeback produces 96-82 road win over Rainy River

A slow start didn't keep Northland out of the win column Wednesday as the Pioneers came from behind to beat Rainy River 96-82 in Minnesota Community College Conference men's basketball at International Falls.

Rainy River opened the game with a 12-0 run and had a 20-5 lead before the Pioneers regrouped. "We came off that long trip and just couldn't get going," said Northland coach Rick Nikunen, who burned up three time-outs trying to slow down the Voyageurs.

Northland was able to stay within 47-38 at halftime and out-scored Rainy River 58-35 over the final 20 minutes for the win.

"In the second half, our legs were there," said Nikunen. "We got some baskets and did a much better job on defense."

Mike Howard of the Pioneers led all scorers with 32 points. A versatile shooter who often will hit from 3-point range, Howard had just one trey this time. "Mike posted up really well," noted Nikunen. "We felt we had an advantage on the inside, he did a nice job."

Juwaun Bowman added 24 points, Cyrin Shaffer 16 and Jason Koch 11 to the Northland offense.

The Pioneers scored 22 points at the free throw line on 35 attempts. Rainy River was 12-for-16 on foul shots.

Northland will take a 16-9 overall record and a 7-4 MCCC Northern Division mark into a 3 p.m. 2004-05 regular season finale today (Saturday) at home against Hibbing.

Late shot topples Pioneers 80-78 at International Falls

Becca Denny hit at tie-breaking, game-winning base line shot with eight seconds remaining as Rainy River edged Northland 80-78 Wednesday in Minnesota Community College Conference women's basketball.

Northland trailed 45-37 at halftime, but led 76-71 with less than three minutes left.

It was a tense struggle down the stretch. Two free throws by Kelly Dunnigan produced a final-minute 78-78 tie.

A balanced Northland offense featured Kamae Larson with 17 points, Alisa Costin and Tara Blazejewski with 14 each and Dunningan 11.

Jami Muir scored 26 points and Denny had 20 for the Voyageurs.

The Pioneers, who are 7-4 in the MCCC Northern Division and 14-10 overall, will close out the regular season today (Saturday) with a 1 p.m. home game against Hibbing.

Varsity games will be played in the Lincoln High School main gym – the girls at 6 p.m. and boys at 7:30 p.m.

Junior varsity match-ups will take place in the LHS auxiliary gym – the boys at 6 p.m. and the girls at 7:30 p.m.

Nick Heven pulled down a Marshall County Central rebound during Tuesday's boys high school basketball game against Thief River Falls. The Prowlers held off the Nordics 58-54.

TRF boys edge Nordics 58-54...

Prowlers hold off rally to beat MCC

Thief River Falls' inside game came out ahead in a match-up against Marshall County Central's outside attack Tuesday as the Prowlers edged the visiting Nordics 58-54 in boys high school basketball.

The Prowlers senior combination of 6-1 Matt Stuckey and Paul Sjoberg combined for 37 points with dominating stretches around the basket. Stuckey scored 13 of his game-high 19 points in the first half. Sjoberg finished off an 18-point night with 12 second half points.

Meanwhile, the Nordics' senior backcourt featuring 6-1 Dustin Monsebroten and 6-3 Jay Maurstad teamed up for 35 points with their long-range offense. Monsebroten knocked down three first half 3-pointers and netted 18. Maurstad hit two key treys to spark a spirited fourth quarter Marshall County Central comeback and wound up with 17 points before picking up his fifth foul with 2:02 remaining in a one-point game.

"Matt and Paul did a nice job," confirmed Thief River Falls coach Chris McLean. "They got their points, and I thought they played with a lot of poise at the end when things were getting a little wild. They helped calm down the young kids."

Thief River Falls never trailed after a drive down the middle by sophomore guard Jeremy Sich with 40.6 seconds left gave the Prowlers a 12-10 lead at the first horn. Sich, who finished with 12 points, also got the final basket of the second quarter when he connected on a 3-pointer from the wing with 1:20 remaining to give the Prowlers a 27-19 halftime advantage.

It was still an eight-point spread at the end of the third quarter, 42-34, when the Prowlers' Kyle Lunke scored from the side with 15.6 seconds on the clock.

But the Nordics wouldn't go away. On back-to-back trips down the floor, Monsebroten hit a running short jumper and Maurstad rattled in a 3-pointer, shrinking the Prowlers' lead to 46-44 with 5:31 still to play.

On three occasions the Nordics had it down to a single point – the last time on two Monsebroten free throws for a 54-53 game with 2:24 remaining.

Maurstad's final foul took a big bite out of the Nordics' stretch run offense, and Ryan Winkelman made it a double-whammy by hitting both free throws.

A single free throw by Monsebroten made it 56-54 with 1:36 left and set up a frantic final minute.

Those last 60 seconds included four misses at the free throw line by the Prowlers and two turnovers by the Nordics. The final points were single free throws by Stuckey with 31.6 seconds to go and by Winkelman with 14.9 seconds on the clock. After missing his first attempt, Winkelman made the crucial second shot to give the Prowlers a two-possession, four-point lead.

While those late-game turnovers certainly factored into the outcome, Marshall County Central coach Jake Rantanen felt the Nordics sealed their fate much earlier. "We lost it in the first half," he said. "We didn't play very hard. They (Prowlers) showed us how to work hard. Second half we played a little better. We just couldn't come up with a win."

McLean, meanwhile, felt fortunate to hang on at the end. "We're just happy to win, especially the way we shot free throw down the stretch," he said. "Monsebroten and Maurstad are two of the best in the area and Jake does a nice job with them. They're tough to match up with."

Thief River Falls' 59 percent 22-for-37 shooting from the field helped compensate for the Prowlers' 12-for-25 free throw performance. Marshall County Central shot 38 percent from the floor (17/41) and went 15-for-19 at the line. The Nordics' 21-19 rebound edge was erased by a 14-8 high figure in the turnover department.

The Prowlers are 8-11; the Nordics 14-7.

TRF girls out-point Warroad

Defense didn't get it done, but Thief River Falls' offense was up to the task as the Prowlers registered a 64-56 home court girls high school basketball win over Warroad Saturday (Feb. 12).

An 11-11 first quarter tie turned into a 35-33 Warroad halftime lead. The Prowlers went ahead 47-45 in the third quarter and cemented the win with a 17-point final period.

"We gave up way too many points in this one, especially in the second quarter," said Thief River Falls coach Jeff Loe.

Nichole Gryskiewicz scored 24 points and grabbed 9 rebounds for the Prowlers. A 6-for-8 shooting performance from the field led to a 14-point game by Casey Engelstad, who came up with a key steal in the fourth quarter to help insure the win.

Warroad's Angie Thunder scored 12 of her team-high 17 points in the second quarter. Chelsie Christofferson added 14 points and Bailee Larson added 11 to the Warroad attack.

Thief River Falls was 23-for-61 from the field (38 percent) and 16-for-27 at the free throw line. Warroad went 20-for-54 from the floor (37 percent) and 12-for-24 at the line. Warroad had a 35-29 rebound advantage, but also topped the turnover charts 25-16.

TRF freshmen boys beat Marshall County Central

Quarter leads of 15-4, 25-11 and 33-17 carried Thief River Falls past Marshall County Central 43-28 in Tuesday freshman boys basketball.

Jake Stuckey led the Prowlers with 16 points.

Prowlers beat Hibbing 70-46

A strong start carried Thief River Falls past host Hibbing 70-46 in a Friday (Feb. 11) boys high school basketball game.

The Prowlers doubled the Bluejackets 16-8 in the first quarter, had a 33-26 halftime lead and a 49-38 third quarter advantage in a make-up game from an earlier weather-forced postponement.

Matt Stuckey scored 25 points, Paul Sjoberg 14 and Jeremy Sich 10 for the Prowlers, who were 30-for-49 from the field (61 percent).

"We played well and took good shots," said Thief River Falls coach Chris McLean.

Sjoberg pulled down nine rebounds and Sich had six as the Prowlers beat the Bluejackets on the boards 30-14. Thief River Falls forced 21 turnovers, but also turned it over 19 times themselves.

Eagles snap Gators' win streak

Red Lake Falls took over in the second half Saturday afternoon and ended a season-long, 22-game Badger/Greenbush-Middle River winning streak with a 59-40 girls high school basketball victory.

The host Eagles led 14-10 at the end of the first quarter and maintained a 31-27 halftime edge before opening up a 46-32 third quarter spread.

"They (Eagles) played really well," said Gators coach Tom Neibauer. "It would have taken an awfully good team to beat them."

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River would certainly fall under the category of a good team, but illness and injury problems that hit the Gators in the second half of the season put them at disadvantage this time around. "We're not a full strength," acknowledged Neibauer. "I told the girls there was a high probability of a loss. We're looking forward to playing them a second time (in Section 8A tournament play). By then we'll be healthy."

Anna Skalu and Heidi Matzke scored 16 points each and Darci Purath had 12 for the Eagles. Kierah Kimbrough and Liz Schenkey led the Gators with 17 and 11 points, respectively. Kimbrough hiked her career scoring total to 2,806 to become the Gators' new record holder, surpassing the 2,804 points scored by Krissi Super.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River was 14-for-31 from the field (45 percent) and 12-for-17 at the free throw line. Red Lake Falls had an 8-for-10 free throw game.

Itasca knocks off Pioneers 76-70

Last place Itasca beat state tournament-bound Northland 76-70 in a Saturday (Feb. 12) Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division men's basketball game played at Grand Rapids.

"They just out-worked us," said Northland coach Rick Nikunen. "We came in overconfident. They played a lot more hungry than we were."

Northland, already assured of a top-four Northern Division finish and a berth in the 2005 MCCC state tournament Feb. 25-27 at Minneapolis Community College, beat the Vikings 79-63 when the teams met Jan. 19 in Thief River Falls.

"I was not pleased with the effort," said Nikunen.

Northland win streak ends at Itasca

A six-game Northland winning streak ended with a 70-67 Saturday (Feb. 12) Minnesota Community College Conference women's basketball loss to Itasca.

First place in the Northern Division was at stake as the Vikings brought an 8-1 MCCC record into the game and the Pioneers arrived in Grand Rapids at 7-2.

"It was a good game," reported Northland coach Missy Majerus. "They made some big shots and won the game."

A turnover in the final minute of a one-point game sealed the Pioneers' fate.

It was the second three-point win of the year over the Pioneers for the Vikings, who prevailed 68-65 in a Feb. 19 match-up at Northland.

The Pioneers have already locked up a spot in the 2005 MCCC state tournament, scheduled to be played Feb. 25-27 at Anoka-Ramsey.

Thief River Falls defender Jeremy Sich applied pressure against Marshall County Central ball handler Andy Brons in Tuesday boys high school basketball action. The visiting Nordics fell to the Prowlers 58-54.

Loberg leads G-G boys by Sacred Heart

Tomas Loberg scored 33 points and surpassed the school single-season rebound record as Grygla-Gatzke beat East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 80-66 Tuesday in boys high school basketball.

Loberg completed a double-double with 17 rebounds that gave the 6-7 junior 227 for the year – surpassing the 221 rebounds by Mike Jelle in 1993-94 that stood as the Eagles' standard.

Grygla-Gatzke won it on the strength of a 28-11 first quarter lead. Sacred Heart managed to cut the difference to 38-28 by halftime and stayed within 57-46 through three quarters.

"The first quarter was one of our best quarters in a long while," said Grygla-Gatzke coach Vern Johnson. "But we got sloppy in the second quarter, and Sacred Heart jumped on it. They made a game of it."

Press-breaking lay-ups enabled Grygla-Gatzke to shoot 60 percent from the field (35/58). And there was nothing wrong with Sacred Heart's offense, either, as shown by a 52 percent 29-for-56 shooting performance.

Grygla-Gatzke was 10-for-17 at the free throw line; Sacred Heart went 3-for-6. The winners topped the rebound charts 38-15 and the turnover figures 15-9 while pushing their record to 21-1.

Gators return to win column vs. Warroad

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River bounced back from its first loss of the season suffered Saturday at Red Lake Falls with a dominating 61-21 Tuesday girls high school basketball victory at Warroad.

Kierah Kimbrough scored 33 points as the 23-1 Gators built quarter leads of 16-6, 34-14 and 51-16.

"We're starting to heal up," said Gators coach Tom Neibauer, looking forward to getting Missy Bruggeman back in the line-up Monday after missing the past seven games due to illness. And Kaley Mekash is getting stronger every time on the court after returning from a Jan. 20 ankle injury.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River was 22-for-46 from the field (48 percent) and a perfect 17-for-17 at the free throw line, where Warroad went 7-for-14.

IRS has money for taxpayers who have not filed a 2001 tax return

Unclaimed refunds totaling more than $24 million are awaiting about 22,000 Minnesotans who failed to file a federal income tax return for 2001. However, in order to collect the money, a return must be filed with the IRS no later than April 15, 2005.

The IRS estimates that half of those who could claim refunds would receive more than $439. In some cases, individuals had taxes withheld from their wages or made payments against their taxes out of self-employed earnings, but had too little income to require filing a tax return. Some taxpayers may also be eligible for the Earned Income Tax Credit, which frequently results in a refund for low income taxpayers.

"There's not a lot of time left to claim 2001 refunds," said IRS Spokesperson Eric Erickson. "As soon as you send us your tax return, you'll get your money."

In cases where a return was not filed, the law provides most taxpayers with a three-year window of opportunity for claiming a refund. If no return is filed to claim the refund within three years, the money becomes the property of the U.S. Treasury. For 2001 returns, the window closes on April 15, 2005. The law requires that the return be properly addressed, postmarked and mailed by that date. There is no penalty assessed by the IRS for filing a late return qualifying for a refund.

The IRS reminds taxpayers seeking a 2001 refund that their checks will be held if they have not filed tax returns for 2002 or 2003. In addition, the refund will be applied to any amounts still owed to the IRS and may be used to satisfy unpaid child support or past due federal debts such as student loans.

By failing to file a return, individuals stand to lose more than refunds of taxes withheld or paid during 2001. Many low-income workers may not have claimed the Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC). Although eligible taxpayers may get a refund when their EITC is more than their tax, those who file returns more than three years late would be able only to offset their tax. They would not be able to receive refunds if the credit exceeded their tax.

Generally, individuals who qualified for the EITC in 2001 if they earned less than $32,121 and had more than one qualifying child living with them, less than $28,281 with one qualifying child, or less than $10,710 and had no qualifying child.

Plan is not acceptable

company's revenue and profits come from their ATV line.

"This land belongs to the taxpayers. We are the taxpayers, and the DNR works for us," said George Swentik, Lake of the Woods county commissioner. Swentik said the Lake of the Woods County Board learned of the plan by reading a legal in the local newspaper. In receiving a long standing ovation, Swentik said, "We had to invite the DNR to the table to discuss the proposed plan."

Many spoke to the DNR and public officials Thursday night, and the common themes that were expressed included not being included in the process until now, concentrating too much use in a small area, and locking up Beltrami Island State Park from the people who support the park. Several speakers also noted apparent contradictions in laws. DNR officials appeared unprepared when they were unable to respond to those contradictions.

"Someone needs to start listening," said Orris Rasmussen, Roseau County Commission chairman.

Brad Moore, DNR assistant commissioner, said "We're here because we wanted to listen to you tonight, hear what you have to say."

Before the meeting, Sen. LeRoy Stumpf said the anger and frustration that was beginning to boil over, was a result of multiple issues coming to a head. In addition to the proposed limitations on Beltrami Island State Park, Stumpf said the DNR recently notified users of Lost River State Forest that it was going to tear down six or eight cabins that have been in the park for generations. The cabins, he said, belong to private parties, but the land to the state.

Kelman Kvien, president of the Lost River Snowmobile Club, said people have been using the cabins since 1929. Kvien said he doesn't know why they're taking down the cabins.

Stumpf said the Consolidated Conservation land issue and responsibility over cleaning ditches erupted in Lake of the Woods again, too.

Stumpf said that if the DNR thinks by extending the comment period that the anger and frustration will go away, it's mistaken.

He added that once these issues are settled, the DNR will have a big public relations challenge repairing the damage.

Of the proposal, Rep. Maxine Penas said, "I expect change and nothing else."

Penas, who has fielded hundreds of calls from angry constituents, is firmly on their side of this issue. The park, she said, should be "managed, not limited."

While some DNR officials may have felt that this proposal offers a reasonable compromise, those in the crowd felt otherwise. Though, as Swentik noted, park users are not unwilling to sit down at the table and reach a compromise that is acceptable to all parties.

What's being proposed by the DNR?

(DNR) to move toward a 'closed unless posted open' management policy for off-highway vehicles (OHVs) on State Forest lands. In the future, the use of off-highway vehicles on State Forest land will generally be restricted to roads and trails that are specifically designated and signed for use by OHVs. Off-highway vehicles include all-terrain vehicles (ATVs), off-highway motorcycles (OHMs), and off-road vehicles (ORVs), such as Jeeps and four-wheel drive trucks, but not snowmobiles.

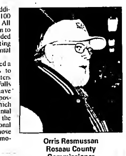
In a news release issued by the DNR in November of 2004, Mary Broten, DNR area trails and waterways supervisor in Thief River Falls, stated that "the forest reclassification and new route designations will meet the DNR goal of having 'managed use on managed routes' - an objective that provides for safe recreational and utilitarian uses in Minnesota's state forests while still protecting their natural resources."

Reaction

There has been considerable opposition to the plan.

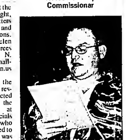
Roseau County Board approved a resolution restricting DNR access to unorganized township roads. The resolution states that all roads in unorganized townships in Roseau County are closed to DNR vehicles and machinery unless specifically posted open. Additionally, it states that the DNR may access closed roads by permit only and may obtain said permit from the commissioner in whose district the road is located. On the same day, the Board of Commissioners approved a resolution stating that all roads and trails in the unorganized townships in Roseau County shall be open for public use and that unorganized townships will bear the responsibility for maintenance of said roads and trails.

Helen Cozetto, DNR Natural Resources planner, said they had already received lots of form letters. She estimated that over 1,000 form letters had been received. In addition, they had received over 100 handwritten letters and e-mail. All of those letters were in opposition to the proposed plan, but she added that this week they started getting form letters from environmental groups.



The proposal has also generated a considerable number of letters to area newspapers. All of the letters submitted to the Thief River Falls Times/Northern Watch have expressed opposition to the proposal, that is except for a letter which was signed several environmental groups. That letter opposed the "recent demotion" of DNR Regional Director Paul Swenson. Those groups linked Swenson's "demotion" to the current proposal.

Write



DNR officials and speakers at the public hearing Thursday night, encouraged people to write letters on the proposed reclassification and road and trail use designations. Letters can be sent to Helen Cozzetto, DNR Natural Resources Planner, 6603 Bemidji Ave. N. Bemidji, MN 56601, or by e-mailing: helen.cozzetto@dnr.state.mn.us

Maps

Several DNR officials at the hearing Thursday also reminded residents that maps of the affected areas are available online at the DNR Web site at www.dnr.state.mn.us. DNR officials commented that many people who looked at the maps were surprised to discover that the proposed plan was not as bad as it sounds. They urge people to take a close look at the maps.

Seven Clans I-500 considered snowmobing at its purest

lake or oval race. Noting that it is a potentially dangerous race, Jasperson was complimentary of the safety and rescue workers who oversee the race, saying they are a big reason the race is possible.

When racing starts Saturday, the world's premier snowmobile racers will race across a brand new 170 mile looping course that none of the competitors has navigated before, battling the elements and one another in pursuit of the $10,000 top prize. The starting order will be reversed on day two, and again the riders will race through miles of snow and ice covered earth.

Starts will be staggered on day three. Riders will start the race at various intervals based on their two-day time total and ranking, ensuring that the first racer to cross the finish line on Sunday, will be the 2005 1500 champion.

Snowmobiles are inspected prior to the beginning of the race and again each day during the race. Race crews are allotted one hour for repairs following racing each day, which doesn't allow much time to change a sled's performance.

"They can make minor repairs, like pulling brush out or fixing a ski, but there really isn't time for anything else," Jasperson said.

Jasperson said that fuel stops along the course are also carefully calculated so that riders will have just enough fuel to make it to a stop. He reminisced that some of the Arctic Cat sleds had too little fuel capacity in last year's race. Some riders were running out of fuel and would actually have to reach inside the tank and push down the intake hose to keep their sleds running.

Jasperson said the Red Lake International 1500 is continuing to grow each year. New the 2005 race, each factory represented in the competition will pay an incentive bonus to its riders who perform well.

Sponsorship has also increased for the race. Race host Seven Clans Casino is sponsoring defending champion Brian Dyrdahl in the number 21 Ski Doo sled. Dyrdahl took first place the most recent USCC race, the Ada 100.

Jasperson also noted that California-Nevada Snowmobile Association is sponsoring a competitor in the race, Chad Colby, an Illinois native who recently moved to Valencia, Calif. Colby has been a snowmobiler since the age of 4. He is a former WSA national semi-pro snow cross racer and last season competed professionally, finishing fourth in the Pro Open class at the Red Lake International 1500.

Industrial giant John Deere has also expressed interest in sponsoring a racer.

The 2005 race also promises to be more spectator friendly than in previous years. As usual the race will be broadcast on a low powered FM frequencey, but for the first time ever, helicopter service will be available. Details pertaining to the helicopter service were not immediately available.

More Teddy Bear Band fun...

Hundreds of local children delighted in the music and antics of the Teddy Bear Band Tuesday, Feb. 15, at Challenger Elementary School in Thief River Falls. The event drew attention to the positive influence of early childhood development initiatives.

Wal-Mart hearings in TRF rescheduled for March 1

by April Schelnuha
Reporter

Two public hearings about a proposed Wal-Mart store in Thief River Falls have been rescheduled. The hearings, which were scheduled Feb. 15, have been rescheduled for Tuesday, March 1 at 7 p.m. at the Thief River Falls City Hall.

The public hearings will cover a rezoning request, as well as a request for a conditional use permit, for the proposed Supercenter along Nelson Drive. Scheduled during a Planning Commission meeting, the public hearings are a legal requirement.

Four people attended the Feb. 15 meeting in anticipation of the public hearings, only to be told they had been rescheduled since Wal-Mart representatives were not able to attend the public hearings.

Currently, the proposed Wal-Mart site is zoned agricultural (AG). Jake and Anne Barnick, who own the property, are requesting a zoning change to General Business District (C-2) on behalf of the Wal-Mart Corporation.

Under C-2 zoning, shopping centers are a conditional use. The Barnicks, again on behalf of the Wal-Mart Corporation, are requesting a conditional use permit for the proposed Wal-Mart store.

This summer, Wal-Mart is planning to build a 155,000-square-foot Supercenter that sells clothing, food and other merchandise. Plans also call for the store, which will face Highway 59 Southeast, to have a tire lube express service center and an indoor and outdoor garden center. A Murphy Oil Corp. gas station is also planned for the site along Nelson Drive.

Another parcel would be for sale and may be used for a bank, fast-food restaurant or sit-down restaurant.

Warren man faces charges after 13 pounds of marijuana found

A Warren man faces charges after 13 pounds of marijuana were allegedly found at his residence.

Michael A. Boman, 23, has been charged with controlled substance crime in the third degree - sale and controlled substance crime in the third degree - possession, according to the Marshall County Sheriff's Department.

Boman is being held at the Marshall County Jail on the above charges and a charge of a probation violation from the Minnesota Department of Corrections (DOC). His next court appearance is scheduled Tuesday.

The charges stem from a Feb. 10 report to the sheriff's department that Boman allegedly had a large amount of marijuana at his residence. A DOC probation agent and law enforcement officials from the sheriff's department and Pennington County Sheriff's Department searched the residence.

Boman was not home at the P & P Apartments at the time of the search, noted Jim Duckstad, Marshall County Jail administrator.

Boman was arrested Feb. 16 after allegedly fleeing from law enforcement officials in Warren. He fled police on foot and was found shortly thereafter at Ron's Barbershop in Warren, Duckstad noted.

Both charges have maximum penalties of 20 years in prison, a $250,000 fine or both.

Real World Solutions program on March 8

Waiting lists. Not enough services. Budget cuts. All these and more can have a negative impact on the lives of people with disabilities and their families. But there's a solution: the abundant supply of generic services and natural supports in communities that can help meet the needs of people with disabilities.

With common sense and humor, Richard Dodds enlightens and entertains participants in workshops and trainings across the United States that are fast-paced, witty, and loaded with useful information. Dodds weaves in stories, and video clips and uses role playing to give participants a sampling of what it is like to wrestle with the issues that people with disabilities encounter in the community.

He offers clear, simple, affordable, and therefore do-able solutions to the dilemmas of everyday living. The presenter will demonstrate that when appropriate supports and services are in place, individuals with significant disabilities can live, work and participate fully in their communities.

He challenges the old ways of thinking, and helps people with disabilities, family members, and professionals acquire new perceptions and attitudes—the first rung in the ladder of change. Over 20 years management experience – combined with his talent for communicating with people with disabilities, family members, employers and the business community, educators, and other professionals – has fostered his work in New Jersey where he is the President and CEO of AccessPoint Solutions.

Everyone is welcome to attend the workshop on Tuesday, March 8, beginning at 6:30 p.m. at the Best Western Townhouse in Grand Forks, N.D. The attendance of those in the human service arena, service providers, managers, direct care support staff, educators, therapists, transition specialists, parents, advocates, students preparing to work in related fields and individuals with disabilities, is encouraged.

The workshop is free, however please pre-register to ensure that an appropriate number of handouts are available. Call Joyce at (218) 222-3636 or 1-800-489-5013 or e-mail joyces@dakotacil.org for more information or to pre-register.

Penas bill will create system to replace school buses

Rep. Maxine Penas has announced that she is authoring legislation to create a system to finance the replacement of Carpenter school buses.

"For many districts, the quality of its bus fleet is declining, and that's a safety concern," Penas said. "Because of the financial constraints of these districts, this legislation would allow them to acquire new buses now and pay for them later."

Penas' interest in this legislation was sparked by a Florida story where a school bus overturned and highlighted a defect in buses made by the Carpenter Manufacturing Co. A study found defective welds that failed and would result in the collapse of the bus roof to seat level.

There are 40 Minnesota school districts that have about 115 defective Carpenter buses, and the Minnesota Department of Public Safety has ordered all defective buses be removed from service.

Historically, when a vehicle has a defect the manufacturer is liable. But, Carpenter went out of business in 1995 so Penas' bill would help provide money to districts to partially pay for the replacement of each defective bus.

The bill (HF579) would create a $3.6 million loan program for districts that have Carpenter buses. The districts would have four years to pay back the loan with local levies.

Sen. James Metzen (DFL-South St. Paul) is sponsoring Penas' bill in the Minnesota Senate.

"The safety of our children is a primary concern for me," Penas said. "But I'm also aware of the financial needs of our school districts, so I hope this legislation will address both of these needs."

Hillside Flyers to perform during halftime of LHS double header

The Hillside Flyers tumbling team from Woodland Hills will perform during halftime of the Lincoln High School boys and girls basketball doubleheader on Saturday, Feb. 19. The tumbling squad will be visiting Thief River Falls as part of the month long celebration of Black History Month, being observed by both Northland Community and Technical College and Thief River Falls Public Schools throughout February.

This tumbling squad has generated a considerable amount of excitement since it's inception nearly five years ago as part of a Neighborhood Youth Services program near Duluth. They have performed throughout the state and country, performing for large events as far away as Orlando, Fla., Chicago, Ill., and events in the Twin Cities. Their most recent performance was for the University of Minnesota vs. Ohio State University wrestling meet, which drew nearly 5,000 fans.

Valuable life skills the Flyers represent include respect, care for others and community, which builds self esteem and pride in youth.

Voters to decide on arena

On March 8, Red Lake Falls voters will choose whether the city should sell bonds for a $1.1 million addition to the Cardin-Hunt Arena. The arena proposal includes new locker rooms, a new lobby and a new concession area.

Voters to decide on RLF arena improvements

by April Schelnuha
Reporter

Red Lake Falls voters will soon decide whether the city should sell bonds for a $1.1 million addition to the Cardin-Hunt Arena. They will head to the polls March 8 to vote on the $570,000 bond proposal.

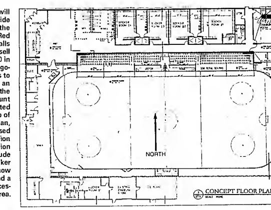
"If the majority says yes, it's go ahead with the plans," said Red Lake Falls Mayor Allen Ducharme.

The plans call for an addition on the northside of the arena. It would include four new locker rooms, a new concession area and a new lobby, Ducharme said.

If the measure passes, Red Lake Falls would be authorized to issue general obligation bonds to improve the arena. For the 20-year period of those $570,000 bonds, the average annual bond repayment is estimated at $45,000. As a result, a homeowner with a $50,000 home would see an $84 increase in annual taxes. A homeowner with a $100,000 home would see a $168 increase in annual taxes.

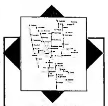
Other financing would also be needed for the project. The city has already received a $225,000 interest-free loan for the arena.

Project funding would also come from existing budgeted improvement monies ($105,000) and additional tax/reserve monies ($111,900). In the event reserves are used to help fund the project, more levies may be assessed to help rebuild the reserve fund. If existing budgeted improvement monies are used, Ducharme said that there would be no funds for arena repairs.



The Blue Line Club has also agreed to contribute $85,000 for the addition. "It's strictly a health and safety issue for the kids," said Jim Rystad, fundraising chairman for the Blue Line Club.

If the addition were constructed, residents may also see increases in user fees. Those fees may increase as a result of an anticipated increase in arena operating expenses.



In the event the bonding proposal passes and the addition were constructed, the locker rooms currently located in the upper area of the arena would no longer be used for that purpose. The five upstairs locker rooms would be used for storage if the addition were constructed, said Jeff Kalbakdalen of the Red Lake Falls Parks and Recreation Department. Those locker rooms are currently used for peewee, bantam and junior varsity hockey players.

The upstairs locker rooms afford little room for taller locker-room users. A scant few inches separate a 5-foot-8-inch person's head from the ceiling upon entering the upstairs locker-room area. There is less space once the person climbs a step onto a raised portion that takes up at least half of each locker room.

Voters will decide whether the city of Red Lake Falls should sell $570,000 in general obligation bonds to construct an addition to the Cardin-Hunt Arena. Located at the top of this floor plan, the proposed $1.1 million new addition would include new locker rooms, a new lobby and a new concession area.

County gets closer to new jail facility

Roseau - The Roseau County Board of Commissioners met in regular session on Tuesday, Feb. 15.

The board discussed the jail facility project and approved an architectural contract with Klein McCarthy & Co. Architects Ltd., which has been working with the county since last summer.

At a special meeting held Feb. 1 regarding a possible new jail, law enforcement and social services facilities, the board decided to go ahead with the project.

At that Feb. 1 meeting, the board tentatively scheduled construction for the social services facility to begin in the spring of 2005 and construction for the jail in the fall of the same year.

Now, the board has decided to have the projects begin at the same time. It will be asking for bid packages in the spring and starting construction this coming fall. - Roseau Times-Region, Feb. 19, 2005, by Tristan Sjaaheim

Exercising the soul at Kittson Memorial

Hallock - Residents of Kittson Memorial Healthcare Center applauded Dorothy Bergh Feb. 15 and stood, if they could, recognizing her for her state caregiver award, presented earlier this month in Minneapolis. Bergh is a certified nursing assistant and restorative aide at Kittson Memorial.

Administrator Rick Failing highlighted how proud he is of the facility and staff when one of the employees receives recognition of this magnitude.

Failing wrote about Bergh that she is the "poster person" for working older adults and that she inspires others much younger than herself as well as the residents she serves.

Kim Anderson, director of nurses, highlighted the work Bergh does not only physically as a restorative aide, but emotionally as well. - Kittson County Enterprise, Feb. 23, 2005, by Cindy Stewart

Smoking got me!

Karlstad - On Feb. 9, Tri-County School students and staff had an eye-opening experience. Brandon Carmichael, a student from Minnesota State University – Moorhead, shared his personal experience with smoking. Brandon, a native of Fargo, N.D., captivated the audience with the obstacles he has overcome due to Buerger's disease.

This disease is a rare disease that usually happens to people between the ages of 20 and 40. Brandon was only 18 and one of the youngest people diagnosed with this disease.

Buerger's disease causes inflammation and blood clots in arms and legs. Its cause is not clear, but its only link seems to be to tobacco use.

Once Brandon was diagnosed with the disease, he still smoked five more cigarettes. He now realizes that those five cigarettes did more damage to his body. He had lost his left leg at the beginning of his fight with the disease. By smoking even a short time, he also lost his right leg to amputation. - North Star News of Karlstad, Feb. 24, 2005

Homark Homes to host open house March 12 and 13

Company continues to build on its success by focusing on creating a quality product

Homark Homes will be hosting an open house on March 12 and 13 to showcase some of its homes. Homes, like the demonstration unit seen above, can be customized to the smallest detail.

by Scott DCump
Reporter

On Saturday, March 12 and Sunday, March 13, Homark Homes of Red Lake Falls will be hosting an open house to showcase its products. The open house will be held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day at the Homark Homes Factory, 100 Third Street, Red Lake Falls, MN 56750.

New 2005 homes that will be included in the show are the North Country Modular, Royal American Elite, Hideaway Lodge and Cozy Cabin. Factory personnel and dealers will be on hand to answer any questions.

Employee owned Homark Homes prides itself on building modern manufactured homes and manufactured modular homes that rival conventional homes in quality. The 86-employee company constructs homes that it believes meets and often exceeds the quality of other modular and modern manufactured homes. They do so by focusing on quality and utilizing a mass production process that keeps costs more affordable, while allowing for more efficient construction than site-built homes.

Homark Homes

Homark Homes, originally known as Detroiter, was purchased by its 46 employees in 1991. The 46 employees signed personal commitments to make the purchase, which gave them control of all facets of the business.

Homark Homes has remained an internally traded company since its employee purchase in 1991. One-hundred percent of the company's stock is owned by present and past employees.

Today Homark Homes employs a staff of about 86 personnel that are committed to quality. Each employee, no matter his or her responsibility, accepts the challenge of making sure that each portion of a home is constructed to the company's standards.

"If they see an inferior piece of material, they have the right to reject that piece," said Rich Lindquist, sales and marketing manager. "A lot of professionalism and care goes into each home. Each home is not only inspected by the state each day, but by each and every employee on the line."

Creating a quality product

Sales for Homark Homes have gained popularity since 1991. The company expects to have a record year for home sales in 2005 and the secret to the company's past success may be in the appearance of each home.

"When you see our homes on site, you won't be able to tell that it wasn't site built," Lindquist said.

Lindquist said that only quality products and materials are chosen for each home. Each home uses top products like Sears' Kenmore appliances, Mid Continent cabinetry and Moen faucets. And each home is made using materials that are shipped in bulk and stored within the Homark Homes plant, away from damaging elements.

Some components like rafters are purchased pre-assembled after being engineered off site. All other construction is done on a production line that is capable of producing multiple homes per day.

Homark Homes General Manager Bob Knudsen emphasized,

Auditor reports on pensions

Total assets for Minnesota's public pension plans climbed during 2003 to $43 billion from $37 billion at the beginning of the year, according to a financial and investment report on public pension plans released Thursday by State Auditor Patricia Anderson.

"The plans saw a total investment gain of about $8 billion reflecting strong domestic equity returns after the three-year downturn in the market," Anderson said.

Small plans with less than $10 million in assets

Volunteer fire relief associations make up the majority of the state's small plans with assets less than $10 million. Small plan assets grew to more than $316 million from about $266 million in 2002. Much of the $45 million in total investment earnings was due to rising equity market investments.

Investment earnings were the largest revenue source for the volunteer fire relief associations followed by $18 million in fire state aid, municipal contributions of $7.2 million, and nearly $750,000 in other revenues.

After steadily decreasing in recent years, the average funding ratio of the volunteer fire relief associations increased to a healthy 113 percent. The average rate of return for all of the small plans was 14.3 percent. The positive rates of return ranged from 0.6 percent to 39.6 percent. Seventy-one small plans held 100 percent of their assets in cash and only two plans lost money. More than half of the total small plan assets were held by about 8 percent of the plans.

Large plans with at least $10 million in assets

Assets for the 10 large plans with at least $10 million in assets increased to $40 billion from $34 billion in 2002.

The large plans include the State Board of Investment (SBI) Basic Fund, SBI Post Fund, Bloomington Fire Department Relief Association, Duluth Teachers Retirement Fund Association, Eden Prairie Fire Relief Association, Minneapolis Employees Retirement Fund (MERF), Minneapolis Firefighters' Relief Association, Minneapolis Police Relief Association, Minneapolis Teachers Retirement Fund Association and St. Paul Teachers Retirement Fund

Commissioners respond to ATV trail plan

Warren - The Marshall County Board of Commissioners met Feb. 15.

Mary Broten from the Department of Natural Resources Trails and Waterways and Phil Morud from Northstar ATV Club addressed the board regarding the proposed all-terrain vehicle (ATV) trail in Nelson Park Township and a grant-in-aid application for a 70-mile ATV/Off-Highway Vehicle trail in Marshall County. The board encouraged them to continue with the plans to expand the trail to qualify for the 70-mile site. - The Messenger of Stephen, Feb. 24, 2005

CORRECTION:

Here's a correction for the February 19 recipes that I got from my mother's cookbook: The Orange-Chip cake talks about eggs in the directions, but doesn't have any eggs in the ingredients of the recipe. Please add "2" eggs" to the ingredients. Hope you didn't try the recipe and leave out the eggs. Sorry!

I don't know how many people make frittatas around here, but I had leftover spaghetti on Sunday and decided to make one. Substitute spaghetti for the potatoes in this recipe, or use frozen hash browns if you like. It makes for a great brunch dish:

AMERICAN FRITTATA

2 potatoes, peeled and cubed
1/8 to 1/4 cup sliced (or I rather like diced) onions
1-1/2 teaspoons oil
4 eggs, beaten
1/2 cup cubed ham
Salt and pepper to taste
1/2 cup shredded Cheddar cheese

Cook potatoes until tender but firm, about 5 minutes. Drain and set aside to cool. Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

In heavy, oven-proof skillet, heat oil over medium heat. Add onions and cook slowly, stirring occasionally, until soft. Stir in eggs, drained potatoes, ham, salt and pepper. Cook until eggs are firm on the bottom, about 5 minutes.

Top frittata with shredded cheese and place in preheated oven until cheese is melted and eggs are completely firm, about 10 minutes.

Recipe serves 4 with 207 calories per serving, 229 mg chol, 294 mg sodium and 12.4 g carbs.

What with all the flu going around, it might be nice to have some of this light, tasty homemade soup in the freezer. It makes a good accompaniment to any sandwich too.

I would add raw rice to the soup at the time the carrots are added and let them cook together until rice was tender. Just remember not to use 3 cups of uncooked rice or you'll have a chicken-flavored rice dish. Three-quarters to 1 cup raw rice should be enough. I like celery, so would finely chop a nice, green stalk or two and add with the carrots:

MOM'S SPECIAL CHICKEN SOUP

1 broiler/fryer chicken (3-1/2 to 4 pounds)
3 quarts water
1 medium onion, quartered
4 celery ribs
2 chicken bouillon cubes
2 parsley sprigs
1 clove garlic
2-1/2 teaspoons salt (or as desired)
1/2 cup thinly sliced carrots
1/2 cup chopped fresh parsley
3 cups cooked rice

Place chicken and water in large kettle or Dutch oven. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat. Add onion, celery, bouillon, parsley sprigs, garlic and salt if desired. Cover and simmer until chicken is tender, about 1 hour.

Remove chicken and allow to cool. Strain and reserve broth, discarding vegetables.

Add carrots (and celery) to broth and simmer until tender, about 15 minutes. Debone chicken and cut into cubes. Add chicken and chopped parsley to broth and heat through. Ladle into bowls and add rice to each bowl.

Made as directed (with the rice cooked separately, low sodium bouillon and no extra salt, etc.), each cupful has 184 calories, 42 mg sodium, 44 mg chol, 13 gm carb, 15 gm protein and 7 gm fat. Diabetic exchange is 1-1/2 meat and 1 starch.

This fancy potato dish will serve at least six people, if not more - it's great for a get-together:

CREAMY POTATO STICKS

1/4 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups milk
1 (10-3/4 ounce) condensed cream of celery soup, undiluted
1/2 pound processed American cheese (like Velveeta), cubed
5 to 6 large baking potatoes, peeled
1 cup chopped onion
Paprika

In saucepan, combine flour and salt. Gradually whisk in milk until smooth. Bring to a boil and cook and stir for 2 minutes. Remove from heat.

Whisk in soup and cheese until smooth and set aside.

Cut potatoes into 4 inch x 1/2 inch x 1/2 inch sticks and place in greased 9x13x2 inch baking dish. Sprinkle with onion. Top with cheese sauce and bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees for 55-60 minutes or until potatoes are tender. Sprinkle with paprika.

We have Mom's chicken soup, so we might as well have Mom's beef roast, too - it'll be great with the potatoes above:

MOM'S ROAST BEEF

1 tablespoon cooking oil
1 eye of round beef roast (about 2 1/2 pounds)
1 medium onion, chopped
1 cup brewed coffee
1 cup water, divided
1 beef bouillon cube
2 teaspoons dried basil
1 teaspoon dried rosemary
1 garlic clove, minced
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup flour

Heat oil in a Dutch oven. Brown roast on all sides. Add onion and cook until transparent. Add coffee, 3/4 cup water, bouillon, basil, rosemary, garlic, salt and pepper. Cover and simmer for 2-1/2 hours or until meat is tender.

Combine flour and remaining water until smooth. Stir into pan juices. Cook and stir until thickened and bubbly. Remove roast and slice.

Here's another soup that will give you lots of good stuff without filling you up:

CABBAGE PATCH SOUP

1/2 pound ground beef
1-1/2 cups chopped onion
1/2 cup sliced celery
2 cups water
1 can kidney beans, rinsed and drained
1 can stewed tomatoes
1 cup shredded cabbage
1 teaspoon chili powder
1/2 teaspoon salt

In saucepan, over medium heat, brown beef. Drain. Add onion and celery and cook tender. Add water, beans, tomatoes, cabbage, chili powder and salt. Bring to boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer 20-30 minutes or until cabbage is tender. Serves 4-6.

Two teams in Pennington County raised enough money during last year's first Pennington County Relay For Life to be recognized at the national level. For their effort, the teams of Big Daddy and Arctic Cat, represented by Gail Holland (left) and Diane Retka (right), were awarded Bronze Team status. Last year, Pennington County's Relay For Life raised over $22,000 with 11 teams participating in the event. This year, they hope to more than double the amount. The Second Annual Relay For Life will be from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. June 10-11 at the Multi-Events Center in Thief River Falls. If you would like to organize a team or participate on a team, contact Leslie Fisher at 681-6667.

The Big Daddy Team has already begun fundraising for the Pennington County Relay For Life. Tuesday, Feb. 22, team representatives attended the county's Relay For Life kickoff at the Swenson House in Thief River Falls. This year, Pennington County's Relay For Life will be June 10-11 from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. at the Multi-Events Center in Thief River Falls. Big Daddy's Team is named after Duane Holland, former deputy police chief in Thief River Falls, who died of cancer. The Big Daddy Team fundraiser involved a fountain of chocolate. Gail Holland has started a new enterprise, called Festive Fountains, that features a fountain of chocolate for dipping. It was a big hit at the kick-off for the Relay For Life.

Operation Round Up applications due March 15

Organizations involved in community projects and charities are encouraged to apply for funds from Operation Round Up at this time. Completed grant applications are due in the Red Lake Electric Cooperative office by March 15, 2005.

Operation Round Up is a program adopted by Red Lake Electric Cooperative, which has its headquarters in Red Lake Falls. Customers choosing to "round up" their monthly electric bill payment provide funds for this effort. Over 85 percent of Red Lake Electric customers are now choosing to contribute pennies each month to enhance their communities.

Funds will be donated primarily to nonprofit organizations to help fund their specific projects or programs. Since the program began in 1993, $227,843 has been granted to community organizations and charities located within the outside service area boundaries of Red Lake Electric Cooperative.

The Red Lake Electric Trust Board of Directors determines grants. Board members are Rodney Hoffman, Goodridge; Kim Swanson, Thief River Falls; and Terry Weiss, Veral Mosbeck and Ron Kennedy, of Red Lake Falls.

Grant applications can be obtained by contacting the Red Lake Electric office at 218-253-2168, or 1-800-245-6068. In order to be considered for a grant, a financial statement must be submitted along with the application.

For more information, contact Ron Kennedy, general manager of Red Lake Electric Cooperative, at 218-253-2168 or 1-800-245-6068.

Shari Olson was one of the guest speakers at the Pennington County Relay For Life kickoff event Tuesday, Feb. 22, at the Swenson House in Thief River Falls. Olson shared her own personal experience with cancer, and how it changed her life. Olson's 10th anniversary since her diagnosis is approaching. Ever since her diagnosis, she has participated in events that provide funding for cancer research. Pennington County's Relay For Life will be from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. June 10-11 at the Multi-Events Center in Thief River Falls. If you would like to organize a team or participate on a team, contact Leslie Fisher at 681-6667.

not only is each home looked over from top to bottom by the 65 employees working on the line, but also daily by two in house inspectors representing Homark, and twice weekly by a third party inspector regulated by the state.

Knudsen said that Homark manufactured homes are constructed to exceed the standards of Housing and Urban Development or UBC codes. All of the lumber used in production has to be high grade. Materials are purchased in bulk and if any material does not meet the company's standards, it will be removed from the line.

All Homark Homes are anchored at their permanent site, and are constructed on solid steel frames, using high quality steel, making them safer than many site built homes.

Homark Homes feature improved quality in wall strength too. In the past, the exterior wall frames of manufactured homes were constructed using 2-by-3s and in some cases even 2-by-2s. Homark Homes uses 2-by-6s for exterior wall framing, surpassing the the quality of many site built homes. And when modular homes are connected, they become even stronger.

Both Knudsen and Lindquist believe the products produced by Homark Homes are a representation of the future of manufactured homes.

Production to delivery

Homark Homes are sold through 25 retail centers located throughout the Midwest. Homark Homes works with retailers in Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Michigan and Wisconsin. Retailers sell the homes and Homark delivers them to the retailers or new homeowner's site directly from the production line.

Homark customers can literally design a unique home with the help of a retailer and expect to see it completed within 60 days after order confirmation. Once a home is ordered and all options are considered, it is now ready to be constructed. Once construction begins, homes are completed quickly.

With options such as fire places, whirl pool baths and sky lights, and choices regarding windows, cabinets and carpet, Knudsen estimates that no two houses have been made exactly the same.

Homark Homes offers five distinct series of homes for 2005, with many floorplans in each series. And each model offers a slightly different dimension and floor plan. Customers are able to select the style of home and floor plan they wish and with some exception (for state and HUD codes), can choose to make many changes to the home.

An example of a change can be seen at the Homark Home show. A North Country Modular home, the first with a coffered ceiling and custom nine foot-walls, will be displayed both days.

Lindquist summed up his thoughts for anyone considering a manufactured home saying, "If you want a new standard in your new home that's in many ways better than a site built home, you'll want to check out Homark Homes."

Funding ratios for large plans

Most large plan funding ratios fell in 2003. Funding ratios explain how well funded a plan is by showing the relationship between its assets and liabilities. Low ratios (less than 70 percent) signal the need for structural improvements to help those plans become and stay financially sound.

Alternatively reported plans

Four of the five alternatively reporting plans are defined contribution plans with assets that grew to $2.6 billion from $2.2 billion in 2002. These plans provide pension coverage for about 19,000 members from the Minnesota State Colleges and Universities, the Minnesota Historical Society and the University of Minnesota.

Voters to decide on RLF arena improvements

Older kids are hitting their heads on the ceilings, and they also have to go down the stairs while wearing their skates, Rystad noted.

If a fire occurs at the arena, escape routes are also not adequate for those upstairs locker rooms, Rystad said.

"We do all agree there's a safety issue for the kids, and we need to do something," said Ducharme, who noted the city would still have do something with those locker rooms if the bonding proposal fails.

Currently, there are two locker rooms located downstairs. One of those locker rooms is used for high school hockey, football and baseball. The other locker room is used by visiting teams and would be replaced by one of the new locker rooms.

The visitors locker room is crowded and in poor condition, Rystad noted.

There has been opposition to the project. "We don't have the valuation to support it," said Red Lake Falls resident David Kankel, who noted the community did not have the tax base to build the addition and cover operating expenses for that addition.

Remarking that hockey is a wonderful, though expensive, sport, Kankel added that the city may soon have to bond for sewer and water improvements required by the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency.

For his part, Ducharme said, "I personally think this is a nice arena." Ducharme further noted he did not care whether the addition was constructed. Yet, he added, "A new addition is a wonderful idea."

Rystad said, "I'm hopeful that the project goes through."

Red Lake Falls voters can vote on the bonding proposal Tuesday, March 8 at the Red Lake Falls City Hall, 108 Second St. S.W. Voting hours are 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

A More 'Civil' War?

Like the rest of the state of Minnesota, I was impressed by the large turnout at Warroad's Marvin Gardens last week for the Department of Natural Resources' public input session. More than 2,200 concerned northern citizens showed up to voice opinions on the proposed closing of portions of the Beltrami Island State Forest to motorized use. That attendance level, according to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) reps across the state, exceeded the numbers for any other public input assembly the agency has held. In addition, I was surprised by the aggressively-publicized, open-eared and, hopefully, open-ended format the DNR arranged for the gathering, as it signified a change in historical patterns for such meetings. So far, so good.

Now, I could have flip-flopped the verb "surprised" in the first sentence with "impressed" in the third, and kept a reasonably smooth and similar flow to the paragraph. "Surprised by the large turnout..." and "impressed by the aggressively advertised..." doesn't seem to change too much of the tone, does it? Or does it?

I am not "surprised" by the turnout at the public input meeting. Northern Minnesotans have long cherished their ability to opine and seem ever-culturally poised to pounce at opportunities to publicly demonstrate just that. It is exactly that comfort level with speaking-out that separates those who dwell north of State Highway 2, from their less-vocal Minnesota brethren to the south. Consider not only the flat number 2,200, but understand that it's amassed from a geographical area that boasts a limited total population. That 2,200, all of a sudden, becomes an even more "impressive" percentage. Definitely better than half the immediate adult population, maybe better than two-thirds. Very political creatures inhabit this latitude. Had I claimed "surprise" at last week's crowd, it would have been a personal admission of ignorance on my behalf. The turnout at the Gardens was not unexpected; it was simply an impressive demonstration of local ability and inclination.

I am "surprised" at the DNR stance surrounding the meeting. Highly publicized, attended by actual DNR bigwigs, and attentively received, this gathering had none of the earmarks of obstinate and cold-hearted state-run meetings of the past. Heck, wasn't it little more than a decade ago that a public meeting consisted of DNR enforcement types running amok up here with assault rifles and flak-jackets threatening every second grader they stumbled upon who could even spell the word "fish." We thought it fortunate diplomacy, back then, when steely-eyed bureaucrats actually sat down on the other side of a table, holstered their sidearm, and told us to shut up and accept what was being crammed into our esophagus. And what do we have now? Polite, well-mannered, state officials who solicit input and actually seem somewhat interested in what those who live here have to say. Polite, well-mannered, state officials who saw enough merit in local opinion to extend the period for input before making a decision on the Beltrami situation. Are we seeing, dare I say it, progress? My, have times changed. Or have they?

To suggest that I'm "impressed" with the state's newfound level of humanity would not be altogether accurate. I am "surprised." It is not coincident with my expectations. And while I am "encouraged" to think that some of the testimony offered in the Gardens did not fall on deaf ears, there exists enough history between northern Minnesota culture and southern Minnesota political circles that I fear I may simply be witness to a kinder, gentler form of rebuff. Are we making headway here, or merely beating around to the sunnier side of the same thorny bush? Are we actually receiving several more months of intelligent consideration, or are we simply being shunted to one side until the fires of local enthusiasm sputter and die?

I am not "surprised" by the turnout at the Gardens. Northern Minesotans have long held strong opinions and possessed a need to voice them. Especially when it comes to the out-of-doors. I am always "impressed" by the way that characteristic seems to separate north Minnesota from south Minnesota. And I'm "surprised" by the state's stance. New ground is always a little softer to the tread. And I wonder if these are concerns the Dakotans and Carolinians felt before their splits?

Spring dead animal collection starts March 15

A spring pickup of dead livestock for the region is scheduled March 15 through April 15. The exact dates may vary depending on the weather.

The service area includes Kittson, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau counties. Some counties offer a cost-share incentive to pay for part of the expense, and some counties may have limits on the amount they will spend, so it is important individuals call early. The base fee is $90 for the first 4,000 pounds and $2.50 for each 100 pounds after that.

Listed below is the breakdown on how counties will share in the cost of the service:

- Kittson County will pay 75 percent ($67.50) of the base fee with a limit of two stops per producer. A limit of $750 has been placed on the project.
- Marshall County will pay 50 percent ($45) of the base fee with a limit of $900.
- Norman, Pennington and Polk counties have not allotted any money towards the project. Each producer will pay the full price.
- Red Lake County will pay $75 per stop, up to a limit of $1,500.
- Roseau County will pay 50 percent ($45.00) of the base fee with a limit of $2,191.

Livestock owners should know there is a new phone number this year. Those interested in this service should call 1-888-399-2436 or (218) 253-2436. The driver prefers calls between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Environmental concerns and the spread of disease are the two main factors for offering this voluntary program to farmers in the region.

This project is made possible with assistance from the Pembina Trail Resource Conservation and Development Association, a nonprofit organization operating under the IRS 501(C)3 regulations. Local sponsors on the council are the boards of county commissioners, Soil and Water Conservation Districts and a member-at-large from the following seven counties: Kittson, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau. The council continues to look for projects to help communities work together with other agencies and organizations to solve locally identified rural development problems and needs.

Was everyone listening to the message delivered in Warroad last week?

The message from area residents at the Marvin Gardens in Warroad to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) last week was loud and clear - the proposed classification and designation of trails and roads for Beltrami Island Forest (not park, which was our mistake), is not acceptable. It was delivered in a loud and sometimes harsh voice.

Having more than 2,200 people attend a public hearing was, according to the DNR staff, a tremendous response. Given the population of northwest Minnesota, the percentage this represents is even more staggering.

That response is being attributed to many factors, which represent many sides of this issue:

• the process itself;
• failure to include input from county commissioners and other locally elected officials prior to releasing the proposed plan;
• failure to widely publicize the proposed plans prior to the hearing;
• failure of the public to become informed;
• historical differences and animosities;
• failure to collect a statistical characterization of the segment of the population that uses the trails in northwest Minnesota and adjusting the plans to fit its needs accordingly, and,
• lack of flexibility in the plan.

There seems be many factors or combinations of factors at play. I hope the DNR staff at the meeting were listening, and are now not so offended that they bristle at the mention of adjusting the plan.

At this point in time, it's best that everyone stop pointing fingers.. but not writing. Please don't stop writing. It's not time to quit. It's time to tell the DNR exactly who you are, which trails you use, why you use those trails, and how access to the forest on those trails is important to you. It's also time for you to look at the maps, which can be ordered or found on-line at www.dnr.state.mn.us. To comment on the proposed plan (be specific) write: Helen Cozzetto, DNR Natural Resources Planner, 6603 Bemidji Ave. N Bemidji, MN 56601, or by e-mailing: helen.cozzetto@dnr.state.mn.us.

To the Editor,

As an avid deer hunter of many years, and in looking at this QDM proposal, I really have to say I'm totally against antler restrictions for our 2005 deer hunt or any year thereafter. One important thing we should really look at: "What always looks good on paper may not be so rosy out in the woods where we hunt."

I really think that this proposal, if I may say so, is not to save the bucks, but it's the beginning of commercial hunting. I believe, we as hunters, are voluntarily saving the young bucks, so why is a law needed? As hunters, should we be penalized for saving the bucks and helping to promote and enhance commercial hunting? That's what it looks like to me.

I get the Mid West Outdoors, and I could not believe the story I read in the January 2005 issue - page 68. Mr. Stevens, president of QDM, has an advertisement that states that bucks scoring 184 and 217 were recently taken from this area, and it offers four-day hunting privileges at $2,000, six days for $2,800, and heated stands.

I also read a story in the Feb. 4 2005 issue of Outdoor News Magazine that quotes Mr. Stevens saying the "stereotype traditional hunter is a selfish and often greedy person." I feel as a hunter we are not of that "class." So, just what is Mr. Stevens pursuing? It looks like to me that Mr. Stevens is trying to fill his pocketbook b promoting QDM and really has no intention to increase the big bucks.

Another point: As a hunter, if QDM was to become a law, do we need the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) to make additional laws that impose huge fines because the horns on the buck weren't the right size, or the buck was not of the right age range?

I have two wonderful daughters that love to hunt and when they become 18 years of age, I don't want them to be labeled as selfish and greedy hunters.

One other thing we should be aware of. Our program manager for the DNR in St. Paul, can make QDM a law without a vote from us hunters. So here's your chance to vote. Contact your elected representatives and the DNR: 1-888-646-6367, or wildlife@dnr.state.mn.us

More to the story

To the Editor

Last week's Watch Around the Region in the Northern Watch featured an excerpt from a story in the Warren Sheaf about the Middle-Snake Tamarac Rivers Watershed (MST) returning $850,390 to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources. Although well written, the story fails to tell the whole story. There are several points that should be added:

1. Nowhere does the story in the Warren Sheaf state that this involved a Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) reimbursement grant. Simply put, a reimbursement grant means that the money had to be spent before receipt or upon receipt by the watershed. In other words, it was a violation of the grant agreement to sit on the money for several years like the watershed did. The actual language of the grant reads: "To obtain reimbursement for eligible costs under this Grant, the Grantee shall provide the State with invoices and evidence that the portion of the Project for which payment is requested has been satisfactorily completed."

2. The grant further reads, "Grantee shall submit invoices and evidence that any an all advance payments have been spent prior to requesting additional payments by the State." The Watershed Board received the first half of the grant agreement (over $750,000) in March 2001, and then even though it failed to spend this money, it requested the second half of the grant. This again violated the grant agreement.

3. The Watershed Board was required to submit invoices, provide monthly bank statements, and a statement of monthly expenditures to the state, which it appears they did not provide.

4. The above funds were to be used for land purchases, and while it is true that some valuations are being contested, several landowners did not contest. What is puzzling is that even though the Watershed Board had more than a million and a half in the bank available for such purchases, to date, no one has been paid for land purchases pertaining to the Agassiz Project. This question was asked at the recent Marshall County Commissioner meeting and representatives on the Watershed Board did not have an answer.

5. Chairman of the Marshall County commissioners, LeRoy Vonasek, made one of the most intelligent and rational statements of the recent commissioner meeting when he stated that he did not understand why agreements were not reached or negotiated with landowners before even beginning the project. He stated that this was the first thing that should have been done. Instead, what the Watershed Board actually did in both the Agassiz and Comstock projects, was to begin condemnation procedures even before trying to reach a fair agreement with landowners. This is why so many people are upset with the Watershed Board.

6. A further bone to pick: The Watershed Board has just simply not been fair in land valuations. Instead of having one simple fair formula for all land acquisitions - when comparing the Agassiz Project and the Comstock Project - there were situations in which some landowners have been offered, or paid, twice as much as others when comparing tax assessed valuations.

7. No, I did not file the complaint with the Minnesota Office of the Legislative Auditor concerning the Watershed Board. However, rather than focusing on who complained, as the story in the Warren Sheaf did, we need to ask if there was wrongdoing and who were the victims. This was state bonding money, which we as taxpayers pay interest on. The Watershed Board, on the other hand, has had over a million and a half bucks in a local bank for several years at zero interest. Landowners who have not been paid have lost because land values have risen dramatically. Concerning the Agassiz Project, the Watershed Board is insisting on paying everyone at old values rather than current values, even though no payments have been made.

8. The Warren Sheaf story, although it did refer to a resolution that land should not be condemned for wildlife enhancement, failed to state that a resolution also was presented that would have prevented the Watershed Board from condemning land for farming purposes. There is evidence they were trying to do this to raise native grasses. I have no problem of taking land from private landowners at a fair price if there is a proven public necessity, but taking private property simply for wildlife or for the purposes of farming is outrageous. This is not Russia.

Sincerely,
Elden John Elseth

Prowlers lose 4-1 championship game decision...

Warroad wins another 8A title

Warroad forward Aaron Marvin was stopped by Thief River Falls goalie Lance Kleven in first period action during Thursday's Section 8A boys high school hockey tournament championship game at the Ralph Engelstad Arena. Marvin scored the first goal of the game to get Warroad started on a 4-1 win.

While difficult, scoring goals against Warroad isn't an impossible task. However, scoring enough goals to beat the No. 1-rated Class A boys high school hockey team in the state is. Warroad pushed its record to 26-0-2 and won a third straight Section 8A tournament title Thursday with a 4-1 win over Thief River Falls in front of a standing room-only crowd at the Ralph Engelstad Arena.

Goals scored early and late in the first period were complemented by a pair of goals scored just 32 seconds apart in the third period as Warroad completed a three-game 2004-05 sweep against the rival Prowlers. This one was the closest, but it hurt the most as a nine-game winning streak and a 19-victory season came to an abrupt end at the hands of a team that is recognized as the best in the area in perhaps a decade.

"We worked extremely hard, and I'm awfully proud of the kids," said Thief River Falls coach Scott Bergland. "That's as close as anybody in the section has come to them this year, and we feel good about that. They are just an outstanding team - as good a high school hockey team I've seen in 10 years."

Warroad struck quickly when Aaron Marvin stung the Prowlers with a shorthanded goal 3:30 into the game. The sophomore forward picked up the puck behind the Thief River Falls net and scored on a wraparound from the left side of goalie Lance Kleven.

What would prove to be the game-winner came at 14:03 of the opening period when Josh Brodeen was credited with a goal off a scramble in front of the crease.

Thief River Falls had chances, but couldn't get the puck past Warroad goalie Mark Thiele. Matt Nordhagen had a step on the Warroad defense with 3:59 left in the first period and Alec Holen had the same opportunity with 15 seconds remaining in the second period. Warroad skaters were breathing down the neck of both Prowlers on the plays.

Still, in a two-goal game, the Prowlers were very much in the hunt for a Section 8A championship when the teams returned to the ice for the third period. But those title dreams were shattered when T.J. Oshie and Brodeen doubled the difference with goals at 5:36 and 6:08. Oshie tipped in a shot from the point and as his goal was being announced to the crowd, the puck was back in the net and Brodeen had his second goal of the night.

"We lost our composure for about two minutes there in the third period," acknowledged Bergland. "If we had just kept our composure, and got that one at the end, it might have been a different hockey game."

Instead, the Prowlers' only consolation was that they got on the board and spoiled the Warroad shutout bid when Michael Forney scored with 32 seconds remaining.

Kleven made 30 saves, compared to 14 stops for Thiele, but Bergland didn't feel that added up to Warroad domination. "I thought we did a great job keeping them to the outside," he explained. "They might have out-shot us, but we had just as many quality chances. We had seven or eight good opportunities. If we had gotten one or two of those to go in, it might have been a different outcome."

Thief River Falls ended the year 19-8-1. Warroad will step into the Xcel Energy Center in St. Paul Wednesday for the start of the 2005 Class A state tournament. The 2 p.m. quarterfinal opponent will be 26-2 Albert Lea, a 7-3 Thursday winner over Mankato East in the Section 1A final at Gustavus Adolphus College in St. Peter.

The announced paid attendance was 3,593, but estimation of the total number of people in the building was much higher.

Scoring

First period - Warroad, Aaron Marvin, 3:30. Warroad, Josh Brodeen (Ben Bengston), 14:03.

Second period - no scoring.

Third period - Warroad, T.J. Oshie (Brodeen, Kyle Hardwick) 5:36. Warroad, Brodeen (Oshie, Bengston) 6:06; TRF, Michael Forney (Robby Philipp, Alec Holen) 16:28.

Goalie saves - TRF, Lance Kleven 7-12-11-30. Warroad, Mark Thiele 4-3-7-14.

TRF boys knock off Spuds

Thief River Falls beat Moorhead in boys high school basketball for the first time since 1990-91 Tuesday when double-doubles by Matt Stuckey and Paul Sjoberg sparked the Prowlers past the visiting Spuds 68-47.

Stuckey scored 21 points and had 10 rebounds, while Sjoberg scored 18 points and pulled down 16 boards as the Prowlers snapped a string of 12 straight losses at the hands of the Spuds in the first meeting between the two programs in five years.

Ahead 14-12 at the end of the first quarter, Thief River Falls led by as many as 10 before Moorhead trimmed the difference to 30-24 at halftime.

"They (Spuds) made a run at us in the second quarter and we didn't respond," explained Thief River Falls coach Chris McLean. "We had a stretch there when we didn't play very well."

Thief River Falls did, however, regroup at halftime and out-scored Moorhead 22-10 in the third quarter for a 52-34 cushion.

"We took really good shots and we made some stops," offered McLean.

A transition game also kicked into gear as guard Jeremy Sich had all three of his field goals in the third quarter. He finished the game with 10 points.

"We got going on the fast break with tip-outs and some steals," mentioned McLean.

The Prowlers had a 53 percent 21-for-40 shooting night from the field and a had a big night at the free throw line, too, where they were 25-for-32. The Spuds were 16-for-47 from the floor (34 percent), including a 5-for-18 showing from 3-point range, and 10-for-14 at the line.

"I thought we defended the 3's well, and then we blocked out," said McLean. "We didn't give them many second-shot opportunities."

Behind Sjoberg and Stuckey, the Prowlers out-rebounded the Spuds 27-16.

Thief River Falls topped the turnover charts 13-11.

Moorhead was led by Jordan Driscoll with 11 points and Eric Lien with 10.

McLean credited part of the Prowlers' success to defense played by players like Kyle Lunke, Kyle Dubbs and Alex Yaggie. "We put them on their best players, and they did a great job," he said.

It was the fourth win in their last five starts for the Prowlers, improving their record to 10-12.

"The kids were excited about the win," offered McLean. "To beat Moorhead is a nice accomplishment. They (Spuds) are young, but they're a team that beat Alexandria and took Detroit Lakes into overtime."

Northland finishes with sweep

■ Regular season success produces state tournament trips

Basketball teams at Northland Community and Technical College closed out the 2004-05 regular season schedule with a Saturday (Feb. 19) home court doubleheader sweep against Hibbing.

The Northland women won the opener 68-49, the Northland men took the nightcap 94-74.

Alisa Costin scored 22 points and Kinnae Larson 10 for the Northland women, who had a 34-23 halftime lead.

The Missy Majerus-coached Pioneers finished with a third place 8-4 record in Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division play. They took a 15-10 overall mark into the MCCC state tournament Feb. 25-27 at Anoka-Ramsey in Coon Rapids.

Four Northland scorers hit double figures in the men's game as Mike Howard netted 29 points, Cyrin Shaffer 15, Juwaun Bowman 15, D.J. Beutler 12 and Jason Koch 11.

The Pioneers led 49-35 at the half as they completed an 8-4 MCCC season that produced a share of the Northern Division lead with Central Lakes and Vermilion. Head coach Rick Nikunen took a 17-9 team, overall, to the Feb. 27-27 state tournament being hosted by Minneapolis Community and Technical College.

Neither Northland team was a post-season qualifier in 2003-04. Both advanced to the state tournament in 2002-03 when it was two-and-out at both sites for the Pioneers.

Thief River Falls state tournament wrestlers...

Prowlers run into roadblocks

by Scott DCamp

The 2005 Minnesota state high school wrestling tournament did not begin the way Thief River Falls coaches and wrestlers had hoped. The six Prowlers competing in the individual portion of the Class AA competition in St. Paul managed only two Thursday first round victories.

"We had high expectations coming in here and after one day we're going to have to scratch and claw to place guys," head coach Kenny Geiser said.

Junior 152-pounder Daniel LeDuc, ranked seventh in the state, advanced to the quarterfinal round after shooting his way to an 8-3 victory over David Hauge of Minnehaha Academy/Minneapolis Lutheran. While sophomore heavyweight Andrew Peralta, also ranked seventh, advanced after pinning Mound-Westonka's Matt Grover in 3:03.

However both Prowlers suffered quarterfinal setbacks.

Both LeDuc and Peralta scored the first takedown in their second round matches. It took LeDuc less than 10 seconds to take the lead over third-ranked Colby Alberts of Kasson-Mantorville. LeDuc led 2-1 at the conclusion of two periods, but a quick reversal and tough riding were the difference in a 3-2 victory for Alberts.

Peralta led early against Darrin Massman of Roseau, but couldn't stay out of trouble, losing by fall in 1:14.

Both Thief River Falls seniors suffered early setbacks in the tournament. Zach Anderson, 140 pounds, and Adam Lian, 171, lost to ranked opponents. Anderson led second-ranked John Dvorak 4-3 with 30 seconds remaining in the match. A takedown by Dvorak and escape by Anderson tied the match 5-5 sending it to sudden-victory. Dvorak scored quickly in the extra session, winning 7-5.

Meanwhile 171-pounder Adam Lian was matched up with Section 4AA champion Luke Vetsch of St. Michael/Albertville, ranked sixth. Vetsch controlled the pace of the match and never allowed Lian to gain any offensive momentum in a 10-4 victory.

Thief River Falls was well represented by its youngest wrestler. Eighth grader Jordan Engen lost a 17-13 decision to ninth-ranked Foley freshman Jacob Bowland. Engen trailed 17-4 midway through the second period, but twice reversed Bowland to his back in the final three minutes. Engen was closing in on a fall when time expired in the third period.

Another underclassman showing promise for the future was 125-pound freshman Kyle Iverson, who drew unbeaten senior Nick Kulseth of Windom/Mt. Lake/Butterfield-Odin, currently ranked No. 1. Iverson managed to stay within striking distance for much of the match, before losing 15-3.

"For our underclassmen this has been a great experience," Geiser said. "Kyle Iverson and Jordan Engen, for their first state tournament, wrestled great."

Engen's state tournament came to an end when Bowland lost a 3-1 decision to Pat LeVasseur, a freshman from Buffalo Lake Hector/BOLD.

RLCC makes it to the REA round

Red Lake County Central players and coaches knew from the start of the 2004-05 girls high school basketball season Section 8A would be led by the the "Big Three" of Fosston, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River and Red Lake Falls. A realistic goal, they figured, would be a first-round post-season win and a chance to play at the Ralph Engelstad Arena in Thief River Falls. Mission accomplished.

The No. 6-seeded Mustangs upset No. 3 Bigfork 48-27 in Section 8A East play Thursday at Bemidji State University and will tackle No. 2 seed Red Lake Falls today (Saturday) at the converted hockey arena in Thief River Falls.

"That was our goal this year," confirmed Red Lake County Central coach Rick Koivisto. "Too bad we don't have a different opponent."

The Mustangs won this one with defense as they turned an 11-11 first quarter tie into a 22-15 halftime edge and a 33-22 third quarter spread.

"We played pretty good defense," acknowledged Koivisto. "A double-digit win is pretty impressive for us."

Courtney Halvorson scored 17 points and grabbed 13 rebounds for the 10-14 Mustangs. Eighth grader Faith Kruchowski sparked the second quarter breakaway with a 3-pointer and two lay-ups as part of a 13-point game.

Red Lake County Central was 15-for-37 from the field and 13-for-22 at the free throw line. Bigfork went 11-for-52 from the floor and 4-for-6 at the line. The Mustangs finished with a 37-24 rebound edge.

Gators get past No. 8 seeded Knights 56-46

Top-seeded Badger/Greenbush-Middle River did not have free ride into the Section 8A West girls high school basketball tournament semifinals. The 26-1 Gators were forced to work for 32 minutes before securing a 56-46 Thursday quarterfinal win over No. 8 Climax/Fisher at Northland Community and Technical College.

"That was a good No. 8 seed," offered Gators coach Tom Neibauer. "They have a very good point guard and are as big as we are inside. We had our hands full."

The Gators won with quarter leads of 12-9, 24-20 and 38-33.

"We just didn't play very well," offered Neibauer. "We had too many turnovers early in the game. We're going to have to do a lot better if we expect to continue playing."

Kierah Kimbrough scored 32 points and Kaley Mekash had 10 for the Gators. The Knights got a 17-point game from Rose Vigness.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River was 21-for-46 from the field and 14-for-25 at the free throw line, where Climax/Fisher went 11-for-15.

Gryskiewicz, Prowlers light up vs. Little Falls

Senior Nichole Gryskiewicz made her final game in the Lincoln High School gym a memorable one with 30 points, 9 rebounds and 6 steals as the Thief River Falls girls high school basketball team closed out the 2004-05 regular season schedule with a 71-56 Saturday (Feb. 19) win over Little Falls.

The Prowlers, who also beat the Flyers in last year's finale, finished 9-15.

"I think Nichole would like to play Little Falls every night," mentioned Thief River Falls coach Jeff Loe. "Last year she had 31 against them, this year 30."

But Loe was quick to point to key contributions from the rest of the line-up, too. Shawna Rogalla scored 15 points and had a team-high 5 assists; Heather Keogh pulled down 10 rebounds; and Casey Engelstad came up with a pair of three-point plays that produced 41-40 and 44-40 third quarter leads.

Thief River Falls led 14-12 after one quarter, fell behind 33-29 at halftime, then went back in front 50-46 at the end of the third quarter.

"We started out strong and finished strong," said Loe.

The Prowlers were 24-for-60 from the field (40 percent) and had a productive 21-for-39 game at the free throw line. The Flyers went 21-for-67 from the floor (31 percent) and 13-for-25 at the line. Little Falls had a 40-39 rebound edge.

Player of the Week award goes to Pioneers' Howard

Mike Howard of Northland finished the 2004-05 regular season by being named Minnesota Community College Conference men's basketball Northern Division Player of the Week.

The sophomore forward from Grand Forks, N.D., averaged 20.5 points, 11.7 rebounds and 3.6 assists per game this winter while helping lead the Pioneers to a share of the Northern Division title.

Little Falls offense is shut down by Prowler defense in a TRF win

Little Falls forgot to bring an offense Saturday on a Saturday, Feb. 19, boys high school basketball visit to Thief River Falls. The Flyers lost 47-35.

A year ago, Little Falls was the only team to hand Thief River Falls a regular season defeat, ending the Prowlers' bid for an unbeaten campaign at 21 games.

"The kids played really well," said Thief River Falls coach Chris McLean. "It probably wasn't a fan's game, but we defended in the second half as well as we have all year."

The two teams played to an 11-11 first quarter tie and Little Falls had a 19-18 halftime edge. But the Flyers mustered just 16 second half points, falling behind 31-23 in the third quarter.

Thief River Falls was 15-for-40 from the field (38 percent). A 17-for-29 showing at the free throw line included 12-for-19 fourth quarter foul shooting.

Little Falls went 15-for-43 from the floor (35 percent) and 5-for-13 at the line.

Armed robbery suspect, another person arrested in RLF

Two people were arrested Feb. 17 after it was reported that an armed robbery suspect was staying at a Red Lake Falls home.

Jason Goulet was allegedly found hiding in an attic crawlspace at the residence in the 600 block of State Ave. S.W. in Red Lake Falls. He was arrested without incident and taken to the Tri-County Community Corrections Center in Crookston. A look-alike handgun that may have been used in the armed robbery was allegedly found inside the residence.

Tina Hagl of Red Lake Falls was arrested for a felony charge of aiding an offender. She made an initial court appearance Feb 18.

The arrests stem from a Feb. 16 report to the Red Lake County Sheriff's Department from the Crookston Police Department. The police department reported that Goulet was staying at the Red Lake Falls residence. It further reported Goulet was a suspect in a recent Crookston armed robbery and that he was considered to be armed with an automatic pistol and dangerous. The Minnesota Department of Corrections (DOC) had also issued a felony warrant for Goulet's arrest.

Goulet has not been charged in connection with the Crookston armed robbery, and it is not known whether he will be charged, according to the Crookston Police Department. The department assumed Goulet's felony warrant was for a probation violation.

The Red Lake County Sheriff's Office Emergency Response Team (ERT) was dispatched to the residence. Red Lake Falls Ambulance Service was on standby.

Sheriff's deputies surrounded Hagl's residence and told her they were looking for Goulet. According to the department, deputies explained that a felony warrant had been issued for Goulet's arrest. They also allegedly told her that Goulet was a suspect in a recent armed robbery and that he was considered armed and dangerous.

Hagl allegedly told deputies Goulet was not inside the residence and refused to let them inside the home. She allegedly told them to get a search warrant.

The ERT applied for a search warrant. Four Minnesota State Patrol troopers assisted in securing the perimeter of the residence. The search warrant was executed at the residence in the early morning hours of Feb. 17, and Goulet was allegedly found in the residence.

Beltrami Island State Forest trail proposal

DNR provides responses to frequently asked questions

In an attempt to answer many questions and eliminate some of the confusion surrounding the Beltrami Island State Forest classification and road and trail designation proposal, the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) came up with the following responses to general questions. We're presenting the Frequently Asked Question responses in two parts.

Part 1

Q: What are Off-Highway Vehicles?

A: Off-Highway Vehicles (OHVs) include motorized vehicles such as All-Terrain vehicles (ATVs), Off-Highway Motorcycles (OHMs), and Off-Road Vehicles (ORVs - e.g., 4x4 Jeeps and trucks). Snowmobiles are not, by statute, considered OHVs.

Q: How does trail designation fit with plans to reclassify state forests:

A: The forest access inventory, followed by OHV trail designation, sets the stage for State Forest reclassification to "limited" and in some cases "closed" forests. Once forests are officially reclassified as limited, all trails not designated and posted open to OHVs will be closed to OHV use. This is why the inventory and designation process was expedited and linked to the act of forest reclassification.

Q: Is this a done deal?

A: No. The DNR wants your input on the proposed designations. It is understood that these road and trail designations affect the future use of these forests. All public comments will be compiled for Field OHV Project Team consideration. The area project team will consider changes to specific designations when public comments identify sustainable routes for specific motorized use.

Q: Didn't the DNR already do this?

A: the DNR began developing regional plans to manage off-highway vehicle use in 1998. Minnesota State Forests were subsequently classified in 2000 as either managed, limited or closed with respect to OHV use. The 2003 legislation simply directed the DNR to complete this process or reviewing and evaluating all state forestlands and forest classifications by 2006 to limited or closed status. The Legislature removed the managed classification from the DNR's options.

Q: What is covered in the draft proposals?

A: The draft proposals are in the DNR's recommended forest classification and road and trail designations for all State Forest lands within the planning unit. In most cases, the proposals also include road and trail designation recommendations for county-administered forestlands in the planning unit. The scope of the proposal and the lands covered are clearly described in the draft classification and designation documents.

Q: Who made these recommendations?

A: DNR Field OHV Project Teams composed of local DNR managers made the recommendations. DNR Divisions represented include ecological services, enforcement, forestry, trails and waterways and fish and wildlife. Other DNR division and bureau staff participated as well.

Q: Why are some of these undesignated trails proposed to be designated "open" and others will become "closed"?

A: All of the trails reviewed by DNR currently exist and had evidence of human use. Each route was examined in terms of purpose and need for public access, physical suitability, and environmental considerations by an interdisciplinary DNR team. Routes deemed sustainable under these criteria have been proposed for an "open" designation, while those not meeting the criteria retain their current undesignated status (closed to motorized use under the limited forest classification).

Q: Are the interests of all trail users being considered?

A: The DNR was directed to evaluate motorized trail access, while also considering opportunities for non-motorized trail users. Project field teams attempted to consciously consider the needs of other forest users (e.g., hunters, hikers, berry pickers, bird and wildlife watchers) when developing the motorized use proposals and to minimize the potential for user conflicts or displacement.

Q: Just how many miles of trail are being proposed?

A: There are no pre-determined mileage objectives for roads or trails. Trail designation proposals vary by area, by state forest, and even by individual management unit. You can track these proposals and download maps and mileage estimates on the OHV trail designation page on the DNR Web site at: http://www.dnr.state.mn.us/input/mgmtplans/ohv/designation/status.html.

Q: Will some trails be open seasonally?

A: Seasonal use restrictions, equipment limitations or other restrictions may apply to state forest roads or trails. Go to DNR's Web site for an up-to-date listing of forest trail and road conditions for seasonal closures: http://www.dnr.state.mn.us/trailconditions/listing.htm.

Q: What about OHV scramble areas, such as gravel pits or challenge areas? Will these be allowed?

A: The DNR will not provide vehicle scramble areas on state forestlands. Vehicle challenge areas are provided at state OHV recreation areas and may also be developed on non-state ownerships, possibly with grant-in-aid funding assistance.

Q: If a trail is closed as part of this process, can it be reconsidered later, or vice versa?

A: Yes, there may be circumstances where corridors may deserve a second look in the future. Management plans and local priorities can change. Proposed changes would be evaluated through a five-step process, which includes a project proposal; public review and notification, environmental review; project approval, permitting and trail construction; and management and monitoring. For more information on this process, visit the DNR Web site at http://www.dnr.state.mn.us/input/mgmtplans/ohv/designation/steps.html.

Q: Why is the DNR reclassifying forests and designating trails?

A: In 2003, the State Legislature enacted legislation to improve off-highway vehicle management in Minnesota. The 2003 legislation requires the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) to examine forest access and to designate which roads and trails will be open to motorized use.

The DNR recently completed a forest-by-forest inventory of state forests with the intent of reclassifying these as either Limited (OHV use is allowed only where a sign allows their use) or Closed (No OHV use is allowed). The inventory includes all roads and trails in state forests.

Q: What does it mean for the forest to be classified as "limited" or "closed"?

A: All state forests have a classification that indicates what types of motorized uses are permissible on forest roads and trails. Currently, there are three classifications:

Managed: forest roads and trails are open to motor vehicles unless posted closed; after 2006, this will no longer be a classification option.

Limited: forest roads are generally open to motor vehicles; all forest trails are closed unless posted open.

Closed: licensed highway vehicles are allowed on forest roads only. There is no trail riding opportunity for off-highway vehicles.

Motorized uses covered under the forest classification include OHVs (all-terrain vehicles, off-highway motorcycles and off-road vehicles) and highway-licensed vehicles (or HLVs - cars, trucks and SUVs).

Under the limited classification both OHVs and highway-licensed vehicles are allowed to travel on state forest roads, while OHVs are allowed to travel only on trails posted open to specific designated uses. Undesignated, unsigned trails are closed to motorized use under the limited and closed classifications.

Thief River Falls Planning Commission recommends rezoning Wal-Mart site

by April Scheinohn
Reporter

Tuesday, the Thief River Falls Planning Commission approved a rezoning request and conditional use permit for a proposed Wal-Mart site. The commission's recommendations now go before the Thief River Falls City Council, which meets Tuesday, March 8 at 5 p.m. at City Hall.

Planning Commission recommendations

The Planning Commission approved rezoning the site, located along Nelson Drive, from agricultural (AG) to General Business District (C-2). Jake and Anne Barnick, who own the property, made the zoning request on behalf of the Wal-Mart Corporation. The site is approximately 22 acres.

It also approved a conditional use permit for the site. Under C-2 zoning, shopping centers are a conditional use. The Barnicks requested the conditional use permit on behalf of the Wal-Mart Corporation.

The commission tabled a review of the final plat for the site and gave a 60-day time extension to Wal-Mart Corporation. A final plat that had been e-mailed to the city was not compatible with the city's computer software, according to Public Works Director Ron Lindberg.

The commission also tabled the Wal-Mart Corporation developer's agreement in relation to the Supercenter. That agreement would specify the city and corporation's responsibilities regarding the development of the site. It was noted the developer's agreement would be discussed when the final plat was reviewed.

Even though a 60-day time extension was given, the final plat and developer's agreement may be discussed at the March 8 City Council meeting. Council members may also vote on it.

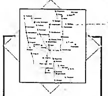
Wal-Mart's plans

This summer, Wal-Mart is planning to build a 155,000-square-foot Supercenter that sells clothing, food and other merchandise. Plans also call for the store, which will face Highway 59 Southeast, to have a tire lube express service center and an indoor and outdoor garden center. A Murphy Oil Corp. gas station is also planned.

Another parcel would be for sale and may be used for a bank, fast-food restaurant or sit down restaurant.

Store hours

About 25 people attended public hearings Tuesday about the rezoning request and conditional use permit. The public hearings, which are legally required, were held during the Planning Commission meeting.



Several neighbors of the proposed Wal-Mart site voiced their concerns at the meeting. "Is this Wal-Mart anticipating to be open 24 hours a day?" asked Mike Barry, a neighbor who also owns Pennington Main and Pennington Square.

It would be open 24 hours a day, said Darcy Winter, a Wal-Mart representative employed by D.E. Winter & Associates Inc. of Minneapolis.

Warroad City Council plans to proceed with sewer project

Warroad - After a long delay in plans for upgrading the city's sewer systems, the Warroad City Council decided at Monday's meeting to go ahead with the sewer project it had started planning eight years ago.

Since that time, the state has said that any new sewer project must include the Warroad Estates development. The city of Warroad and Lake Township have been negotiating over annexation of the Estates, but no conclusions have been made.

City Council has decided to move on with the project on its own. Dana Klos reported that he was approached by State Sen. LeRoy Stumpf regarding possible funding for the project. Stumpf and U.S. Rep. Collin Peterson were helpful in assisting the city of Williams with a similar situation some years ago. - Warroad Pioneer, March 2, 2005, by Bonnie Nordvall

County Board talks about road plan, okays JOBZ aid for Oslo firm

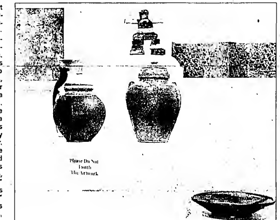
Warren - Possible paving additions to the Marshall County five-year road and bridge plan were discussed, and a Job Opportunity Building Zone application for an Oslo company was approved by the Marshall County Board of Commissioners at its Tuesday meeting.

The annual public hearing on the county's road and bridge plan was held in Newfolden Monday night. About 30 to 40 members of the public attended the hearing and offered commentary on the county highway department's plans for paving and other improvements through 2009.

At Tuesday's post-mortem on the hearing, commissioners urged County Engineer Jeff Langan to try to add some bituminous paving miles to the plan, if not for this summer, then within the next couple of summers. Highways most likely to get a second look in the planning are County Roads 31, 7 and 122/123, according to the discussion. Commissioner Sharon Bring also put in a plug for County Road 8 as important to people in the Viking-Newfolden area. - Warren Sheaf, March 2, 2005

KaMaR Recycling adds Red Lake Co.

Hallock - The year 2005 started out with changes for KaMaR recently.



KaMaR, originally Kittson, Marshall and Roseau counties, added Red Lake County to its program this year.

With this expansion, the recycling operation will include the communities of Red Lake Falls, Plummer, Oklee and Brooks in addition to the communities it already serves in the other three counties.

The addition of Red Lake County amounted to a payment of an amount equal to 18.46 percent of all asset value, fund balance and accounts receivable, less any accounts payable of the KaMaR operation. With these figures in mind, Red Lake County paid KaMaR $39,141.80, 18.46 percent of $212,035.73. - Kittson County Enterprise, March 2, 2005, by Cindy Stewart

The artwork of two area artists, Robin Foster and Talicia Lerfald can be seen in an exhibit at the Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) Art Gallery.

The two-person exhibit features a variety of functional and non-functional ceramics crafted by Foster and 10 prints dealing with stylized destruction of texture and surface by Lerfald.

Robin Foster

Foster, a 10-year resident of Red Lake Falls, has been working with ceramics for over nine years. During the working day he is the technical welding manager at Arctic Cat Inc. Outside of work his passion is working with ceramics.

Typically, Foster spends about 20 hours a-month on his hobby, which Foster admits is too much according to his son, Christopher. He often digs his own clay and has spent full weekends prospecting for the best clay.

Foster's work with ceramics began when he was called upon to assist a Red Lake Falls Community Education ceramics class. The class, which was taught by his wife, Lorrie, was attempting to use clay from Red Lake Falls for its ceramics projects. The clay was faulty though, and did not hold up to firing at high temperatures. Because of his chemistry background, Foster was recruited to mix the clay so that it would be able to fire, rather than melt, at a typical firing temperature of 2,300 to 2,450 degrees.

Foster joined his wife's class and over the previous nine years he has taken the necessary steps to become accomplished in his craft. His work has been shown at the Northwest Regional Development Commission's (NWRDC) art show and has been displayed on four out of the last five NWRDC show publicity posters. His work is sold regionally through a dealer in Lake Park and locally in a Red Lake Falls gallery called Of the Land.

Foster has toiled in mixed medium work like welding and ceramic combinations, but despite his success, he has a hard time saying he is an artist.

"I don't really consider myself an artist...I'm more of a technician," he said.

Foster enjoys sharing his knowledge of pottery and ceramics by teaching a Thursday night ceramics class at Franklin Middle School. Robin and Lorrie Foster teach the class as a team. Like most projects, Lorrie specializes in the glazing and hand work, while he does most of the growing work. It was through this semester's ceramic class that Foster's work came to be featured in the NCTC exhibit.

NCTC art instructor Talicia Lerfald is a student of Foster's who attends the Thursday night ceramics class. Lerfald marveled at Foster's love of the craft, charging just $40 per student for an entire semester. Noting that the cost includes materials like clay, Lerfald figured

Glenmore provides help

It's easier to fight the addiction with the help of others

by April Scheinohn
Reporter

Aaron Zimmerman knows it is easier to fight an addiction with the help of others.

"You can't do this alone," said Zimmerman, who is a recovering meth addict and recovering alcoholic.

Zimmerman is finding help at Glenmore Recovery Center, a Thief River Falls treatment center for those coping with addictions to such things as alcohol, prescription drugs and/or marijuana.

The Thief River Falls resident is one of the first people to receive meth treatment at the center, which also has facilities in Crookston, Detroit Lakes, East Grand Forks and Roseau.

With the prevalence of meth and the number of recovering meth addicts today, Glenmore began offering meth treatment services Jan. 1. The center is limited to housing five recovering meth addicts at a time, Glenmore counselor Patrick Plemel said.

Zimmerman's story

The 27-year-old Zimmerman began using meth about eight years ago. His use of meth eventually grew into a habit of getting an 8-ball, or 3-1/2 grams of the drug, every other day. He also went from smoking meth to injecting it.

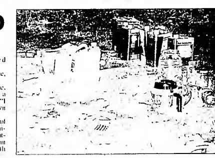
Besides using meth, Zimmerman used marijuana for about nine years, and alcohol for about 12 to 15 years.

A year ago, he was arrested with six other people after a meth bust. He was later convicted of a felony and served some jail time.

Once he was out of jail, Zimmerman continued drinking alcohol and using meth. In September, he was arrested for driving while intoxicated and spent more time in jail. Two months later, with the help of his probation agent Mary Gerardy, he entered Glenmore.

"The program is working for me, I think," Zimmerman said.

Prior to entering Glenmore, Zimmerman's life was heading in a direction he did not want it to go. "I was seeing my life go quickly down the toilet," he said.



Zimmerman lost his job and some friends. He also lost his family's trust. Yet, since receiving treatment for his addictions, Zimmerman has established relationships with his parents.

Entering the facility has changed Zimmerman's life. He's been clean since he entered Glenmore, he said. It's the first time Zimmerman has received treatment for his addictions.

"If I was on the outside of this place, I know I'd still be using," he said.

These items were recovered from a meth lab in Thiaf River Falls in November of 2003. According to tho Minnesota Department of Health, the illegal production and use of methamphatamine (meth) has been increasing in Minnesota since the late 1990s. In 2003, there more than 500 clandestine drug labs where methamphetamine was made (moth labs) and other meth-rolated events (meth chemical dumps, anhydrous ammonia thefts) discovered in the state. Most of the meth labs (75%) were located away from the largest Minnesota cities, in rural or semi-rural areas.

Here are more recipes from my mom's 1941 cookbook. Hope they bring back some memories.

Not bars or cookies, but a real pudding - just like the olden days:

DATE PUDDING
3 beaten eggs
1 cup sugar
1/4 cup flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup chopped dates
1 cup chopped nuts

Beat eggs and sugar until light. Add sifted dry ingredients. Stir in dates and nuts. Place in greased 8 inch square pan and bake in pan of hot water at 350 degrees for 1 hour. Serve warm, topped with whipped cream. Serves 6.

Do you think the kids will like this? I bet they will (they won't even know they're eating prunes, and if they do, they won't care):

BAKED PRUNE WHIP
2 cups cooked prunes
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 teaspoons lemon juice
4 tablespoons confectioner's sugar
4 stiffly beaten egg whites

Remove pits from prunes and mash to a pulp. Add lemon rind, juice and 2 tablespoons sugar. Blend well.

Add remaining 2 tablespoons sugar to egg whites and beat stiff. Fold prune mixture into egg whites and pile lightly in greased baking dish. Bake at 350 degrees for 20-30 minutes. Serves 6.

Serve these hot with whipping cream poured over and you'll think you're in heaven:

APPLE DUMPLINGS
2 cups sugar
2 cups water
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 cup butter
6 apples
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
3/4 cup shortening
1/2 cup milk

Make syrup of sugar, water, cinnamon and nutmeg. Add butter.

Pare and core apples and cut in eighths.

Sift flour, salt and baking powder. Cut in shortening. Add milk all at once and stir until moistened. Roll 1/4 inch thick and cut into 5 inch squares.

Arrange 4 pieces of apple on each square. Sprinkle generously with additional sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg. Dot with butter. Fold corners to center and pinch edges together. Place 1 inch apart in greased baking pan. Pour syrup over. Bake at 375 degrees for 35 minutes. Serve with cream.

Mom had this recipe carefully typed and tucked in the back of her desserts. It sounds like a great summer dessert, but aren't strawberries in the stores already? Why wait until summer:

ICE CREAM STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE
1-1/4 cups flour
3/4 cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/3 cup shortening
1/2 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg
1 pint vanilla ice cream
1 quart strawberries, sliced

Sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt into bowl. Drop in shortening, add milk and vanilla and beat 1 1/2 minutes. Add egg and beat well. Bake in round layer pan at 350 degrees for 25-30 minutes. Cool, then cut in half to make two rounds.

Spread lower half with ice cream and strawberries. Place other half on top and cover with remaining berries. Cut in wedges and serve immediately.

I was just looking for a crumb crust apple pie recipe and here is one in Mom's book:

APPLE CRUMB PIE
4 large, tart apples
1 unbaked pie shell
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup sugar (yes, another one)
3/4 cup flour
1/3 cup butter

Pare apples and cut into eighths. Arrange in pastry-lined pie pan. Sprinkle with 1/2 cup sugar mixed with cinnamon.

Sift remaining 1/2 cup flour with flour. Cut in butter until crumbly. Sprinkle over apples in pan and bake at 450 degrees for 10 minutes, then at 350 degrees for 40 minutes, until apples are tender.

CDP sign up begins soon

The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) has announced that sign up for the 2003-04 Crop Disaster Program (CDP) is scheduled to begin March 14, 2005. An ending date has not yet been announced. The disaster program will provide crop loss assistance for producers who suffered 2003 or 2004 crop losses. CDP is administered by the Farm Service Agency (FSA).

Kelly Turgeon, Kittson County FSA Director, would like producers to know the agency is committed to delivery of CDP to eligible participants as timely as possible. Turgeon said, "The program announcement has preceded the release of CDP software and Risk Management Agency (RMA) downloads of insured producers' crop loss records. Until the software is received and necessary downloads are completed, we will be delayed from beginning the application process."

U.S. Department of Agriculture officials have not announced the software release dates for application processing. Disaster payment software is anticipated to be available on March 31.

Locally, the FSA office has been prioritizing workload matters in preparation of the disaster sign up. Producers who suffered crop losses that were insured will have their production records automatically transferred from RMA to FSA for the CDP application process. FSA will use the RMA record to run the CDP applications on insured crop losses prior to a producer's sign-up appointment. Producers suffering losses on crops not insured will need to provide production records to FSA for eligibility calculations.

The Kittson County FSA office will conduct disaster sign up by appointment. Until all necessary software is in place, the county office will not be scheduling appointments. Once full program details are released, the local FSA office will conduct informational meetings to fully inform producers of the application process and the necessary production records that are required. Appointments for sign up will be available following the informational meetings.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Dave Hill and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Opinions in items from other publications may not coincide with the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

Flower of hope announces spring

This time of year one longs for spring - green grass, warm sunshine. Seed catalogs litter the table, yet we are met each blissful morning with white, gray and cold; wrap me under a blanket and send me south. There is, however, one hopeful sign of spring - Daffodil Days.

The yellow blooms that figure so prominently in the American Cancer Society's seasonal fundraising event, brings us joy. Donations to the American Cancer Society for the daffodils help support cancer research, public awareness campaigns and information, its service programs, and advocacy. So, these daffodils also symbolize hope for a cancer-free world.

Many individuals and communities participate in this event. We encourage you to participate in this event, as well, because when you see a daffodil, you know there's hope.

LETTERS

To the Editor, and Friends:

We are well into 2005 and already have lost time in which to get some things done. The Highway 75 Coalition is going ahead with plans for this new year. We know we have some great activities coming up - we have scheduled the Market Place day for Saturday, Sept. 10. We did well last year and can plan on a better day this year. Think of the things you can do differently in your town and get those plans going.

Another big day coming up on the King of Trails will be the Solar Auto Tour to be held on Thursday and Friday, July 21 and 22. Cars, depending on the power of the sun, will be starting at the Iowa border and will compete in a race to the Canadian border. (They will call it a "rayce!") Just imagine the excitement as these unusual cars come through each town on the King of Trails. The Coalition would like to see communities along the route to find a way to meet, greet and maybe eat with these drivers, showing them the hospitality and support we have in western Minnesota. Take pictures, do interviews, make them welcome. This "rayce" has been held on other larger highways nationwide, and we are so lucky they decided to bring their solar cars to this new scenic byway in 2005.

The communities on the route can' look forward to the "rayce" going by their towns. There will be good reason to invite folks from our neighboring towns as well. The Coalition had to decide just how far the corridor should extend on either side of the highway and came to the conclusion that each county the road goes through would make up the corridor. The benefits from this new scenic byway would reach a larger area as well as gain support from more communities and citizens.

Letters are already going out to area communities in Kittson, Marshall, Polk and Norman counties in Region 1. The Coalition welcomes them onboard and looks forward to an even greater effort in bringing more visitors to northwest Minnesota.

Any questions: Contact Ethel Thorlacius at Stephen. I'm in the book.

Ethel Thorlacius
Hwy. 75 Coalition Secretary

To the Editor:

The QDM concept is not only for antler restrictions but several other things are included: nutrition, minerals supplement and habitation, to name a few.

I own 880 acres, of which 480 is located west of the Halma Swamp management area and 400 acres is located west of Lake Bronson in Kittson County. I also am a whitetail deer hunter. I am working to manage our Lake Bronson property to produce quality whitetail deer. We have 30 acres of food plots, half annual and half perennial. We have groomed trails and shooting lanes on the wooded portion of our land. We provide a mineral/vitamin supplement to the deer. We post our property with no trespassing signs and gate the entrance to the property. We feed about 600 pounds of feed weekly in the winter to the deer. The cost to us is $1,500 to $2,000 on a yearly basis. A group of southern Minnesota hunters help us with these costs for the exclusive rights to hunt this property.

I do not manage the 480 acres located west of the Halma Swamp. I provide free hunting access to this property to friends from Bemidji and East Grand Forks.

I have visited with Mr Stevens. He has purchased property, managed it to produce quality whitetail deer, and is providing heated stands. The price Mr. Stevens is asking is the going rate for the services he is providing. Resorts on Lake of the Woods also charge access to the ice and water, for the use of fish houses and launches on a lake owned by citizens of the USA. Other examples of charging for services provided, would include the $90 my daughter paid to park her car under an interstate bridge in the Twin Cities. Clubhouse dues and green fees are also similiar. I expect a return on the funds I have in my 401K. I am paid wages for the hours I work at my job. My question to you, Gary Seydel, is why should Mr. Stevens not be provided compensation for hunting privileges? The days of free hunting on private land are coming to an end, with or without QDM.

I visited with a Department of Natural Resources (DNR) wildlife biologist working out of Bemidji. One of his concerns with QDM was death loss in a severe winter. If land owners are provided compensation for hunting privileges, it is in their best interest to feed the deer in the winter, plant and maintain annual and perennial food plots to maintain a large healthy deer population containing trophy bucks.

Last fall, our neighbor who did not have permission to use our property drove a four-wheeler through the woods around one of our gated and posted entrances. The field he drove to is well maintained CRP. I then posted a second larger no trespassing sign on a tree next to the four-wheeler tracks in plain view. In less than one week he did the same trick again. Needless to say, the second time he did it, he was turned in for trespassing. This person has acreage of his own, therefore I consider him selfish and greedy. When it comes to deer hunting, I have seen selfish and greedy things done on several occasions.

Should the DNR impose antler restrictions and trophy bucks become commonplace, this action would provide large economic benefits to the area in the form of tourism dollars. Imagine what the economic impact on the Lake of the Woods resort area if commercial fishermen were not bought out and commercial fishing was still allowed?

I support a QDM pilot project with some antler point restrictions. I feel that four or five counties with five- to 10-year trials would be a good starting point. After five to 10 years, if the concept works, it could be expanded. On the other hand, if the trial does not work, nothing is lost and rules could be reverted to the way they are now.

As for Gary Seydel and his daughters, they have several hunting options. They can hunt state land, purchase land, work for a landowner in exchange for rights to hunt his property, or form a hunting club with friends and obtain long-term lease or hunting rights to a property.

It's time for a change to QDM for the economic benefits to the area and the quantity and quality of the area deer herd. If you feel the same way as I do, please contact your elected representatives or the DNR at 1-888-646-6367 or wildlife@dnr.state.mn.us.

Sincerely,
Richard Swanson
Lake Bronson

To the Editor:

Your readers deserve to be congratulated. I was impressed by the level of public involvement during the current public input process about re-classifying state forests and designating trails.

As directed, local Minnesota Department of Natural Resource (DNR) employees who live and work in the community, spent many hours, days, weeks and months gathering the data and compiling it in a way that would provide your readers with valuable information. DNR professionals in your area did a good job presenting the information so that the public could understand and respond to the forest proposal.

Some readers may have thought that this was a final plan or that "minds were made up before the public hearing."

The fact is, the DNR has always seen this as the beginning of the process. And that is why Deputy Commissioner Mark Holsten made it clear at the start of the Warroad public meeting, Feb. 17, that the DNR is listening and being responsive, and the public comment and review will continue through the summer. That was at the start of the Warroad meeting, not as a reaction to it.

The DNR continues to evaluate and improve the process of reviewing the forest classifications and trail designations as directed by the Legislature. Our dedicated staff knows that we are an implementing agency of state government. We do not have the authority, for example, to "leave the forest as is" and ignore the legislative mandate.

At the same time, I am reminding employees to re-double DNR efforts to work closely with county boards, community leaders and the public we serve on all natural resources issues. I would also ask your readers to foster positive, open communication with the great people working for DNR in your area. Through friendly dialogue that includes clear thought and mutual respect, as well as listening with an open mind, we can all do what is best for natural resources and the people who enjoy them.

And, please, allow me to make it clear that the DNR believes that people throughout the state, both those who ride trails and those who walk them, share a common desire to do the right thing when it comes to conservation. Everyone loves the outdoors in his or her own way, and we should be able to work together to protect, use and enjoy our public lands in such a manner that makes us all proud as we pass them on to the next generation.

Best afield,
Gene Merriam
Commissioner, Department of Natural Resources

(Editor's note: This was sent to Helen Cozzetto, Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) natural resources planner in Bemidji, and copied for the Northern Watch.)

To the Editor:

We have a hunting camp four miles east of Hayes Lake State Park on the River Forest Road. We purchased this land in the early 1970s. There were several partners, two of whom have since passed away. This camp is enjoyed by a large number of people - owners, sons, daughters, grandchildren and many friends. We all enjoy the forest whether it's for hunting, four-wheeling, snowmobiling, or just for the peace and quiet. All of us feel the same way. Leave the trails alone. We don't want any of them closed. All of the trails from our camp to Bemis Hill are dry - no wetlands, except part of trail No. 4, which no one drives down anyway. I don't understand why the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) wants to protect the wetlands. Don't we have enough mosquitoes in Minnesota? Leave the trails open. Our troops are over in Iraq fighting for freedom over there, and we're losing ours here. This is not right.

Roseau County official faces DWI charges

A Roseau County official has been charged with driving while impaired after accidentally driving someone else's vehicle Feb. 24.

Orris Rasmussen

Roseau County Board Chairman Orris Andrew Rasmussen, 67, Roseau, has been charged with two counts of third degree driving while intoxicated. The gross misdemeanor charges carry maximum penalties of one year in prison and/or a $3,000 fine.

According to the criminal complaint, the charges stem from a Feb. 24 report of a vehicle theft at the Roseau American Legion Club. At approximately 8:45 p.m., a woman reported her Pontiac Grand Am had been stolen within the past hour.

Upon arriving at the scene, a police officer asked the woman to describe the vehicle. As a car proceeded nearby, she pointed to the vehicle and said her Pontiac Grand Am looked like it. The criminal complaint further indicated she said, "That is my car!" The driver then turned the vehicle into the parking lot and into the spot where the woman said the vehicle had originally been parked. Rasmussen was the alleged driver. He allegedly said he had mistaken the vehicle for his own car.

Rasmussen later agreed to have his alcohol concentration tested, and his alcohol level was allegedly 0.15. Currently, the legal limit is 0.10 in Minnesota.

Rasmussen has a previous DWI conviction from 2002 in Minnesota, according to the complaint.

A Grand Forks, N.D., Herald article indicated the vehicle is owned by an employee of the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR). The Roseau County Board and DNR have had a strained relationship recently.

Missy Bruggeman of Badger/Greenbush-Middle River (left) and Tina Nybladh of Stephen-Argyle chased down a loose ball Tuesday during Section 8A West girls high school basketball tournament action at the Ralph Engelstad Arena in Thief River Falls. The Gators advanced to the Section 8A championship game with a 50-42 win over the Storm.

Gators win Section 8A West

Kierah Kimbrough got her points, and top-seeded Badger/Greenbush-Middle River picked up the win. But it wasn't easy. The Gators won the Section 8A West girls high school basketball tournament title Tuesday by beating Stephen-Argyle 50-42 at the Ralph Engelstad Arena in Thief River Falls.

Kimbrough finished with 25 points, surpassing the 3,000 mark for her high school career. It might have been the toughest 25 she scored this year.

"They (Storm) took us out of our game," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Tom Neibauer. "They are the best defensive team in the area. Kevin Kuznia and Garry Kotts coach great defense. They're good friends of mine, but I hate playing against them. They make you do things you don't want to do."

The Gators never trailed. They were up 8-3 at the end of the first quarter and stretched it to a 10-point spread on three occasions in the second quarter. But Badger/Greenbush-Middle River had to settle for a 19-14 lead at the half when Tina Nybladh of the Storm hit a 3-pointer from the side with 22.6 seconds left.

It looked like Badger/Greenbush-Middle River had applied the knock-out punch when the Gators opened the second half with a 10-0 run for a 29-14 cushion following a Kimbrough basket on the inside with 2:33 left.

The difference was still 13 points, 33-20, as the quarter ended.

However, the Storm wouldn't go away. Three times in the final quarter Stephen-Argyle had it down to seven, including a 37-30 difference on a Nybladh drive with 4:06 to play.

The Gators, though, met every challenge. A basket on the inside by Kimbrough, a free throw by Missy Bruggeman and two free throws by Kimbrough shot the lead back to 42-30 with 2:31 on the clock.

Bruggeman finished with 11 points and played a key role on defense against top Stephen-Argyle scoring threat Robyn Henrickson, according to Neibauer. "Our team defense won it," he said. "Missy did an outstanding job on Henrickson. She got some points at the end, but Missy held her down for three quarters."

Jessica Safranski led the Storm with 14 points. Henrickson scored 10 of her 13 points in the final quarter.

Kimbrough left the floor with 3,007 career points.

Both teams put up 38 shots. The Gators hit 21 of them for a 56 percent shooting night. The Storm made 16 for a 42 percent showing. Free throws were a standoff: 8-for-15 for Badger/Greenbush-Middle River; 8-for-16 for Stephen-Argyle. The Gators had more rebounds (26-17) and more turnovers (20-18) than the Storm.

It was the fourth win of the year over the Storm for the 28-1 Gators, who beat them 70-36 in the early-season Northland Community and Technical College Invitational, then swept the home-and-home series 55-39 and 57-50.

Games draw 2,271 fans to arena

A paid attendance figure of 2,271 was announced for Tuesday's Section 8A girls basketball tournament doubleheader at the Ralph Engelstad Arena in Thief River Falls.

Fosston beat Red Lake Falls 63-47 in the East final to start the night; Badger/Greenbush-Middle River defeated Stephen-Argyle 50-42 in the West title game to complete the twinbill.

The undefeated Greyhounds and once-beaten Gators advanced to the state tournament-qualifying Friday Section 8A championship game at the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

"We're where we want to be," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Tom Neibauer after the win over Stephen-Argyle. "Since the start of June we wanted a one-game shot at either Red Lake Falls or Fosston with a state berth on the line. We didn't care which one – they're both so damn good."

Section 8A Girls Basketball

■ Tuesday, March 1 - (East final) Fosston 63, Red Lake Falls 47. (West final) Badger/Greenbush Middle River 50, Stephen-Argyle 42.

■ Friday, March 4 - (Championship) Fosston vs. Badger/Greenbush Middle River, 7 p.m., University of Minnesota-Crookston.

Greyhounds' stretch run winner

Fosston out-scored Red Lake Falls 13-1 over the last 3:16 to secure a 63-47 win in the Section 8A East girls high school basketball tournament finals Tuesday at the Ralph Engelstad Arena-Thief River Falls.

The unbeaten Greyhounds, ranked No. 2 in the Class AA state polls, were clinging to a 50-46 lead following a pair of free throws by Red Lake Falls' Darci Purath with 3:34 remaining in the game.

But Kelly Landsverk had an open 10-footer when her defender fell down, and the junior guard hit what would be the final field goal of the night for a 52-46 Fosston lead with 3:16 left.

A string of free throws finished the scoring. Abby Buse made one of two with 2:18 on the clock to keep the Eagles within 52-47. That, however, was it for the Red Lake Falls offense.

The Greyhounds iced it by going 11-for-12 at the line over the final 1:55.

It was the third Fosston win of the year over Red Lake Falls – the Eagles' only setbacks this winter.

Red Lake Falls had only one title game lead as Purath opened the night with a shot from the middle of the lane. It was an 8-8 tie before Fosston took control with a 10-0 run that closed the first quarter and opened the second period. The

Cardinals end TRF season

An 11-14 Thief River Falls boys high school basketball season ended Tuesday when the Prowlers lost a 66-54 Section 8AAA tournament quarterfinal game to Alexandria.

All four home teams won opening round games as Detroit Lakes beat Fergus Falls 52-32, Willmar stopped Little Falls 55-35, Rocori shut down Litchfield 53-29 and the Cardinals eliminated the Prowlers.

Alexandria had a 9-7 lead at the end of the first quarter. Thief River Falls went into halftime with a 22-20 edge.

Despite the scoreboard advantage, Thief River Falls coach Chris McLean wasn't satisfied with the Prowlers' first 16 minutes. "I didn't think either team played very well in the first half," he said. "There just wasn't a lot of offensive flow on either side."

Alexandria apparently came up with an answer at halftime. The Cardinals hit a 3-pointer at the outset of the third quarter, then followed a Thief River Falls turnover with another basket.

"We went from being up two to down three just like that," pointed out McLean. "We got down 10 right away."

A 26-9 fourth quarter scoring run provided the Cardinals with a 46-31 cushion to start the final period.

"They shot well, and we didn't defend very well," explained McLean. "We fell behind then rushed some shots when we really didn't need to."

Four 3-pointers in the fourth quarter got the Prowlers within nine with a minute to play before the Cardinals put it away at the free throw line.

Senior center Paul Sjoberg scored 16 points and sophomore guard Alex Yaggie had 13 for the Prowlers. The Cardinals were led by guards Mike Hendricks and Nick Carlson with 18 and 17 points, respectively. Center Mike Gilbertson contributed 10 points to the attack.

Thief River Falls was 19-for-39 from the field (49 percent) and 11-for-15 at the free throw line. Alexandria went 25-for-47 from the floor (53 percent) and 11-for-25 at the line. The Prowlers finished with a 21-14 rebound advantage, but also had more turnovers than the Cardinals, 19-12.

"We played hard, but we just couldn't seem to get into any kind of rhythm," offered McLean.

Alexandra takes a 12-13 record into the Section 8AAA semifinals today (Saturday) against Rocori at St. Cloud State University.

Section 8A boys are at Ralph Engelstad Arena

Semifinals in the Section 8A East and West boys high school basketball tournament are scheduled today (Saturday) at the Ralph Engelstad Arena in Thief River Falls.

Winners will return to the arena for title game match-ups Tuesday.

The Section 8A championship contest will be played March 11 at the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

Quarterfinals in both the East and West were played at various sites Thursday. Among the winners were Grygla-Gatzke, the No. 2 seed in the East behind Clearbrook-Gonvick, and Marshall County Central, the No. 3 seed in the West behind Stephen-Argyle and Norman County West.

Grygla-Gatzke jumped out to a 25-7 first quarter lead, maintained a 32-17 halftime spread, stretched it to 49-27 in the third quarter and finished with a 63-49 win over No. 7-seeded Red Lake County Central in a game played at Lincoln High School in Thief River Falls.

Andrew Holte scored 21 points, Robbie Anderson 12 and Tomas Loberg 11 for the 24-2 Eagles. Lucas Goulet and Ryan Fisher scored 17 and 11 points, respectively for the Mustangs, who beat Red Lake Falls 70-48 in opening round play Monday.

Sixth-seeded Win-E-Mac upset No. 3 Kelliher/Northome 54-48 in the second half of the Thursday doubleheader at Lincoln.

At the University of Minnesota-Crookston, Marshall County Central had a tough time shaking No. 6-seeded Kittson County North. The two teams played to a 16-16 first quarter draw. The Nordics had a 27-25 edge at halftime and took a 40-33 lead into the final quarter.

After scoring early in the fourth quarter, the winners went seven minutes without a point before a length-of-the-court in-bounds pass from Tyler Blazejewski to Andrew Johnson broke the Kittson County North press and resulted in a game-clinching lay up with just two seconds left.

Jay Maurstad scored 13 points, Dustin Monsebroten and Andrew Johnson both had 9 and Tyler Blazejewski contributed 8 to a balanced attack for the 18-8 Nordics. Monsebroten fouled out with 5 1/2 minutes remaining.

"Sometimes that first tournament game is the toughest," said Marshall County Central coach Jake Rantanen. "To have Dustin foul out, not score for seven minutes and still win the game, that has to be a huge confidence builder for the rest of the team. I thought our second half post play (Johnson, Blazejewski) was really strong."

Jake Sele led the Cougars with 12 points.

Both teams shot 41 percent from the field, with the Nordics hitting 17 of 41 attempts and the Cougars making 14 of 34. Marshall County Central was 5-for-9 at the free throw line; Kittson County North went 9-for-12. With Johnson and Blazejewski both grabbing seven rebounds, the Nordics out-boarded the Cougars 30-18. The winners also topped the turnover charts, 13-12.

Stephen-Argyle beat East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 66-43 and Tri-County edged Warren-Alvarado-Oslo 56-54 in Thursday Section 8A West games played at Northland Community and Technical College.

Beltrami State Forest trail proposal...

DNR provides responses to frequently asked quesetions

(In an attempt to answer many questions the public may have about the Beltrami State Forest trail proposal, the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources developed this question and answer response. The first part of this response appeared in the Feb. 26 edition of the Northern Watch.)

Part II
OHVs and local units of government

Q: Can local units of government ban OHVs, specifically ATVs, from their roads?

A: Townships may pass ordinances that prohibit all-terrain vehicle (ATV) use on township roads. Such an ordinance would apply to local residents as well as off-highway vehicle (OHV) riders from outside the area.

Q: Could the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) designate a township road as a trail?

A: Yes, but only with the approval of the township board or a road authority (like the county) in unorganized townships.

Implementation process

Q: What are the timelines for this process?

A: The DNR completed an inventory of all motorized and non-motorized recreational trails and roads on all state forest lands in October 2004. By Dec. 31, 2006, the trail designation process and forest reclassification is scheduled to be completed and implemented. The DNR notified the Minnesota Legislature that it would need a two-year extension to Dec. 31, 2008, as allowed by the 2003 legislation.

Q: How will the new trail designations be enforced?

A: The first step is enforcing the new road and trail designations will be designed and signing trails in a manner that is understandable to all forest users. The designation process allows for a one-year implementation period after the commissioner approves the final plan for each forest. During that period, forest roads and trails will be signed if they are designated for motorized use (undesignated trails will not be marked and will be considered closed to motorized use). The DNR is also working with user groups to encourage safe and responsible OHV riding through its various education programs, news releases, Web site information and public service announcements. Finally, local conservation officers and county sheriff's departments will create and implement enforcement plans for motorized uses on state and county lands, with funding from dedicated OHV accounts.

Q: Is anybody looking at the connection between miles of designated trail and the costs associated with ongoing trail maintenance and law enforcement?

A: Yes, the DNR is supposed to submit a report to the Legislature that details the compatibility of multiple uses of the state's outdoor recreation system, including details on revenue sources and expenditures from affected funds. Enforcement and its costs will also be studied. Dollars do matter. That's why, for example, most proposed trails already exist and are currently being used by OHVs and motorized vehicles. These pre-existing routes are relatively inexpensive to develop, maintain and improve. Many are on former logging roads originally constructed for large, heavy logging vehicles. The DNR expects construction costs for new ATV trails to be significantly less than those for snowmobile trails, for example, which are considerably wider and developed to a higher standard. For more information on OHV riding opportunities, rules and laws, visit the DNR Web site's OHV riding page available at www.dnr.state.mn.us/ohv/index.html.

Q: Where is the money coming from to monitor, maintain and enforce the new designations?

A: Money for the monitoring, maintenance and enforcement of OHV trails comes from the dedicated motorized recreation accounts as appropriated by the Legislature for this purpose.

Q: How soon will plans be adopted and trails designated?

A: Upon plan adoption, trails proposed to be designated open will undergo site-level planning, permitting, developing and signing. Undesignated routes will remain unsigned, which means they will be closed to motorized use. They will remain available for other uses, such as hiking or horseback riding, unless conditions require temporary or seasonal closure. Trail maps will be printed and distributed to local outlets. Check the DNR Web site's OHV riding page or call 1-888-MINNDR for updates.

Hunting and OHVs

Q: Is motorized access for hunting affected by the recommendations?

A: The answer regarding cross-country travel in state forests depends on the classification that is being proposed. Forests proposed as "limited" would still permit hunters and trappers to operate ATVs off of forest trails when lawfully using their machines for hunting big game or constructing hunting stands during October, November and December, retrieving harvested big game in September through December, or trapping during open seasons. These exceptions for hunting and trapping do not allow operation of ATVs in state forests that are "closed" to motor vehicles. When operating an ATV for these activities, it is illegal to cause erosion or ruts, or to injure, damage or destroy trees or crops. ATV legislation has been introduced this session, and current regulations are subject to change. Additional information regarding forest reclassifications, and trail and road designations can be found on the DNR's Web site (www.dnr.state.mn.us).

Q: Will recreational ATV riders on designated trails force deer hunters to move their deer stands further away from the trails – in effect creating more new trails?

A: Possibly, however, there are typically few recreational riders in the forest during the firearms deer season.

Environmental assessment

Q: Will the DNR conduct an environmental evaluation before designating trails?

A: The 2003 Legislature granted an exemption from formal environmental review requirements for forest trail designations until the review and reclassification process is complete. However, DNR staff is using an environmental assessment tool to evaluate all proposed routes prior to designation. Meanwhile, the Environmental Quality Board has been directed to establish environmental review rules for recreational trail development and is currently holding hearings throughout the state.

Q: Can I ride in wetlands and riparian areas?

A: OHVs are allowed on some wetlands but not in unfrozen public waters such as lakes, streams, rivers and ponds. OHV operation is prohibited in some kinds of wetlands. A person driving an OHV in a wetland must not operate the vehicle in a way that:

- willfully, wantonly or recklessly disregards the safety of people or property;
- carelessly upsets the natural and ecological balance of a wetland; or
- impacts more than the minimum amount of wetlands as allowed by law, which is approximately 400 square feet of a wetland (more or less, but varies by location and size of the wetland).

For more information about operating OHVs in wetlands, see pages 18-19 in the 2004-05 OHV Regulations supplement.

Public Involvement

Q: When can I get involved?

A: There is a provision for a 60-day public review and comment period on all proposed trail designation and forest reclassification recommendations. Public comments will be collected, reviewed and thoughtfully considered throughout the planning and decision-making process.

Q: How should I give input on the classification and designation proposals?

A: The DNR will only be able to analyze and consider written comments on the proposed classification and road/trail designations offered in the draft proposals. Comments for the Beltrami Island State Forest must be received by this summer to receive consideration. To submit written comments, fill out a comment form or direct correspondence to Helen Cozzetto, Regional Planner, Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, 6603 Bemidji Ave. N., Bemidji, MN 56601; fax – (218) 755-4063; or e-mail helen.cozzetto@dnr.state.mn.us.

Notice Marshall County Spring Load Restrictions March 2005

The effective date of the 2005 spring load restrictions on all Marshall County roads will run concurrent with the placement of restrictions on Minnesota Trunk Highways in the north zone of Minnesota. The erection of signs on any highway governs the effective date of the restriction for enforcement. As long as signs remain in place, restrictions are in effect. Updates concerning the beginning and end of the restriction period by the Minnesota Department of Transportation are available by calling 1-800-723-6543, or www.mrr.dot.state.mn.us then clicking on Seasonal Load Limits.

Restriction limits are based on gross axle weight which includes the weight of the vehicle and the load it carries.

No permits for overweight axle loads exceeding legal or posted axle weights will be issued.

During the period of time when spring load restrictions are in effect, any county or town gravel road that is not signed is restricted to (5) tons gross weight per axle. If signs are erected, the restrictions as indicated on the sign shall govern. A Marshall County Spring Load Restrictions map is available for view at the Marshall County Highway Department, 447 So. Main, Warren, MN.

customers to travel to the Supercenter. The store's main entrance would be a yet-to-be-constructed street or drive that would be located directly across from Dakota Clinic, according to Community Development Director Mike Moore. Another access point would be further north at Nelson Drive.

Wal-Mart expects a majority of customers will use Highway 59 to access the store, said Jered Morris, a Wal-Mart representative employed by Olsson Associates of Edina.

A set of stoplights has been proposed along the section of Highway 59 Southeast near the proposed Wal-Mart location. Wal-Mart still has to prove to the Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) that there would be enough traffic to warrant stoplights, Lindberg said.

The Wal-Mart Corporation has submitted a report to Mn/DOT about the matter, Morris said.

Results of a traffic study indicate 6,100 vehicles travel between Greenwood and Dale streets each day, according to Moore. Further into the city, that number increases to 12,400 vehicles per day between Dale and First streets.

Most of the comments made at the public hearings centered on semis. "We do have truck traffic that will be using Nelson Drive to access the site," said Morris, who noted the Supercenter would have four loading docks.

Planning Commission member Dick Sjoberg asked, "How many semis do you anticipate?"

"I don't have that information, and I don't know what that information is," Winter replied.

Upon further questioning from Sjoberg, Winter added that if she said there were 30 trucks in a week and three months later that number changed, it would put Wal-Mart in a bind.

Elaine Grovum, a neighbor of the site, noted Wal-Mart representatives had given different times and numbers regarding the truck traffic at the Supercenter. She asked whether trucks would be "running all night long."

Winter replied that she had told people at a past public meeting that a certain number of trucks would take loads to the Supercenter. However, she admitted that number of trucks pertained to a different Wal-Mart project.

"What we're asking here is to not have restrictions on when we'll have the trucks running," said Winter, who noted Wal-Mart does not know what the future holds. "We need to be able to do business this way."

Dave Grovum, who lives near the site, asked why Wal-Mart was not planning to use two southwest access points instead of Nelson Drive for truck traffic.

Working with Mn/DOT and the city, Wal-Mart decided Nelson Drive was the best access route for truck drivers. The company has a policy that semis are not allowed to travel in the customer parking area, Morris said. He added other access to the property is under different property ownership.

Under the current plan, other trucks would use the main Wal-Mart entrance. Trucks traveling to the gas station and other parcel would use that entrance, Morris said.

Storm sewer and storm water issues

Property values, as well as the cost of storm sewer improvements, were on at least one resident's mind. "I think I'm affected greatly by this Wal-Mart, and I think the value of my home, my property will depreciate," said Paulette McIntyre, a neighbor of the proposed Wal-Mart site. She also noted she received conflicting information about whether she would be charged for storm sewer improvements.

Nelson Drive and storm sewer improvements have an estimated cost of $179,000, said Lindberg, who noted an improved Nelson Drive would be comparable in size to Nora Street and have a parking lane.

Wal-Mart has committed to paying the entire cost for the improvements, Winter said.

Storm sewer improvements would be necessitated by storm water, which was another issue discussed at the meeting.

The Minnesota Pollution Control Agency is requiring Wal-Mart to have permanent ponds near the Supercenter, Morris said. He added the ponds are required for the treatment of storm water and to minimize pollution exiting the Wal-Mart site.

Fencing is required around the ponds due to liability issues, Morris said.

"We're worried about kids," Winter said.

The six-foot-tall chainlink fence would also prevent trash from entering the ponds, Morris said.

Fences would also be erected at other locations near the Supercenter. A wooden fence spanning 75 to 100 feet would be located near the corner of the Nelson Drive entrance, Morris said. A similar 6-foot-tall wooden fence would be erected at the back of the building in an area generally used to temporarily store pallets.

Impact on other businesses

One resident referred to the impact a Wal-Mart store may have on Thief River Falls businesses. "I'm not a businessman, but I'd be concerned," said Brian Aubin, a neighbor of the proposed Wal-Mart site. He asked whether the city would make up the losses incurred by small businesses that would have to compete against Wal-Mart.

"I have no answer to that," Planning Commission Chairman Mike Parker said.

"We could be in court real quick if we deny," said Don Barron, a Planning Commission member who referred to the city's Comprehensive and Land Use plans and how the site is listed in those plans as being potentially "commercial."

Barron added the city has planned for that area to be commercial. "We're fitting in beautifully with that long-range use," he said.

Vacant areas near proposed Wal-Mart site

Regarding other long-range plans, resident Elaine Grovum asked about the vacant areas adjacent to the Wal-Mart site.

That property is still owned by the Barnicks and remains agriculturally zoned, said Moore, who added that he has received no requests to develop or change that zoning.

The Comprehensive Plan has earmarked that property as either potentially "commercial" or "medium to high-density residential," Moore said. (The Comprehensive Plan is an advisory document that helps city leaders plan for the future.)

Residents were not the only people in attendance at the Planning Commission meeting. Council members Dave Carlson, Elvera Cullen, Glen Kajewski and Ken Schmalz; and Mayor Dale Wennberg were present at the meeting, but did not speak. Council member Conrad Holten, who is a member of the commission, also attended the meeting.

Planning Commission members unanimously approved the requests for rezoning and a conditional use permit. Members Dave Onkka and Rick Reierson were absent.

This was the second time the Planning Commission was scheduled to hear about the requests made on behalf of the Wal-Mart Corporation. Four people attended its Feb. 15 meeting in anticipation of the public hearings, only to be told they had been rescheduled since Wal-Mart representatives were not able to attend the public hearings.

School Finances are Improving Due to Senate Legislation

State schools will be re-paid a portion of the money the state borrowed from them to fill the $4.2 billion budget gap two years ago. The re-payment plan is based on a Senate proposal that became law in 2004.

About $150 million of the projected forecast budget increase announced this past week will be returned to Minnesota schools as part of legislation passed at the urging the Minnesota Senate, according to K-12 Education Finance committee chair LeRoy Stumpf. The $150 million equals about $15 per student.

While this will help the bottom line for schools, the $150 million will be spread across all of Minnesota's school districts and charter schools. Unfortunately, it will only partially pay back money the state "borrowed" from school districts under the Governor's deficit-reduction plan two years ago.

"Schools throughout this state have struggled for several years under a lack of adequate state commitment," said Sen. LeRoy Stumpf (DFL-Thief River Falls), chair of the Senate K-12 Budget Division. "Recognizing the need to help school finances as soon as funds became available, the Senate wrote it into the law as a top priority."

Senator Stumpf added: "While the pay-back is important, it doesn't erase school districts' need for additional funds nor does it cover the neglect schools have felt under the Pawlenty administration's tight budget proposal. The pay-back is also an important provision because it also let's our creditors know that Minnesota has a method for reinstating the state's financial stability over the long term."

"Life on your own terms" meeting set for March 17

"Life on your own terms" will be the topic at a public meeting of the Greenbush Lions Club on March 17.

John W. Johnson of Options Resource Center for Independent Living located in East Grand Forks, will be the speaker at the meeting scheduled at 7 p.m. at PineTymes Supper Club in Greenbush. The program is free and open to the public.

Johnson's presentation will be directed toward those of the baby boomer generation and beyond as they move into their golden years. It will focus on how people can and do continue their independent lifestyles as they age. Some technology that enables people to continue their independent lifestyles will be shown and discussed.

Two local artists featured

that he's lucky to break even on the cost of holding a class.

Twenty-three clay and ceramic pieces are featured in Foster's exhibit.

Most of Foster's work was created using a potter's wheel, but one item was made entirely by hand. The "inukshuk," defined as an Inuit word meaning "in the image of man," is on display in the gallery.

Foster originally crafted the piece for the northwest Minnesota show. Its inspiration was the Iron Dog snowmobile race in Alaska.

"It was a marker that showed trail beginnings from the coast," Foster said. "One side is longer than the other and it points inland from the coast."

Foster said real life inukshuks are much larger, standing between four and five feet in height.

Several ceramic bowls, platters and vases are also featured in the exhibit. Each bowl or platter that is included features the stenciling of a dragonfly and is appropriately titled based on the number of dragonfly imprints it features. Foster said the inspiration for the dragonfly theme came from the number of dragonflies that one sees while living on the banks of a river.

Foster said that each dragonfly that appears in a bowl or platter was made using a dragonfly stamp. He added that the stamp leaves just enough of an impression in the soft surface that it doesn't get covered by any glazes that are applied after the product is fired.

Foster's portion of the exhibit also includes several unique vases and lidded jars, that used different glazes and/or firing techniques to complete the product. One untitled vase couldn't even be made using the most up to date materials, because it used a combination of glazes that were discontinued because they were too toxic.

"We've probably only have a dozen glazes that we use with any repetition," Foster said. "Some use only local material."

Foster added that whenever it is possible, his work utilizes local materials.

Talicia Lerfald

The exhibit also includes several pieces by NCTC art instructor Lerfald. Lerfald has 40 prints on display dealing with stylized destruction of texture and surface. She used relief, etching and monotype methods to create the prints.

Lerfald's displayed work includes several wood texture paintings, a folded book titled "This Girl is Abnormal," and a monotype print titled "Bloods." Lerfald uses her artwork as a representation of her struggles with two afflictions from which she suffers, hemophilia and dyslexia.

Six wood texture paintings called reductive relief prints, were each crafted by Lerfald to represent how she deals with hemophilia. Each was painted using a clean, unmarked piece of wood as the painting apparatus. Paint is applied in layers and a wire brush is used between layers to keep the wood-like texture.

Lerfald started out with a yellow-orange color for the larger textured paintings. The paint is absorbed into the wood texture and applied to the paper creating a mirror image of the wood. Lerfald then uses the wire brush to create additional wood like texture. The yellow-orange paint is next covered with blue paint, then pink paint, each using the same piece of wood and wire brush.

Lerfald said she finished each reductive relief print with a wire brush, scuffing it to emphasize the scrapes and bruises that she often worries about while dealing with hemophilia.

Lerfald also shares details of her battles with hemophilia and dyslexia in the folded book, "This Girl is Abnormal."

"This Girl is Abnormal" used a large piece of cardboard as the writing surface. The surface was covered with paint blotches to simulate blood cells. Finally text describing past medical diagnoses were placed over the print.

The work of Foster and Lerfald will be displayed through next week. The NCTC Art Gallery is open daily from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Buy a shamrock, and help fight muscular dystrophy

Through St. Patrick's Day, millions of Americans will "paint the town green" by participating in the Muscular Dystrophy Association's Shamrocks Against Dystrophy program. The popular MDA tradition, led by internationally renowned singer Maureen McGovern, runs through March 17.

Patrons of thousands of businesses nationwide, including supermarkets, convenience stores, restaurants and other retailers, are supporting the fight against neuromuscular diseases by buying and signing $1 and $5 Shamrock mobiles to hang in the business locations.

In 2004, Shamrocks Against Dystrophy, the nation's largest charitable campaign associated with St. Patrick's Day, raised more than $12 million through the efforts of volunteers, participating businesses and sponsors.

For the fifth year, McGovern, a member of MDA's Board of Directors and a favorite performer on the Jerry Lewis MDA Telethon, is serving as the chairperson of Shamrocks Against Dystrophy.

"I understand the value of this special MDA program," said McGovern, whose teenage niece is affected by one of the diseases covered by the Association. "MDA has helped improve the life of someone I love, and its research gives my family – and tens of thousands of other families – hope for a cure."

Funds raised through Shamrocks support MDA's vital research and service programs, including summer camps and local clinics.

"Shamrocks Against Dystrophy provides a lighthearted, public way to support MDA's worldwide research and its nationwide service program, including 235 clinics and 90 summer camps," MDA President and CEO Robert Ross said.

MDA is a voluntary health agency working to defeat more than 40 neuromuscular diseases through programs of worldwide research, comprehensive services, and far-reaching professional and public health education.

For more information about MDA or the Shamrocks program, call (800) 572-1717, or visit www.mdausa.org.

Glenmore provides help

Christmas were Zimmerman's first holidays sober in the last 10 years, he noted. He spent the holidays at Glenmore, but he said it was "still a good lesson."

While learning that lesson, Zimmerman has faced some battles. He was recently prescribed the allergy medication Zyrtec, which contains a meth ingredient called pseudoephedrine. Zimmerman didn't take it because he was afraid of the consequences.

Taking the medication could have put his sobriety in jeopardy and led to prison time as well, he said. Glenmore helped him through that ordeal. Zimmerman remembered the encouragement he received to talk about his struggles and write about them. Zimmerman got through the situation by talking to his mom and writing about his problems.

Life after meth

Recovery is made even more difficult as a result of the cravings a recovering addict experiences. Meth cravings are "extremely powerful," Plemel said.

Those cravings are the result of euphoric recalls or remembering the happiness, however distorted it may have been, that the person felt after taking meth. The euphoric recalls occur when a recovering addict sees something related to using meth, Plemel said. Without even taking the drug, the recovering addict then suffers from some symptoms of meth use, including dilated eyes and an increased heartbeat.

Reading texts, as well as identifying approaches to overcoming cravings and euphoric recalls, have helped Zimmerman.

Quitting meth suddenly can also be hard. In Zimmerman's case, he suffered from withdrawals in the form of shaking, nausea and uncontrollable crying.

Meth users may also contend with sleep deprivation, malnutrition and dental problems, Plemel said.

They are rarely motivated by consequences, usually it has to be "something within" the addicts that motivates them to stop using the drug, Plemel added.

Zimmerman seems to be motivated. "I'm pretty serious about continuing [treatment]," he said.

Meth treatment at Glenmore

The 90-day treatment program is tailored to an individual patient's needs. It includes detox, stabilization, treatment and a transfer to a halfway house setting.

Therapy and other services are provided through the Northwest Medical Center Mental Health Division, Violence Intervention Project and Adult Basic Education.

Clients' families are also included in the treatment program.

Besides helping clients with their drug problems, Glenmore staff help them with other aspects of their lives. Staff help clients determine the schooling and/or other requirements they need for jobs, Plemel said. "We want people to leave this facility and be productive members of this community."

Zimmerman said his attitude has changed from "do 90 days and split" to attending meetings that he isn't required to attend. At those meetings, he hears about others' struggles with their addictions and how they're handling their battles.

"My whole thinking's changed," Zimmerman said.

Before being allowed to leave Glenmore, Zimmerman is required to find a job. Having a felony conviction is making that harder, he said.

Whatever problems recovering addicts like Zimmerman may face in the future, Glenmore is there to help them. "We never fully discharge a client," said Plemel, who noted that Glenmore has an open-door policy and is covered by staff 24 hours a day seven days a week.

"People do recover," Plemel added.

Glenmore is affiliated with RiverView Health. Currently, the Thief River Falls site is the only Glenmore facility that handles meth treatment. For more information, contact Glenmore Recovery Center at 681-8019.

Commissioners agree to support business enterprise grant

Hallock - Kittson County commissioners agreed to support a business enterprise grant to attract a new manufacturing business to the industrial park.

Karl Frigaard, Northwest Community Action, visited with the county commissioners March 1, asking the county to support the grant.

He said the reason he was asking the county rather than the city of Hallock was because the city has already gone through the grant process and its chances of receiving this, too, would be limited.

The grant would be for $100,000 to $150,000. Frigaard said he will be meeting with the interested business in the next week and cannot publicly state any information about the business. - Kittson County Enterprise, Mar 9, 2005, by Cindy Stewart

School Board is likely to discuss budget cuts at meeting Monday

Warren - Discussion of budget reductions for the next school year is likely to be a major focus of the Warren/Alvarado/Oslo School Board meeting Monday night, said Superintendent Ken Henry.

Some months ago, the board adopted a pro-forma resolution calling for the administration to prepare budget reduction proposals for board consideration. The cuts are seen as necessary in the face of continuing declines in district enrollment.

Henry said the district's faculty and staff have been surveyed again this year for their suggestions for reducing or holding the line on expenses. He said new suggestions this year will be presented to the board Monday for its review and discussion. - Warren Sheaf, Mar 9, 2005

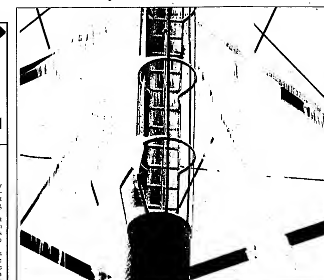
Minnesota House passes bonding bill

Roseau - The long wait is near its conclusion. Last week, the Minnesota House of Representatives passed its bonding bill of over $800 million.

Roseau has a $13.2 million slice of the legislative pie in the House's version of the bill. On the Senate's side, it has reserved $10 million for Roseau.

That figure is the same as the one on the governor's list.

The money included in the bonding bill is for the city's flood recovery efforts. More specifically, it will be used for infrastructure improvements as well as a new city center building that will include many divisions whose buildings were damaged or destroyed in the flood of 2002.



All of the current city projects associated with the bill are ready for bids, according to Mayor Jeff Pelowski. The city is waiting for the conference committee to pass its bill and it's waiting for the governor's signature. - Roseau Times-Region, Mar 5, 2005, by Tristan Sjaaheim

County boards hold strategy session with Polaris representative

Baudette - It wasn't billed as a closed meeting of the Lake of the Woods County Board, but...

The board met with members of the Roseau and Koochiching county boards Monday night to, as it were, plot strategy for its approach to the Minnesota DNR's proposal to close huge amounts of trail and road mileage in the Beltrami Island State Forest. Also on hand for the meeting was a representative from Polaris Industries of Roseau. - Northern Light, Mar 9, 2005, by John Oren

Icy veil covers water tower

The thaw and freeze cycles common in northwest Minnesota this time of year can cause a lot of damage. Middle River's water tower sprang a leak Sunday. Much of the water in the tower had to be drained. Other than the interesting ice shapes appearing on their tower, residents of Middle River only experienced low water pressure. A short-term repair has been completed and water pressure should be back to normal.

Thaw and freeze cracks tower valve

Residents of northwestern Minnesota are familiar with what freezing and thawing can do to their roads, but those conditions can have an impact on their lives in other ways, too. While many residents enjoyed last weekend's higher weather temperatures, the quick freeze on Sunday created a leak in Middle River's water tower.

Mark Stromsodt, Middle River's mayor, said they noticed ice hanging from the water tower on Monday.

Upon investigating, it was learned that during the thaw and freeze cycle last weekend, ice in the tank had shifted cracking a drain valve.

In order to make some repairs to the valve, some of the water in the tower had to be let out. Stromsodt said residents were not without water or adequate fire protection, but residents probably noticed lower water pressure for about a day or so.

The leak created another problem, however. The ice had formed around the tower's ladder, preventing repair crews from getting at the leak. Stromsodt said they solved the problem by renting a ladder truck from ACME Electric in Grand Forks, N.D. Crews were then able to put a patch on the outside of the tower. Another patch will have to be put on the inside of the tower, but Stromsodt said that repair won't take place until sometime next summer.

Stromsodt agreed that the leak created some interesting ice shapes on the tower. The potential of ice falling from the tower, however, poses a serious safety issue. Stromsodt said a fence has been placed around the tower to prevent onlookers from getting too close.

RLF voters say no to arena bond

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

Red Lake Falls voters said no Tuesday to a bonding proposal to help pay for a $1.1 million addition to the Cardin-Hunt Arena.

By a vote of 389 to 127, voters rejected a proposal for the city to sell $570,000 in general obligation bonds for the project according to Mayor Allen Ducharme.

Plans called for an addition on the northside of the arena. It would have included four new locker rooms, a new concession area and a new lobby.

Ducharme noted the city will now have to look at only improving locker rooms. "We'll have to put out bids for just locker rooms," he said.

Currently, the city has $105,000 budgeted for arena improvements. It has already received a $225,000 interest-free loan for that purpose. The Blue Line Club had agreed to contribute $85,000 for the addition.

If voters had approved the bonding proposal, the average annual bond repayment was estimated at $45,000. As a result, a homeowner with a $50,000 property would have seen an $84 increase in annual taxes. A homeowner with a $100,000 property would have seen a $168 increase in annual taxes.

Additional tax/reserve monies would have been needed as well, and more levies may have been assessed. In a February interview, Ducharme said there would have been no funds left for arena repairs if the existing budgeted improvement monies were used for an addition.

State warns of songbird deaths

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has received numerous reports of sick and dead common redpolls and other members of the finch family at bird feeders in and around the Thief River Falls area. Officials note that there is a reason for this and there is something people can do about it.

According to Carrol Henderson, supervisor of the DNR Nongame Wildlife Program, similar die-offs are occurring in Quebec and in states ranging from Michigan to New York to Vermont and south through Virginia and North Carolina.

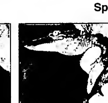
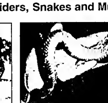
The DNR's Division of Ecological Services has determined the birds are dying from a bacterial disease called salmonella - Type B. This disease is transmitted by contact between birds, especially where they are concentrated at feeders. It can also be transmitted through their droppings onto birdseed and subsequently ingested by other birds.

"It is extremely important to clean up the areas under the bird feeders, where fallen seed could be contaminated," Henderson said. Henderson noted the redpolls, pine siskins and other northern finches should be migrating northward this month. The problem will subside as they disperse through their northern woodlands for nesting.

"People can help by removing their finch feeders for a week or so to force the birds to disperse their feeding activities over a larger area," Henderson said.



The feeders should be cleaned with a solution of two ounces of bleach with one gallon of water, followed by a scrubbing or brushing of the entire surface. Feeders can be put out after about a week, when the redpoll numbers have diminished. According to Henderson, house cats can contract this disease from eating sick songbirds. Veterinarians in Quebec have reported receiving sick cats diagnosed with salmonella B. To protect their pets, people should keep their cats indoors because they can become infected with salmonella B when they kill and eat the sickened birds.



Local birdfeeders have reported that they have had Redpolls die at their feeders. University of Minnesota Extension Agent for Pennington and Marshall County, Howard Person, said he has received a couple of calls about dead birds. The Extension office in Thief River Falls has also received a couple of calls. At least one call came from the Goodridge area.

Person said it's not unusual to see redpolls. While not exactly common to the area, this area is in their zone. There have been more of them in the area this winter, but Person added, the presence of a large number of redpolls and large numbers of great gray owls, adds up to an unusual year, altogether.

Viking resident presents "Zoo to You" show

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Henry Michaloski, a resident of Viking, has made a career of being called names like "The Bug Man" and "Uncle Henry."

Michaloski spends six months of each year presenting his program of a nature emphasis, "Zoo to You," to children pre-kindergarten through grade six. His tours have taken him across the nation and back for 13 years, performing over 5,300 shows in that time. In a typical year, Michaloski performs 450 shows over the course of two three-month tours.

Michaloski makes his home in Viking with whom he describes as a tolerant wife, Suny, who also serves as the company's manager. The couple has two daughters, Lillain, 7 and Allison, 4, who Michaloski says are heading for careers in zoology.

TRF show

Michaloski performed Friday (March 4) at the Community Church in Thief River Falls. It was the final stop of his winter tour.

"Today's was a little different," Michaloski said. "Being a church, they let me do this as a creation format."

Michaloski's program format changes each tour and different types of animals are used for each season. Michaloski's first program in 1993 featured insects, something that earned him the name "Bug Man." Then the program evolved to feature predators who eat insects and later to predators who eat other animals.

Like most "Zoo to You" shows, the Community Church show had two rules for participants – stay seated and keep hands away from the animals. Michaloski warned the children in the audience that one of his animals has fangs and venom. He then joked that there was a kid at his most recent show that tried to handle one of the animals and ended up going to the hospital in two different ambulances.

Friday's show featured a Florida alligator, a box turtle, a bantam rooster, a California king snake, a rose haired tarantula, a giant African millipede, a gecko and an emperor scorpion.

Both the rose haired tarantula and emperor scorpion are mildly venomous according to Michaloski. Each is capable of producing bee sting like welts. Michaloski said that the giant tarantula, a cousin of the rose haired, contains a much more toxic venom, while the bigger scorpion species, like the emperor, are less toxic than their smaller cousins.

"Zoo to You"

Michaloski gained most of his knowledge about wild animals from reading National Geographic for the past 30 years. He began working in the field shortly after his senior year in high school, as a narrator on a tour boat in Maine's Acadia National Park. He later learned how to handle animals while working for the Virginia Living Museum.

Henry Michaloski shows off a young Florida alligator during last week's (March 4) presentation of "Zoo to You," held at Community Church in Thief River Falls. Michaloski has performed about 450 shows per year for the past 13 years.

Celebrate St. Paddy's day with a quick meal made the Irish way - serve cooked cabbage on the side:

CORNED BEEF HASH
6 large potatoes, peeled and diced
1 (12 ounce) can corned beef, cut into chunks
1 medium onion, chopped
1 cup beef broth

In large, deep skillet, over medium heat, combine potatoes, corned beef, onion and beef broth. Cover and simmer until potatoes are of mashing consistency and the liquid is almost gone. Mix well and serve thinly sliced
1/2 teaspoon paprika
Salt and pepper to taste

In medium saucepan, cook cabbage in small amount of water for 5 minutes or until tender. Drain and set aside.

In iron skillet, cook bacon and onion until onion is soft and bacon is cooked. Add ham and cook until heated through. Add butter, then mix in cooked cabbage and potatoes. Season with paprika, salt and pepper and cook until browned on bottom. Turn and brown other side.

This cooked cabbage dish would make a good side for the hash - I remember having this type of dish when I was growing up, only it was just creamed cooked cabbage without the fancy stuff:

CREAMED COOKED CABBAGE
5 cups shredded cooked cabbage
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
2 cups heavy cream
1-1/2 cups dry bread crumbs

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Place cabbage in 2 quart casserole and sprinkle with sugar, salt and nutmeg. Pour cream over cabbage and top with bread crumbs. Bake for 1 hour.

Here's another great dish for St. Paddy's day - add more beer as needed. Serve with mashed taters:

BEEF AND GUINNESS STEW
2 pounds lean beef stew meat
3 tablespoons oil, divided
2 tablespoons flour
Freshly ground black pepper to taste
1 pinch cayenne pepper
2 large onions, chopped
1 clove garlic, crushed
2 tablespoons tomato paste
1-1/2 cups Irish stout beer
2 cups chopped carrot
1 sprig fresh thyme
1 tablespoon chopped fresh parsley for garnish

Toss beef cubes with 1 tablespoon of the oil. In separate bowl, stir together the flour, salt, pepper and cayenne. Dredge beef in the flour mixture to coat.

Heat remaining oil in deep skillet or Dutch oven over medium high heat. Add beef and brown on all sides. Add onions and garlic.

Stir tomato paste in small amount of water to dilute. Pour into skillet and stir to blend. Reduce heat to medium, cover and cook for 5 minutes.

Pour 1/2 cup of beer into the pan and as it begins to boil, scrape any bits of food from the bottom of the pan with a wooden spoon. Pour in remaining beer, along with carrots and thyme. Cover, reduce heat to low, and simmer 2-3 hours, stirring occasionally. Taste and adjust seasoning before serving. Garnish with parsley.

It doesn't matter if this dish is Irish or English, it still sounds like fun for the green holiday. It's a good way to use up leftovers too:

BUBBLE & SQUEAK
1/2 medium head cabbage, sliced
3 slices bacon, diced
1 onion, sliced thinly
1 cup cubed, cooked ham
1 tablespoon butter
3 cups potatoes, baked, cooled and

What's St. Patrick's Day without soda bread - here's a good recipe that you should make a day or at least a couple of hours ahead of the meal:

IRRESISTIBLE IRISH SODA BREAD
3 cups flour
1 tablespoon baking powder (yes, tablespoon)
1/3 cup white sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda (yes, teaspoon)
1 egg, lightly beaten
2 cups buttermilk
1/4 cup butter, melted

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Grease a 9x5 inch loaf pan.

Combine flour, baking powder, sugar, salt and soda. Blend egg and buttermilk together, and add all at once to the flour mixture. Mix just until moistened, then stir in butter. Pour into prepared pan and bake 65 to 70 minutes or until toothpick inserted in bread comes out clean. Cool on wire rack, then wrap in foil for several hours or overnight for best flavor.

The cost of the supper is $7 for adults, $3.50 for children under 6, or $25 for a family.

Public asked for comments on Agassiz NWR plan

Residents are welcome to comment on a draft of the 15-year Comprehensive Conservation Plan (CCP) for Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge near Middle River.

An open house meeting will be held for those interested in contributing their comments about the draft. The meeting will be held Wednesday, April 6 from 4 to 8 p.m. at the Heritage Center, 301 Fourth St. E., Thief River Falls.

It is the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's goal that the CCP will provide a clear statement of the desired future condition of the refuge. It also hopes the CCP provides a sound basis for long-term operations, maintenance and capital improvement budget requests. It additionally wishes that the CCP will provide a clear understanding of refuge management actions to all who are interested.

Comments provided on the CCP draft will help the Service write a final CCP. The plan is available at public libraries in Thief River Falls, Warren, Greenbush, Crookston and Roseau, as well as online at www.fws.gov/midwest/planning/agassiz/index.html.

Written comments can be provided to the Service at U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Division of Conservation Planning, Attention: Agassiz NWR CCP Comment, BHW Federal Building, 1 Federal Dr., Ft. Snelling, MN 55111. Comments can also be sent through the aforementioned Web site.

In order for comments to be considered, they have to be received by April 18. However, comments are welcome after that date as they may be considered in future management decisions.

For more information, call the refuge at 449-4115.

TRF firefighters respond to gas spill Wednesday

Seventy to 100 gallons of gas spilled Wednesday night at Kum & Go.

The gas spill apparently occurred after a gas nozzle sustained damage, according to the Thief River Falls Fire Department. Earlier that day, someone drove away while the gas nozzle was still inside a vehicle. The gas nozzle was damaged, but a gas spill did not occur at that time. After a shift change at the business, another clerk turned on the gas pump, causing the gas spill.

Firefighters were dispatched to the scene at 8:40 p.m. Wednesday and were on the scene for about an hour. They arrived at the scene before the gasoline could enter the storm sewer.

A Meal Fit for a King

I really enjoy seeing the first bald eagle or two, each March. They usually take me by surprise, showing up unexpectedly in the middle of an open expanse of ice, their dark feathers standing out as large as a fish house against the bright white background of winter. They look unflappable out there, as comfortable and regal on the snow as they are in the topmost branches of a 100-foot white pine. It's an exciting sight, one that not only stirs latent patriotic fervor, but an image that also suggests an end to the most brutal that winter might have to offer and a herald for the impatience of a warming spring. Their arrival implies that open water is not far away and the annual shoreward-run of walleyes is mere days ahead. The appearance of bald eagles signals a fresh beginning for nature's annual cycle and renews my faith in the notion that everything is all right with the world!

So how come, with all that pomp and glory available to them, the first returning bald eagle I see each March is perched on top of a gooey, skanky, three-month old, discarded burbot carcass, sucking in the over-ripe eyeballs like a denture-less 80-year-old eating spaghetti? Couldn't there be some more noble first meal for the returning King of spring? Isn't there a live critter that could have enticed him back up here? A mole migration, perhaps. Maybe a run of lampreys up the shallows of Clementson rapids. How about Farmer Brown traditionally chasing the new-born kittens from his barns on St. Patrick's Day? Is that fetid fish really worth winging it all the way up here from the banks of the Missouri river some 1,000 miles south? Even the ravens and crows have seen fit to leave the putrid pile of pout alone. How far down the social ladder is our national symbol going to slip?

I made an effort, years ago, to correct the indignity. Ben Franklin and his notions about turkeys be damned! Rancid rough-fish, I surmised, was all that was available to these glorious birds at this time of year and, like humans, they accepted the conditions and stooped to survive. I made an effort to improve the fare by fabricating small piles of other fresher and more appetizing fish; walleye heads and tails, sauger skins, and perch skeletons all neatly arranged a discreet distance from any fish house. Perhaps not the stuff that piscatorial dreams are made of, but a meal for a starving fisherman, at the very least, and certainly worthy of a hungry raptor. And, yet, it was the mushy mess that drew the birds' attention first. Even when the squishy-fishy was closer to an ice shack than the appetizing alternative, it was still the meal of choice.

So, now, I have learned to be less judgmental when the first of these great birds arrives each spring. I still enjoy the rush of national spirit I get when I first see one outside the window of a fish-house. I swell with pride when a guest comments on how big and healthy that eagle looks out there on the ice. I feel I've had a stake in that. I point out to them how the eagle is a symbol of spring, of renewal, of hope. I explain about the open water somewhere close by. I point out trees with nests. I make uninformed comments about migratory patterns and mating habits. But I don't point out that he's sitting on a December-caught burbot that no other planetary species is interested in eating. Hey, if he wants to suck down putrefying, gelatinous cod, that's his business. He likes it. He's on the back of all our money. Who am I to judge?

And next Fall, having learned a little bit, I'll be more receptive at the annual Hunter's Lutefisk Supper. Instead of making snide comments as to the palatability of putrefying, gelatinous cod, I'll simply ask the person to my right to pass the meatballs. Or the fish head soup.

A more mature approach to video-game violence

by Paul K. McMasters
First Amendment Center

Illinois Gov. Rod Blagojevich devoted a portion of his Feb. 3 State of the State speech to the state of youth entertainment, specifically violent video games. The governor is not amused, and he is committed to making his state the first to criminalize the distribution of such videos to minors.

Gov. Blagojevich has proposed a law to make the sale of explicitly violent or sexual games to under-18 consumers a Class A misdemeanor, carrying a punishment of up to a year in prison or a $5,000 fine. He also wants to require video retailers to label games for content and post signs in their stores explaining the rating system for the games.

In addition, the governor named a task force of educators, medical experts and parents to advise him on the potential harmful effects of suspect videos on minors. Last December, he urged the Chicago Transit Authority to cancel a contract for advertising a mature-rated video game on city buses.

Blagojevich is not alone in the campaign against violence in videos. Political leaders and community activists across the nation and across a wide political spectrum are targeting violent video games as a menace to children and a precursor to real crime.

Earlier this month, District of Columbia Mayor Anthony Williams announced that he was backing a bill targeting the sale of violent games. In Maryland, a bill sponsored by Delegate Justin Ross would impose a fine and jail time for vendors who sold or rented violent video games to minors. Similar legislation is before the Georgia Legislature.

In 2004 alone, according to Clay Calvert of the Pennsylvania Center for the First Amendment at Penn State, more than 20 states and local jurisdictions launched efforts to regulate the sale of video games. Even federal legislation pops up from time to time in Congress, but none has gotten very far.

It is quite clear that politicians and some community groups do not like these games. But millions of kids - and their parents - do like them. And while some contain blood-curdling violence, others are visually stunning, technologically advanced and creatively sophisticated. Sales of video games last year totaled $7.3 billion, just $2 billion less than movie box-office receipts.

Those who want to regulate the distribution of video games face some major hurdles, aside from the popularity and appeal of the games.

First is the Constitution. Courts have made it clear that video games are forms of expression deserving the same First Amendment protection as television, movies or books. Further, they have rejected the argument that there is a causal relationship between video violence and real violence.

In 2001, the Supreme Court let stand a ruling by the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals that struck down an Indianapolis ordinance regulating access to video games. In 2003, the 8th Circuit also ruled that such a law was unconstitutional, noting that "the government cannot silence protected speech by wrapping itself in the cloak of parental authority."

In addition to the constitutional barrier to these kinds of laws, there are some inconvenient realities.

The video-game industry voluntarily set up a rating system to guide parents and young consumers. Vendors are supposed to require proof of age before selling M-rated games to anyone under 17. Some of the largest retailers don't even carry adult-only games. And, according to an industry survey, the average age of a video-game player is 30 and the average age of a buyer is 36. When the buyer is a minor, parents are involved in the purchase 83 percent of the time.

Rather than attempting to dictate taste and behavior through law, politicians and activists might focus more of their energy on public-awareness campaigns, the independent rating system, and encouraging vendors to "card" more unaccompanied minors. That would be a much better way to go, not only because it's First Amendment-friendly but also because it works.

Those who push for laws based on exaggerated science and a low opinion of the moral and emotional fiber of young people and their parents' judgment should think through the logic of their efforts. If we can harness the law to punish any form of expression based on the assertion that it might cause bad acts, or disfavored attitudes, then what is left but a dismayingly homogenized and narrow range of expression, reflecting only the dominant passions and prejudices of the moment?

When dealing with expression that some of us don't like, it is all too tempting to exploit fear and ignorance. It is all too easy to propose laws to ban it. It is not easy, however, to decide who has the maturity to distinguish fantasy violence from that appearing on the nightly news or in any number of professional sports.

Those decisions shouldn't be left to a legislator, a jury, a merchant or a police officer. They should be left to a parent.

LETTERS

To the Editor:

In response to Richard Swanson's letter on the QDM proposal, I submit the following.

The issue is not whether Mr. Stephens or Mr. Swanson, or any other landowner, has the right to charge for hunting privileges on private land. America supports free enterprise. The real issue is requiring others to sacrifice their rights for a successful hunt to promote private business. Clubhouse dues, green fees and parking charges are assessed to recover expenses, but are not made at the sacrifice of the rights of others.

Many of us spend a significant amount maintaining the deer herd on our land, but we do not expect others to pass up the bucks to recover our expenses. The economic gain by drawing tourists (hunters) to our area will be insignificant to most businesses compared to the obvious financial gain of those involved with a commercial hunting business. If promoting commercial hunting is what hunters want, then they should be in favor of the QDM proposal. If not, they should let their disapproval be known to the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and elected officials.

It will be a sad day when nophy and wealthy commercial hunters' interests take priority over local and family hunting, which we now enjoy in northwestern Minnesota.

The statement was made that nothing would be lost by a five- or 10-year trial period in four or five counties. To the 65- or 70-year-old hunter, with only a few years left to hunt, much could be lost! To our family member with only one or two days available for hunting, much could be lost. To the hunter, that makes a "mistake," much money (paid in fines) could be lost.

Contrary to QDM's claims, hunters in states that now have antler restrictions are not all pleased with the regulation. Hunters in Pennsylvania are boycotting buying 2005 licenses because they are so dissatisfied with antler restrictions.

Hunters will make mistakes, and to avoid large fines, many deer will be left to waste in the woods. Enforcement of these rules will be difficult.

Let each landowner and hunter decide for themselves what determines a "quality" deer. Is it the doe or young animal that provides the best feed of venison, or is it the trophy buck that can be shown off to fellow hunters and neighbors, but does not provide quality meat?

Hunting is not just about the antlers on a buck, but also about good eating and camaraderie of hunting with family and friends. We have, and will continue, to voluntarily save the young bucks without a law. We do not need, nor do we want, another DNR regulation dictating our rights in northwestern Minnesota! Let your voice be heard. Contact your elected representatives and the DNR at 1-888-646-6367 or wildlife@dnr.state.mn.us.

Barb Roseen

To the Editor:

I would like to respond to Richard Swanson's letter to the editor about antler restrictions in Minnesota.

First of all, other states are experiencing problems with antler restrictions. "A Rebellion is at Hand," page 7, Outdoor News, Feb. 4, 2005 referring to the issue in Pennsylvania. In this story, the hunters were quoted as saying they are dissatisfied and are planning a hunting boycott in 2005. One of six hunters say, "Antler restrictions in place for the past three hunting seasons aren't working as planned."

In the same issue, Curt Wells was quoted saying that in Mississippi a buck under 130 points on the Pope and Young scoring system will net a $2,000 fine.

I really don't think a proper survey was taken of all hunters in Minnesota. Maybe a Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) survey should be taken when hunters apply for a license. On only one license (residence only), there could be two options: 1) Leave the law as it is and "voluntarily" save the younger bucks; or 2) The QDM proposal.

Over the past five to 10 years, I can truly say our bucks are more plentiful because we are educating ourselves and teaching our younger hunters to "voluntarily" save our younger bucks. Really, why do we need the QDM proposal as law?

In the same February issue of Outdoor News, Mr. Stephens said, "I don't think the average hunter has the knowledge to make these decisions." With all the variables, just who has that knowledge?

In the 1970s Bucks only Season, the waste of deer that occurred because of mistakes, was a problem. I really think this could happen with the QDM proposal. Remember, our DNR can impose any sizable fine they want!

My dad said, "Remember, the good Lord put these animals on this earth to satisfy our bodies in hunger." My dad also taught me that if you save a patch of woods for the deer to hide in, you will always have deer, and your bucks will get bigger and so will the horns. That's what I teach my girls.

My daughters and I own land in Roseau County. We practice proper deer management. Some of the woods have been left to shelter the deer, and we grow natural grasses, and during the winter we help feed them so they'll make it through until spring. We are on a smaller acreage scale than Mr. Swanson. I do know there are a lot of other hunters that do the same as we do, so why do we need the QDM proposal as another law?

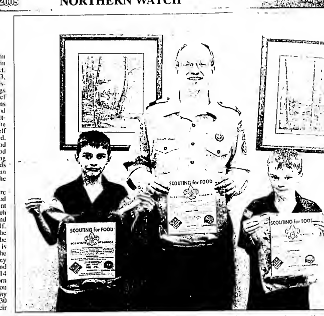
Scouts collecting food for Area Food Shelf

Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts in Thief River Falls are participating in a national Good Turn Project. During the week of March 13, Scouts went from door to door distributing plastic food collection bags on each household door in Thief River Falls. The bag contains instructions as to the types of food stuff that is need. All of the collected food items will be brought to the Thief River Falls Area Food Shelf for distribution to people in need. Because March is Minnesota Food Share Month, Minnesota Food Share will be providing matching food based on the amount of pounds of food collected, so this is an important time to donate food to the food shelf.



Thief River Falls residents are being asked to place their filled food bag on their front door knob or front steps by 10 a.m. on Saturday, March 19. Scouts will collect the bags and bring them to the Food Shelf. Everyone is asked to please have the bags in a visible place that can be seen from the street. If a donation is accidentally missed, lives in the country, or will be out of town, they may bring their donation to the Food Shelf, which is located at 714 Atlantic Ave. N. (the old Tony Dorn building) from 10 a.m. to noon on Saturday, March 19, or any Tuesday between the hours of 12:30 and 4:30 p.m. They may also bring their donation to their church.

Last year, Scouts in Thief River Falls collected over 3,000 pounds of food items that allowed the Food Shelf staff to help people in need. This year, the Scouts hope to increase their collection by 10 percent or more.

The Scouts, leaders, and Food Shelf board recognize and appreciate the generous contributions made by the public during past events.

In charge of the districtwide project is Sgt. Kevin Howard from the Thief River Falls National Guard Armory. Assisting Howard is Gail Lewis from Troop 59 and all the local Cub Scout Packs and Boy Scout Troops.

Gloria Reierson is the director of the Area Food Shelf in Thief River Falls. She can be reached at 681-3729.

Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts in Thief River Falls have begun distributing bags for their food collection project, a part of the national Good Turn Project. They will begin collecting the food bags on March 19. Helping distribute the food bags will be: from left, Cub Scout Connor Huot, 9, Curtis Huot, Cub master for Pack 57 at St. Bernord's Church in Thief River Falls, and Cub Scout Kyle Possoi, 9.

Fire destroys Mayfield Township home

Fire destroyed a mobile home Wednesday in Mayfield Township of Pennington County. No injuries were reported.

Jared Vettleson, who lived at the home in Section 23, was home at the time of the fire, said Mike Dessellier, a firefighter with the Oklee Fire Department. Vettleson heard the sound of a smoke detector at about 3 p.m. Wednesday, saw smoke and was able to get out of the home. He was also able to get some personal items out of the home.

The fire started as a result of a furnace at the home, Dessellier noted.

Firefighters were on the scene for about five hours. The Plummer and Goodridge fire departments assisted the Oklee Fire Department.

Andrew Holte of Grygla-Gatzka worked the ball against Clearbrook-Gonvick dafender Clayton Johnson during Tuasdey's Section 8A East boys high school basketball tournament final at tha Ralph Engelstad Arena in Thief River Falls. The Bears came from behind to beat the Eagles in ovartime, 92-80.

Clearbrook-Gonvick wins Section 8A East in overtime...

Bears' rally beats Eagles

For Grygla-Gatzke, it was a case of too many turnovers, too many misses at the free throw line, too many fouls and too much time on the clock. It all added up to a gut-wrenching 92-80 overtime loss at the hands of Clearbrook-Gonvick Tuesday in the Section 8A East boys high school basketball tournament finals.

Largest crowd ever to watch basketball in Thief River Falls – paid attendance of 3,188 and total attendance well over that number – filled the Ralph Engelstad Arena for a doubleheader that began with the Bears and Eagles and was followed by a Marshall County Central vs. Tri-County Section 8A West final.

The crowed was treated to a wild first-game ride. Grygla-Gatzke led by as many as 15 points in the first half and had an 11-point advantage through three quarters. But Clearbrook-Gonvick, unbeaten and ranked No. 1 in Minnesota Class A boys basketball, didn't panic.

The Bears finally caught Grygla-Gatzke at 76-76 on a drive to the basket by Clayton Johnson with 15.2 seconds left in regulation time, then won going away by out-scoring the shaken, foul-plagued Eagles 16-4 in the four-minute overtime.

"One of the toughest losses I've ever had," offered Grygla-Gatzke Vern Johnson, who has been guiding the Eagles for 25 years. His team set a school record for wins this year with a 25-3 campaign that included a 19-game winning streak.

Clearbrook-Gonvick took a 28-0 record into the Section 8A championship game Friday at the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

It wasn't hard to find a reason why Grygla-Gatzke couldn't finish off the Bears after building the double-digit leads. The Eagles turned the ball over 34 times – a horrific figure any time and an almost unheard of number for a title game. And they missed half of their 26 free throw attempts.

"I was afraid of the free throws," admitted Vern Johnson. "They came back to haunt us. We've been a streaky free throw shooting team. We struggled early, came around in the middle of the season, then started to struggle again at the end of the year."

While the problems at the line were of their own doing, the Eagles' ball-handling trouble was instigated by the swarming Clearbrook-Gonvick defense.

"They (Bears) put a lot of pressure on you," explained Johnson. "It wears on you. And they have the depth to keep coming at you. Their press wore us down physically and mentally."

The only Clearbrook-Gonvick lead prior to overtime came at 3-2 on a rebound basket by Chance Goudge 1:44 into the game. Grygla-Gatzke followed with a 10-0 run and had a 19-14 edge at the first quarter horn.

Another string of 10 unanswered points pushed the Grygla-Gatzke lead to 38-23 on a Robbie Anderson free throw with 1:59 left in the first half.

The Eagles matched that 15-point spread on a short jumper by Tomas Loberg that made it 40-25 with 1:41 remaining and they took a 42-31 advantage into intermission.

It was still an 11-point gap, 62-51, when Loberg scored from underneath in the final minute of the third quarter.

However, Johnson knew the Bears' ability to score points in a hurry still left the Eagles vulnerable. "With the firepower like that, you're never comfortable," he said.

Johnson's concerns were magnified when fouls began to take a toll on the Eagles down the stretch. The 6-7 Loberg, who towered above the Bears, whose tallest player was 6-1, picked up his fourth personal with 4:21 to play and Anderson matched that number with 3:47 on the clock.

"We told the kids before the game you can't be slapping at the ball," said Johnson. "Officials make that call. That's what got us in trouble. It was foolish on our part."

It really got interesting when Jonny Berg hit a 3-pointer then promptly converted a Grygla-Gatzke turnover into a basket off a drive to pull the Bears within 69-67 with 2:44 remaining.

Up 71-69, the Eagles lost a basket and Loberg on an offensive foul with 1:45 left. They managed to hold onto the lead, though, until Johnson's game-tying bucket.

With 21 seconds on the clock, the Grygla-Gatzke foul shooting woes came to a head with misses on a two-shot opportunity.

The Bears nearly won it at that point with a rebound and a shot launched from behind the center court line by Scott Stebe that rattled around the basket at the horn.

Stebe wasted little time putting his team ahead in the extra session, hitting a 3-pointer with just 10 seconds gone.

Back-to-back Grygla-Gatzke turnovers led to a pair of free throws by Stebe and a base line drive by Clayton Johnson as the Bears jumped ahead 83-76.

"With Loberg out and other guys in foul trouble, overtime is not what we wanted to get into," acknowledged Vern Johnson.

A rebound basket by Anderson kept the Eagles within 85-80 with 2:01 remaining, but he fouled out with 1:13 to play and the Bears finished the game-long comeback by going 7-for-8 at the free throw line.

Goudge led all scorers with 21 points. Stebe and Clayton Johnson both netted 16, Berg had 15 and Casey Crane 12. For the Eagles, Loberg scored 20 points, Geoffrey Sutre 16, Adam Sparby 14, Tim Polansky 11 and Anderson 10.

The free throws and turnovers negated the Eagles' 60 percent 31-for-52 shooting performance from the field and a 34-31 rebound edge. The Bears were 30-for-75 from the floor (40 percent) and 24-for-34 at the line. They turned it over 13 times.

Prowlers are placed in 8AAA for football

It's official. Thief River Falls will move from Class AAAA to Class AAA status in football beginning this fall.

Reports indicated the Prowlers would be dropping a class at the close of the 2004 season. The Minnesota State High School League confirmed it this week when classification and section assignments were made for all sports for the 2005-06 and 2006-07 school years.

The MSHSL adjusts its school alignments every two years, based upon school enrollments and activity classification.

Football will be the only Thief River Falls sports activity making a change under the latest MSHSL assignments.

With the change, Thief River Falls will go from being the smallest school in Section 8AAAA football to the largest in Section 8AAA.

Under MSHSL guidelines, Thief River Falls has a school enrollment of 525 - numbers published by the Minnesota Department of Education on figures supplied by the individual schools covering grades 9-10-11. The Prowlers' move will leave Rocori as the smallest Section 8AAAA football school with 647 students.

In Section 8AAA football, Thief River Falls' enrollment figure is followed by Park Rapids Area at 483, Perham 469, East Grand Forks 416, Pequot Lakes and Warroad both at 355, Roseau 342 and Crookston 330.

A drop in classes will not guarantee Thief River Falls success. The Prowlers are 0-5 against Crookston and East Grand Forks the past three years. And the Green Wave won the Class AAA state title last fall.

The reclassification will not affect Thief River Falls' regular season schedule. The Prowlers will remain a member of the North Country Conference, along with Duluth East, Grand Rapids, Duluth Denfeld, Duluth Central, Cloquet and Hibbing. Detroit Lakes is scheduled to join the conference in 2006. Superior, Wis., had made inquires about joining the league, but decided not to pursue the matter. However, Bemidji is now looking into becoming a member.

Thief River Falls' 2005 football schedule will duplicate its 2004 slate that included the six conference foes, plus games against Crookston and Detroit Lakes.

MCC defense wins 8A West

■ Nordics stop Wildcats 48-34 in title game

Marshall County Central, a team with two 1,000-point career scorers in the line-up, made its mark in the Section 8A West boys high school basketball tournament by playing defense.

Capped by a 48-34 Tuesday championship game win over Tri-County at the Ralph Engelstad Arena in Thief River Falls, the Nordics gave up an average of just 35.3 points in three tournament starts. They beat Kittson County North 44-40 in the quarterfinals and stopped Norman County West 38-32 in the semifinals before continuing their low-scoring victory mode against the Wildcats.

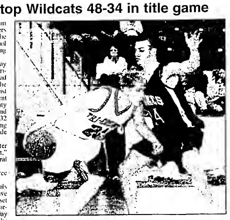
"Playing good defense is a matter of playing hard and playing smart," explained Marshall County Central coach Jake Rantanen.

The Nordics did both in all three games.

And while the post-season finals don't show it, the Nordics do have an offense. Dustin Monsebroten set the school career scoring record during the regular season, and Tuesday he was joined as a member of the 1,000-Point Club by teammate Jay Maurstad.

"We can score," said Rantanen, whose team hit the 20-win plateau with the title game victory.

Tri-County handed Marshall County Central one of its eight regular season losses in the 2004-05 season opener, 57-48. The Nordics won the mid-season rematch 47-41.



The Wildcats had the early edge in the third meeting with a 7-0 lead following a basket off a drive by Jake Anderson at the four-minute mark of the first quarter.

Marshall County Central started the game making just one of its first ten shots and didn't get on the board until Monsebroten knocked down a 3-pointer with 4:36 elapsed.

But a Tri-County turnover and a Tyler Blazejewski basket underneath closed out the first quarter and Andy Brons opened the second quarter with a 3-point basket to pull the Nordics within 9-8.

"I was a little worried at the start," admitted Rantanen. "Andy Brons hit a big three for us. He hasn't been scoring a lot lately, but he got that one, and then Dustin and Jay got going."

Maurstad gave the Nordics their first led with a fast break lay-up that made it 12-11 with 5:58 remaining in the first half.

Tri-County guard Ryen Anderson tried to drive against Marshall County Central dafender Jay Meurstad Tuesday during Section 8A West boys high school baskatball tournament action et the Ralph Engelstad Arena in Thief Rivar Fells.

Anderson answered with a basket on the inside, but Marshall County Central then ran off 10 unanswered points to take the lead for good.

Maurstad connected from the side to start the run – the basket that put him in the 1,000-point category. Three consecutive Tri-County turnovers fueled the rest of the Marshall County Central surge that pushed the difference to 22-13 as Monsebroten banked in a short jumper, Maurstad hit a 3-pointer and Monsebroten followed suit.

First half ended with the Nordics up 24-18.

The two teams combined for just 12 third quarter points, with Marshall County Central holding onto a 29-25 lead.

When Ryan Anderson opened the final quarter by driving to the basket, the Wildcats were within 29-27.

The Nordics answered, however, with a 12-1 game-deciding breakaway that began with back-to-back 3-pointers by Monsebroten and ended with a press-breaking lay-up by Blazejewski that made it 41-28 with just 1:58 to play.

"They made a run at us, and I knew they would with their strong inside game," said Rantanen. "But we had an answer. And our inside people – Andrew Johnson, Tyler Blazejewski and Nick Haven – picked it up."

Monsebroten led all scorers with 21 points. Blazejewski had 11. Jake Anderson and Ryan Anderson scored 11 and 10 points, respectively, to pace the Wildcats.

Marshall County Central was 17-for-45 from the field (38 percent) and 7-for-16 at the free throw line. Tri-County struggled through a 27 percent 12-for-44 shooting night while going 8-for-13 at the line. The Wildcats had more rebounds (30-28) and more turnovers (11-5) than the Nordics.

Chelsea Haviland is in Division I region meet

Chelsea Haviland of Thief River Falls is representing Army at the NCAA Division I Zone A diving regions this weekend at Lejune Hall on the campus of the United States Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md.

A junior at the U.S. Military Academy in West Point, N.Y., Haviland last week was named All-Patriot League – the only member of the Black Knights' women's squad to earn First Team all-league honors.

All-league selections are based on individual first and second place finishes at the Patriot League Championships Feb. 24-26 at Bucknell University in Lewisburg, Pa., as well as individual point totals.

Haviland won both the one-meter and three-meter events to earn Female Diver of the Meet honors for the third straight season. She has won every diving event at the Patriot League Championships she has ever competed in.

During the regular season, Haviland was named Patriot League Female Diver of the Week three times and Eastern College Athletic Conference Division I Diver of the Week once. Her Patriot League performance earned her Army Athletic Association Athlete of the Week recognition Feb. 28.

formance from behind the arch. She led the Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division in scoring with 421 points, averaging 15 points per game for the 16-12 Pioneers.

Earlier it was announced that Costin had been named First Team All-Northern Division and First Team All-MCCC. She was also selected to the all-tournament team as Northland finished the year with a sixth place finish at the MCCC state tournament.

"Alisa was a constant offensive threat for us throughout the year," said Northland coach Missy Majerus. "As teams realized that she was a threat to shoot the 3, she expanded her game and became a threat to score off dribble penetration. I look forward to Alisa continuing to develop as a student-athlete and as an individual next year."

President's budget cuts to agriculture evades responsibility

by Congressman Collin Peterson

Congressman Collin Peterson

The 2002 Farm Bill was a bipartisan agreement that made improvements in nutrition, conservation, and rural development initiatives, as well as in farm commodity programs. Republicans and Democrats worked together to negotiate this legislation because they knew that a strong Farm Bill would help make our farmers and ranchers more competitive, and would start to level the playing field in the world markets.

When we look at its results today, we find that the program has been both good for our nation's farmers and fiscally responsible. Farm Bill programs have spent $15 billion less than originally estimated - when was the last time that you heard of a government program spending less than estimated? But in spite of this, agriculture program spending is once again under attack.

The president's budget, written at a time of record deficits caused largely by the president's own agenda, is asking American agriculture to take a hit for problems it didn't create. The president and the majority's leaders in Congress have stood by and done nothing to confront the red ink crisis that they created. They have paid lip service to fiscal responsibility, but in reality - and you can check the number yourself - they have presided over a steep, four-year crash in the government's fiscal condition. We had a balanced budget and a surplus in the year 2000. Now we have record deficits and a dangerous increase in borrowing - largely from foreign interests.

Instead of reaching out to both parties to address this looming crisis head on, the president has proposed a budget that ignores the cause of the current problem and shifts the blame and the focus of public attention to other areas. Instead of honestly trying to deal with the deficit and its causes, the president proposes to cut programs that strengthen our rural economies and help the farmers and ranchers who produce our food and fiber.

In the 2002 Farm Bill, we made a commitment to restore the farm safety net and ensure that producers and their bankers would know what to expect from the government for the next five years. This "counter-cyclical" safety net has worked, delivering payments to producers only whenever the price for a commodity is less than the target price. The 2002 Farm Bill is working and we have spent $15 billion less than what we allocated when the farm bill passed.

The American people want cost-effective programs that work and a balanced federal budget, and we can have both. However, to do that will require cooperation and hard work. The president knows that farm program spending accounts for less than one-half of one percent of the federal budget and that even if these programs were eliminated completely the savings would not put even a small dent in the deficit budget. But even though he knows that, the president is proposing cuts that could directly hurt our farmers and send a damaging ripple effect through rural economies throughout the nation.

In the last session of Congress, the administration gave aid to farmers who lost crops to disasters - but only in Florida. When we moved to include other producers who were suffering from drought and flooding disasters, Republican leaders insisted that the Farm Bill be reopened and programs cut in order to pay for the assistance. Other kinds of non-agricultural disaster aid was included in the very same bill and was provided without any offset to pay for it; it was simply added to the deficit. Only agriculture was singled out for cuts in the aftermath of last year's devastating natural disasters.

Agriculture programs have repeatedly faced "back door" cuts through the appropriations process, deficit reduction requirements, and in the agriculture disaster funding debates over the last several years. This must stop. The first step in solving a problem is recognizing that you have one and by now that should be easy to see. The administration and congressional leadership need to pull their heads out of the sand and get to work on getting the deficit under control without wreaking havoc on American agriculture and rural communities.

Agriculture programs are not the problem and the president and his party's Congressional majority should not be promoting public policy positions that effectively ask farmers and rural communities to pay for the damage done by other fiscally irresponsible decisions this Administration has already made.

When Democrats and Republicans agreed to the 2002 Farm Bill, we got a commitment from the Bush Administration that they would not reopen any aspect of the agreement until it had completely run its full five year authorization. The president and the Republicans in Congress may not want to remember or acknowledge this now, but I was in the room when we got this commitment and I have not forgotten.

Democrats on the House Agriculture Committee have signed a "Contract with Agriculture" that spells out what we think should be done to help farmers and rural communities, and I am hopeful that all the Democrats in the House of Representatives will be signing on. For the good of American agriculture we must fight the changes the president has proposed and make Republicans honor the promises they made in the 2002 Farm Bill.

(This statement was released in February 2005. Congressman Peterson represents the Seventh Congressional District of Minnesota and serves as the Ranking Democrat of the House Committee on Agriculture.)

National Animal Identification System (NAIS) overview factsheet

Why is animal identification so important?

The National Animal Identification System (NAIS) is a national program intended to identify animals and track them as they come into contact with, or commingle with, animals other than herdmates from their premises of origin.

The system is being developed for all animals that will benefit from rapid tracebacks in the event of a disease concern. Currently, working groups comprised of industry and government representatives are developing plans for cattle, swine, sheep, goats, horses, poultry, bison, deer, elk, llamas, and alpacas.

Already, many of these species can be identified through some sort of identification system, but these systems are not consistent across the country. Tracing an animal's movements can therefore be a time-consuming endeavor during a disease investigation, especially if the animal has moved across state lines.

In April 2004, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) announced the framework for implementing the NAIS, an animal identification and tracking system that will be used in all states and that will operate under national standards. When fully operational, the system will be capable of tracing a sick animal or group of animals back to the herd or premises that is the most likely source of infection. It will also be able to trace potentially exposed animals that were moved out from that herd or premises. The sooner animal health officials can identify infected and exposed animals and premises, the sooner they can contain the disease and stop its spread.

The NAIS will enhance U.S. efforts to respond to intentionally or unintentionally introduced animal disease outbreaks more quickly and effectively. USDA's long-term goal is to establish a system that can identify all premises and animals that have had direct contact with a foreign animal disease or a domestic disease of concern within 48 hours of discovery.

The first step in implementing the NAIS is identifying and registering premises that house animals. Such premises would include locations where livestock and poultry are managed, marketed or exhibited. Knowing where animals are located is the key to efficient, accurate and cost-effective epidemiologic investigations and disease-control efforts.

USDA anticipates that all states will have the capability to register premises according to the national standards by 2005. Officials with USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) are currently training state officials how to use a standardized premises registration system. USDA is also evaluating alternative registration systems that states or others have developed and want to use, to ensure these systems meet the national standards. In addition, USDA is working with states and industry to educate the public about the NAIS.

As premises are registered, another component of the NAIS, animal identification, will be integrated into the system. Unique animal identification numbers (AINs) will be issued to individually identified premises. In the case of animals that move in groups through the production chain, such as swine and poultry, the group will be identified through a group/lot identification number (Group/Lot IDs).

USDA is developing the standards for collecting and reporting information, but industry will determine which type of identification method works best for each species. These methods could include radio frequency identification tags, retinal scans, DNA or others. As long as the necessary data are sent to USDA's information repositories in a standardized form, it will be accepted.

USDA will build upon existing identification systems and allow for a transition period from systems currently defined in the Code of Federal Regulations before requiring AINs or Group/Lot IDs. Working with states and industry, USDA will also evaluate various animal identification technologies to determine how the collection of animal movement records can best be automated. And we will encourage as much participation as possible.

As premises are registered and animals or groups of animals are identified based on the standard protocols, USDA will begin collecting information about animal movements from one premises to another. With an efficient, effective animal tracking system in place, USDA will be able to perform rapid tracebacks in case of an animal disease outbreak. As envisioned, only federal, state and tribal animal health authorities would have direct access to the national premises and animal identification information repositories. They need this information to accomplish their job of safeguarding animal health.

USDA is investigating various options to protect the confidentiality of the information. It is important to note that the national repositories will include information only for animal and disease tracking purposes. Proprietary production data will remain in private databases.

If USDA decides to make all or parts of the NAIS mandatory, APHIS will follow the normal rule-making process. The public will have the opportunity to comment upon any proposed regulations.

Hazards of anhydrous ammonia when used in the illegal production of meth

Instances of methamphetamine trafficking and abuse in Minnesota are on the increase. Methamphetamine, or meth, is a powerful central nervous stimulant with a high potential for abuse and dependence. Clandestine production of meth in makeshift, illegal labs by untrained individuals is becoming more and more common in the upper Midwest. One recipe for making meth incorporates the use of anhydrous ammonia and is called the "Nazi Method." This resource guide is intended to increase first responder awareness of the hazards of AA used by those intent on making meth.

Introduction. Anhydrous ammonia is a low cost, easy to handle fertilizer-supplying crops with the essential nutrient nitrogen. It is stored safely as a liquid in high-pressure tanks at agricultural chemical retailers. It is off-loaded from large bulk tanks into smaller trailered nurse tanks that are then plumbed to a farm implement that injects the anhydrous ammonia into the soil. Anhydrous ammonia is also used as a refrigerant and in a wide variety of other chemicals and products.

Chemical and Physical Properties. Anhydrous ammonia is a colorless, non-flammable liquefied gas. Its vapor is lighter than air and has the same pungent odor as household ammonia. "Anhydrous" means without water. Anhydrous ammonia liquid will boil at any temperature greater than -28 degrees Fahrenheit. Pressure rapidly increases as temperature rises.

Reactivity. Anhydrous ammonia is corrosive to copper and galvanized fittings. Tank fittings in contact with anhydrous ammonia liquid or vapor will corrode and eventually fail spraying vapor or liquid into the environment. Corroded fittings may appear bluish in color.

Anhydrous Ammonia Theft. Thieves typically use small, makeshift containers to collect, store and transport anhydrous ammonia once stolen from nurse tanks or anhydrous ammonia applicator hoses. Buckets and coolers with duct taped lids, gas cans, and common 20-pound barbeque grill propane tanks have been used to contain anhydrous ammonia. Garden hoses or inner tubes duct taped to the container and tank valves make this dangerous transfer possible.

Routes of Exposure. Ammonia has been found in a variety of containers, few of which have been properly designed for anhydrous ammonia's unique chemistry. Since it vaporizes or boils at -28 degrees Fahrenheit any closed container with anhydrous ammonia will be under pressure. Duct taped coolers surrounded by ice will pressurize to that of a car tire and could easily rupture spraying liquid and vapor. Twenty-pound propane tank galvanized valves will corrode and weaken from exposure to anhydrous ammonia vapor and/or liquid. Never move a suspected propane tank by grabbing the valve. The valve could break, causing an anhydrous ammonia release. NOTE: A person can detect it at about three parts per million (ppm). The concentration where a responder is in immediate danger to his/her life and health (IDLH) is 300 ppm. Therefore, a responder is likely to be warned of the presence of anhydrous ammonia vapor at concentrations before it is harmful.

Health Hazards of Anhydrous Ammonia. There are three types of injuries from exposure: dehydration, caustic burning, and freezing.

Dehydration: Anhydrous ammonia will dehydrate body tissue. Contact of the liquid or vapors with the eyes will result in serious injury or blindness. Any tissue contact with the liquid will cause first, second, and third degree burns. Acute exposure to vapors will bring about lung damage and possible suffocation.

Caustic Burning: Anhydrous ammonia in combination with water extracted from body tissue creates a strong base that further damages body tissue by chemical burning.

Freezing: When liquid anhydrous ammonia vaporizes, it pulls heat from its surroundings. Body tissue exposed to liquid Anhydrous ammonia will freeze almost instantly. It is not a poison. It has no cumulative effects on the human body.

Exposure and Spill Response. Move victim to fresh air if the responder can do so safely. Any detection of anhydrous ammonia odor will require backing out, securing the site from others, and dialing 911 to request emergency medical care and the local fire department. Irrigate any affected body tissue with water for at least 20 minutes. Keep patient warm, quiet, and monitor breathing. Always stay upwind. Evacuation of downwind residences may be necessary. Approach with the wind at your back. Use water applied as a mist to reduce vapors. Never approach a suspected AA container without proper personal protection, which includes wearing positive pressure self-contained breathing apparatus (SCUBA). Structural firefighter's protective clothing is not effective in spill situations. Anhydrous Ammonia is toxic to aquatic organisms. Water applied to anhydrous ammonia should not be allowed to escape to sewers or any other direct pathway to surface water. Use water sparingly and contain applied water whenever possible.

Wheat Quality Council releases results of wheat evaluations

The Wheat Quality Council (WQC) unveiled its evaluations of wheat lines and check samples during its annual meeting, forum and technical review sessions in late February in Kansas City.

More than 110 participants took part in the meeting, which included an evaluation of 37 new breeder submitted lines and nine check samples grown and harvested during the 2004 crop year. The 37 lines were broken down into 19 hard winter wheat varieties, nine soft winters and nine hard spring varieties.

"As the result of the WQC evaluations, 15 lines have been released or are scheduled for release," the Council said. "Thirteen lines have not been released or will be undergoing further evaluation."

WQC evaluators made several decisions regarding hard winter wheat lines. Hays, Kansas, has a new hard white wheat with stripe rust resistance and sprout tolerance that will be released next summer. Two other hard white lines have not yet been released.

WQC samples from the U.S. Department of Agriculture-Agricultural Research Service Wheat, Sorghum and Forages Unit at Lincoln, Neb., consisted of two recently released cultivars and one experimental line.

Nebraska has released Arrowsmith, a hard white wheat that showed resistance to stem and stripe rusts, but susceptibility to leaf rust, wheat streak mosaic virus and pre-harvest sprouting. Arrowsmith also has shown good breadmaking quality, with above average grain and flour protein contents, the WQC said. A second line has not been released.

The University of Nebraska has a hard red winter wheat, NE99495, scheduled for release next summer. The new line has good yield potential and has genetically lower test weight, the WQC said.

Oklahoma State University has released Guyman, a hard white for the panhandle area, and Okfield, the university's first Clearfield release. Two other lines have not been released.

South Dakota State University has one hard white line set for release in 2006, with two others undergoing further testing. SD97W609, set for release in 2006, was named "best in show" by millers evaluating the line. The line has shown good winter survival ability, good baking quality in predictive testing and high test weight, the WQC said.

In the hard springs, the University of Minnesota has two lines, one line on an exclusive release and the other scheduled for more evaluation. North Dakota State University has two lines that will undergo more testing, but has released a high quality hard red spring named Glenn. Glenn is scab resistant and is a replacement for the popular variety Alsen, the WQC said.

The WQC noted that World Wide Wheat has two released lines. One is adapted for California regions and one for Chile and Argentina. Westbred has one hard white spring line that may be released.

According to the WQC, Purdue has released two eastern soft winter wheat lines. INW0411 is early, short and has good scab resistance, the WQC said, while INW0412 is an early, scab resistant wheat with large kernels and high test weight.

Virginia Tech has two exclusive releases, 99176 and VA001-526. Variety 99176 has exhibited good soft wheat milling quality and produced higher flour yields than McCormick in tests conducted in 2001 and 2002. Also in the eastern soft winters, Syngenta has released Coker 9436, a line adapted for the lower Corn Belt, the northern mid-south region and into the East Coast area.

A total of 30 cooperators from across the country helped to evaluate the milling and baking/processing qualities of the 37 lines and checks entered from the 2004 growing season.

"The cooperators provide a tremendous service to the wheat industry of the country and deserve our thanks for their contributions," the WQC said.

Wheat byproduct can replace some higher-cost feed for dairy cows

Dairy producers can substitute wheat middlings for some of the higher-cost feed ingredients in rations for early-lactation cows. Such a substitution will not hurt milk production or cow performance, according to a University of Minnesota study.

Dairy scientist George Marx conducted the wheat middling study at the U of M Northwest Research and Outreach Center in Crookston. Wheat middlings are a by-product of milling wheat for flour and pasta. About 20 percent of the original wheat kernel ends up as wheat middlings in the milling process, says Marx. The middlings are readily available in areas of Minnesota and North Dakota where wheat milling is a large industry, and prices tend to be lower in those areas than in other parts of the country.

Marx used 40 early-lactation, high-producing Holstein cows in the study. Half received a diet in which 10 percent of the dry matter content was wheat middlings. The other half received a control diet containing corn and soybean meal at equal ration dry matter content. The balance of the ration for both groups consisted of alfalfa haylage, corn silage, high-moisture corn, soybean meal, vitamins and minerals. The cows received their feed as a total mixed ration during the 12-week study.

"Daily milk production, milk fat and milk protein did not differ between the two groups of cows," said Marx. "Peak milk production was also similar for each group, both for first-lactation cows and those in later lactations."

Reproduction data showed no difference in the number of services necessary to get cows re-bred or conception rates between the two groups. No unusual health conditions or nutritional disorders occurred with any of the cows. The only difference that showed up in the study was that the milk somatic cell count was slightly higher for the cow group receiving the wheat middlings.

"Results of this feeding trial indicate that the wheat middlings byproduct feed was an acceptable and economical component at 10 percent of the ration dry matter for early-lactation cows," Marx concluded.

There are no "safe" dairy bulls

by Sarah E. Bedgar
University of Minnesota Extension Service

Recently, a Sunburg man was killed by a dairy bull on his farm. This tragedy is a sobering reminder of the danger involved with working with livestock.

Some bull-related injuries are simply due to the unpredictability of the animals and are unavoidable; however, steps can be taken to minimize their potential. This is the time to take a look at the system in which livestock are handled on farms and evaluate the risks associated with housing bulls. Temple Grandin, animal scientist at Colorado State University, and Ben Bartlett, veterinarian with the Michigan State University Extension Service, offer these key safety points when handling dairy bulls:

• Socialization – Bulls raised as individuals are the most dangerous. Raise them with a group of peers or larger steers so that when they reach the age at which they want to exert dominance, people don't become the "herd."

• Human interaction – NEVER play games with bull calves. NEVER pet a bull calf on the forehead or poll. This will encourage butting. Pet a bull calf only under his chin, or on his shoulder or rear.

• Handling – NEVER work around a bull alone. When moving a bull, talk to him or make noise while approaching and try to keep a few cows with him. By carrying a cattle paddle (a stick with a widened plastic end that contains noise makers), a person will be able to touch the bull without being so close to him. Calm handling is the key since calm cattle are less likely to run over or show aggression to handlers.

• Communication – People on a farm with minimal livestock experience, whether they are family, guests, or employees, MUST be warned of the danger of entering any enclosure with a bull.

• Warning signs – A bull should always move along with other cattle. While bull attacks can happen without warning, most often the bull will send out warning signals with certain postures and displays. When he stops and stands sideways with his head toward a person, this is considered a "broadside threat." Other serious threats are pawing, rubbing the ground with his head, and swinging his head side to side. In these situations, a person has two options: 1) Reaffirm dominance. Make the bull back off with the human version of a "broadside threat," which for people is the frontal stance with a paddle or arms raised; or 2) Move away at least 20 feet by slowly backing away from the bull. Grandin recommends NEVER running away or turning your back on a bull.

• Culling – ANY bull that charges or shows aggression towards a person should be removed from a dairy. Bulls are most aggressive around age 3 and from ages 7 to 10. Bartlett recommends culling any bull over 2-1/2 years.

• NEVER trust a bull.

(Sarah Bedgar is an educator specializing in dairy with the University of Minnesota Extension Service Regional Center, Hutchinson.)

Technology advances production agriculture

The face of American agriculture is changing - more rapidly now than ever before. From a team of horses and a good memory in the early 1900s to tractors with the power of 40 to 300 horses and computers with spreadsheets today, American farmers provide consumers with better quality food at a lower price. U.S. consumers spend roughly 9 percent of their income on food compared with 11 percent in the United Kingdom, 17 percent in Japan, 27 percent in South Africa and 53 percent in India.

All Americans are asked to enjoy and admire the wonders of American agriculture as National Agriculture Day is celebrated on March 20.

The agricultural industry has become increasingly sophisticated. Today's farmers work nearly three-and-one-half times more land than their predecessors from 1900. Their needs are different, the crops are different and the rules governing production practices are different.

"There is an on-going consolidation in agriculture that results in fewer farmers farming more acres," says Doug DeVries, senior vice president of agricultural marketing for North America, Australia and Asia at John Deere in Moline, Ill. "Their needs for equipment are changing. Their expectations for what the equipment will do for their farming operations are also changing."

DeVries adds that John Deere, as one primary example, has had three of its largest product introductions ever in the last four years - despite tough economic times. "We've almost revamped our entire product line to provide more efficient production solutions for farmers," he says. "When we sell a planter, we're really selling the ability to plant a crop. Farmers want solutions in the form of bigger, faster equipment that provides them with better information about their farming operations."

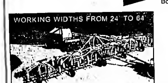
John Deere also provides technology services to farmers that include wireless information transfer and satellite guidance systems for equipment operation. Farmers can have information about their equipment and production operations transferred directly from the equipment in the field to a Web site for easy access later. This can greatly improve their efficiency and increase the life of their equipment by ensuring more timely maintenance.

GreenStar AutoTrac is a satellite guidance system that was introduced to farmers by John Deere in 2002 and expanded again in 2003. This assisted steering system is extremely accurate (within 4-inches pass to pass accuracy) and guides the tractor in a straight line down the row. The operator still turns the tractor at the end of each pass, and must also steer around obstacles such as trees, ditches, and waterways. This technology helps farmers by reducing fatigue and benefits consumers by reducing input costs so the end product costs less when it reaches the shelf.

Farmers use computer and satellite technology to map their fields for production inputs. This increases yields and reduces crop inputs like fertilizer and crop protection chemicals. "Most farmers use some form of mapping process in their operations," says DeVries. "What we at John Deere have done is provide them with advanced technology to efficiently use those maps and track their production information to help make wise, data-driven decisions about their farming operation."

Today's agriculture is rapidly changing. The Internet is a great source for more information on advances in agriculture. The following sites provide extensive information on equipment technology, renewable resources, biotechnology and food safety.

- www.johndeere.com
- www.whybiotech.com
- www.ncga.com
- www.agday.org
- www.csrees.usda.gov/ree



These are just a few of the sites available. They contain links to other sites with specific information on the various aspects of agriculture, biotechnology and food safety.

Today's farmers understand the importance of improving the quality and quantity of food available to the world. According to the U.S. Census Bureau, it is estimated that there will be 7.5 billion people in the world by the year 2020 (it's currently at 6.2 billion). It's agriculture's job to find a way to feed them. Advancements in equipment technology, crop technology and information management will make that possible. American farmers and others involved in the agriculture industry have met and will continue to meet this challenge again and again.

BOURGAULT Pursuing Perfection
www.bourgault.com

Bourgault's Air Seeding technology is designed to reduce operating costs, virtually eliminate the risk of poor seed emergence, increase yields, decrease time to maturity and increase crop quality. When prices are at their lowest point, is exactly when you need the most efficient production system available, a Bourgault Seeding system!

5710 Series Air Hoe Drill

Bourgault's 5710 Air Hoe Drill is designed from the ground up to accept Mid Row Banding technology. The 5710 has also proven to be a true workhorse. Side-by-side comparisons with competitor's units have proven that the 5710 requires only a fraction of the maintenance time and experiences far less own-time than any other drill on the market.

S25 Mid Row Bander

Tests show that placing as little as 45 lbs of Nitrogen with the seed can delay your crops by a week or more and placing 90 lbs. of Nitrogen with the seed can delay it by up to one month! Farmers are not only reporting faster maturity and higher quality grain with Mid Row Banding, they are reporting better Nitrogen utilization and higher protein levels in wheat and durum!

3 YEAR LIMITED WARRANTY

Farmers: Don't tempt meth producers

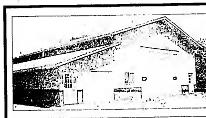
The spring planting season means an increased danger of thefts from anhydrous ammonia tanks to produce methamphetamine or meth.

A significant amount of meth is produced locally in meth labs. These labs are located in isolated or abandoned farm buildings, homes, cabins, or in vehicles, such as vans, trailers or old recreational vehicles. One of the popular methods for producing the drug involves using anhydrous ammonia, a fertilizer used to grow corn and other crops. Anhydrous ammonia is stolen out of tanks in fields or on farm sites.

"Farmers have an important role in the fight against meth," said John Shutske, agricultural health and safety specialist with the University of Minnesota Extension Service. Shutske has these suggestions to help you prevent the theft of anhydrous ammonia on your property.

- Try not to leave anhydrous ammonia nurse tanks sitting around in fields or on farmsteads. Plan ahead so that tanks are delivered to the field right before they're needed.
- Realize that lab operators need very little ammonia to make their product. On the black market, anhydrous might be worth $100 to $1,000 per gallon.
- If taking possession of a nurse tank overnight, think carefully about the best place for the tank. Ask a fertilizer dealer about the best storage location, or consult the local police department or county sheriff's department.
- Be alert for signs of tampering. Important indicators include strange footprints or partially opened tank valves. Individuals might find items left behind after anhydrous ammonia theft, including such things as buckets, coolers, duct tape, hoses, clamps and bicycle inner tubes. If noticing any of these things, do not approach the tank and contact local law enforcement officials immediately.
- Monitor all areas of properties, including remote and abandoned buildings and vehicles. Help keep an alert eye on the property of elderly neighbors, or those who live elsewhere. Contact law enforcement officials if anything appears suspicious.
- Never enter any area where it is suspected that a meth lab may be or was located. The residue is highly toxic; it's also important to law enforcement personnel that evidence is not disturbed.
- If a meth lab is discovered on a property, cleanup costs can exceed $10,000, and property owners are responsible for the cost.

Farm safety promoted this week



Farm Bureaus across the nation promoted farm safety this week, March 7-11, through the Agriculture Safety Awareness Program (ASAP). This year's theme was "Farm Safety is Coming of Age."

Annually, there are about 200 deaths among children on farms or ranches. Many of the children in these deaths were bystanders or passengers on farm equipment. To prevent needless injuries or even death, follow these important tips:

- Design a "safe play area" for younger children away from work and dangerous activities.
- Assign age-appropriate tasks to children. Children should be continuously supervised.
- All barns, machine shops, chemical storage areas and livestock pens should be equipped with latches that can be locked.

Remember that safety should always be first. For more information, visit the ASAP Web site at www.agsafetyanw.com or the Minnesota Farm Bureau Web site at www.fbmn.org.

Viking resident presents "Zoo to You" show

Michaloski can show many different types of animals because of his extensive knowledge. He researches extensively before showing a new animal, but admitted that he has been corrected by a teacher on occasion when describing an animals abilities.

"The temptations always there to embellish a little on the capabilities of an animal," Michaloski said, noting that he respectfully thanks a teacher during the rare times when he's been corrected about a certain aspect of an animal.

Michaloski spends half of each calender year on the road touring the various regions of the country, with the bulk of his work coming from the east coast. He recently returned from an east coast trip that included stops in Washington, D.C., and Baltimore, Md. He selects between eight and 12 wild creatures to feature each season. Some of them are purchased, but most are loaned from zoos and other sites that house animals for exhibition.

Because most hotels and motels won't allow pets, Michaloski travels and sleeps in a van that is equipped with a portable heater, something that is a necessity when caring for cold-blooded animals. Michaloski said that truck stops make a good stopping point for the "Zoo to You" tour van.

"I usually stay at truck stops where I can catch a free shower and eat some greasy food," Michaloski said. "When I do take a motel, I try to get one that is far enough away from the office, so they don't see me take the cage in. Then I put the alligator in the tub with some gold fish...its feeding time."

During his 13 years and 5,300 shows, Michaloski has shown animals of all types, including a mammals series that included possums, hedgehogs and ferrets; reptiles like the Florida alligator, California King Snake, a legless lizard that looks similar to a snake, but doesn't constrict; birds such as Chinese pheasants and Muscovi ducks; and of course the exotic insect collection that gave the show its early success.

Michaloski presented a program called Under Sea Adventure during one east coast trip. He would show live lobsters, clams, crabs and squid. Michaloski noted that lobster can't survive more than a day out of water, so he was treated to a lobster dinner during each day of the tour.

"After the tour I didn't really have any desire to eat lobster for a while," he said.

"Zoo to You's" booking company, Stuntmeada Edutainment LLC has already booked 108 shows for the upcoming summer tour.

Different creatures from various parts of the globe were shown to children at the Community Church in Thief River Falls, during Henry Michaloski's wild animal show called "Zoo to You." Animals appearing in the show included a Florida alligator, a box turtle, a bantam rooster, a California king snake, a rose haired tarantula, a giant African millipede, a gecko and an emperor scorpion. Pictured is Michaloski with a Florida alligator.

VIP encourages children to enter hero contest

What do you think of when you hear the word "hero"? While heroes can be well-known people, it is the "everyday heroes" in a child's life who can have the greatest positive impact. During the month of April, people throughout the nation will recognize Child Abuse Prevention Month. As a way to raise awareness for the need for child abuse prevention in Minnesota and the fact that everyone can be a hero to a child, Violence Intervention Project is inviting children in the community to take part in a poster essay campaign based on the theme: "A Hero In My Life."

Children from kindergarten through grade 12 are invited to submit a poster or essay describing someone special in their lives, their everyday hero. These heroes may be family members, teachers, coaches, neighbors, service providers...anyone that the child values as being a significant, positive influence in his or her life. Only posters and essays that are accompanied by a signed permission slip will be shared publicly. Please attach the signed permission slip at the bottom of the entry and submit it to: Violence Intervention Project, P.O. Box 96, Thief River Falls, MN 56701. The posters and essays will not be returned, and some posters and essays may be displayed, as space allows, throughout the community. Children will be identified only by their first name, age and community of residence.

Posters must be drawn on sheets of paper that are 8.5-inches by 11-inches. Some of the images will be used in materials to promote child abuse prevention and as a part of the "A Hero in My Life" campaign. VIP staff recommend that the drawings be created using dark colored markers for photocopying. Posters should be accompanied by a brief statement of who the child's hero is (name of hero, relationship to child) and a sentence describing why that person is the child's hero.

Essays should be 50 to 70 words in length. Participants may wish to begin their essay with the phrase "(hero's name) is a hero in me because...". Please print essays legibly.

All participants who submit an essay or poster will receive a blue ribbon for their heroes. Throughout the month of April, posters and essays will be published.

For more information, contact Tara at Violence Intervention Project at 218-681-5557.
